SNOWBOUND — Renate Ranft isn't about to rush to the aid of her husband, Gunter, who has taken a spill and is sliding down the icy driveway of their Sleepy Hollow Home at 245 Stuyvesant Drive. They and their pet, William Tell, found themselves housebound this morning. The driveway was not only too slippery for their car, but Ranft —who never did get to work in San Francisco — couldn't even stand on it when he tried a little icebreaking. The night's legacy of snow, carpeted not only the hills of Sleepy Hollow, but most of Marin County from mountaintop to sea level.

Snow Gives Way To Freezing Rain

'Heaviest In Memory'; Weekend Thaw Seen

By MARY LEYDECKER

Marin's children romped last night in what oldtimers called the heaviest snowfall in memory while their parents bemoaned their frozen gardens and traffic problems.

Snow started falling in late afternoon, even in low-lying areas in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties, turning later to freezing rain which covered windshields and roads with ice.

Last night's snowfall was the first time in 19 years that enough snow fell in downtown San Rafael to stay on the ground and ridges and hills in Marin took on the appearance usually reserved for the Sierras and other high mountains in California.

The weatherman said that Northern California will start thawing out today from the weeklong wintry spell that has killed crops and plants.

"A gradual warming trend is expected to begin today as the weather pattern changes from a strong northerly one to a more westerly flow by tomorrow," the U.S. Weather Service forecaster said.

The mercury is expected to soar to the upper 40s and 50s tomorrow, but the unusual cold spell has already done some irreparable damage to Bay Area gardens.

Last night the temperature dropped again to as low as 19 degrees in Novato.

The California Highway Patrol reported about a half-dozen accidents on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge between 7 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. as commuters hit icy spots. There were no serious injuries in the crashes, most of which were spinouts or slides into guard rails.

Board Approves Ranchette Plan

By ERIK M. INGRAM

After nearly a year of sometimes bitter controversy, Marin County supervisors yesterday approved the Martinelli Farms subdivision and in doing so set the stage for the county's first legal battle over environmental impact reports. (Other supervisors stories, photo, page 10.)

Board approval came on a 4-1 vote and followed some three hours of debate which again pitted West Marin conservationists against supporters of developer Lawrence J. Walters, an Inverness real estate agent.

The lone dissenting vote was cast by Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste, who said he liked the idea of 68 "ranchettes" on the 260-acre site near Point Reyes Station but couldn't vote favorably because it lacked a complete environmental impact report.

Other supervisors, though expressing concern over the lack of such a report, didn't share Baptiste's reluctance in voting for the motion made by Supervisor Louis H. Baar and seconded by Supervisor Michael Wornum.

Bolinas attorney Paul D. Kayfetz, who represented the Marin Conservation League in opposing the plan, told the Independent-Journal after the vote he will file suit in Marin Superior Court next week to stop the project.

Kayfetz, whose first suit against the project was nullified last May when supervisors rejected Walters's first set of Discussion as to whether their arrest had been handled in an unusual manner was widespread among attorneys and law officers in the corridors of the Hall of Justice, but few in the courtroom realized who they were.

Fairfax Nod To Countywide Plan

By JEFF GREER

Fairfax Town Council members last night voted 3-2 to approve the countywide general plan, but at the same time tried to hammer a stake into the coffin of long-buried plans to extend Highway 17 through the community.

The special hearing on the countywide plan was spiced by Fairfax Planning Commissioner John J. Hourihan's declaration that he will file court action "in the next few days" to invalidate Councilman E. Ross Parkerson's favorable vote, on grounds of conflict of interest.

Parkerson, a professional planner in the county planning department, refused to disqualify himself from discussion or voting, as Hourihan demanded during the joint council-planning commission meeting.

The council attached three reservations to its approval of the general plan, via a complicated motion by Councilman Frank J. Egger:

1. That any transit corridor entering Fairfax from the east be only the existing four lanes provided by Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Center Street, plus one new lane exclusively for buses.

2. That the controversial review agency proposed to watchdog implementation of the countywide plan must be fully described and must be approved by both the town council and the planning commission before it could operate; and

3. That implementation of the countywide plan's economic goals be given further study.

Sol Silver, chief of advance planning for the county, presented the plan which his

Kissinger Returning For Talk With Nixon

PARIS (UPI) — Dr. Henry A. Kissinger met for slightly more than six hours today with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho —the last and longest meeting of their current negotiations. Peace conference sources said Kissinger would return to Washington tonight to report to President Nixon.

A spokesman at Orly Field said Kissinger's U.S. Air Force plane was scheduled to depart at 7 p.m. (1 p.m. EST).

Conference sources said Kissinger would confer with Nixon, and the respected newspaper Le Figaro said he would then present the draft of a new peace treaty to President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam. Technical experts worked again today on the wording of the treaty.

Washington dispatches and French diplomatic sources said the talks had hit "snags" and that no cease-fire agreement is expected to be signed before Christmas. However, French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann said Tuesday he thought there would be an agreement by Jan. 3.

The official North Vietnamese newspaper Nhan Dan in an editorial broadcast today by Hanoi Radio demanded again that the United States sign the original draft agreement and said continuing support for South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu would "put out the light which just glimmers at the end of the tunnel."

The commentary said further support of Thieu would "continue a protracted war."

UPI diplomatic reporter Stewart Hensley said administration officials in Washington gave the impression that one of the problems concerned the exact nature of the cease-fire arrangements —extremely difficult to arrange in a war where there are no clearly defined front lines —and the degree of authority each side would exercise in the areas under its control.

This authority will be subject to military observation by a four-nation supervisory commission in which approximately 5,000 troops from Indonesia, Canada, Poland and Hungary are expected to participate. In the political sphere, the Saigon and Viet Cong authorities would operate under the auspices of a three-segment national council for reconciliation and cooperation.

James Reston of the New York Times reported in a Paris dispatch that one unresolved issue at the start of today's talks was the insistence by Thieu that any agreement must state unequivocally that the Saigon government has the sole sovereign right to control all the territory it held before the Vietnam War began.

Plan Holds Funds For Street Work

Marin County supervisors voted unanimously yesterday to approve a new federal road program which will pump about $230,000 into downtown San Rafael street improvements. (Other supervisors stories, page 10.)

The board's action, taken grudgingly by some supervisors, ends another round in the county's fight with San Rafael over city redevelopment.

Last week, the board voted to delay approval of the program as a negotiating tool over redevelopment, which will siphon off county and school district funds to pay redevelopment bonds.

San Rafael officials charged the board's action amounted to "blackmail" and Monday night moved to scrap a joint city-county committee agreement giving the county limited veto power over city redevelopment projects.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said today the county's action will have no effect on the city's position that giving redevelopment veto power to outside agencies is legally impossible. He said city councilmen and redevelopment agency staff will meet with county supervisors at 11 a.m. tomorrow in city hall to discuss the city's position.

The board's change of heart came yesterday after Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker Jr. told supervisors further delay in approving the program could jeopardize not only San Rafael's funds but also $62,000 for Tiburon and $20,000 for Novato.

Supervisors Michael Wornum and Arnold M. Baptiste, in approving the program, repeated their warning of last week that other road funds funneled through the county might be withheld in the future from cities contemplating redevelopment.

SECRET MEETING CHARGE LEVELED

Members Of Sausalito City Council Called To Answer For Attending Development Party

By PAT ANGLE

An attorney last night accused four members of the Sausalito City Council of "holding a secret meeting in violation of all ethics of government" by getting together with a developer's representative at a private party Sunday to inspect a model of a proposed project. (Another Sausalito Council story, page 11.)

"You have engaged in very improper practices," attorney Hugh Lawrence told the councilmen, who promptly denied they had done anything wrong.

Lawrence chastised Mayor Robin Sweeny and Councilmen Stephen A. Fraser, Earl F. Dunphy and Sally Stanford for attending an open house at the Sausalito Boulevard home of architect Donn Emmons. (Councilman Evert Heynneman had also been invited, but was unable to go because of "prior commitments.")

Emmons is architect for a multimillion dollar residential-commercial-recreational development proposed for the 30-acre Schoonmaker property on the city's waterfront. He told the Independent-Journal today he had invited the council members, who are not personal friends along with some members of the planning commission and community appearances advisory board, to view a model of a revised development plan for the huge project.

The altered proposal, which Emmons said was informally presented at the open house, has not yet been made public.

The architect said, "There was no attempt to move anybody's point of view or get any decision.

"It was hardly a private meeting since about 30 people, including friends and neighbors, attended. I didn't see anything inappropriate about it."

In addition to the councilmen, Emmons's wife, Audrey, a member of the appearances advisory board and Charles Merrill, another advisory board member, were present.

Robert L. Nissen, planning commission chairman, told the I-J yesterday he had been invited, but didn't attend "because I don't go to private showings."

Lawrence said last night he saw the council attendance at the party as "a violation of the (Ralph M.) Brown Act," the state's antisecrecy statute for public agencies.

The attorney said Fraser had told him about the open house and had also indicated to the attorney the issue of permitting only 220 units of housing in future development of the Marinship — which the council discussed last night — had been the subject of conversation at the party, based on the model they had seen. (The Schoonmaker development would be located in Marinship and the original plan called for 223 residential units).

"You even told me how the other council members would vote on the question (of limiting future residential development in Marinship to 220)," Lawrence told Fraser.

"Any councilman has a right to speculate on how the other members will vote," Fraser retorted. "In that session at the Emmons house, no more than two councilmen discussed the subject at any one time," he added. "I talked about it with Robin and Early and Sally, but all at different times.

Four San Anselmo Fires

A two-story house was destroyed, two garages were damaged and a church social hall suffered extensive damage in a rash of fires last night in the seminary section of San Anselmo.

It was unknown today whether the four blazes were connected but two of them appeared to have been set deliberately, according to fire department officials.

In the most serious fire, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Frank of 11 Waverly Road, escaped without injury from their blazing house, even though he was on crutches.

Firemen, rushing from one fire to another, were further hampered by the bitter cold and frozen hydrants.

Capt. Robert Beedle of the San Anselmo Fire Department said that firemen were first called at 9:04 p.m. to a garage at the home of Vernon Wiggins at 18 Raymond Avenue, where someone had ignited a pile of rags in an open garage.

The fire scorched a wall and Beedle estimated the damage at about $200.

Then at 9:49 p.m. the department was called to 18 Kensington Court, where another ga-

Boyle Trailing

The unofficial returns early today gave Boyle 5,605 votes and Miller, 5,479.

"We are surprised that the lead is not bigger," said a Miller spokesman. "Most of these returns are from pension locals expected to go for Boyle."

The spokesman said Miller's camp expected the challenger to take the lead when the "big working locals come in" and keep it for the balance of the vote counting.

Hijacker Convicted

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Martin J. McNally became the eighth person convicted of an extortion hijacking when a federal court jury found him guilty on two counts of air piracy late Tuesday.

McNally, 28, Wynadotte, Mich., will be sent to the federal medical center at Springfield, Mo., for an examinationbefore sentencing by U.S. District Judge John K. Regan.

McNally was charged with two counts of air piracy because he took control of two separate airplanes. A substitute plane was demanded and provided after a St. Louis businessman rammed the first plane with his car in an attempt to stop the hijacking. The crash took place at Lambert Field in St. Louis.

The hijacker eventually bailed out of the second airplane in the vicinity of Peru.

No Sub Search

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — The Danish navy has decided against any immediate operation to pursue an unidentified foreign submarine spotted in the iceberg-choked fjords along the coast of Greenland, a Danish official said today.

"There is no doubt that a foreign submarine is lurking in the fjords but we have no clue on the identity," Defense Minister Kjeld Olesen said. "We are not going to start a fulltime search before we have more information."

Ruled Dead

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — An Alaskan jury ruled yesterday that missing Congressman Nick Begich and two other men who disappeared on a flight with House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs are dead.

But District Court Judge Dorothy Tyner refused to sign an order immediately permitting a special election to fill Alaska's lone congressional seat, which was held by Democrat Begich. She said she would take final action "shortly."

At the request of Boggs' family, the fate of the Louisiana congressman was not considered by the jury of these three men and three women.

Martial Law Lifted

SEOUL (UPI) — The government announced it would lift today a nationwide state of martial law imposed 58 days ago by President Park Chung-hee.

Martial law was decreed Oct. 17 as a prelude to sweeping reforms Park said were needed to cope with international and domestic developments, including the current negotiations with North Korea.

The martial law decree suspended parts of the former constitution, dissolved parliament, banned all political activities and closed down universities.

Policeman Killed

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen armed with automatic weapons murdered a policeman emerging from a Belfast hotel early today by pumping at least 24 bullets into his body. He was the 660th victim of Northern Ireland violence in more than three years.

An army spokesman said the victim was the 29th policeman slain during the political and religious strife in the province.

His death came only hours after Roman Catholic politicians ended a boycott lasting 10 months and met secretly with British government officials to discuss ways to resolve the Northern Ireland crisis.

Missile Downs U.S. Spy Plane

SAIGON (UPI) —A Communist missile shot down a U.S. Air Force spy plane over North Vietnam last week and the jet's two crewmen are missing despite rescue attempts by helicopters that were hit by antiaircraft fire, the U.S. command said today.

Military sources said two chopper crewmen were wounded when the rescue armada flew into a Communist ambush. Unconfirmed reports from other military sources said it was believed Communist troops captured the pilot of the RF4 Phantom reconnaissance plane and forced him to call in a false position to set up the ambush. Those reports could not be verified.

Military spokesmen said the spy plane crashed after being hit by a surface-to-air (SAM) missile Saturday about 110 miles south of Hanoi. It was the 127th plane lost over North Vietnam since heavy U.S. bombing resumed April 6 and the 1,060th since 1964. Crewmen missing from the downed flight brought to 912 the number of Americans missing or captured in the North.

The U.S. command reported today that it was forced to cut back airstrikes over North Vietnam Tuesday to just 20, the lowest number in more than a month. Military sources said "heavy rains" accounted for the reduction.

At the same time, jet fighter-bombers hit South Vietnam Tuesday with their heaviest raids in more than a month, spokesmen said. At least 323 raids were reported, more than half of them in Military Region I just below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams.

The warplanes knocked out a Communist tank 10 miles south of the DMZ and sank a barge headed down the nearby Cua Viet River in Quang Tri Province with supplies for Communist troops in the area, spokesmen said.

B52 bombers recorded another 33 bombing waves throughout the two Vietnams. Ten of the three-plane raids dumped about 900 tons of bombs on "enemy supply caches" in North Vietnam and the other 23 struck in the South.

In the ground war, a Saigon command communique said Communist troops stepped up their attacks slightly with 69 "enemy-initiated incidents" reported between dawn Tuesday and daybreak today—a dozen more than in the previous 24 hours.

Fighting was scattered but fierce and included battles from just below the DMZ to deep in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon.

FUTURE PLANS — William P. Clements Jr. of Dallas, who has been selected as No. 2 man in the Defense Department by Nixon, says if and when he is confirmed, he'll "resign. . .walk away" as head of his large Texas oil drilling firm, but that he is not going to sell his stock.

Multivitamin Controls Urged By Food, Drug Administration

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Food and Drug Administration, citing mounting evidence of adverse effects from overdoses of vitamins A and D, today proposed new rules to limit the amount of such vitamins in nonprescription products.

The FDA said the thrust of its proposal would fall on multiple-formula vitamins, some of which now have 60 times the recommended daily allowance of vitamin D and 10 times the recommended dosage of vitamin A.

The makers of multivitamins will have to change formulas to comply with the new limits, the FDA said, but prescription vitamin products will not be affected.

"Vitamins A and D are known to be toxic; and they are heavily promoted in high doses to the consumer; and we continue to accumulate evidence of adverse effects from excessive intake," said FDA Commissioner Charles E. Edwards.

"The FDA has concluded, therefore, that consumer safety requires the action we are taking," he said.

Too much vitamin A, the FDA said, can increase pressure within the human skull, creating symptoms not unlike those created by a brain tumor. Large doses have also been known to retard growth in children.

Vitamin D, the FDA said, has been shown to retard mental and physical growth of children when too much is taken over extended periods.

The agency said many multivitamins now on the market have amounts of vitamin A and D below the proposed limits, but it said others were far over the recommended daily allowances.

"Reports of misuse of large doses of both vitamins A and D have prompted medical groups and FDA to seek limitations on them," the FDA said in announcing the action. "Widespread promotion of both vitamins has resulted in excessive use for conditions such as acne, night blindness and arthritis. Neither vitamin A nor D are proven effective for these conditions in well nourished people."

Reagan Organizes New Public Service Branch — Radio News

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The latest wrinkle in the Reagan administration's reorganization of state public information activities is the inauguration of its own radio broadcast service.

The fledgling program, titled "California Information Broadcast Service," is headed by Bob McCafferty, a former Sacramento television reporter and editor, who promises to steer it away from "political controversy."

McCafferty, who will receive an $18,000 annual salary, said the service is "nothing more complicated than taking a lot of press releases and turning them into voice actualities through interviews with various state officials."

Those interviews are conducted by McCafferty, who said the "vast majority" of information would flow from major state agencies such as health and welfare, resources, business and transportation and agriculture.

In the first broadcasts, no effort was made to identify McCafferty as a public employe who is presenting the administration's viewpoint on various issues.

He said tape-recorded interviews are signed off by "this is Bob McCafferty at the state Capitol." At their option, stations may choose to further identify him as an employe of the Reagan administration.

"The idea when I took the job was to make it as valid a news service as we can," he said. "We don't want to get involved in political controversy. For instance, if the governor should be critical of someone in one of his news conference, that won't be in the service."

At a news conference Tuesday, Gov. Ronald Reagan said the money to finance the program—modeled after one that has been in operation in Illinois for three years—will come from existing state funds.

He said it is "just an effort to again let the people know that factual statements on state programs, whatever they may be, are recorded and available for radio broadcast."

The program went into operation Monday and McCafferty describes the initial response as "excellent." He said more than 100 stations throughout the state used the service on the opening day.

Interested radio stations can get three audio feeds daily by calling a toll-free number in Sacramento. The state will pick up the tab for the calls.

The new radio service is part of a general reorganization of state public information activities spearheaded by James Jenkins, who previously served as a lobbyist for the Reagan administration in Washington.

As part of the reorganization program, Reagan hired Harvey Yorke, who was a publicity lieutenant for S.I. Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State College. Yorke will be paid $25,000 a year as "superchief" of the administration's public information program.

FIRES

This blaze was more serious, Beedle said, with the garage in flames when firemen arrived. An Alpha Romeo car, 10-speed bicycles and other contents of the garage were destroyed, along with the wall between the house and garage.

Beedle estimated the damage to the property of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Knecht would "be close to $10,000."

Firemen fighting the Knecht garage blaze were told by a neighbor that another house was afire about a half-block away.

When they arrived at that house, the Frank home, the two-story frame building was completely engulfed in flames, Captain Beedle said.

The Ross and Fairfax fire departments were called to assist San Anselmo firemen, some of whom had stayed behind at the Kensington Court blaze.

Neighbors took in Mr. and Mrs. Frank, who apparently had escaped through the rear of their house, according to a witness.

Firemen thought this fire started in the basement of the house, but were investigating the origin and cause today. They spent most of the night pulling down dangerous walls and extinguishing smoldering pockets of fire in the house, Beedle said.

At least two firemen suffered minor injuries, he said, and "everyone feels like they've been run over by a truck today."

It took the combined efforts of two firemen to "muscle" open a frozen valve on a hydrant to get water.

Damage to the Frank residence and contents was estimated at $50,000.

Finally, at 11:15 p.m., while firemen were still at the Frank house, a call came reporting smoke at the social hall of the First Presbyterian Church at 72 Kensington Road.

"Someone had set the draperies on fire," Beedle said. These fell down and set the hall's stage afire, which was damaged even more when firemen had to chop it up to extinguish fire underneath.

All the fires were under investigation today.

ARRESTS

into Marin County Jail after being arrested Tuesday and remained free without posting bail.

Following the court appearance, some law enforcement officials termed police handling of the case against their fellow officers "unusual," but a San Anselmo police lieutenant denied that yesterday.

Everyone contacted agreed that the case was handled routinely until after the men were arrested Tuesday morning on suspicion of breaking into the Sears store in Red Hill Shopping Center to take the sets valued at $1,223.

Instead of being taken to jail, the three were released on their promise to appear in court yesterday.

"If they were arrested, why did they let them go?" Judge Smallman wondered.

Police Lt. G. Albert Howenstein replied, "there is no place in the penal code that says they have to be taken to the county jail and processed." He said any solid citizen arrested by San Anselmo police would also be spared that "mere technicality."

"There was no doubt in my mind they would appear in court," he said. Furthermore, he said, the department wanted to check on the soundness of the case with the district attorney's office before making the arrests public.

Smallman, who handles the criminal calendar in Municipal Court, said it is unusual for police to make a felony arrest, then release the suspect.

However, Chief Raymond R. Buchignani, who announced the arrests yesterday, said it is not unusual to postpone booking until the city has its case ready.

Buchignani arrested the men after receiving a telephoned tip that the men had broken into the store. The two officers reportedly told the chief they wanted to have color television sets for Christmas.

86 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

Eighty-six cases of streptococcus infections topped the list of communicable diseases reported in Marin County last week, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht of the county health department. San Rafael residents had 31 of the cases.

Second most common disease, as usual, was gonorrhea, with a total of 31 cases, nine of them in San Rafael. Countywide, there were two cases of syphilis and one each of salmonella and infectious hepatitis.

FAIRFAX

department prepared. He repeatedly tried to reassure Fairfax officials and the half-dozen citizens in the audience that the plan did not envision a Highway 17 extension by any other name.

The controversy began more than eight years ago, when state and county officials were seeking a major east-west link from Highway 101 to West Marin. Fairfax, San Anselmo, Ross and county supervisors killed the proposal on grounds it would bisect the Ross Valley cities.

Silver insisted last night that the countywide general plan sought only to expand the commuter corridor between downtown Fairfax and the Hub in San Anselmo by adding two auto lanes and a bus lane either to Sir Francis Drake Boulevard or to Center Street, while diverting tourist traffic via a new road from White Hill to Lucas Valley. The result would be a total of seven east-west lanes.

Souza charged the plan's goals of preserving open space conflicted with its other goals of a mix of low and moderate income housing and of economic growth — especially noncommute jobs.

Mayor Albert E. Gately urged "extreme caution" in creating the countywide planning superagency. He suggested that the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission designate "spheres of influence" around each city.

Parkerson argued "there is no way a small town can control its own development independent of its surroundings."

Hourihan, after declaring that "litigation will be filed" to disqualify Parkerson from action on the general plan, charged that the plan had been prepared by the county staff under "an enormous CCPC budget."

Town Atty. Wallace S. Myers attended the beginning of the hearing, but left before Parkerson was challenged. Mayor Gately ruled that the disqualification decision was up to Parkerson, who then said he had no direct part in preparing the master plan, and would vote.

Before the council vote, Silver urged the council to "adopt the plan intact" but promised that the City-County Planning Council would consider the changes demanded by Fairfax and other cities before adopting the countywide plan.

The Fairfax general plan adopted in 1968 basically matches the countywide plan except for smaller population predictions, Silver said.

Fairfax's conditional approval of the countywide plan makes it the fourth city to take a formal stand on the proposal. Only Mill Valley has approved the plan without strings. Larkspur and Novato have endorsed the plan's goals but not its specifics; San Anselmo councilmen condemned provisions for increased traffic through the Hub and higher population density but postponed action pending recommendations from the city planning commission.

San Rafael has yet to review the plan. No action has yet been taken by Belvedere, Corte Madera, Ross, Sausalito or Tiburon.

plans, said the new suit will be based on the board's approval of the project without considering an environmental impact report.

(There is currently in effect an optional moratorium on the state Supreme Court's requirement for such reports and supervisors last week passed a resolution requiring environmental reports for projects in Marin.

(While such reports are still required in Marin, supervisors yesterday found themselves faced with another legal requirement — a time deadline — forcing them to act upon Walters's revised plans, which otherwise would automatically be approved.)

The Martinelli Farms project was first proposed last February after Walters and others agreed to purchase the property from long-time dairyman Elmer Martinelli.

The first set of plans called for 51 lots, varying in size from three to five acres, with about 100 acres to be left in private open space.

Those plans were endorsed by the county planning commission but met stiff opposition from conservationists when considered by supervisors in May. A majority of the board, Baptiste, Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., rejected the plans and suggested changes be made for more open space.

Walters submitted revised plans in August calling for 68 smaller "ranchettes" and more open space, but during a heated planning commission session the revised plans were rejected.

The developer took his revised plans before the board yesterday, claiming he had made the requested revisions and should not be bound by the requirement for an environmental impact report because that requirement was placed long after his plans were first submitted.

Though no formal environmental impact report was made, Walters and his attorney, Leland H. Jordan of San Rafael, argued they had made efforts to answer questions raised previously on earthquake hazards and soil conditions.

Donald Clark of Cooper-Clark and Associates, a Novato engineering firm, told the board the earthquake hazard was no greater for structures on the Martinelli property than elsewhere in the county.

John Stuber of Murray McCormick engineers of Novato said the development proposes only minimum grading and added sewer connections would be made with the Coast Guard facility to be built at Point Reyes.

Jordan, meanwhile, said project engineers had answered serious environmental questions and charged that opposition was by a group that wanted the land left untouched.

"If you're saying 'let's leave it undeveloped' then say so and we'll approach it from there," Jordan told the audience, suggesting they purchase the land.

Kayfetz responded that the conservation league was opposed to any development and suggested the land be put to some other profitable use such as recreation.

Wornum appeared to sum up the position of the majority when he told the audience he thought the development — geared toward horse lovers — was ideal for the area.

Among several conditions placed on approval was one calling for some means of keeping horse-related problems — such as soil erosion — in check. Walters said he would work with the staff in developing an ordinance and deed restrictions on the number of horses any "ranchette" owner will be allowed to keep.

Original Plant Prints Displayed At Civic Center

The 79 prints, from "The Leaf Book" by Mrs. Geary, were shown during the September opening of the new library at the Strybring Arboretum at Golden Gate Park in San Francisco.

Mrs. Geary, a native of Philadelphia, resides in Mill Valley and holds a master's degree in creative arts from San Francisco State College.

Copies of "How to Make Plant Prints" by Mrs. Geary are being given away at the Civic Center Library, open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday.

SESSION

Fraser had said earlier that he "didn't discuss any city business there.")

Lawrence urged the city council to stop discussion about the residential limit in Marinship "until the general public has had the opportunity you had at the Emmons party" to view the proposal.

The council rejected Lawrence's request and later passed the 220-unit limit by a 3-2 vote.

Mrs. Sweeny replied to Lawrence's allegations by saying the party was "not a secret meeting, nothing improper. We didn't decide anything or negotiate anything," she said. "In my estimate, it was nothing more than a social event at which a model was discussed. They served hors d'oeuvres and cocktails. We weren't cheating or trying to decieve anyone."

Dean Jennings, a member of the audience said Emmons had told him that "anyone could have come there (to the open house) who knew about it. It wasn't a secret," Jennings said.

Miss Stanford said she had arrived late and stayed only 15 minutes. "I never thought about the Brown Act, didn't know it applied to situations like that," she told the I-J.

Dunphy said he got a call from Emmons simply asking the councilman to meet with him to discuss the project. "I went, just like I'd go to your house, Hugh Lawrence, if you asked me," he said.

Stabbed Inmate Dies Of Wounds

A San Quentin inmate died today from stab wounds suffered yesterday at the hands of one or more fellow inmates, a prison spokesman said.

Information officer Lee DeBord said Michael James Nolan, 24, a convicted robber from Riverside serving concurrent terms of one and five-years-to-life, died at Marin General Hospital at 1:25 a.m., 12 hours after the attack.

DeBord said Nolan was stabbed numerous times, including thrice in the chest, outside his cell in the east block.

DeBord said one inmate is a "strong suspect" but that others are being questioned. No motive for the attack was immediately known.

OBITUARIES

Mary H. Stewart, 78, Church Leader, Succumbs

Mary H. Stewart, longtime Marinite who took active part in United Presbyterian Church affairs, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 78.

She was the wife of Rev. Donald G. Stewart, retired minister of visitation at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Stewart, of 153 Sacramento Avenue, San Anselmo, was a native of Parsons, Kan., who had lived in Marin 28 years. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo.

Survivors, besides her husband, are a son, Kensey D. Stewart of Oakland; a daughter, Clara Jane Gunter of Sacramento, and two grandchildren.

Memorial service will be at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the First Presbyterian Church. The family prefers memorial gifts to the church.

SNOW

reported throughout Marin last night, and Woodside Drive and Oak Springs drives in San Anselmo were closed temporarily because of hazardous conditions.

The road up Christmas Tree Hill in Corte Madera was sanded after it became icy.

Motorists who left their cars out during the night were forced to cope with icy windshields, motors which refused to start and in some cases, frozen door locks.

Youngsters, however, delighted in the unusual snowfall and every block in East Petaluma, like many in Marin, was adorned with a snowman last night — products of both children and adults.

It took a little longer to get to school today in most cases, too, as boys and girls alike tarried along the way to make snowballs.

Gardeners could only sigh, though, as their already frozen plants took another beating. "Don't do anything to them" was the warning of a San Rafael nurseryman who said many will revive in the spring if they are not pruned now.

California artichoke, citrus, cauliflower and avocado crops all have suffered extensive damage and prices of these products are expected to rise.

A final note of misery was given by Fernando Ortiz, University of California zoologist in Berkeley, who said yesterday that many birds are starving because nectar-producing flowers and backyard feeders are frozen.

Hummingbirds found semiconscious should be cupped gently in a person's hands until they revive, he said. Then they should be fed with an eyedropper with a solution of one part of sugar dissolved in two or three parts water, according to Ortiz.

Avalanche Kills 15

NICE (UPI) — An avalanche 5,610 feet high crashed down on a column of 15 soldiers in the French Alps today leaving all dead, injured or missing, authorities said.

MARY PARKER

Funeral for Mary Parker of San Rafael, a native of Canada, will be held in Montreal.

Mrs. Parker, 67, of 1954 Las Gallinas Avenue, died at home Sunday. She had been a Marin resident for six years.

She was a widow.

GERTA WILLIAMS

Funeral has been held for Gerta Williams of Tiburon.

Mrs. Williams, a widow, died Sunday in a local convalescent hospital.

Mrs. Williams, a native of Canada, had been a Marin resident a year and lived at 20 Salt Landing.

ADDIE MEYERS

Funeral for Addie May Meyers, a native Californian and a longtime resident of Ross, will be at 11 a.m. Friday at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

Mrs. Meyers, widow of Charles Meyers, died Monday at home, 27 Poplar Avenue, after a short illness. She was 90.

Burial will be private.

RALPH W. JACOBS III

Funeral for Ralph W. Jacobs III, 20, of San Rafael, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary.

The youth's body was found yesterday on a hillside near Lucas Valley Road by a 12-year-old boy who was looking for mistletoe.

Young Jacobs, a student at Dominican College, has been missing since Nov. 28.

The cause of death was not known today pending results of pathological tests. The coroner's office said the body was fully clothed and the only marks had been caused by insects.

The youth was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Jacobs and is also survived by a brother, four sisters and two grandmothers.

BEVERLEY KILGORE

Beverley Regina Kilgore of 805 Fourth Street, Room 12, San Rafael, died yesterday in a local hospital. She was 36.

According to Marin County Coroner's Deputy Keith C. Craig, Mrs. Kilgore was taken to hospital on Dec. 4 after consuming a large quantity of malt liquor and medication. She had remained in the intensive care unit until her death yesterday at 1 p.m.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

JOHN CARLISLE

John A. Carlisle, a 47-year resident of Marin County, died yesterday in a local hospital after a brief illness. He was 80.

Born in Des Moines, Iowa, he was an army veteran of World War I. Before his retirement, he had been a machinist for more than 20 years, last working at the Mare Island Naval Shipyard in Vallejo.

He resided at 14 Marin Street in San Rafael with his wife, Rachael E. Carlisle. He also is survived by a stepson, Otho E. Thomas of Larkspur.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, followed by burial in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

DIANE MITCHELL

Mass of the Angels for 6-year-old Diane Marie Mitchell of San Rafael will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael.

Diane died Sunday in a Seattle hospital after a long fight with leukemia. She entered the hospital several months ago.

The child, who lived at 23 Aquinas Drive with her parents, Ian and Genevieve Mitchell, was a native of Mill Valley.

Survivors, besides her parents, are three sisters, Kathleen, Jennifer and Alison, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. da Silva.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, with burial in Mount Olivet Cemetery. The family prefers spiritual bouquets or donations to the American Cancer Society Leukemia Fund.

RICHARD ABRAHAM

No funeral service will be held for Richard Ians Abraham, retired San Francisco school principal and father of Frances Kohler of Larkspur.

Abraham died Saturday in his San Francisco home following a heart attack. He was 80.

He was born in Iowa, and was educated in Nebraska and at Oregon and at Stanford University. He retired from the school system in 1952 after serving as principal at John Swett and Portola junior high schools.

He also is survived by his wife, Frances, of the home; a son, Richard Abraham of Phoenix, Ariz., two brothers and three grandchildren.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Heart Association.

Larkspur and Novato have endorsed the plan's goals but not its specifics; San Anselmo councilmen condemned provisions for increased traffic through the Hub and higher population density but postponed action pending recommendations from the city planning commission.

San Rafael has yet to review the plan. No action has yet been taken by Belvedere, Corte Madera, Ross, Sausalito or Tiburon.

There is no plant or animal life as we know it on the planet Saturn because the temperature is always around minus 250 degrees Fahrenheit and the atmosphere does not contain enough oxygen to support life.

plans, said the new suit will be based on the board's approval of the project without considering an environmental impact report.

(There is currently in effect an optional moratorium on the state Supreme Court's requirement for such reports and supervisors last week passed a resolution requiring environmental reports for projects in Marin.

(While such reports are still required in Marin, supervisors yesterday found themselves faced with another legal requirement — a time deadline — forcing them to act upon Walters's revised plans, which otherwise would automatically be approved.)

The Martinelli Farms project was first proposed last February after Walters and others agreed to purchase the property from long-time dairyman Elmer Martinelli.

The first set of plans called for 51 lots, varying in size from three to five acres, with about 100 acres to be left in private open space.

Those plans were endorsed by the county planning commission but met stiff opposition from conservationists when considered by supervisors in May. A majority of the board, Baptiste, Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., rejected the plans and suggested changes be made for more open space.

Walters submitted revised plans in August calling for 68 smaller "ranchettes" and more open space, but during a heated planning commission session the revised plans were rejected.

The developer took his revised plans before the board yesterday, claiming he had made the requested revisions and should not be bound by the requirement for an environmental impact report because that requirement was placed long after his plans were first submitted.

Though no formal environmental impact report was made, Walters and his attorney, Leland H. Jordan of San Rafael, argued they had made efforts to answer questions raised previously on earthquake hazards and soil conditions.

Donald Clark of Cooper-Clark and Associates, a Novato engineering firm, told the board the earthquake hazard was no greater for structures on the Martinelli property than elsewhere in the county.

John Stuber of Murray McCormick engineers of Novato said the development proposes only minimum grading and added sewer connections would be made with the Coast Guard facility to be built at Point Reyes.

Jordan, meanwhile, said project engineers had answered serious environmental questions and charged that opposition was by a group that wanted the land left untouched.

"If you're saying 'let's leave it undeveloped' then say so and we'll approach it from there," Jordan told the audience, suggesting they purchase the land.

Kayfetz responded that the conservation league was opposed to any development and suggested the land be put to some other profitable use such as recreation.

Wornum appeared to sum up the position of the majority when he told the audience he thought the development — geared toward horse lovers — was ideal for the area.

Among several conditions placed on approval was one calling for some means of keeping horse-related problems — such as soil erosion — in check. Walters said he would work with the staff in developing an ordinance and deed restrictions on the number of horses any "ranchette" owner will be allowed to keep.

Original Plant Prints Displayed At Civic Center

Original plant prints by Ida Geary are on display through the end of December at the Marin County Civic Center Library.

The 79 prints, from "The Leaf Book" by Mrs. Geary, were shown during the September opening of the new library at the Strybring Arboretum at Golden Gate Park in San Francisco.

Mrs. Geary, a native of Philadelphia, resides in Mill Valley and holds a master's degree in creative arts from San Francisco State College.

Copies of "How to Make Plant Prints" by Mrs. Geary are being given away at the Civic Center Library, open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday.

SESSION

Fraser had said earlier that he "didn't discuss any city business there.")

Lawrence urged the city council to stop discussion about the residential limit in Marinship "until the general public has had the opportunity you had at the Emmons party" to view the proposal.

The council rejected Lawrence's request and later passed the 220-unit limit by a 3-2 vote.

Mrs. Sweeny replied to Lawrence's allegations by saying the party was "not a secret meeting, nothing improper. We didn't decide anything or negotiate anything," she said. "In my estimate, it was nothing more than a social event at which a model was discussed. They served hors d'oeuvres and cocktails. We weren't cheating or trying to decieve anyone."

Dean Jennings, a member of the audience said Emmons had told him that "anyone could have come there (to the open house) who knew about it. It wasn't a secret," Jennings said.

Miss Stanford said she had arrived late and stayed only 15 minutes. "I never thought about the Brown Act, didn't know it applied to situations like that," she told the I-J.

Dunphy said he got a call from Emmons simply asking the councilman to meet with him to discuss the project. "I went, just like I'd go to your house, Hugh Lawrence, if you asked me," he said.

Stabbed Inmate Dies Of Wounds

A San Quentin inmate died today from stab wounds suffered yesterday at the hands of one or more fellow inmates, a prison spokesman said.

Information officer Lee DeBord said Michael James Nolan, 24, a convicted robber from Riverside serving concurrent terms of one and five-years-to-life, died at Marin General Hospital at 1:25 a.m., 12 hours after the attack.

DeBord said Nolan was stabbed numerous times, including thrice in the chest, outside his cell in the east block.

DeBord said one inmate is a "strong suspect" but that others are being questioned. No motive for the attack was immediately known.

OBITUARIES

Mary H. Stewart, 78, Church Leader, Succumbs

Mary H. Stewart, longtime Marinite who took active part in United Presbyterian Church affairs, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 78.

She was the wife of Rev. Donald G. Stewart, retired minister of visitation at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Stewart, of 153 Sacramento Avenue, San Anselmo, was a native of Parsons, Kan., who had lived in Marin 28 years. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo.

Survivors, besides her husband, are a son, Kensey D. Stewart of Oakland; a daughter, Clara Jane Gunter of Sacramento, and two grandchildren.

Memorial service will be at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the First Presbyterian Church. The family prefers memorial gifts to the church.

MARY PARKER

Funeral for Mary Parker of San Rafael, a native of Canada, will be held in Montreal.

Mrs. Parker, 67, of 1954 Las Gallinas Avenue, died at home Sunday. She had been a Marin resident for six years.

She was a widow.

GERTA WILLIAMS

Funeral has been held for Gerta Williams of Tiburon.

Mrs. Williams, a widow, died Sunday in a local convalescent hospital.

Mrs. Williams, a native of Canada, had been a Marin resident a year and lived at 20 Salt Landing.

ADDIE MEYERS

Funeral for Addie May Meyers, a native Californian and a longtime resident of Ross, will be at 11 a.m. Friday at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

Mrs. Meyers, widow of Charles Meyers, died Monday at home, 27 Poplar Avenue, after a short illness. She was 90.

Burial will be private.

RALPH W. JACOBS III

Funeral for Ralph W. Jacobs III, 20, of San Rafael, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary.

The youth's body was found yesterday on a hillside near Lucas Valley Road by a 12-year-old boy who was looking for mistletoe.

Young Jacobs, a student at Dominican College, has been missing since Nov. 28.

The cause of death was not known today pending results of pathological tests. The coroner's office said the body was fully clothed and the only marks had been caused by insects.

The youth was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Jacobs and is also survived by a brother, four sisters and two grandmothers.

BEVERLEY KILGORE

Beverley Regina Kilgore of 805 Fourth Street, Room 12, San Rafael, died yesterday in a local hospital. She was 36.

According to Marin County Coroner's Deputy Keith C. Craig, Mrs. Kilgore was taken to hospital on Dec. 4 after consuming a large quantity of malt liquor and medication. She had remained in the intensive care unit until her death yesterday at 1 p.m.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

JOHN CARLISLE

John A. Carlisle, a 47-year resident of Marin County, died yesterday in a local hospital after a brief illness. He was 80.

Born in Des Moines, Iowa, he was an army veteran of World War I. Before his retirement, he had been a machinist for more than 20 years, last working at the Mare Island Naval Shipyard in Vallejo.

He resided at 14 Marin Street in San Rafael with his wife, Rachael E. Carlisle. He also is survived by a stepson, Otho E. Thomas of Larkspur.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, followed by burial in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

DIANE MITCHELL

Mass of the Angels for 6-year-old Diane Marie Mitchell of San Rafael will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael.

Diane died Sunday in a Seattle hospital after a long fight with leukemia. She entered the hospital several months ago.

The child, who lived at 23 Aquinas Drive with her parents, Ian and Genevieve Mitchell, was a native of Mill Valley.

Survivors, besides her parents, are three sisters, Kathleen, Jennifer and Alison, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. da Silva.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, with burial in Mount Olivet Cemetery. The family prefers spiritual bouquets or donations to the American Cancer Society Leukemia Fund.

RICHARD ABRAHAM

No funeral service will be held for Richard Ians Abraham, retired San Francisco school principal and father of Frances Kohler of Larkspur.

Abraham died Saturday in his San Francisco home following a heart attack. He was 80.

He was born in Iowa, and was educated in Nebraska and at Oregon and at Stanford University. He retired from the school system in 1952 after serving as principal at John Swett and Portola junior high schools.

He also is survived by his wife, Frances, of the home; a son, Richard Abraham of Phoenix, Ariz., two brothers and three grandchildren.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Heart Association.

reported throughout Marin last night, and Woodside Drive and Oak Springs drives in San Anselmo were closed temporarily because of hazardous conditions.

The road up Christmas Tree Hill in Corte Madera was sanded after it became icy.

Motorists who left their cars out during the night were forced to cope with icy windshields, motors which refused to start and in some cases, frozen door locks.

Youngsters, however, delighted in the unusual snowfall and every block in East Petaluma, like many in Marin, was adorned with a snowman last night — products of both children and adults.

It took a little longer to get to school today in most cases, too, as boys and girls alike tarried along the way to make snowballs.

Gardeners could only sigh, though, as their already frozen plants took another beating. "Don't do anything to them" was the warning of a San Rafael nurseryman who said many will revive in the spring if they are not pruned now.

California artichoke, citrus, cauliflower and avocado crops all have suffered extensive damage and prices of these products are expected to rise.

A final note of misery was given by Fernando Ortiz, University of California zoologist in Berkeley, who said yesterday that many birds are starving because nectar-producing flowers and backyard feeders are frozen.

Hummingbirds found semiconscious should be cupped gently in a person's hands until they revive, he said. Then they should be fed with an eyedropper with a solution of one part of sugar dissolved in two or three parts water, according to Ortiz.

Avalanche Kills 15

NICE (UPI) — An avalanche 5,610 feet high crashed down on a column of 15 soldiers in the French Alps today leaving all dead, injured or missing, authorities said.

BIKE BRIGADE — Dennis Tate (left), president of the Mill Valley Optimist Club, tightens a bolt while club secretary James Eberhart applies a fresh coat of paint to bicycles the Optimists are repairing to give to needy children at Christmas. The club hopes to repaint, repair and distribute about 50 bikes by Christmas Day.

Optimist Members Turn Old Bikes Into Holiday Happiness

Members of the Mill Valley Optimist Club may not resemble Santa's elves and Anthony's Auto Craft in San Rafael is hardly Santa's workshop, but the Christmas Spirit pervades the auto body shop no less than it pervades the North Pole.

For there, amidst repainted cars and mangled fenders, the Mill Valley Optimist Club is busily repairing used bicycles to give to needy children for Christmas.

The club has already gathered about 25 bikes, whose condition range from sparkling clean to downright awful.

But, every bike is appreciated, said project chairman James Eberhart, and even the most dilapidated bike can supply a needed part or two.

The club, a nonprofit group of Mill Valley businessmen dedicated to helping Marin County youths, has been repairing bikes for three years now.

Two years ago, their delivery truck filled with bikes was almost mobbed by a horde of delighted children in Marin City.

This year, the club will seek names of needy families from the Marin County Welfare Department, according to Eberhart.

"Most poor kids just don't get bikes for Christmas," said Eberhart. "We want to fill some of those voids."

Optimist president Dennis Tate added, "We hope it will make some of these kids feel like someone is working for them, not against them."

The 10 club members are prepared to accept bikes at Anthony's Auto Craft Shop, 103 Verdi Street in San Rafael, until Dec. 22.

They hope to repaint, repair and distribute about 50 bikes by Christmas Day.

Pop Singer Gives Birth To Girl

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Recording star Helen Reddy, whose current pop hit is "I am Woman," gave birth Tuesday to an 8-pound, 4-ounce boy at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

The 31-year-old singer named her son Jordan Sommers Wald, the first child of her five year marriage to Jeff Wald, 29. Miss Reddy has a 10-year-old daughter from a previous marriage.

BART Controls Safety Defended

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Westinghouse Electric Co. executive said today that the Bay Area Rapid Transit System's automatic controls are the safest in the world and that problems which have turned up during the first three months of operation "can be cleared up very quickly."

Woodrow E. Johnson, a vice president of Westinghouse and general manager of its transportation division, said much of the criticism pouring down on BART because of a series of accidents is based on misinformation about the sophisticated electronic controls.

Johnson conceded BART has a "lost train" problem and a "station run-through" problems.

Johnson said tests are now under way to solve both these problems.

The failure of the central computer to detect the presence of a car sitting dead on a track can be corrected by providing a better electric contact between the car wheels and the track, and several means are being tested to do that, he said.

"These tests will be completed by the middle of January and then the problem can be cleared up very quickly," he said.

The other major problem — "station run-through" —is the result of various faults in specific equipment such as short circuits. Finding all of them "is a matter of testing," Johnson said, and such incidents are being gradually reduced to about three a week.

The Westinghouse executive called a news conference to respond to questions by Bay Area reporters. Westinghouse and BART management have already been questioned extensively by state legislative committees and the state Public Utilities Commission, which has ordered back-up human drivers to man all the system's trains despite the fully automated Westinghouse computer controls.

Optimist Members Turn Old Bikes Into Holiday Happiness

Members of the Mill Valley Optimist Club may not resemble Santa's elves and Anthony's Auto Craft in San Rafael is hardly Santa's workshop, but the Christmas Spirit pervades the auto body shop no less than it pervades the North Pole.

For there, amidst repainted cars and mangled fenders, the Mill Valley Optimist Club is busily repairing used bicycles to give to needy children for Christmas.

The club has already gathered about 25 bikes, whose condition range from sparkling clean to downright awful.

But, every bike is appreciated, said project chairman James Eberhart, and even the most dilapidated bike can supply a needed part or two.

The club, a nonprofit group of Mill Valley businessmen dedicated to helping Marin County youths, has been repairing bikes for three years now.

Two years ago, their delivery truck filled with bikes was almost mobbed by a horde of delighted children in Marin City.

This year, the club will seek names of needy families from the Marin County Welfare Department, according to Eberhart.

"Most poor kids just don't get bikes for Christmas," said Eberhart. "We want to fill some of those voids."

Optimist president Dennis Tate added, "We hope it will make some of these kids feel like someone is working for them, not against them."

The 10 club members are prepared to accept bikes at Anthony's Auto Craft Shop, 103 Verdi Street in San Rafael, until Dec. 22.

Another Hot Topic Facing Trustees

The Tamalpais High School District board, plagued recently with controversies over district spending on travel and lavish furniture, will enter yet another field of controversy at its meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Redwood High School faculty lounge.

Letters from taxpayers will be presented, objecting to the educational philosophies of the Tamalpais High School educational leader, Lawrence Sheppard, the newly hired administrator whose $5,700-worth of office furniture triggered the latest district uproar.

After trustees ordered the furniture sent back for a refund last week, Sheppard moved into the office of Tamalpais High School Principal Ramond J. Bell, the unbudgeted furniture was put into storage and Bell moved into the empty office.

Another angry letter from the Marin Builders Exchange also will be presented, objecting to the district's practice in advertising for bids.

At its meeting last week the board approved a $991.10 payment to the San Francisco Chronicle-Examiner for one advertisement soliciting bids for re-roofing the Redwood High School gymnaisum, plus $107.80 for the same ad in the Oakland Tribune, and one in the Independent-Journal at $58.94. The cost of the ads was more than 10 per cent of the $10,212 total cost of the project.

The Marin Builders Exchange weekly bulletin advertises such bids free of charge, states the letter, "and the Marin Builders Exchange has a membership of nearly 400 construction related firms who work and pay taxes in this county. Don't you think it appropriate that they be solicited for bids in the future?"

Younger Views Obscenity Rule

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —"You can still see dirty shows in California. You can still eat and drink. You just can't do both at once."

That was California Attorney General Evelle Younger's capsule analysis of last week's U.S. Supreme Court ruling on obscene entertainment.

The court upheld the state's authority to regulate nude entertainment in bars and to prohibit "bottomless" dancing and so-called "adult" movies.

Younger said Tuesday that the Alcoholic Beverage Control (ABC) regulations sustained by the court dealt only with bars and private clubs where alcohol was sold for consumption on the premises.

"The regulations do not deal with theaters, movie house, or other establishments which do not sell and serve alcoholic beverages, nor do they affect the state's criminal statutes," he said.

Five Office Buildings Ruled Out

The Mill Valley Planning Commission has refused to allow building a set of five office buildings on eight acres of land in the Shelter Ridge development because the property is zoned for commercial and recreational uses only.

The proposal was submitted by Mape Industries, which plans five one and two-story office buildings, with a total of 65,400 square feet, on the property north of Shelter Bay.

According to Planning Director Tom W. Newton, the commission turned down the developer's application for planned unit development status because the project was not a compatible use in a commercial-recreation zone.

The commission did not rule on the merits of the plan itself, said Newton.

In order to keep its proposal alive, Mape Industires can either appeal the planning commission's decision or seek a change in the parcel's zoning.

The commission also adopted the countywide plan's open space element as Mill Valley's interim open space plan.

The countywide plan identified Northridge, the small boat harbor area and the land along Miller Creek as important open space areas.

The interim open space plan, if approved by the city council, will be followed by a more detailed final open space plan.

Puppet Show To Be On Dec. 29

Tam Valley puppeteers Brian Healey, 11, and Terry Louis, also 11, will present three puppet plays for children at 2:30 p.m. Dec. 29 in the Corte Madera Regional Library children's room.

The boys are being helped by Kitty Adams, adult puppeteer of Mill Valley, and Leonora James of Tam Valley, octagenarian former costume designer for legitimate theaters in New Zealand.

Young Healey previously wrote and produced several children's plays for the Tam Valley Library and the Marin Story-telling Association, according to Teddy Olwyler, children's librarian at the regional library.

Meeting Postponed

Tonight's meeting of the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission has been postponed to next week, Dec. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at Larkspur City Hall, announced Harlan Barry, Larkspur's parks and recreation director.

Another Hot Topic Facing Trustees

The Tamalpais High School District board, plagued recently with controversies over district spending on travel and lavish furniture, will enter yet another field of controversy at its meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Redwood High School faculty lounge.

Letters from taxpayers will be presented, objecting to the educational philosophies of the Tamalpais High School educational leader, Lawrence Sheppard, the newly hired administrator whose $5,700-worth of office furniture triggered the latest district uproar.

After trustees ordered the furniture sent back for a refund last week, Sheppard moved into the office of Tamalpais High School Principal Ramond J. Bell, the unbudgeted furniture was put into storage and Bell moved into the empty office.

Another angry letter from the Marin Builders Exchange also will be presented, objecting to the district's practice in advertising for bids.

At its meeting last week the board approved a $991.10 payment to the San Francisco Chronicle-Examiner for one advertisement soliciting bids for re-roofing the Redwood High School gymnaisum, plus $107.80 for the same ad in the Oakland Tribune, and one in the Independent-Journal at $58.94. The cost of the ads was more than 10 per cent of the $10,212 total cost of the project.

The Marin Builders Exchange weekly bulletin advertises such bids free of charge, states the letter, "and the Marin Builders Exchange has a membership of nearly 400 construction related firms who work and pay taxes in this county. Don't you think it appropriate that they be solicited for bids in the future?"

Younger Views Obscenity Rule

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —"You can still see dirty shows in California. You can still eat and drink. You just can't do both at once."

That was California Attorney General Evelle Younger's capsule analysis of last week's U.S. Supreme Court ruling on obscene entertainment.

The court upheld the state's authority to regulate nude entertainment in bars and to prohibit "bottomless" dancing and so-called "adult" movies.

Younger said Tuesday that the Alcoholic Beverage Control (ABC) regulations sustained by the court dealt only with bars and private clubs where alcohol was sold for consumption on the premises.

"The regulations do not deal with theaters, movie house, or other establishments which do not sell and serve alcoholic beverages, nor do they affect the state's criminal statutes," he said.

Five Office Buildings Ruled Out

The Mill Valley Planning Commission has refused to allow building a set of five office buildings on eight acres of land in the Shelter Ridge development because the property is zoned for commercial and recreational uses only.

The proposal was submitted by Mape Industries, which plans five one and two-story office buildings, with a total of 65,400 square feet, on the property north of Shelter Bay.

According to Planning Director Tom W. Newton, the commission turned down the developer's application for planned unit development status because the project was not a compatible use in a commercial-recreation zone.

The commission did not rule on the merits of the plan itself, said Newton.

In order to keep its proposal alive, Mape Industires can either appeal the planning commission's decision or seek a change in the parcel's zoning.

The commission also adopted the countywide plan's open space element as Mill Valley's interim open space plan.

The countywide plan identified Northridge, the small boat harbor area and the land along Miller Creek as important open space areas.

The interim open space plan, if approved by the city council, will be followed by a more detailed final open space plan.

Puppet Show To Be On Dec. 29

Tam Valley puppeteers Brian Healey, 11, and Terry Louis, also 11, will present three puppet plays for children at 2:30 p.m. Dec. 29 in the Corte Madera Regional Library children's room.

The boys are being helped by Kitty Adams, adult puppeteer of Mill Valley, and Leonora James of Tam Valley, octagenarian former costume designer for legitimate theaters in New Zealand.

Young Healey previously wrote and produced several children's plays for the Tam Valley Library and the Marin Story-telling Association, according to Teddy Olwyler, children's librarian at the regional library.

Meeting Postponed

Tonight's meeting of the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission has been postponed to next week, Dec. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at Larkspur City Hall, announced Harlan Barry, Larkspur's parks and recreation director.

POTENTIAL BATTLEGROUND

The grassy slopes of Elmer Martinelli's ranch north of Point Reyes Station loom as a potential battleground for a legal fight between conservationists and developers over environmental impact reports. Conservationists claim a 68-lot subdivision approved by county supervisors yesterday could threaten Tomales Bay, to the right of the photo. See story, page 1.

No Action Taken On Novato Plan

Novato's proposed general plan was given its fifth and final public hearing last night, but the Novato City Council took no action on it.

The council set 8 p.m. Monday for its discussion and possible adoption of the plan.

The crowd of approximately 180 people seemed about equally divided for and against it, judging by the applause.

The differences were — as they have been from the outset — mainly between developers and large property owners who want to develop their property to its fullest use, and the homeowner associations and conservationists who want to keep the open spaces.

In the discussion, both God and Hell were used to describe the plan.

Irving Perlman of 1581 Hill Road said that God had made such beauty as Big Rock with snow on it, but man wanted to destroy the open spaces by building on them.

Phillip Coady, president of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, which opposes the plan, said a man with a single-family house on a lot does not want his neighbor with 10 acres to develop it. The plan makes the man in the single family home say "to Hell with my neighbor."

The proposed plan has been a year in preparation by the city staff. Neighborhood committees were formed and said what they thought should go into it. The plan was prepared and submitted to the Novato Planning Commission, which held a series of public hearings. This was the fifth held by the council.

Speaking against the plan were: Jack H. West, developer of Bel Marin Keys, who still owns 1,100 acres north of Hamilton Air Force Base, Timothy W. O. Donoghue of 7 Brown Drive who owns 33 acres at the end of Hill Road, John W. Hill of 1602 Grant Avenue, Ronald D. Schenck of 728 Eucalyptus Avenue, and Alfred Bellucci of 7 Equestrian Court.

Backing the plan were Robert Burke of the San Marin Improvement Association, Ellen Wagner of the League of Women Voters, Eric Kinsey of the South Novato Homeowners Association, Linn Childs of the Marin Conservation League, Dixie Conway of 17 Cathy Court, Harold Blue of the North Marin Federation of Homeowners Associations, George Amaroli of 11 Rebecca Way and Lawrence Smith of the Indian Valley Associates.

Richard Gaebel of the Black Point Improvemement Club asked that Black Point be excluded from the plan as it is not a part of Novato. "Let us plan for ourselves," he said. (The plan includes the greater Novato area.)

Jerry A. Cannon of 1 Isabella Court, representing the Marin Conservation League, said he is undecided on the plan. "Open space raises the prices of houses in the flat land and is pricing people out of Novato. You must chose people or open space," he said.

Supervisors Name 10 Choices As Recreation Area Advisers

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday named 10 persons it would like to see serve on the Golden Gate National Recreation Area Advisory Commission.

The 15-member commission will be selected by Secretary of the Interior Rogers B. Morton.

Nominated by the supervisors were: Polly Smith, representing the county parks and recreation commission; Robert Raab, conservation organization member; A. J. Bianchi, representing West Marin residents; Jo Julin, representing Southern Marin; Clerin W. Zumwalt, representing the Marin Municipal Water District; Margaret B. Azevedo, transportation representative; Jack Craemer, Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau; Peter Haas, "experienced in trials," and George Leonard and Phyllis Faber, citizens at-large.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

ORDINANCE — Voted 4-1, Supervisor Louis H. Baar dissenting, on an emergency ordinance doing away with deadlines for board action on rezonings, tentative maps and other planning matters. The new ordinance gives the county the power to delay projects until environmental impact reports are made. Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, who voted for the emergency ordinance, voted against the same ordinance last week prior to the mandatory hearing on the Martinelli Farms proposal, which was approved yesterday without an environmental report.

CONTRACT — Approved a $14,026 contract with Pride Unlimited for janitorial services for the two Marin Community Mental Health Center clinics.

STREET — Approved the abandonment of a portion of Laurel Way, a paper street in Tamalpais Valley, but retained a small section to allow future access to a vacant lot.

MAPPING — Approved a request from the department of public works for $3,270 for aerial mapping of Kent and College avenues in Kentfield as part of the proposed reconstruction project.

HEARING — Set Jan. 2 for a hearing on a proposal to abandon the once-controversial Sausalito Canal dredging project. The project, needed before Mill Valley can build its yacht harbor, would require formation of a special assessment district to pay the estimated $670,000 dredging cost.

BENEFITS — Approved increasing fringe benefits of management and midmanagement employees by $8 per month to $38 through June. The employees received no increase in fringe benefits during June budget hearings while all others did. Total cost through June will be $7,257.

MOTORCYCLE — Named Leroy Gerner, county parks and recreation commissioner, to a committee advising the board on off-road motorcycle sites.

FEES — Voted an increase in fees for gun permits, employment licenses and fingerprinting. The high is $10 for gun permit processing.

CONTRACT — Awarded a $102,813 contract to L. H. Leonardi of San Rafael for signal work in connection with the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard widening project in Kentfield.

DESIGN — Approved negotiating an agreement with the architectural firm of Hageman and Eklund for design of a residence and office building at county fire headquarters in Woodacre.

I-J Readers May Study For Credit

The nation's first college-level course to appear in newspapers will begin next September in the Independent-Journal as well as more than 100 other American and foreign newspapers.

The course-America and the Future of Man — will be provided at the third year college level under a $96,000 grant by the National Endowment for the Humanities.

John Coley, promotion manager for the I-J, said subscribers may either read the course "for their own edification" or take it for college credit.

The course will consist of 20 lectures of about 1,400 words.

"Participating newspapers will publish the lectures as news articles, one to appear each week over a 20-week period, beginning in September 1973," the NEH said.

Those taking the course for credit will pay about $45 and take midterm and final examinations. Lectures will be given at participating universities at midway and final points.

Coley said final arrangements have not been made yet for the university to participate in this area, but it will probably be the University of California at Berkeley.

The program was originally intended to be undertaken on a pilot basis in six newspapers but the response was so great the field was opened to all interested newspapers.

Phone Ripping Case Goes To Superior Court

A 32-year-old San Francisco man with an antipathy for telephones was bound over yesterday to Marin Suoerior Court on a felony charge of ripping a receiver from a Strawberry phone booth.

Municipal Court Judge Robert A. Smallman told Walter Preston Harper, 32, to appear Dec. 27.

When arrested by sheriff's deputies Nov. 25, Harper is said to have told them he rips out receivers because his wife ran away with a phone company employee.

The man, distinguished by a swastika carved in his forehead, has a history both of damaging phones and undergoing psychiatric treatment.

The latest vandalism occurred at a gas station at 570 Redwood Highway, according to deputies.

Reorganized Health Unit Approved By Supervisors

The Marin County Board of Supervisors unanimously and enthusiastically approved yesterday a major reorganization of county mental health services. (Other supervisors stories, page 1.)

The changes, aimed at decentralizing the $2.9 million department of some 180 employees, were hailed as long overdue, although some critics believed the proposal was being rushed.

"It's my feeling the redirection should have come about a long time ago," Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste said. "I believe Marin has the highest expenditure per capita in California (in mental health services) and as far as I'm concerned, the dollar has not been wisely spent."

Under the reorganization, proposed by Dr. Robert Taylor, mental health program chief, after a four-month study with staff and numerous community agencies, four teams of psychiatrists, psychologists, counselors and nurses will administer general services on a regional basis in northern, central, southern and western Marin.

Aside from relieving community inaccessibility to services, Taylor told the board, the reorganization plan deals in various ways with the problems of achieving cost effectiveness, providing better service to the severely disturbed, lack of integration of services and of faulty interagency coordination.

The reorganization includes creation of units for crisis services, transitional care (a program under which patients released from an institution live and work together while remaining under treatment), special problems and community services.

Taylor told the Independent-Journal the plan will mean filling seven vacant positions, but no new increase in staff. And cost of the new programs, he said, will not exceed the current budget, nor is it expected that any extra program money will be needed next fiscal year.

Sharpest of the critics was Dr. William Dickerson, chairman of the mental health committee of the Marin Medical Society. While observing that the plan seemed to be "moving in a direction that showed great promise," Dickerson urged delay in approval since it was his believe the community —and the medical society, in particular — had not been given sufficient time to react to the proposal.

"It's like reorganizing the kitchen without consulting the working crew," he said. Dickerson also said the plan failed to contain a detailed supporting budget.

Board members, notably chairman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., seemed unimpressed with Dickerson's complaint of a rushed proposal, noting the reorganization had been in the works for months and the unlikelihood that the medical society would have been unaware of the planning.

George Carter, pastor of the Methodist Church of Mill Valley also questioned the "hurry" in view of the fact the Marin Mental Health Advisory Board approved the reorganization only last week on "short notice." And he expressed concern over what he termed a lack of in-depth services, especially for the severely disturbed.

Trude Baum, a member of the mental health advisory board, noted the panel had favored Taylor's reorganization proposal by a vote of 5-2. She was among its supporters.

"I'm convinced that the program is the right way to go," said Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere. "We can't afford to play political football with the children and adults who suffer from mental illness."

It was the second time in two weeks that the supervisors have considered program reorganization within the county's health services department. Last week, the board postponed action on changes in the public health division in the face of audience opposition.

Little Girl Helps Save Her Mother

FAREHAM, England (UPI) — Telephone operator Eileen Smith kept the little girl talking, asking her about Santa Claus and other things about Christmas.

Mrs. Smith said she kept Sarah Jane Chase, 4, chattering for 15 minutes Tuesday while engineers traced the telephone number of the Chase home, where the girl's mother lay unconscious and bleeding.

When ambulance men reached the house, Sarah Jane was still talking. Doctors said the girl probably helped prevent her mother from bleeding to death.

Mrs. Smith said the drama began when Mrs. Chase, bleeding from injuries sustained when she fell through a window pane, telephoned for help but collapsed before she could give her address.

"A little girl came to the phone and said her mummy was asleep," Mrs. Smith said. "I kept her talking for 15 minutes. We talked about Christmas and what Santa was going to bring her."

What do doctors recommend for patients in·pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give up to 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin®.

Old Adobe Board Has New Trustee

Terence M. Garvey was elected yesterday to the Old Adobe School District board in one of the poorest voter turn-outs in Sonoma County history, not quite seven-tenths of 1 per cent of the electorate.

In unofficial results, Garvey received 228 votes and Donald P. Petro received 82 votes. A total of 310 votes were cast out of 4,884 registered voters.

Garvey, 45, will replace John A. Thompson on the school board that serves East Petaluma. Thompson resigned when he moved to Marin County.

Garvey is a registered civil engineer employed by Spreckels Sugar Co. in San Francisco. He and his wife, Joanne, and their six children live at 83 Maria Drive.

Bill Requires Quentin Study Before Sale

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State cannot sell San Quentin until completion of a study aimed at finding out if there would be any good public use for the prison site, under a bill signed by Gov. Reagan.

The measure, authored by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, and signed Tuesday, requires that the General Services Department prepare a report for the legislature by July 1974 on possible public uses of the land and buildings. The state Corrections Department has announced plans to close the state's largest prison, but no firm date has been established.

Under the bill, the property could not be sold, leased or disposed until after the report has been received and approved by the legislature.

It was SB 229.

Housing Limits Set In Marinship Area

By a 3-2 vote, the Sausalito City Council decided last night to limit housing in the city's 100-acre Marinship area to 200 units. (Another Sausalito City Council story, page 1.)

Till now, the city's general plan allowed 644 residential units there.

Councilman Robin Sweeny and Earl F. Dunphy cast the two dissenting votes.

Dunphy objected to the council majority's other decision, that the housing units can be spread throughout the Marinship and not limited to certain areas.

"I don't feel there should be residences to the north of Harbor Drive," he said.

A group of Marinship business, including the E. D. Bullard Co., Clipper Yacht Harbor, Vincent Whitney Co., Gerhardt Co., Heath Ceramics and Interbay Lumber, had presented the council with a letter opposing a mixture of industrial and residential land uses in the area.

Mrs. Sweeny said she voted against the motion because of uncertainty as to whether any housing should be allowed in future development of the northern Marinship.

Councilman Stephen A. Fraser, who proposed the 200-unit limit, said he thought some housing in Marinship would be beneficial to the city.

The Sausalito Planning Commission had earlier called for banning homes in Marinship and chairman Robert L. Nissen explained the commission's stand by saying that if 200 units were distributed throughout the large area, "We'd have a few units there, mixed in with any kind of use you could imagine. If you are going to limit housing to only 200 units, you might as well limit it to none," he said.

The council tentatively agreed to make houseboats a conditional, rather than a permitted use, in Marinship. If this action is formalized, houseboats would be allowed into the area only after obtaining conditional use permits.

The council agreed to continue its discussion of guidelines for the future development of Marinship at its Dec. 26 meeting.

Ignatius Is Named Air Group's Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Navy Secretary Paul Ignatius Tuesday was named president of the Air Transport Association (ATA), a trade organization representing the major scheduled airlines.

Ignatius, formerly an ATA vice president, succeeds Stuart G. Tipton, elected chairman of the board. Ignatius, who was President of the Washington Post Co. from 1969 to 1971, served as Navy secretary in 1967-69.

Cadet Program Approval Asked

The Marinwood Fire Commission has asked directors of the community services district to approve a round-the-clock cadet program for the fire department.

Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield said the project would mean adding another cadet on a full-time shift such as that worked by regular firemen. One cadet already is on the staff, although he works only days.

Bonfield said the cost of the round-the-clock had not been fully computed.

The program is to go before the services district board Monday.

POTENTIAL BATTLEGROUND

The grassy slopes of Elmer Martinelli's ranch north of Point Reyes Station loom as a potential battleground for a legal fight between conservationists and developers over environmental impact reports. Conservationists claim a 68-lot subdivision approved by county supervisors yesterday could threaten Tomales Bay, to the right of the photo. See story, page 1.

No Action Taken On Novato Plan

Novato's proposed general plan was given its fifth and final public hearing last night, but the Novato City Council took no action on it.

The council set 8 p.m. Monday for its discussion and possible adoption of the plan.

The crowd of approximately 180 people seemed about equally divided for and against it, judging by the applause.

The differences were — as they have been from the outset — mainly between developers and large property owners who want to develop their property to its fullest use, and the homeowner associations and conservationists who want to keep the open spaces.

In the discussion, both God and Hell were used to describe the plan.

Irving Perlman of 1581 Hill Road said that God had made such beauty as Big Rock with snow on it, but man wanted to destroy the open spaces by building on them.

Phillip Coady, president of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, which opposes the plan, said a man with a single-family house on a lot does not want his neighbor with 10 acres to develop it. The plan makes the man in the single family home say "to Hell with my neighbor."

The proposed plan has been a year in preparation by the city staff. Neighborhood committees were formed and said what they thought should go into it. The plan was prepared and submitted to the Novato Planning Commission, which held a series of public hearings. This was the fifth held by the council.

Speaking against the plan were: Jack H. West, developer of Bel Marin Keys, who still owns 1,100 acres north of Hamilton Air Force Base, Timothy W. O. Donoghue of 7 Brown Drive who owns 33 acres at the end of Hill Road, John W. Hill of 1602 Grant Avenue, Ronald D. Schenck of 728 Eucalyptus Avenue, and Alfred Bellucci of 7 Equestrian Court.

Backing the plan were Robert Burke of the San Marin Improvement Association, Ellen Wagner of the League of Women Voters, Eric Kinsey of the South Novato Homeowners Association, Linn Childs of the Marin Conservation League, Dixie Conway of 17 Cathy Court, Harold Blue of the North Marin Federation of Homeowners Associations, George Amaroli of 11 Rebecca Way and Lawrence Smith of the Indian Valley Associates.

Richard Gaebel of the Black Point Improvemement Club asked that Black Point be excluded from the plan as it is not a part of Novato. "Let us plan for ourselves," he said. (The plan includes the greater Novato area.)

Jerry A. Cannon of 1 Isabella Court, representing the Marin Conservation League, said he is undecided on the plan. "Open space raises the prices of houses in the flat land and is pricing people out of Novato. You must chose people or open space," he said.

Supervisors Name 10 Choices As Recreation Area Advisers

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday named 10 persons it would like to see serve on the Golden Gate National Recreation Area Advisory Commission.

The 15-member commission will be selected by Secretary of the Interior Rogers B. Morton.

Nominated by the supervisors were: Polly Smith, representing the county parks and recreation commission: Robert Raab, conservation organization member; A. J. Bianchi, representing West Marin residents; Jo Julin, representing Southern Marin; Clerin W. Zumwalt, representing the Marin Municipal Water District; Margaret B. Azevedo, transportation representative; Jack Craemer, Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau; Peter Haas, "experienced in trials," and George Leonard and Phyllis Faber, citizens at-large.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

ORDINANCE — Voted 4-1, Supervisor Louis H. Baar dissenting, on an emergency ordinance doing away with deadlines for board action on rezonings, tentative maps and other planning matters. The new ordinance gives the county the power to delay projects until environmental impact reports are made. Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, who voted for the emergency ordinance, voted against the same ordinance last week prior to the mandatory hearing on the Martinelli Farms proposal, which was approved yesterday without an environmental report.

CONTRACT — Approved a $14,026 contract with Pride Unlimited for janitorial services for the two Marin Community Mental Health Center clinics.

STREET — Approved the abandonment of a portion of Laurel Way, a paper street in Tamalpais Valley, but retained a small section to allow future access to a vacant lot.

MAPPING — Approved a request from the department of public works for $3,270 for aerial mapping of Kent and College avenues in Kentfield as part of the proposed reconstruction project.

HEARING — Set Jan. 2 for a hearing on a proposal to abandon the once-controversial Sausalito Canal dredging project. The project, needed before Mill Valley can build its yacht harbor, would require formation of a special assessment district to pay the estimated $670,000 dredging cost.

BENEFITS — Approved increasing fringe benefits of management and midmanagement employees by $8 per month to $38 through June. The employees received no increase in fringe benefits during June budget hearings while all others did. Total cost through June will be $7,257.

MOTORCYCLE — Named Leroy Gerner, county parks and recreation commissioner, to a committee advising the board on off-road motorcycle sites.

FEES — Voted an increase in fees for gun permits, employment licenses and fingerprinting. The high is $10 for gun permit processing.

CONTRACT — Awarded a $102,813 contract to L. H. Leonardi of San Rafael for signal work in connection with the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard widening project in Kentfield.

DESIGN — Approved negotiating an agreement with the architectural firm of Hageman and Eklund for design of a residence and office building at county fire headquarters in Woodacre.

I-J Readers May Study For Credit

The nation's first college-level course to appear in newspapers will begin next September in the Independent-Journal as well as more than 100 other American and foreign newspapers.

The course-America and the Future of Man — will be provided at the third year college level under a $96,000 grant by the National Endowment for the Humanities.

John Coley, promotion manager for the I-J, said subscribers may either read the course "for their own edification" or take it for college credit.

The course will consist of 20 lectures of about 1,400 words.

"Participating newspapers will publish the lectures as news articles, one to appear each week over a 20-week period, beginning in September 1973," the NEH said.

Those taking the course for credit will pay about $45 and take midterm and final examinations. Lectures will be given at participating universities at midway and final points.

Coley said final arrangements have not been made yet for the university to participate in this area, but it will probably be the University of California at Berkeley.

The program was originally intended to be undertaken on a pilot basis in six newspapers but the response was so great the field was opened to all interested newspapers.

Phone Ripping Case Goes To Superior Court

A 32-year-old San Francisco man with an antipathy for telephcnes was bound over yesterday to Marin Suoerior Court on a felony charge of ripping a receiver from a Strawberry phone booth.

Municipal Court Judge Robert A. Smallman told Walter Preston Harper, 32, to appear Dec. 27.

When arrested by sheriff's deputies Nov. 25, Harper is said to have told them he rips out receivers because his wife ran away with a phone company employee.

The man, distinguished by a swastika carved in his forehead, has a history both of damaging phones and undergoing psychiatric treatment.

The latest vandalism occurred at a gas station at 570 Redwood Highway, according to deputies.

Reorganized Health Unit Approved By Supervisors

The Marin County Board of Supervisors unanimously and enthusiastically approved yesterday a major reorganization of county mental health services. (Other supervisors stories, page 1.)

The changes, aimed at decentralizing the $2.9 million department of some 180 employees, were hailed as long overdue, although some critics believed the proposal was being rushed.

"It's my feeling the redirection should have come about a long time ago," Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste said. "I believe Marin has the highest expenditure per capita in California (in mental health services) and as far as I'm concerned, the dollar has not been wisely spent."

Under the reorganization, proposed by Dr. Robert Taylor, mental health program chief, after a four-month study with staff and numerous community agencies, four teams of psychiatrists, psychologists, counselors and nurses will administer general services on a regional basis in northern, central, southern and western Marin.

Aside from relieving community inaccessibility to services, Taylor told the board, the reorganization plan deals in various ways with the problems of achieving cost effectiveness, providing better service to the severely disturbed, lack of integration of services and of faulty interagency coordination.

The reorganization includes creation of units for crisis services, transitional care (a program under which patients released from an institution live and work together while remaining under treatment), special problems and community services.

Taylor told the Independent-Journal the plan will mean filling seven vacant positions, but no new increase in staff. And cost of the new programs, he said, will not exceed the current budget, nor is it expected that any extra program money will be needed next fiscal year.

Sharpest of the critics was Dr. William Dickerson, chairman of the mental health committee of the Marin Medical Society. While observing that the plan seemed to be "moving in a direction that showed great promise," Dickerson urged delay in approval since it was his believe the community —and the medical society, in particular — had not been given sufficient time to react to the proposal.

"It's like reorganizing the kitchen without consulting the working crew," he said. Dickerson also said the plan failed to contain a detailed supporting budget.

Board members, notably chairman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., seemed unimpressed with Dickerson's complaint of a rushed proposal, noting the reorganization had been in the works for months and the unlikelihood that the medical society would have been unaware of the planning.

George Carter, pastor of the Methodist Church of Mill Valley also questioned the "hurry" in view of the fact the Marin Mental Health Advisory Board approved the reorganization only last week on "short notice." And he expressed concern over what he termed a lack of in-depth services, especially for the severely disturbed.

Trude Baum, a member of the mental health advisory board, noted the panel had favored Taylor's reorganization proposal by a vote of 5-2. She was among its supporters.

"I'm convinced that the program is the right way to go," said Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere. "We can't afford to play political football with the children and adults who suffer from mental illness."

It was the second time in two weeks that the supervisors have considered program reorganization within the county's health services department. Last week, the board postponed action on changes in the public health division in the face of audience opposition.

Little Girl Helps Save Her Mother

FAREHAM, England (UPI) — Telephone operator Eileen Smith kept the little girl talking, asking her about Santa Claus and other things about Christmas.

Mrs. Smith said she kept Sarah Jane Chase, 4, chattering for 15 minutes Tuesday while engineers traced the telephone number of the Chase home, where the girl's mother lay unconscious and bleeding.

When ambulance men reached the house, Sarah Jane was still talking. Doctors said the girl probably helped prevent her mother from bleeding to death.

Mrs. Smith said the drama began when Mrs. Chase, bleeding from injuries sustained when she fell through a window pane, telephoned for help but collapsed before she could give her address.

"A little girl came to the phone and said her mummy was asleep," Mrs. Smith said. "I kept her talking for 15 minutes. We talked about Christmas and what Santa was going to bring her."

What do doctors recommend for patients in·pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give up to 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin®.

Old Adobe Board Has New Trustee

Terence M. Garvey was elected yesterday to the Old Adobe School District board in one of the poorest voter turn-outs in Sonoma County history, not quite seven-tenths of 1 per cent of the electorate.

In unofficial results, Garvey received 228 votes and Donald P. Petro received 82 votes. A total of 310 votes were cast out of 4,884 registered voters.

Garvey, 45, will replace John A. Thompson on the school board that serves East Petaluma. Thompson resigned when he moved to Marin County.

Garvey is a registered civil engineer employed by Spreckels Sugar Co. in San Francisco. He and his wife, Joanne, and their six children live at 83 Maria Drive.

Bill Requires Quentin Study Before Sale

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State cannot sell San Quentin until completion of a study aimed at finding out if there would be any good public use for the prison site, under a bill signed by Gov. Reagan.

The measure, authored by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, and signed Tuesday, requires that the General Services Department prepare a report for the legislature by July 1974 on possible public uses of the land and buildings. The state Corrections Department has announced plans to close the state's largest prison, but no firm date has been established.

Under the bill, the property could not be sold, leased or disposed until after the report has been received and approved by the legislature.

It was SB 229.

Housing Limits Set In Marinship Area

By a 3-2 vote, the Sausalito City Council decided last night to limit housing in the city's 100-acre Marinship area to 200 units. (Another Sausalito City Council story, page 1.)

Till now, the city's general plan allowed 644 residential units there.

Councilman Robin Sweeny and Earl F. Dunphy cast the two dissenting votes.

Dunphy objected to the council majority's other decision, that the housing units can be spread throughout the Marinship and not limited to certain areas.

"I don't feel there should be residences to the north of Harbor Drive," he said.

A group of Marinship business, including the E. D. Bullard Co., Clipper Yacht Harbor, Vincent Whitney Co., Gerhardt Co., Heath Ceramics and Interbay Lumber, had presented the council with a letter opposing a mixture of industrial and residential land uses in the area.

Mrs. Sweeny said she voted against the motion because of uncertainty as to whether any housing should be allowed in future development of the northern Marinship.

Councilman Stephen A. Fraser, who proposed the 200-unit limit, said he thought some housing in Marinship would be beneficial to the city.

The Sausalito Planning Commission had earlier called for banning homes in Marinship and chairman Robert L. Nissen explained the commission's stand by saying that if 200 units were distributed throughout the large area, "We'd have a few units there, mixed in with any kind of use you could imagine. If you are going to limit housing to only 200 units, you might as well limit it to none," he said.

The council tentatively agreed to make houseboats a conditional, rather than a permitted use, in Marinship. If this action is formalized, houseboats would be allowed into the area only after obtaining conditional use permits.

The council agreed to continue its discussion of guidelines for the future development of Marinship at its Dec. 26 meeting.

Ignatius Is Named Air Group's Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Navy Secretary Paul Ignatius Tuesday was named president of the Air Transport Association (ATA), a trade organization representing the major scheduled airlines.

Ignatius, formerly an ATA vice president, succeeds Stuart G. Tipton, elected chairman of the board. Ignatius, who was President of the Washington Post Co. from 1969 to 1971, served as Navy secretary in 1967-69.

Cadet Program Approval Asked

The Marinwood Fire Commission has asked directors of the community services district to approve a round-the-clock cadet program for the fire department.

Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield said the project would mean adding another cadet on a full-time shift such as that worked by regular firemen. One cadet already is on the staff, although he works only days.

Bonfield said the cost of the round-the-clock had not been fully computed.

The program is to go before the services district board Monday.

Reagan: Educational Cuts Possible

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said today he believes the cost of educating California's school children can be reduced with the savings being spent on more property tax relief for homeowners.

"I am convinced in my mind they (schools) do not require all the money they are presently getting. And to blame the lack of quality in education in many of our schools on the lack of funds is absolutely ridiculous,'' Reagan said.

In a far-ranging, 40-minute news conference Reagan also said:

He is "committed,'' as reported Monday by UPI, to an income tax cut next year. He said his proposal will be sent to the 1973 legislature "as early as I can do it.''

Despite a $700 million state treasury surplus which "has removed the state from the threat of insolvency,'' he is committed to the "philosophy of squeeze, cut and trim'' and intends to look carefully at the $300 million in appropriation bills pending on his desk.

He is opposed to building a new state capitol to replace the century-old golden-domed structure. "I think this Capitol building should be preserved, not as a monument, but as a working building,'' he said.

He isn't ready to announce his opinion of a bill on his desk to reduce marijuana penalties from a felony in some cases to a misdemeanor in all cases. But, hinting he probably will veto the bill, the governor praised California's present penalties as "very enlightened.''

He still believes Prop. 20, the coastline protection initiative approved by voters Nov. 7, was "unnecessary'' and "unrealistic.''

He will "not inject myself'' into legislative salary matters and indicated he probably will sign a bill raising lawmakers' pay by 5 per cent starting at the end of 1974.

The $1.1 billion property tax relief-school aid bill sponsored by Reagan and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, appropriated $332 million in new education funds. Reagan intends to sign the bill Monday.

Reagan told newsmen that given the level of many schools' efficiency—or lack of it—there is "no question they need the money that has been available.''

But he added: "I still insist that if and when local school districts—not all of them, some are run very well—can actually review their own administrative policies, I am convinced in my mind they do not require all the money they are presently getting.''

Reagan said, as he told UPI, that he has ordered a task force to study whether schools can become more efficient.

"I am committed to the idea that the state continues to give the money that it is giving. But this would then further reduce the homeowners' tax — the school property tax—as they lowered the cost of education,'' Reagan said.

"It's just silly to say that there is any insitution, whether it's a business concern or department of government, that cannot constantly find areas of more savings in which more fat can be trimmed out.''

Reagan said "I am committed to the idea of an income tax cut'' because "I am committed to the theory you don't take any more money from the people than you need.''

Newsmen had a tough time cutting off the news conference. Reagan insisted on continuing to answer questions and talking about issues he deemed important—such as the fact the average American pays 43 per cent of his income to governments.

"Print all of that,'' he told reporters after the news conference finally broke up. "I say it and say it and nobody listens.''

Federal Jury Indicts 12 In $87 Million Dope Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal grand jury in New York today indicted a New York man, a Belgian, four Frenchmen and six Latin Americans on charges of conspiring to import more than $87 million of heroin and cocaine into the United States.

Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said the seven-count indictment was returned Nov. 30 in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn and unsealed yesterday.

Robert A. Morse, U.S. attorney in Brooklyn said the 12 were charged with conspiring to smuggle in 174 kilograms of heroin and 12 kilograms of cocaine.

Morse said the indictment resulted from a joint investigation by the Bureau of Customs and the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, coordinated by his office together with a Justice Department strike force on organized crime.

He identified the defendants as:

Andrew Gaetan Condemine, 39, a French citizen recently living in Brussels, Belgium, under the name Mario Deniz.

Joannes Munoz, 40, a French citizen living in Boulogne, France.

Louis Riviere, 46, a French citizen, now in custody in Italy.

Jozef Vienne, 45, a Belgian citizen, now in custody in Belgium.

Yolanda Sarmiento, 43, a Chilean citizen, arrested this month in Buenos Aires.

Jorge Varela Fernandez, 40, a citizen of Uruguay and believed to be living there.

Juan Carlos Franco, 30, a citizen of Uruguay now in custody in Paris.

Roberto Cristobal, 43, an Argentine citizen believed to be living in Buenos Aires.

Alfredo Aviles, 44, New York.

Elsa Yasbic, 43, an Argentine citizen living in Buenos Aires.

John Doe, also known as Guigui, a French citizen, age and whereabouts unknown.

John Doe, also known as Garcia, an Argentine citizen believed to be living in Buenos Aires and employed as a customs official.

Governor Is Opposed To New Capitol

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday declared his opposition to proposed construction of a new state Capitol to replace the current golden-domed, centuryold structure.

"I don't see those fellows upstairs (legislators) needing 30 or 40 stories of new building,'' the governor told a news conference in response to questions.

"I think this Capitol building should be preserved, not as a monument, but as a working building to perform the functions of government,'' he said.

Legislative plans to construct a new state Capitol, envisioned by some as a skyscraper affair with twin 17-floor towers, have gained new momentum in the wake of engineering reports that the current 102-year-old building would be unsafe in an earthquake.

Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, chairman of a legislative committee charged with finding more space for the lawmakers, has estimated it could cost $50 million to build a new capitol, another $18-to $20 million to restore the current building to its original shape, and has proposed tying the two projects together in a bill that included $1 million for a new governor's mansion.

Reagan has said he wants to be the governor who finally builds a new residence for California chief executives.

The governor told newsmen that if it takes $18 million to make the current state Capitol's west wing useable and as safe as a new Capitol "that would be my choice.''

Reagan: Educational Cuts Possible

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said today he believes the cost of educating California's school children can be reduced with the savings being spent on more property tax relief for homeowners.

"I am convinced in my mind they (schools) do not require all the money they are presently getting. And to blame the lack of quality in education in many of our schools on the lack of funds is absolutely ridiculous," Reagan said.

In a far-ranging, 40-minute news conference Reagan also said:

He is "committed," as reported Monday by UPI, to an income tax cut next year. He said his proposal will be sent to the 1973 legislature "as early as I can do it."

Despite a $700 million state treasury surplus which "has removed the state from the threat of insolvency," he is committed to the "philosophy of squeeze, cut and trim" and intends to look carefully at the $300 million in appropriation bills pending on his desk.

He is opposed to building a new state capitol to replace the century-old golden-domed structure. "I think this Capitol building should be preserved, not as a monument, but as a working building," he said.

He isn't ready to announce his opinion of a bill on his desk to reduce marijuana penalties from a felony in some cases to a misdemeanor in all cases. But, hinting he probably will veto the bill, the governor praised California's present penalties as "very enlightened."

He still believes Prop. 20, the coastline protection initiative approved by voters Nov. 7, was "unnecessary" and "unrealistic."

He will "not inject myself" into legislative salary matters and indicated he probably will sign a bill raising lawmakers' pay by 5 per cent starting at the end of 1974.

The $1.1 billion property tax relief-school aid bill sponsored by Reagan and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, appropriated $332 million in new education funds. Reagan intends to sign the bill Monday.

Reagan told newsmen that given the level of many schools' efficiency—or lack of it—there is "no question they need the money that has been available."

But he added: "I still insist that if and when local school districts—not all of them, some are run very well—can actually review their own administrative policies, I am convinced in my mind they do not require all the money they are presently getting."

Reagan said, as he told UPI, that he has ordered a task force to study whether schools can become more efficient.

"I am committed to the idea that the state continues to give the money that it is giving. But this would then further reduce the homeowners' tax — the school property tax—as they lowered the cost of education," Reagan said.

"It's just silly to say that there is any insitution, whether it's a business concern or department of government, that cannot constantly find areas of more savings in which more fat can be trimmed out."

Reagan said "I am committed to the idea of an income tax cut" because "I am committed to the theory you don't take any more money from the people than you need."

Newsmen had a tough time cutting off the news conference. Reagan insisted on continuing to answer questions and talking about issues he deemed important—such as the fact the average American pays 43 per cent of his income to governments.

"Print all of that," he told reporters after the news conference finally broke up. "I say it and say it and nobody listens."

Federal Jury Indicts 12 In $87 Million Dope Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal grand jury in New York today indicted a New York man, a Belgian, four Frenchmen and six Latin Americans on charges of conspiring to import more than $87 million of heroin and cocaine into the United States.

Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said the seven-count indictment was returned Nov. 30 in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn and unsealed yesterday.

Robert A. Morse, U.S. attorney in Brooklyn said the 12 were charged with conspiring to smuggle in 174 kilograms of heroin and 12 kilograms of cocaine.

Morse said the indictment resulted from a joint investigation by the Bureau of Customs and the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, coordinated by his office together with a Justice Department strike force on organized crime.

He identified the defendants as:

Andrew Gaetan Condemine, 39, a French citizen recently living in Brussels, Belgium, under the name Mario Deniz.

Joannes Munoz, 40, a French citizen living in Boulogne, France.

Louis Riviere, 46, a French citizen, now in custody in Italy.

Jozef Vienne, 45, a Belgian citizen, now in custody in Belgium.

Yolanda Sarmiento, 43, a Chilean citizen, arrested this month in Buenos Aires.

Jorge Varela Fernandez, 40, a citizen of Uruguay and believed to be living there.

Juan Carlos Franco, 30, a citizen of Uruguay now in custody in Paris.

Roberto Cristobal, 43, an Argentine citizen believed to be living in Buenos Aires.

Alfredo Aviles, 44, New York.

Elsa Yasbic, 43, an Argentine citizen living in Buenos Aires.

John Doe, also known as Guigui, a French citizen, age and whereabouts unknown.

John Doe, also known as Garcia, an Argentine citizen believed to be living in Buenos Aires and employed as a customs official.

Governor Is Opposed To New Capitol

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday declared his opposition to proposed construction of a new state Capitol to replace the current golden-domed, century-old structure.

"I don't see those fellows upstairs (legislators) needing 30 or 40 stories of new building," the governor told a news conference in response to questions.

"I think this Capitol building should be preserved, not as a monument, but as a working building to perform the functions of government," he said.

Legislative plans to construct a new state Capitol, envisioned by some as a skyscraper affair with twin 17-floor towers, have gained new momentum in the wake of engineering reports that the current 102-year-old building would be unsafe in an earthquake.

Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, chairman of a legislative committee charged with finding more space for the lawmakers, has estimated it could cost $50 million to build a new capitol, another $18-to $20 million to restore the current building to its original shape, and has proposed tying the two projects together in a bill that included $1 million for a new governor's mansion.

Reagan has said he wants to be the governor who finally builds a new residence for California chief executives.

The governor told newsmen that if it takes $18 million to make the current state Capitol's west wing useable and as safe as a new Capitol "that would be my choice."

Truman's Heart A Bit Stronger

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Seriously ill former President Harry S Truman's weakened heart grew stronger today and "he is holding his own," his doctor said.

The former chief executive's temperature rose early today to 101. His pulse quickened. But doctors were not alarmed.

"His heart condition is fairly strong now," said Research Hospital spokesman John Dreves.

"President Truman responded to verbal stimuli but did not talk during the night," said Dr. Wallace H. Graham, who has been Truman's personal physician since World War II. "He is holding his own. He had a quiet night."

His condition was listed as serious on the eighth day of his hospitalization for a weakened heart and lung infection.

Although doctors said Truman's recovery is uncertain, the people in his native northwestern Missouri have faith that their No. 1 citizen will recover.

More Changes Made In Nixon Entourage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, continuing the reshuffle of his second term administration, today selected Joseph T. Sneed, dean of Duke University Law School, to be second in command at the Justice Department.

Sneed will be nominated to be deputy attorney general, the White House announced. He will succeed Ralph E. Erickson whose resignation was accepted last week.

Nixon also selected James Keogh, a former member of his speech writing team, to be head of the U.S. Information Agency (USIA), succeeding Frank Shakespeare.

In addition, Dr. Robert Q. Marston, director of the National Institutes of Health (NIH), advised his staff that he will be replaced "within the next few months." Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler had no coment on Marston's status.

The President also announced that William H. Brown III has been asked to remain as chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC).

In another development, Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton appointed Ronald H. Walker, a special assistant to the President, to be new director of the National Park Service.

No successor to Marston was indicated in his NIH staff memorandum.

Youth Sent To Jail On Burglaries

A 19-year-old San Rafael resident has been ordered to jail for six months for two burglaries in San Rafael.

Completing a plea bargain with Richard A. Hickox, Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court ordered the jail term and two years of probation.

The teen-ager told a probation officer he was high on drugs and alcohol when he committed the burglaries in July.

He was originally charged with four burglaries committed in a span of 11 days, but two counts were dismissed last month by E. Warren McGuire, the judge who made the sentence promise.

A codefendant, 17-year-old Deborah Bronson of San Rafael, pleaded guilty on condition she receive the same jail term, but her sentencing is slated for Jan. 2.

She is charged with burglarizing the home of Dr. Thomas A. Zavattero on Prospect Drive with Hickox, then forging the doctor's name to use his credit card.

Miss Bronson was sent to adult court by Juvenile Court Referee Jack G. Blaine, who ruled she was not a suitable candidate for the private juvenile proceedings.

In juvenile court, she faced 15 counts of forgery to obtain more than $500 in merchandise on July 25.

Annexation Of Land Studied

Novato Sanitary District directors are considering annexation of a 67-acre parcel along Olive Avenue east of Rita Court, according to Bill L. Bayles, assistant engineer.

Directors approved initiation of the annexation Monday night, and it will be considered by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission tonight.

The board adjourned until 6 p.m. tomorrow at the district office to complete annexation of several other parcels.

Bid Opening Set On Freeway Project

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The State Division of Highways will open bids Jan. 10 for a project to cut antiskid grooving in Highway 101 between the north end of the San Rafael Viaduct and a half-mile north of the Freitas Parkway overcrossing.

About $45,000 is available for the project, which will be similar to work done earlier on Highway 101 at St. Vincent's Hill and elsewhere in Marin County.

Planners Approve Two Signs

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night approved two freestanding illuminated signs, one twice as large as normally allowed under the signing ordinance, for Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury at 475 Francisco Boulevard.

Applicant Hercules L. Viglienzone received permission to erect a 72-square-foot sign, twice the size permitted under the ordinance, a 36-square-foot sign and another 42-square-foot sign to be placed on his building, according to Fern Vincent, commission secretary.

The commission allowed the 72-square-foot sign after noting Viglienzone was requesting only 150-square-feet of signage or 104-square-feet less than the total he is permitted.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

REPORT — Declared a 20-unit apartment complex proposed for 312 First Street does not require an environmental impact report.

RESUBDIVISION — Put over to Jan. 9 consideration of the resubdivision of a parcel at 2031 Francisco Boulevard. Fred Grange has requested the amalgamation of two parcels and a lot split for another parcel at the site, as well as approval for a debris-box facility and commercial building.

SWIMMING POOL — Approved permits for a swimming pool at 217 Locust Avenue.

MASTERPLAN — Told San Rafael Cayes, Inc. it can proceed with plans to prepare a master plan for a 120-acre site on East Canal Street for possible residential or recreational use.

MISSION AVENUE — Permitted the development of a 19,090 square-foot lot at 418 Mission Avenue with multiple residential units as requested by owners William Kelly and Kenneth Levy.

WATCHMAN — Extended a permit for a night watchman's trailer at 51 Harbor Street until nearby development is completed.

FILL — Approved placement of 40,000 cubic yards of fill on an eight-acre site at 2121 Francisco Boulevard as requested by owner Sam Gardiner.

WALL — Approved a six-foot wall to be erected around a swimming pool at 217 Locust Avenue.

REVISED PLANS — Approved changes in the exterior treatment of a 13-unit apartment building at 1718 and 1720 Lincoln Avenue.

ADDITION — Approved addition of a wing to an existing building at 50 DeLuca Place.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Jan. 9.

First Concert At School Is Tonight

Young musicians and singers of the music department of the Casa Grande Junior-Senior High School in Petaluma will present their first concert in the new school's multiuse room at 7:30 p.m. today.

Charlene Wilkerson will direct the stage and concert bands, while Gary Walker will direct the swing choir in a program of traditional and contemporary music.

Crater Finding Said Top Moon Discovery

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) —The last men of Apollo gave scientists today one of the most important discoveries on the moon — a deep, orange-stained crater that probably was blown out by the dying gasp of lunar volcanism.

Pushing their oxygen back packs and moon buggy to the limits, the Apollo 17 explorers also drove to a mountain landslide and collected prize specimens that may range to the opposite end of the lunar life span.

Eugene A. Cernan and Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt may now have stored in the cabin of the spacecraft Challenger the youngest and oldest rocks ever seen on the moon. It will take months of laboratory analysis back on Earth, however, to confirm this.

The explorers drove a record 12 miles during their second excursion. They returned to moonship Challenger at 2:06 a.m. EST today after spending a record 7 hours and 37 minutes outside.

They were tired, their muscles were weary and their hands sore, but Cernan and Schmitt were exuberant. And, so were scientists at Mission Control.

"It was absolutely outstanding," said mission scientist Robert Parker.

The third crew member, Ronald E. Evans, was adding to the scientific windfall by observing the moon from the orbiting command ship America. He sighted what apparently were three extinct volcanos elsewhere on the lunar surface Tuesday.

Cernan and Schmitt make one more seven-hour excursion from Challenger tonight, planting man's footprints in the lunar dust for perhaps the last time this century.

They will leave the moon Thursday and rejoin Evans in orbit for two more days around the moon before returning for a splashdown in the Pacific next Tuesday.

During tonight's surface expedition, Cernan and Schmitt will visit a second massive mountain and inspect another crater that might produce additional evidence that Taurus-Littrow valley was the scene of a fiery, explosive volcano that photographic evidence suggests occurred about 1 billion years ago.

"What we have been witnessing is one of the most important finds since Apollo 11," NASA geochemist Robin W. Brett said after the astronauts discovered the strange orange soil around a crater called Shorty.

Dr. Farouk El-Baz, an Apollo geologist from Bell Laboratories, said the orange color most likely was the result of iron in the lunar soil rusted by water vapor escaping from the vent. It means, he said, the moon did not die when the lunar seas were flooded by lava 3 billion years ago but the lunar heartbeat continued up to an estimated 1 billion years ago.

El-Baz also said the volcano must have originated deep within the moon and the soil collected by Cernan and Schmitt "gives you a sample of what's below everything we now know." This would be a significant bonus in moon chemistry. The discovery also fits in with the idea that the deep lunar valley was blanketed by a rain of volcanic ash, a theory that has grown in acceptance today. Brett said gas venting would be expected to come right after an explosive volcanic outburst.

Shot Victim Is Critical At Hospital

The 33-year-old wife of a Sonoma State College professor was reported in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital with a bullet wound in the chest.

According to police, Ulrike Steiner, wife of Dr. John Michael Steiner, shot herself either intentionally or accidentally at about noon yesterday in their residence in the Portofino-Riviera Apartments, Second and Main streets, Sausalito.

Steiner reported he was in another room at the time and heard a shot ring out in the bedroom, where he found Mrs. Steiner lying on the bed.

According to police, Steiner and family friends said Mrs. Steiner had been depressed recently.

Steiner teaches sociology at Sonoma State. He and his wife are natives of Germany, where he survived the Nazis' World War II concentration camps of Auschwitz and Dachau. He is considered an expert on the Nazi SS and is the author of a book on the subject.

Supervisors Hear Plan Of Petaluma

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday heard Petaluma's environmental design plan explained at length, but delayed approving it.

Petaluma Mayor Helen Putnam, City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer and Planning Director William C. McGivern reviewed the plan for more than an hour, but got no commitment from the supervisors. The board said it would discuss the plan and perhaps vote on it at a meeting Jan. 24 at 7:30 p.m.

The plan incorporates the city's slow-growth policy of allowing only 500 new living units per year. It also calls for a greenbelt around the city and sets goals on open space, housing, bicycle trails and other amenities.

The plan asks the county to cooperate by not allowing massive subdivisions on the city's edge.

Davies Estate $70 Million

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Ralph K. Davies, who rose from office boy to board chairman of Natomas Corp. left an estate of more than $70 million, according to probate records.

Davies, who died Sept. 19, 1971, began his career as office boy with the Standard Oil of California at the age of 15.

Records revealed Tuesday showed that his estate includes Natomas stock, the family home in Woodside and property in El Dorado and Lake Counties.

Wife Of Justice Passes Bar Exam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cathy Douglas, the 29-year-old wife of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, has passed her bar examination.

"Cathy expected the worse," said Douglas Tuesday. "She remembered all the mistakes she made."

Douglas said his wife, a graduate of American University law school, wants to get some trial experience now.

Mobile Home Park Influx Upsets Board

The Cotati-Rohnert Park School District board blasted the Rohnert Park City Council last night for permitting a large concentration of children in a new mobile home park.

Schools Supt. James H. Davidson said the board fired off an angry letter to the council chiding it for permitting too many family units in an 80-acre mobile home park in the northern part of the district.

Diversified Communities received permission for a two-phase park with development set for spring on the first 40 acres. The school board had requested that family units be limited to 30 per cent, but the city council granted 100 per cent family units.

Davidson said as many as 210 students may come from the 300 unit mobile home park and said school facilities will not accommodate them. The board said it would also set a bad precedent and encourage present mobile home park owners to request higher densities of family units.

Davidson said some schools are already overcrowded and received permission to lease three additional portable classrooms from the Sonoma County Board of Education. He said two will be placed at Cotati School and the other at Waldo Rohnert School.

The board also authorized four new teaching positions and interviewed applicants in closed session. The teachers will be hired at Tuesday's board meeting.

The board also approved the new position of administrative assistant for the district office. Robert Plikuhn of Waldo Rohnert School was named to the job at a salary of $13,900 per year.

The board granted a two-year contract extension to Davidson and approved a 7.5 per cent salary increase, but said it would not be effective until the 1973-74 school year.

Holiday Round At White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House has begun a series of Christmas parties for assorted Republicans, Democrats, and leaders of labor, ethnic, veterans, senior citizens and other groups, who helped President Nixon get re-elected.

White House invitations have gone out to some 4,000 guests. The first group, mainly businessmen, attended a White House reception Tuesday. Another reception, including representatives of labor and ethnic groups and pro-Nixon Democrats, is being held today.

On Friday there will be a reception for 1,000 guests followed by the lighting of the national Christmas tree on the Ellipse by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

To Raise Prices

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors today announced it was increasing prices on its 1973 models an average $38, ending the first round of the 1973-model price battle with Washington.

Truman's Heart A Bit Stronger

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Seriously ill former President Harry S Truman's weakened heart grew stronger today and "he is holding his own," his doctor said.

The former chief executive's temperature rose early today to 101. His pulse quickened. But doctors were not alarmed.

"His heart condition is fairly strong now," said Research Hospital spokesman John Dreves.

"President Truman responded to verbal stimuli but did not talk during the night," said Dr. Wallace H. Graham, who has been Truman's personal physician since World War II. "He is holding his own. He had a quiet night."

His condition was listed as serious on the eighth day of his hospitalization for a weakened heart and lung infection.

Although doctors said Truman's recovery is uncertain, the people in his native northwestern Missouri have faith that their No. 1 citizen will recover.

More Changes Made In Nixon Entourage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, continuing the reshuffle of his second term administration, today selected Joseph T. Sneed, dean of Duke University Law School, to be second in command at the Justice Department.

Sneed will be nominated to be deputy attorney general, the White House announced. He will succeed Ralph E. Erickson whose resignation was accepted last week.

Nixon also selected James Keogh, a former member of his speech writing team, to be head of the U.S. Information Agency (USIA), succeeding Frank Shakespeare.

In addition, Dr. Robert Q. Marston, director of the National Institutes of Health (NIH), advised his staff that he will be replaced "within the next few months." Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler had no coment on Marston's status.

The President also announced that William H. Brown III has been asked to remain as chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC).

In another development, Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton appointed Ronald H. Walker, a special assistant to the President, to be new director of the National Park Service.

No successor to Marston was indicated in his NIH staff memorandum.

Youth Sent To Jail On Burglaries

A 19-year-old San Rafael resident has been ordered to jail for six months for two burglaries in San Rafael.

Completing a plea bargain with Richard A. Hickox, Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court ordered the jail term and two years of probation.

The teen-ager told a probation officer he was high on drugs and alcohol when he committed the burglaries in July.

He was originally charged with four burglaries committed in a span of 11 days, but two counts were dismissed last month by E. Warren McGuire, the judge who made the sentence promise.

A codefendant, 17-year-old Deborah Bronson of San Rafael, pleaded guilty on condition she receive the same jail term, but her sentencing is slated for Jan. 2.

She is charged with burglarizing the home of Dr. Thomas A. Zavattero on Prospect Drive with Hickox, then forging the doctor's name to use his credit card.

Miss Bronson was sent to adult court by Juvenile Court Referee Jack G. Blaine, who ruled she was not a suitable candidate for the private juvenile proceedings.

In juvenile court, she faced 15 counts of forgery to obtain more than $500 in merchandise on July 25.

Annexation Of Land Studied

Novato Sanitary District directors are considering annexation of a 67-acre parcel along Olive Avenue east of Rita Court, according to Bill L. Bayles, assistant engineer.

Directors approved initiation of the annexation Monday night, and it will be considered by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission tonight.

The board adjourned until 6 p.m. tomorrow at the district office to complete annexation of several other parcels.

Bid Opening Set On Freeway Project

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The State Division of Highways will open bids Jan. 10 for a project to cut antiskid grooving in Highway 101 between the north end of the San Rafael Viaduct and a half-mile north of the Freitas Parkway overcrossing.

About $45,000 is available for the project, which will be similar to work done earlier on Highway 101 at St. Vincent's Hill and elsewhere in Marin County.

Planners Approve Two Signs

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night approved two freestanding illuminated signs, one twice as large as normally allowed under the signing ordinance, for Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury at 475 Francisco Boulevard.

Applicant Hercules L. Viglienzone received permission to erect a 72-square-foot sign, twice the size permitted under the ordinance, a 36-square-foot sign and another 42-square-foot sign to be placed on his building, according to Fern Vincent, commission secretary.

The commission allowed the 72-square-foot sign after noting Viglienzone was requesting only 150-square-feet of signage or 104-square-feet less than the total he is permitted.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

REPORT — Declared a 20-unit apartment complex proposed for 312 First Street does not require an environmental impact report.

RESUBDIVISION — Put over to Jan. 9 consideration of the resubdivision of a parcel at 2031 Francisco Boulevard. Fred Grange has requested the amalgamation of two parcels and a lot split for another parcel at the site, as well as approval for a debris-box facility and commercial building.

SWIMMING POOL — Approved permits for a swimming pool at 217 Locust Avenue.

MASTERPLAN — Told San Rafael Cayes, Inc. it can proceed with plans to prepare a master plan for a 120-acre site on East Canal Street for possible residential or recreational use.

MISSION AVENUE — Permitted the development of a 19,090 square-foot lot at 418 Mission Avenue with multiple residential units as requested by owners William Kelly and Kenneth Levy.

FILL — Approved placement of 40,000 cubic yards of fill on an eight-acre site at 2121 Francisco Boulevard as requested by owner Sam Gardiner.

REVISED PLANS — Approved changes in the exterior treatment of a 13-unit apartment building at 1718 and 1720 Lincoln Avenue.

ADDITION — Approved addition of a wing to an existing building at 50 DeLuca Place.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Jan. 9.

First Concert At School Is Tonight

Young musicians and singers of the music department of the Casa Grande Junior-Senior High School in Petaluma will present their first concert in the new school's multiuse room at 7:30 p.m. today.

Charlene Wilkerson will direct the stage and concert bands, while Gary Walker will direct the swing choir in a program of traditional and contemporary music.

Crater Finding Said Top Moon Discovery

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) —The last men of Apollo gave scientists today one of the most important discoveries on the moon — a deep, orange-stained crater that probably was blown out by the dying gasp of lunar volcanism.

Pushing their oxygen back packs and moon buggy to the limits, the Apollo 17 explorers also drove to a mountain landslide and collected prize specimens that may range to the opposite end of the lunar life span.

Eugene A. Cernan and Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt may now have stored in the cabin of the spacecraft Challenger the youngest and oldest rocks ever seen on the moon. It will take months of laboratory analysis back on Earth, however, to confirm this.

The explorers drove a record 12 miles during their second excursion. They returned to moonship Challenger at 2:06 a.m. EST today after spending a record 7 hours and 37 minutes outside.

They were tired, their muscles were weary and their hands sore, but Cernan and Schmitt were exuberant. And, so were scientists at Mission Control.

"It was absolutely outstanding," said mission scientist Robert Parker.

The third crew member, Ronald E. Evans, was adding to the scientific windfall by observing the moon from the orbiting command ship America. He sighted what apparently were three extinct volcanos elsewhere on the lunar surface Tuesday.

Cernan and Schmitt make one more seven-hour excursion from Challenger tonight, planting man's footprints in the lunar dust for perhaps the last time this century.

They will leave the moon Thursday and rejoin Evans in orbit for two more days around the moon before returning for a splashdown in the Pacific next Tuesday.

During tonight's surface expedition, Cernan and Schmitt will visit a second massive mountain and inspect another crater that might produce additional evidence that Taurus-Littrow valley was the scene of a fiery, explosive volcano that photographic evidence suggests occurred about 1 billion years ago.

"What we have been witnessing is one of the most important finds since Apollo 11," NASA geochemist Robin W. Brett said after the astronauts discovered the strange orange soil around a crater called Shorty.

Dr. Farouk El-Baz, an Apollo geologist from Bell Laboratories, said the orange color most likely was the result of iron in the lunar soil rusted by water vapor escaping from the vent. It means, he said, the moon did not die when the lunar seas were flooded by lava 3 billion years ago but the lunar heartbeat continued up to an estimated 1 billion years ago.

El-Baz also said the volcano must have originated deep within the moon and the soil collected by Cernan and Schmitt "gives you a sample of what's below everything we now know." This would be a significant bonus in moon chemistry. The discovery also fits in with the idea that the deep lunar valley was blanketed by a rain of volcanic ash, a theory that has grown in acceptance today. Brett said gas venting would be expected to come right after an explosive volcanic outburst.

Shot Victim Is Critical At Hospital

The 33-year-old wife of a Sonoma State College professor was reported in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital with a bullet wound in the chest.

According to police, Ulrike Steiner, wife of Dr. John Michael Steiner, shot herself either intentionally or accidentally at about noon yesterday in their residence in the Portofino-Riviera Apartments, Second and Main streets, Sausalito.

Steiner reported he was in another room at the time and heard a shot ring out in the bedroom, where he found Mrs. Steiner lying on the bed.

According to police, Steiner and family friends said Mrs. Steiner had been depressed recently.

Steiner teaches sociology at Sonoma State. He and his wife are natives of Germany, where he survived the Nazis' World War II concentration camps of Auschwitz and Dachau. He is considered an expert on the Nazi SS and is the author of a book on the subject.

Supervisors Hear Plan Of Petaluma

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday heard Petaluma's environmental design plan explained at length, but delayed approving it.

Petaluma Mayor Helen Putnam, City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer and Planning Director William C. McGivern reviewed the plan for more than an hour, but got no commitment from the supervisors. The board said it would discuss the plan and perhaps vote on it at a meeting Jan. 24 at 7:30 p.m.

The plan incorporates the city's slow-growth policy of allowing only 500 new living units per year. It also calls for a greenbelt around the city and sets goals on open space, housing, bicycle trails and other amenities.

The plan asks the county to cooperate by not allowing massive subdivisions on the city's edge.

Davies Estate $70 Million

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Ralph K. Davies, who rose from office boy to board chairman of Natomas Corp. left an estate of more than $70 million, according to probate records.

Davies, who died Sept. 19, 1971, began his career as office boy with the Standard Oil of California at the age of 15.

Records revealed Tuesday showed that his estate includes Natomas stock, the family home in Woodside and property in El Dorado and Lake Counties.

Wife Of Justice Passes Bar Exam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cathy Douglas, the 29-year-old wife of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, has passed her bar examination,

"Cathy expected the worse," said Douglas Tuesday. "She remembered all the mistakes she made."

Douglas said his wife, a graduate of American University law school, wants to get some trial experience now.

Mobile Home Park Influx Upsets Board

The Cotati-Rohnert Park School District board blasted the Rohnert Park City Council last night for permitting a large concentration of children in a new mobile home park.

Schools Supt. James H. Davidson said the board fired off an angry letter to the council chiding it for permitting too many family units in an 80-acre mobile home park in the northern part of the district.

Diversified Communities received permission for a two-phase park with development set for spring on the first 40 acres. The school board had requested that family units be limited to 30 per cent, but the city council granted 100 per cent family units.

Davidson said as many as 210 students may come from the 300 unit mobile home park and said school facilities will not accommodate them. The board said it would also set a bad precedent and encourage present mobile home park owners to request higher densities of family units.

Davidson said some schools are already overcrowded and received permission to lease three additional portable classrooms from the Sonoma County Board of Education. He said two will be placed at Cotati School and the other at Waldo Rohnert School.

The board also authorized four new teaching positions and interviewed applicants in closed session. The teachers will be hired at Tuesday's board meeting.

The board also approved the new position of administrative assistant for the district office. Robert Plikuhn of Waldo Rohnert School was named to the job at a salary of $13,900 per year.

The board granted a two-year contract extension to Davidson and approved a 7.5 per cent salary increase, but said it would not be effective until the 1973-74 school year.

Holiday Round At White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House has begun a series of Christmas parties for assorted Republicans, Democrats, and leaders of labor, ethnic, veterans, senior citizens and other groups, who helped President Nixon get re-elected.

White House invitations have gone out to some 4,000 guests. The first group, mainly businessmen, attended a White House reception Tuesday. Another reception, including representatives of labor and ethnic groups and pro-Nixon Democrats, is being held today.

On Friday there will be a reception for 1,000 guests followed by the lighting of the national Christmas tree on the Ellipse by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

To Raise Prices

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors today announced it was increasing prices on its 1973 models an average $38, ending the first round of the 1973-model price battle with Washington.

Petaluma Board Eyes Split Into Two Units

The Petaluma Board of Education began the difficult task of dividing itself into two separate school boards last night in anticipation of a state Supreme Court ruling.

Board President Arthur L. Lafranchi, an attorney, said he believed the ruling of the Santa Barbara Superior Court requiring separate school boards for different school districts will be upheld by the Supreme Court.

Lafranchi called the court decision "unassailable" based on the one man-one vote concept. Like Santa Barbara, the Petaluma Board of Education directs both an elementary and a high school district, although some members are not residents of both districts. San Rafael and Santa Rosa are also affected by the ruling.

Lafranchi said he expects the Supreme Court will act on the ruling in January or February and that the districts must give immediate and serious thought to implementing the ruling.

He said the districts may want enabling legislation approved to set up elections next year to seat a new five-member school board. "We must get with it and get with it very quickly," Lafranchi said.

He and schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer had attended a meeting in Sacramento yesterday, with other involved school districts, and will return for another session Jan. 10.

The board asked that teacher and parent groups give thought to the problem and be prepared to discuss it at a special board meeting next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the administration building.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

STADIUM — Endorsed the concept of a football stadium for Rohnert Park, but said final approval would depend on both financial and legal liability to the district.

TEACHERS — Heard that five graduate students in music at Sonoma State College are currently teaching music to first grade classes as volunteers.

GIFT — Accepted a gift of choral risers for Casa Grande Junior-Senior High School from the school boosters club.

PRINCIPAL — Named William Thorsen acting principal of the adult education program at a salary of $81.63 per day.

11:24 p.m., Tiburon — Fire in pickup truck belonging to Dee Charles of Palo Alto while vehicle parked at Trestle Glen Drive and Shepherd Way; caused by short in wiring; minor damage.

A $12,000 Home Burns In Bolinas

A Bolinas weekend home was destroyed yesterday by a blaze which began in a faulty fireplace and spread quickly to the rest of the four-room dwelling.

Volunteer Fire Chief Jose A. Silva said the fire began shortly after 8 p.m. in the living room of a house at 240 Nymph Road owned by John B. McCormick of San Francisco.

The fire was caused by hot embers burning through the floor beneath the fireplace, according to Silva. No one was in the residence at the time, he said, but McCormick's grandson had left the house about three hours earlier.

The flames raced along the floor and spread rapidly to the rest of the house, which was engulfed by the time firemen were called at 8:20 p.m.

Muddy dirt roads hampered firefighting efforts by forcing firemen to haul about 1,000 feet of hose to the home from the nearest passable road about 500 feet away, Silva said.

The wood-frame structure, built in 1929 and estimated to be worth $12,000, was a total loss, the chief said, with $3,000 worth of damage to its contents.

Plea Made In Morals Case

A 52-year-old Santa Venetia man, charged with three counts of sexual perversion with young girls, pleaded guilty to two counts yesterday on the verge of a trial.

Marin Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick accepted the pleas from Thomas Edward Umberger, then dismissed the third count. There was no plea bargain in the case, but the judge set a hearing for Jan. 16 to determine whether Umberger is a mentally disordered sex offender who should be committed for treatment.

Umberger was arrested in April on suspicion of committing unnatural acts with a 7-year-old girl March 31 and with an 8-year-old and a 7-year-old in December.

He was indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury in October.

Guilty Plea To Casino Charges

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Nathan Marks, 28, entered a guilty plea Tuesday to federal charges of attempting to extort $2 million from 21 Las Vegas gambling casinos by threatening to blow them up.

U.S. District Judge Jesse W. Curtis immediately sentenced the former Salt Lake City resident to 20 years in federal penitentiary.

The sentencing was a formality to place the defendant under a three-month psychiatric study. After the study, he will be returned to court for possible modification of the sentence.

Nongraded Class Programs Impress Education Board

Video tapes of nongraded classroom programs in the San Rafael school system impressed the city's board of education last night.

Board members heard a panel of principals explain the nongraded concept in use at some classrooms in Laurel Dell, Glenwood and Davidson schools, according to Supt. John F. Plank.

Under the program, children are grouped on a level-of-achievement basis and taught individually by team teachers, he said. A 9-year-old pupil might be in the same classroom with an 11-year-old, he said.

The program, now several years old, allows flexibility of time, materials and skill groupings, he said.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

REDEVELOPMENT — Tabled the final draft of a redevelopment agreement with the city's Redevelopment Agency because board members had not had enough time to study it, Plank said. The board set 7:30 p.m. Monday as the time of a special meeting to consider adoption of the agreement, which will return some revenues normally frozen under redevelopment to the school system.

SABBATICALS — Heard teacher Alan Barahal, who recently returned from a year in Europe, say that industry is spoiling the culture there. The board gave tentative approval of sabbatical leaves for Pat Swenney, Louis Ferrario, Frank Furtado and Al Lozano.

MINIMUM DAYS — Said it will study the minimum day policy for teachers when next year's school calendar is developed.

PERSONNEL — Appointed Russell Batt as an instructional aide at $2.72 per hour, and Joe DeField as a custodian at $751 per month. The board announced that instructional aide Dan Scannell and teacher Linda Carr have resigned and that custodian Robert Coman and teacher Jean MacConnell have retired. Leave for librarian Katherine Wade was extended for two months without pay.

GIFTS — Accepted playground equipment, carpeting, plants and tools valued at $1,701 from Coleman School Parent-Teacher Association for Coleman School; an arm saw valued at $150 from Lilie Low Wong for the Terra Linda High School Industrial Arts Department; five pine trees from Cub Scout Pack 55 for San Pedro School and two ceramic kilns and two tape recorders from the Laurel Dell Parent-Teacher Association for the Laurel Dell School.

REPORTS — Said it will study the development of curriculum, the physical education programs in the high school district and the possibility of waiving fees for senior citizens enrolled in adult education courses, at future meetings.

ADJOURNMENT — Ad — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Dec. 18. The next regular meeting is 7:30 p.m. Dec. 26.

Busing, Economy Held Top Issues

AMERICUS, Ga. (UPI) — Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., said Tuesday the next Congress will have to meet the issues of busing and the economy "head on and do something."

Speaking to the Americus Rotary Club, Talmadge said the American people should use the Congress to put spending controls on the federal government. Talmadge said Americans also are "sick of the federal government hauling children all over creation to attain some arbitrary, contrived racial quota while the idea of equal education for everybody goes down the drain."

Some Tough Questions For 49ers' Beasley

Terry Beasley is not exactly the type of guy who would cause a scare if he happened to walk up behind you in a dark alley. Instead you would probably ask him if he had permission to be out after curfew.

Beasley is a professional football player who draws his paychecks from the San Francisco 49ers. By pro football standards, his 5-foot-11 and 188-pound frame makes him always one of the smallest players on the field. His red hair and boyish face makes you think of Huck Finn.

A rookie No. 1 draft choice out of Auburn University, Beasley fielded questions like a veteran last night at a dinner meeting of the 49er Goal Rushers of Marin at Holiday Inn.

He got past two questions early in the meeting, the tough kind that asks for comparisons of players. A youngster in the audience of 100 or so wanted to know who was the more accurate passer, 49er Steve Spurrier or Atlanta reserve quarterback Pat Sullivan who was on the firing end of the passes when Terry was at Auburn. Both, as the youngster noted, were Heisman Trophy winners.

"BOTH ARE EXCELLENT passers," Beasley sidestepped as only a wide receiver could do. "I know much more about Pat than Steve because I played football four years with Pat at Auburn."

Then master of ceremonies Dave Scofield, public address man at Candlestick Park, threw in the inevitable question: "What about comparing Spurrier and (John) Brodie?"

"Well," said Beasley, "John is a better long passer but Steve throws well against a zone." That's a very polite way of saying Spurrier has a tendency to float his long passes, something that has become evident the past few games. And in the winds of Candlestick Park, floating passes are a no-no.

In explaining his early season injuries which kept him out of action at preseason training camp, Terry told the boosters he had never missed a game during his high school and college career. But following his senior year, he had minor knee surgery two months before the college all-star game, and then because he was favoring the knee too much, pulled a muscle in his other leg. Then when he reported to 49er training camp in Santa Barbara, he broke a big toe on the second day.

"Missing training camp really put me behind in practice and I could never show the coaches what I could do," he said. That's why he isn't being used very much this season, although he is now at full speed. And speed is the word for it, as Beasley was a sprinter in high school and college, and was clocked at 9.5 for the 100-yard dash.

DESPITE HIS SIZE, Beasley is a very rough and tough player. Remember back to that first Atlanta game this year, seen by Bay Area fans on television, Oct. 29, Beasley was in three plays and got in two fights, and that has to be some kind of record.

"That Atlanta defensive back kicked me in the head," explained Beasley. "And I wasn't about to take that."

A questioner asked about the rough shots absorbed by wide receivers after they catch passes and wanted to know if Beasley had ever suffered any. Terry told about one play at Auburn when he was smashed in the neck by a defender's helmet when he was stretching to catch a pass. The blow knocked him unconscious, but he says that's all part of the game.

"Every one in a while they'll get in a good lick on you, but you just can't worry about that."

BEASLEY, WHEN asked to name the best cornerback in football, put out the name of teammate Jimmy Johnson, which was cause for applause. Then someone wanted to know if the players were aware of the crowd's booing and he said yes, the fans' treatment of cornerback Bruce Taylor last Sunday against Atlanta when he was introduced was noticed by the players.

"He (Taylor) is aware of the booing, but he knows he has a job to do."

When asked by Scofield about the players' feeling going into the crucial game Saturday against the Minnesota Vikings, Beasley said, "the team enthusiasm is really good. We're on top and we plan to stay there."

I hope so, Terry.

Baseball Contract Parley Has Dispute

NEW YORK (UPI) — The representatives of both sides in the basic contract dispute between the baseball owners and players couldn't even agree on how much they disgreed after their meeting Tuesday.

The two sides met for the first time in a month and one side called it a "meaningful exchange" and the other side said "nothing was accomplished."

John Gaherin, the representative of the owners, was the optimist in his statement. "I think it was a meaningful exhange," he said, "I'd rather not characterize the discussion, but when two people talk they always make some degree of progress."

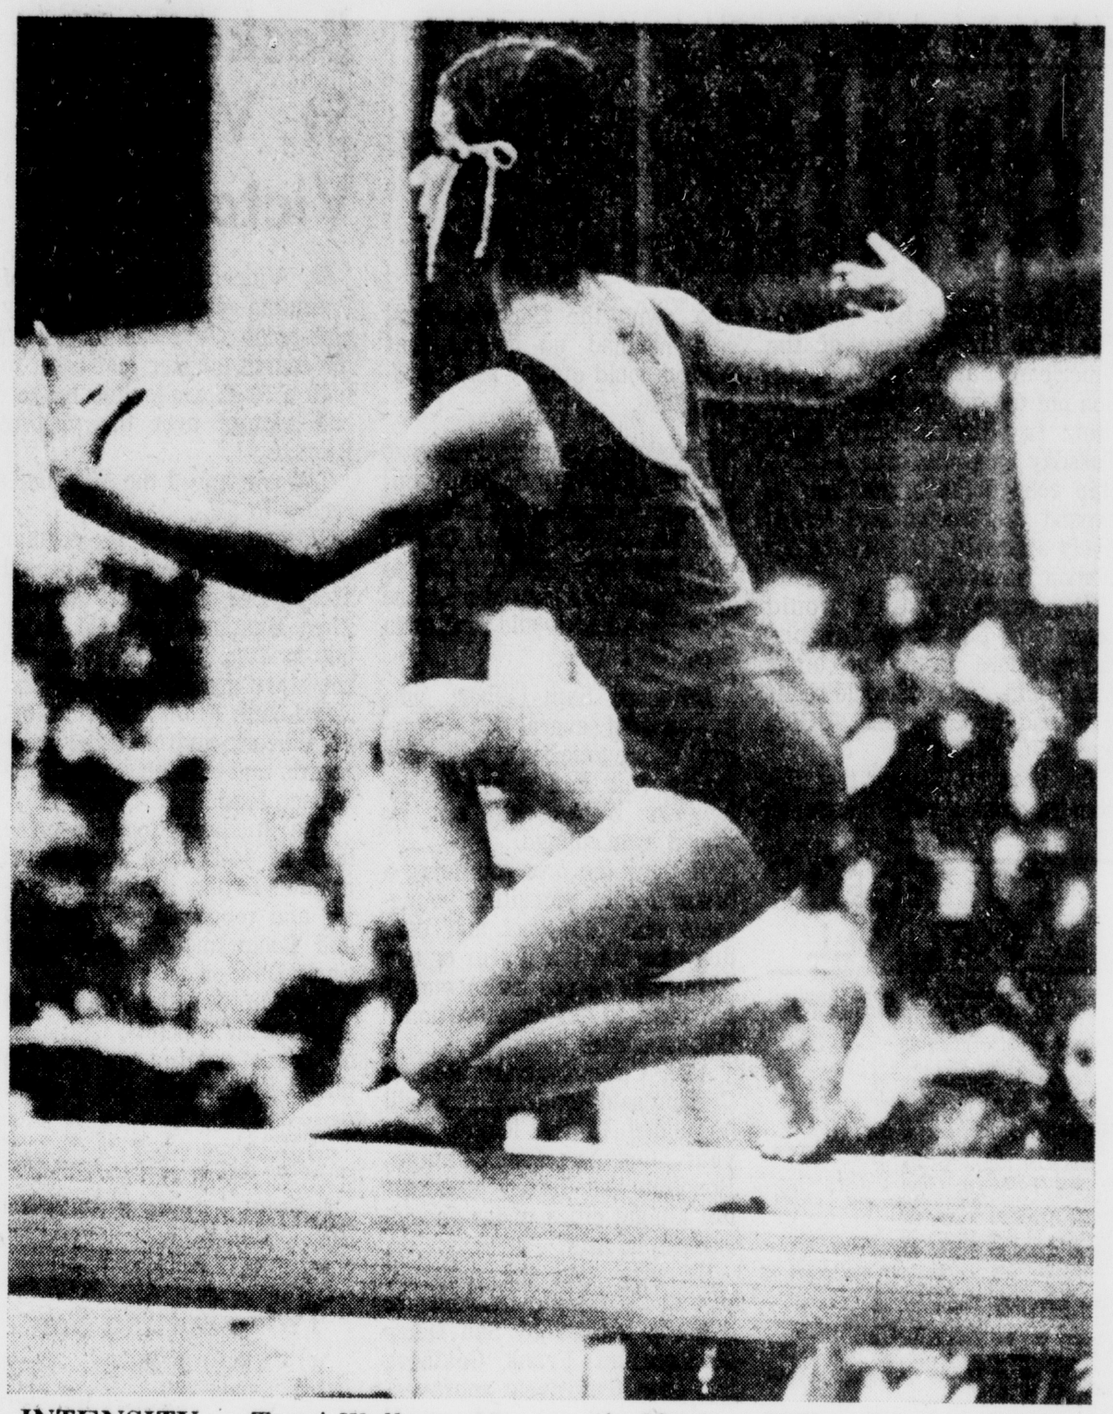
However, Marvin Miller, the executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, had a different view.

"Nothing was accomplished on either side," he said, "I wouldn't even describe it as negotiating session. They simply came in and repeated what they said in Hawaii and what Bowie Kuhn said after that.

"One of the things we've warned about has come to pass. When you have negotiations publicly, you harden positions of some of the principals. That's why we complained about Mr. Kuhn's actions in Hawaii and then he repeated them."

Although Kuhn is not participating in the discussions, he revealed the owners' stand in Hawaii and then said this week the owners have "no inclination to give ground" on the questions of free agency and binding arbitration of salary disputes.

The owners are offering to make a player a free agent if he isn't making $30,000 after five years or $40,000 after eight years.



INTENSITY — Tami Wallace, 12, of Kent Junior High School displayed the form which enabled her to tie for first place in Beginners balance beam competition yesterday in the Junior High Middle School Compulsory Gymnastic Meet at Miller Creek School in Marinwood. Tami tied with Susan Barnard of Mill Valley Middle School and Stephanie Voorsanger of Kent in this meet for Marin school girls in the sixth through eighth grades. Story on page 23.

49er Fullback Schreiber Is Available Saturday

Combined AP & UPI

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. — Fullback Larry Schreiber will be available Saturday when the San Francisco 49ers play their do-or-die battle against tough Minnesota at Candlestick Park.

The 49ers are favored by six points over the Vikings, according to Harrah's Tahoe figures.

Schreiber tore a rib cartilage in the big 20-0 win against Atlanta, but team physician Lloyd Milburn diagnoses the injury as not serious enough to hold Schreiber out of action.

Meanwhile, defensive coach Don Heinrich Tuesday called Bruce Taylor's block of a pass to Ken Burrow on the five-yard-line "one of the finest pieces of defensive coverage I've seen for a long time."

The 49ers failed to get any rush on quarterback Bob Berry so that Burrow had time to do his full repertoire of fakes on Taylor, who still caught up with the pass.

For Taylor, his key play had to be a boost for the ego. He had been booed before Sunday's game when the defensive unit was introduced.

"Sure I was upset," Taylor admitted. "Nobody likes to be booed. It shakes you up. I'm glad I was able to do something about it."

"You have to understand that Taylor will have at least 75 to 80 per cent of the passes thrown to his side," he said. "The opposing quarterback won't gamble against Jimmy Johnson and Dave Wilcox on the other side.

"That means most of the completions will be on Taylor's side and people have a tendency to remember the completions more so than the incompletions."

Nolan recalled that he was a rookie in a New York Giant defensive backfield that included veteran stars Emlen Tunnell, Herb Rich and Tom Landry on the opposite side.

"They threw everything but their helmets in my direction," he recalled.

Minnesota coach Bud Grant promises his team will put out all the way against the 49ers even though the Vikings don't have a chance for a National Football League playoff berth.

"We owe it to ourselves and to the league to play our best," Grant said in a telephone interview Tuesday.

The Vikings, divisional champions the past three yars, have slipped to 7-6 this season, but Grant thinks they are just as good as the 1970 and 1971 teams.

He noted that five of Minnesota's losses have been by a total of 10 points.

"In the last few years, we won the close games; this year we lost them, he said.

"A lot of NFL games can go either way. For instance, I saw the 49ers' game on TV and Atlanta could have won it. We've had a tough schedule, playing four playoff teams. If the 49ers make it, they would be the fifth."

PREP AWARD TO CONNOR OF REDWOOD

Redwood High School halfback Mike Connor was one of five winners of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame scholarships.

Connor received the $1,000 scholarship last night at the foundation awards dinner in San Francisco. Steve Fowler of San Marin High was also among the 22 Bay Area nominees for the scholar-athlete awards.

The Giants' star rushed for 1,800 yards and scored 30 touchdowns in two seasons. He had a 3.9 (out of 4.0) grade point average.

Also receiving $1,000 scholarships were: Bill Nagy, an El Molino High fullback; Dave Templeton, a Napa High guard; Stephen Piontek, an Armijo High halfback; and James Gibson, a Willow Glen (San Jose) quarterback.

Frosh, J. V. Cage

Doug Carlisle scored 14 points and Jim Cronin and Mike Bird added 11 each as Terra Linda High School's junior varsity basketball team remained undefeated yesterday with a 66-43 victory over Del Valle in Walnut Creek. The Trojans are 7-0. Redwood High's freshmen (4-0) defeated Sacred Heart of San Francisco, 45-29, behind 10 points apiece by Lenny McCloyd and Steve Price. The Marin Catholic High School frosh defeated Westborough Junior High in Daly City yesterday, 56-41. Gary Johnson had 23 points for the winners.

Michigan State Changing Guard

Stolz Replaces Daugherty As Football Coach

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—They said goodbye to Duffy Daugherty and hello to Denny Stolz at Michigan State Tuesday.

Daugherty was the honored center of attention Tuesday night at the annual Spartan football banquet. Nearly 1,000 persons turned out to salute him, despite a freezing rain storm which pelted the area all day.

The banquet came just a few hours after University President Clifton R. Wharton announced that Spartan defensive coordinator Denny Stolz will be the new head coach.

Stolz, who has been on Daugherty's staff only two years, was picked in a selection process that began Nov. 3, the day Daugherty his 19th season as head coach would be his last. Stolz came to State from Alma College, where his teams compiled a 35-15 record in four years and at one point had an 18-game winning streak.

Stolz is a graduate of Alma, the same school which produced Nebraska coach Bob Devaney, and coached at Haslett and Lansing Eastern High Schools prior to going to his alma mater as head coach in 1965.

DENNY STOLZ
Selected coach

The past two seasons the defensive units he fashioned have been among the best in the Big Ten and the team has lost games because of troubles with the offense. This year the Spartans ranked third in the Big Ten in total defense and scoring defense and second in rushing defense.

Stolz' appointment was confirmed today by the Michigan State University Board of Trustees on a 5-0 vote. Athletic Director Burt Smith told board members he had informed the new coach that he expects next season to be a season in which the Spartans "can play competitively and defeat Michigan, Notre Dame, Ohio State and the other teams in our conference."

"We expect him to win," Smith said of Stolz.

San Rafael '5' Wins; Tars Tourney Slated

Bulldogs Overcome Albany

San Rafael High School, rapidly leaving its inexperience behind, overcame the loss of two starters yesterday to defeat host Albany High in a non-league basketball game, 68-61.

In other action involving teams from Marin, San Marin defeated Piner of Santa Rosa, 49-42; College of Marin's freshmen subdued Tomales, 68-42; Novato was beaten by Sonoma, 56-47; Redwood fell to Santa Rosa, 75-56; and Terra Linda lost to Del Valle of Walnut Creek, 53-45.

San Rafael (5-2), which has no starters back from last year, captured its third straight game despite missing 6-foot-5 forward Guy Perry, out with the flu, and 6-7 center Byron Stewart, who has a pulled leg muscle.

The Bulldogs trotted out another 6-7 center, Pete Neuwald, to replace Stewart, and Neuwald scored 13 points. So did forward Greg Campbell. It was the year's best showing for both players.

Forward Dan Zitek tossed in 11 more and hauled down 14 rebounds as San Rafael gained a 31-22 advantage on the boards and shot a blistering 60 per cent from the floor on 30 of 50 shots.

San Marin (5-2) got 12 points each from a center (John Tait), a forward (Fred Doar) and a guard (Hoza Wright) to beat back Piner in a lackluster game, despite being outrebounded, 37-26.

The Mustangs held a 27-21 lead at halftime and a 41-36 margin with four and a half minutes remaining before breaking the game open on baskets by — three guesses — Wright, Doar and Tait.

College of Marin's freshmen got 13 points from forward Rich Hochschild and 12 from guard Jerry Smith in its lopsided victory over Tomales.

For the first time in the school's history, Redwood (3-4) failed to sink any free throws in its game in Santa Rosa. Actually, the Giants had just one chance from the line as the Panthers committed eight fouls

Rose City Basketball Tourney Set

The word from the Rose City basketball tournament is that Hayward fears Hayward.

That is to say, Drake High School basketball coach Pete Hayward is not looking forward to his possible meeting with powerful Hayward High in the tournament, which begins tomorrow in Santa Rosa.

The tourney brings together quite a gathering of talent, including four teams from Marin and southern Sonoma. Drake is fresh from winning its own Pirate Classic, Petaluma was second in the same tournament, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park won the St. Helena tourney and Marin Catholic was second in the St. Elizabeth tourney.

"But Hayward is super," said Hayward. The Farmers from the East Bay have gone to the Tournament of Champions two years in a row. Nor does coach Joe Fuccy have to worry about replacing his graduated stars. Fuccy coached the freshmen, junior varisty and varsity to a combined league record of 48-0 last year.

Thursday's schedule calls for Hayward to meet St. Patrick's of Vallejo at 5 p.m.; Rancho vs. Drake at 6:30; Montgomery of Santa Rosa vs. Marin Catholic at 8; and Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa vs. Petaluma at 9:30.

The winner of St. Pat's-Hayward will face the winner of Rancho-Drake at 8 p.m. Friday, which is the game Drake's coach worries about. The other semi-final between the other two winners is at 9:30 p.m. Friday. Finals are Saturday.

RAIDERS

Winningest Team Over Ten Years

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders have become the most successful professional football team over the past 10 years with their latest victory.

The Raiders' 24-16 win over the New York Jets Monday gave them a 93-36-10 record and a .721 winning percentage in the past decade. That put them ahead of the Baltimore Colts' .719 winning mark over that span. The Colts have a 97-38-4 mark.

But the Raiders have been served notice that the Chicago Bears don't expect to let themselves be treated like bums Sunday in the final game of the regular season.

"The last couple of weeks we've been as flat as hell," admitted Bears' advance man Dan Desmond. "We have holes, obviously any team with our record 4-8-1 does. But we're not coming out here figuring to be sparring partners for the Raiders."

In fact, Raiders Coach John Madden isn't letting himself look ahead. "We can't be concerned with the playoffs yet. We have the Bears first. Taking on Namath and Bobby Douglass in the same week is about as big a contrast in quarterbacks as you could get."

Last Monday's victory moved the Raiders' season record to 9-3-1 with the American Football Conference West championship bagged the week before.

Owens Fights Dupree In 10-Round Benefit

SCRANTON, Pa.(UPI)—Eddie "Redtop" Owens, the No. 3 ranking light heavywieght, will meet Jimmy Dupree of Jesey City, N.J., in a 10-round bout, Jan. 17, with the proceeds going to the Chick Feldman Memorial Fund.

The bout is being sponsored by the Friends of Boxing, a group to which Feldman belonged when he died Jan. 7, 1972, while covering a fight for the Scranton Tribune at Madison Square Garden in New

Free Throw Accuracy Aids Over Hill Win

Free throws marksmanship enabled the Over the Hill Gang to decision San Rafael Saints, 44-35, in San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult basketball league competition last night.

The Hill Gang converted on five one-and-one free throw opportunities in the fourth quarter to win. In other games, Mike's Bar and Grill defeated McKee's, 48-42, while Suburban Auto edged King Realty, 41-38.

Marin Vs. Napa Game Tomorrow

It is first necessary to be master of your own house before you can go on to other exploits as Greek conquerors from Pericles to John Panagakis have realized.

Pericles won't be around this week but Panagakis will keep this truism in mind tomorrow night when his Tar basketball team opens play in the College of Marin Invitational Tournament.

Seven schools from throughout Northern California, including defending champion Reedley College, are scheduled to join the Tars in the seventh annual tournament.

Tomorrow's schedule pits the Tars (6-1) against Napa (0-5) in the feature game at 9 p.m. Earlier in the day, Foothill (4-2) of Los Altos will meet Solano (3-3) of Suisun City at 3 p.m.; Sierra (2-4) of Rocklin will face Reedley (2-4) at 5 p.m.; and Santa Rosa (4-1) will confront Oholone (5-1) of Fremont at 7 p.m.

The winner of Marin-Napa will meet the winner of Santa Rosa-Oholone in the feature game Friday at 9 p.m. Losers collide at 5 p.m. The Foothill-Solano winner will play the Sierra-Reedley winner at 7 p.m. Friday in the other semi-final. Losers meet at 3 p.m.

Championship game will be Saturday night at 9 o'clock. Games for third and fifth place will precede it. The two double-losers from the first two days will pack their gear and head home.

Solano's games will have special interest for Marin County fans, since Donnie Canfield, who starred for San Rafael High School last year, is starting at guard for the Falcons from Suisun City.

Some other exceptional players can be found on the visitors' rosters. Napa has a 6-foot-4 forward named Steve Bakker who is averaging 25 points a game. Foothill's K.C. Jackson is another fine forward. Oholone has a 6-3 backcourt and a 6-6 forward wall featuring 6-5 forward Chuck Pierce, who made the all-tournament team a year ago.

The Tars will be seeking to rectify a strange oversight they made last year, when they entered the tournament undefeated but lost to eventual champion Reedley in the semi-finals.

This year's version of the Tars has lost once in seven outings, to powerful Laney College of Oakland, but is devastating its opponents statistically. When Marin wins by 14, that's an average game, since the Tars are scoring points at an 82.4 clip and giving them up at 68.1.

Most of the punch has come from the forwards. Freshman Wil Garner is averaging 22.6 and sophomore Joe Casteel 16.6 for a combined figure a hair over 39 points a game. Guard Len Smith is averaging 8.0 and guard Joe DeMaestri 7.4. The battle for the pivot position remains unresolved, as Dana La Ferriere is averaging 8.2 and Neil Traub 6.6. Each has two games in double figures and one 20-point effort.

Petaluma Board Eyes Split Into Two Units

The Petaluma Board of Education began the difficult task of dividing itself into two separate school boards last night in anticipation of a state Supreme Court ruling.

Board President Arthur L. Lafranchi, an attorney, said he believed the ruling of the Santa Barbara Superior Court requiring separate school boards for different school districts will be upheld by the Supreme Court.

Lafranchi called the court decision "unassailable" based on the one man-one vote concept. Like Santa Barbara, the Petaluma Board of Education directs both an elementary and a high school district, although some members are not residents of both districts. San Rafael and Santa Rosa are also affected by the ruling.

Lafranchi said he expects the Supreme Court will act on the ruling in January or February and that the districts must give immediate and serious thought to implementing the ruling.

He said the districts may want enabling legislation approved to set up elections next year to seat a new five-member school board. "We must get with it and get with it very quickly," Lafranchi said.

He and schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer had attended a meeting in Sacramento yesterday, with other involved school districts, and will return for another session Jan. 10.

The board asked that teacher and parent groups give thought to the problem and be prepared to discuss it at a special board meeting next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the administration building.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

STADIUM — Endorsed the concept of a football stadium for Rohnert Park, but said final approval would depend on both financial and legal liability to the district.

TEACHERS — Heard that five graduate students in music at Sonoma State College are currently teaching music to first grade classes as volunteers.

GIFT — Accepted a gift of choral risers for Casa Grande Junior-Senior High School from the school boosters club.

PRINCIPAL — Named William Thorsen acting principal of the adult education program at a salary of $81.63 per day.

A $12,000 Home Burns In Bolinas

A Bolinas weekend home was destroyed yesterday by a blaze which began in a faulty fireplace and spread quickly to the rest of the four-room dwelling.

Volunteer Fire Chief Jose A. Silva said the fire began shortly after 8 p.m. in the living room of a house at 240 Nymph Road owned by John B. McCormick of San Francisco.

The fire was caused by hot embers burning through the floor beneath the fireplace, according to Silva. No one was in the residence at the time, he said, but McCormick's grandson had left the house about three hours earlier.

The flames raced along the floor and spread rapidly to the rest of the house, which was engulfed by the time firemen were called at 8:20 p.m.

Muddy dirt roads hampered firefighting efforts by forcing firemen to haul about 1,000 feet of hose to the home from the nearest passable road about 500 feet away, Silva said.

The wood-frame structure, built in 1929 and estimated to be worth $12,000, was a total loss, the chief said, with $3,000 worth of damage to its contents.

Plea Made In Morals Case

A 52-year-old Santa Venetia man, charged with three counts of sexual perversion with young girls, pleaded guilty to two counts yesterday on the verge of a trial.

Marin Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick accepted the pleas from Thomas Edward Umberger, then dismissed the third count. There was no plea bargain in the case, but the judge set a hearing for Jan. 16 to determine whether Umberger is a mentally disordered sex offender who should be committed for treatment.

Umberger was arrested in April on suspicion of committing unnatural acts with a 7-year-old girl March 31 and with an 8-year-old and a 7-year-old in December.

He was indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury in October.

Guilty Plea To Casino Charges

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Nathan Marks, 28, entered a guilty plea Tuesday to federal charges of attempting to extort $2 million from 21 Las Vegas gambling casinos by threatening to blow them up.

U.S. District Judge Jesse W. Curtis immediately sentenced the former Salt Lake City resident to 20 years in federal penitentiary.

The sentencing was a formality to place the defendant under a three-month psychiatric study. After the study, he will be returned to court for possible modification of the sentence.

Nongraded Class Programs Impress Education Board

Video tapes of nongraded classroom programs in the San Rafael school system impressed the city's board of education last night.

Board members heard a panel of principals explain the nongraded concept in use at some classrooms in Laurel Dell, Glenwood and Davidson schools, according to Supt. John F. Plank.

Under the program, children are grouped on a level-of-achievement basis and taught individually by team teachers, he said. A 9-year-old pupil might be in the same classroom with an 11-year-old, he said.

The program, now several years old, allows flexibility of time, materials and skill groupings, he said.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

REDEVELOPMENT — Tabled the final draft of a redevelopment agreement with the city's Redevelopment Agency because board members had not had enough time to study it, Plank said. The board set 7:30 p.m. Monday as the time of a special meeting to consider adoption of the agreement, which will return some revenues normally frozen under redevelopment to the school system.

SABBATICALS — Heard teacher Alan Barahal, who recently returned from a year in Europe, say that industry is spoiling the culture there. The board gave tentative approval of sabbatical leaves for Pat Swenney, Louis Ferrario, Frank Furtado and Al Lozano.

MINIMUM DAYS — Said it will study the minimum day policy for teachers when next year's school calendar is developed.

PERSONNEL — Appointed Russell Batt as an instructional aide at $2.72 per hour, and Joe DeField as a custodian at $751 per month. The board announced that instructional aide Dan Scannell and teacher Linda Carr have resigned and that custodian Robert Coman and teacher Jean MacConnell have retired. Leave for librarian Katherine Wade was extended for two months without pay.

WORKDAY — Declared Jan. 26 a workday for teachers in the high school district.

GIFTS — Accepted playground equipment, carpeting, plants and tools valued at $1,701 from Coleman School Parent-Teacher Association for Coleman School; an arm saw valued at $150 from Lilie Low Wong for the Terra Linda High School Industrial Arts Department; five pine trees from Cub Scout Pack 55 for San Pedro School and two ceramic kilns and two tape recorders from the Laurel Dell Parent-Teacher Association for the Laurel Dell School.

REPORTS — Said it will study the development of curriculum, the physical education programs in the high school district and the possibility of waiving fees for senior citizens enrolled in adult education courses, at future meetings.

ADJOURNMENT — Ad — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Dec. 18. The next regular meeting is 7:30 p.m. Dec. 26.

Busing, Economy Held Top Issues

AMERICUS, Ga. (UPI) — Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., said Tuesday the next Congress will have to meet the issues of busing and the economy "head on and do something."

Speaking to the Americus Rotary Club, Talmadge said the American people should use the Congress to put spending controls on the federal government. Talmadge said Americans also are "sick of the federal government hauling children all over creation to attain some arbitrary, contrived racial quota while the idea of equal education for everybody goes down the drain."

Cards' Wilson Retires Sunday

Combined AP & UPI

ST. LOUIS — The red and white jersey bearing No. 8 will be seen for the last time Sunday at Busch Memorial Stadium in St. Louis when the Cardinals host the Philadelphia Eagles in the last National Football League game of the season for both teams.

Cardinal safety Larry Wilson, who perfected the 'safety blitz,' announced during a press conference Tuesday that he would retire this year, and at the same time the Big Red announced they would retire the jersey he has worn in 13 seasons with the team.

"I know Larry Wilson right now is not able to do the things that he did four or five years ago," said Wilson, who was the team's seventh-round draft choice from Utah in 1960. He holds 10 team records.

He has been used by the Cardinals as a player-coach this season.

Wilson, 34, was described at one time by former Detroit Lions quarterback Bobby Layne as pound-for-pound, the greatest player in the NFL.

More Football

SAN FRANCISCO — The withdrawal of Oregon quarterback Dan Fouts from the ShrineEast-West game resulted Tuesday in two changes.

Game officials announced that George Amundson, Iowa State's "Jack of all trades" performer, will move into the quarterback slot and added Long Beach State running back Terry Metcalf to the West roster.

Amundson, a 6-3, 215-pounder, was previously listed on the roster as a running back and quarterback. The addition of Metcalf, a 9.6 sprinter, gives the West added speed. During his junior year at Long Beach State, Metcalf scored 29 touchdowns.

Fouts injured his foot in the season finale against Oregon State and his doctor declined to certify the passing star for the Dec. 30 game.

Swimming

SYDNEY — Dawn Fraser, winner of three Olympic 100-meter women's swimming freestyle titles, said yesterday a lack of money will probably keep her from going to the United States this month for a Hall of Fame dedication ceremony.

On Dec. 31, the American Swimming Hall of Fame in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., will dedicate an entire wall to her exploits.

Basketball

SANTA MONICA — John Wooden, the 25-year coach of the UCLA basketball team, remained at St. John's Hospital today where he was admitted Sunday night for a gastro-intestinal upset.

Wooden, 62, had been expected to be released yesterday but his doctor decided to delay the release indefinitely.

General

NEW YORK — The appointment of Milton S. Richman as Sports Editor of United Press International was announced today by H. L. Stevenson, Editor-in-Chief.

Richman's responsibilities will include the direction and planning of UPI's worldwide sports coverage. He will continue to write his five-day a week column, "The Sports Parade."

Richman succeeds John G. Griffin, who has been appointed a General News Editor of the service in New York, effective Jan. 1.

all night. Seven of them were "common fouls". In a new rule this year, a team doesn't shoot from the line until the fifth team foul by the opponent in a half.

The Giants shot 50 per cent from the floor however to make the score somewhat respectable. Neil Hennessy led the losers with 16 points, while Steve Boro and Darrell Elder contributed 14 each. Redwood played without star Wingman Mike Connor, who attended the Scholar-Athlete dinner last night in San Francisco.

The Terra Linda Trojans (3-5) also had foul problems last night. They committed too many. The visitors were called 30 times as Del Valle scored 33 points from the line.

Terra Linda's defense held its opponents to 10 field goals. Mark Lowey and Scott Logan topped the Trojan scorers with 11 points each.

Novato (4-4) trailed all the way against Sonoma to lose its third straight game. The entire nine-point margin of defeat came at the foul line, as Sonoma made 18 of 27 free throws, compared to Novato's 9 of 19. Novato committed eight more fouls, 23-15.

AT ABA MEETING

A Hardship College Draft Authorized

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)— The board of trustees of the American Basketball Association put the finishing touches on their two-day meeting here Tuesday by authorizing a hardship college draft, deciding to expand the league and tentatively approving the sale of the Denver franchise.

The hardship draft would benefit the San Diego Conquistadors more than any other ABA team, since it could draft first and hope to land UCLA junior Bill Walton.

Dr. Leonard Bloom, the millionaire real estate developer who owns the Conquistadors, said he had no doubts that Walton could qualify as a hardship case.

Date of the special draft was not immediately determined, but could come in the next two months. If the Dallas Chaps, who hold future draft rights to Walton, do not sign him before then San Diego would be first in line.

However, Sam Gilbert, who has advised several UCLA players in negotiations with pro teams, said in Los Angeles he believes Walton will not be wooed from college.

"I think the pros are doing a disservice in recruiting youngsters still in school and then dropping them in a year or two when they should be encouraging them to get an education," Gilbert added.

ABA Commissioner Robert Carlson said two franchises will be added to the league next year. Los Angeles, Chicago, Honolulu and Jersey Meadows are among cities under consideration, he said.

He also said the proposed sale of the Denver franchise to a group headed by San Diego businessman Frank Goldberg had been tentatively approved. Carlson said the club would remain in Denver if sold.

Basketball: St. Vincent Victorious

St. Vincent High School of Petaluma overcame an early nine-point Geyserville lead in the fourth quarter last night to take a 59-52 non-league basketball victory over the visiting Broncos.

The win upped the Mustang's record to 5-2.

Without three of its regular starters, St. Vincent fell behind 11-2 at 4:40 of the first quarter. Then Mustang coach Ed Major put in Dan Tocchini, who did not start due to an ulcer, and Jim Leoni. From that point on, St. Vincent controlled the backboards and chipped away at the Bronco lead.

The Mustangs took over the lead at 44-42 with over seven minutes to play behind the scoring and rebounding of Tocchini and Leoni and the passing of Chris Dawson.

Tocchin was the game's top scorer with 21 points, with most of them coming on muscle plays underneath the basket.

Twins Batting Star

MINNEAPOLIS-St. Paul (UPI) —Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins has won three American League batting titles.

Warriors Visit Detroit Tonight

DETROIT (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors call on Detroit tonight and at least one member of the team wishes big Clyde Lee was in there to help out.

The Warriors are only 2-3 since Lee sprained his right arch Nov. 28 and the mustachioed guard Jim Barnett has scored only 35 points in the five games.

"I'm trying as hard as I ever have," says Barnett, "but nothing is going right. I know I miss Clyde — without him we can't be sure of the rebound, so I can't get down the court on the break. When I'm playing well, he's as responsible as I am."

The Warriors starting guard spot opposite Jeff Mullins now seems wide open with Barnett, Fritz Williams, Mahdi Abdul Rahman and Charlie Johnson all having a shot at it.

Mullins and Nate Thurmond, who had permission to visit family Monday in Kentucky and Ohio respectively, missed the practice Tuesday and were fined. They were snowed in and couldn't get to Detroit.

Coach Al Attles held a team meeting Saturday and thought that might have helped. He said he felt that perhaps now that Rick Barry is back "a lot of guys feel he'll do it all."

He said the Warriors, 5-6 for their last four weeks of National Basketball Association play can expect more help from guard Mahdi Abdul-Rahman as he becomes adjusted to the team and from rookie Charlie Johnson as he gains experience.

Controversy Over A Block Decreases

DALLAS (UPI) — A controversy stirred up by Washington Redskin coach George Allen about a crackback block thrown on one of his players by a Dallas player Saturday has subsided under a flood of facts, and Dallas players have pulled a lot of resentment from it that might help them to some victories.

"I'm sorry they (Washington) can't take a loss like men," said Dallas flanker Lance Alworth, the man who threw the block.

Alworth expects Dallas to make it through the first-round playoffs to the National conference playoffs, the final step before the super bowl game with the American conference winner. Dallas clinched a playoff berth with the 34-24 victory over Washington last Saturday after Washington had already clinched a berth.

The block was thrown by Alworth against Redskin linebacker Jack Pardee and it helped spring running back Calvin Hill loose for a 10-yard touchdown run. Alworth went in motion down the line, and then as the ball was snapped took a few steps downfield and slanted back toward the line of scrimmage to hit Pardee from a virtually blind angle.

Allen said the block was "illegal and vicious." However, the Redskins had knocked Dallas linebacker Chuck Howley out of the game with just such a crackback block. Howley was forced to undergo surgery for his injury, putting his career in jeopardy. Pardee was forced to sit out the second half allegedly because of the block.

Boxing Victory For Hernandez

SEATTLE (UPI) —Art Hernandez scored a 10th round technical knockout over previously unbeaten Mike Lankester, Renton, Wash. Tuesday night to successfully defend his North American Boxing Federation middleweight title.

Hernandez, of Omaha, paved the way for the TKO when he began to score heavily in the ninth round with punishing lefts to the head.

In the tenth, a cut opened over Lankester's eye and referee Pat McMurtry called the ring physician who inspected Lankester and waved that the fight was over.

Seals Host Canadiens Tonight

OAKLAND (AP) — The cellar-dwelling California Seals seem to do better against top National Hockey League teams and they'll have another go at it tonight against the visiting East Division leading Montreal Canadiens.

Last Saturday night, the Seals managed to come out or the short end by only a 2-1 score against Montreal in their first meeting of the season.

Weekend play saw the return of defenseman Bob Stewart who has been out almost a month. But left wing Gary Croteau took his place on the sidelines with a severe charley horse which has him on crutches and may prevent his seeing action Friday night against Chicago, the West Division front runner.

Cage Game Cancelled

The scheduled basketball game between the Danish National Basketball Team and the California State College, Sonoma Cossacks tomorrow night has been cancelled because the Danes could not get enough commitments to make their planned tour, it was announced yesterday.

Some Tough Questions For 49ers' Beasley

Terry Beasley is not exactly the type of guy who would cause a scare if he happened to walk up behind you in a dark alley. Instead you would probably ask him if he had permission to be out after curfew.

Beasley is a professional football player who draws his paychecks from the San Francisco 49ers. By pro football standards, his 5-foot-11 and 188-pound frame makes him always one of the smallest players on the field. His red hair and boyish face makes you think of Huck Finn.

A rookie No. 1 draft choice out of Auburn University, Beasley fielded questions like a veteran last night at a dinner meeting of the 49er Goal Rushers of Marin at Holiday Inn.

He got past two questions early in the meeting, the tough kind that asks for comparisons of players. A youngster in the audience of 100 or so wanted to know who was the more accurate passer, 49er Steve Spurrier or Atlanta reserve quarterback Pat Sullivan who was on the firing end of the passes when Terry was at Auburn. Both, as the youngster noted, were Heisman Trophy winners.

"BOTH ARE EXCELLENT passers," Beasley sidestepped as only a wide receiver could do. "I know much more about Pat than Steve because I played football four years with Pat at Auburn."

Then master of ceremonies Dave Scofield, public address man at Candlestick Park, threw in the inevitable question: "What about comparing Spurrier and (John) Brodie?"

"Well," said Beasley, "John is a better long passer but Steve throws well against a zone." That's a very polite way of saying Spurrier has a tendency to float his long passes, something that has become evident the past few games. And in the winds of Candlestick Park, floating passes are a no-no.

In explaining his early season injuries which kept him out of action at preseason training camp, Terry told the boosters he had never missed a game during his high school and college career. But following his senior year, he had minor knee surgery two months before the college all-star game, and then because he was favoring the knee too much, pulled a muscle in his other leg. Then when he reported to 49er training camp in Santa Barbara, he broke a big toe on the second day.

"Missing training camp really put me behind in practice and I could never show the coaches what I could do," he said. That's why he isn't being used very much this season, although he is now at full speed. And speed is the word for it, as Beasley was a sprinter in high school and college, and was clocked at 9.5 for the 100-yard dash.

DESPITE HIS SIZE, Beasley is a very rough and tough player. Remember back to that first Atlanta game this year, seen by Bay Area fans on television, Oct. 29, Beasley was in three plays and got in two fights, and that has to be some kind of record.

"That Atlanta defensive back kicked me in the head," explained Beasley. "And I wasn't about to take that."

A questioner asked about the rough shots absorbed by wide receivers after they catch passes and wanted to know if Beasley had ever suffered any. Terry told about one play at Auburn when he was smashed in the neck by a defender's helmet when he was stretching to catch a pass. The blow knocked him unconscious, but he says that's all part of the game.

"Every one in a while they'll get in a good lick on you, but you just can't worry about that."

BEASLEY, WHEN asked to name the best cornerback in football, put out the name of teammate Jimmy Johnson, which was cause for applause. Then someone wanted to know if the players were aware of the crowd's booing and he said yes, the fans' treatment of cornerback Bruce Taylor last Sunday against Atlanta when he was introduced was noticed by the players.

"He (Taylor) is aware of the booing, but he knows he has a job to do."

When asked by Scofield about the players' feeling going into the crucial game Saturday against the Minnesota Vikings, Beasley said, "the team enthusiasm is really good. We're on top and we plan to stay there."

I hope so, Terry.

Baseball Contract Parley Has Dispute

NEW YORK (UPI) — The representatives of both sides in the basic contract dispute between the baseball owners and players couldn't even agree on how much they disgreed after their meeting Tuesday.

The two sides met for the first time in a month and one side called it a "meaningful exchange" and the other side said "nothing was accomplished."

John Gaherin, the representative of the owners, was the optimist in his statement. "I think it was a meaningful exhange," he said, "I'd rather not characterize the discussion, but when two people talk they always make some degree of progress."

However, Marvin Miller, the executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, had a different view.

"Nothing was accomplished on either side," he said, "I wouldn't even describe it as negotiating session. They simply came in and repeated what they said in Hawaii and what Bowie Kuhn said after that.

"One of the things we've warned about has come to pass. When you have negotiations publicly, you harden positions of some of the principals. That's why we complained about Mr. Kuhn's actions in Hawaii and then he repeated them."

Although Kuhn is not participating in the discussions, he revealed the owners' stand in Hawaii and then said this week the owners have "no inclination to give ground" on the questions of free agency and binding arbitration of salary disputes.

The owners are offering to make a player a free agent if he isn't making $30,000 after five years or $40,000 after eight years.

49er Fullback Schreiber Is Available Saturday

Combined AP & UPI

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. — Fullback Larry Schreiber will be available Saturday when the San Francisco 49ers play their do-or-die battle against tough Minnesota at Candlestick Park.

The 49ers are favored by six points over the Vikings, according to Harrah's Tahoe figures.

Schreiber tore a rib cartilage in the big 20-0 win against Atlanta, but team physician Lloyd Milburn diagnoses the injury as not serious enough to hold Schreiber out of action.

Meanwhile, defensive coach Don Heinrich Tuesday called Bruce Taylor's block of a pass to Ken Burrow on the five-yard-line "one of the finest pieces of defensive coverage I've seen for a long time."

The 49ers failed to get any rush on quarterback Bob Berry so that Burrow had time to do his full repertoire of fakes on Taylor, who still caught up with the pass.

For Taylor, his key play had to be a boost for the ego. He had been booed before Sunday's game when the defensive unit was introduced.

"Sure I was upset," Taylor admitted. "Nobody likes to be booed. It shakes you up. I'm glad I was able to do something about it."

Coach Dick Nolan believes most of the criticism heaped on Taylor is unwarranted.

"You have to understand that Taylor will have at least 75 to 80 per cent of the passes thrown to his side," he said. "The opposing quarterback won't gamble against Jimmy Johnson and Dave Wilcox on the other side.

"That means most of the completions will be on Taylor's side and people have a tendency to remember the completions more so than the incompletions."

Nolan recalled that he was a rookie in a New York Giant defensive backfield that included veteran stars Emlen Tunnell, Herb Rich and Tom Landry on the opposite side.

"They threw everything but their helmets in my direction," he recalled.

Minnesota coach Bud Grant promises his team will put out all the way against the 49ers even though the Vikings don't have a chance for a National Football League playoff berth.

"We owe it to ourselves and to the league to play our best," Grant said in a telephone interview Tuesday.

The Vikings, divisional champions the past three yars, have slipped to 7-6 this season, but Grant thinks they are just as good as the 1970 and 1971 teams.

He noted that five of Minnesota's losses have been by a total of 10 points.

"In the last few years, we won the close games; this year we lost them, he said.

"A lot of NFL games can go either way. For instance, I saw the 49ers' game on TV and Atlanta could have won it. We've had a tough schedule, playing four playoff teams. If the 49ers make it, they would be the fifth."

PREP AWARD TO CONNOR OF REDWOOD

Redwood High School halfback Mike Connor was one of five winners of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame scholarships.

Connor received the $1,000 scholarship last night at the foundation awards dinner in San Francisco. Steve Fowler of San Marin High was also among the 22 Bay Area nominees for the scholar-athlete awards.

The Giants' star rushed for 1,800 yards and scored 30 touchdowns in two seasons. He had a 3.9 (out of 4.0) grade point average.

Also receiving $1,000 scholarships were: Bill Nagy, an El Molino High fullback; Dave Templeton, a Napa High guard; Stephen Piontek, an Armijo High halfback; and James Gibson, a Willow Glen (San Jose) quarterback.

Frosh, J. V. Cage

Doug Carlisle scored 14 points and Jim Cronin and Mike Bird added 11 each as Terra Linda High School's junior varsity basketball team remained undefeated yesterday with a 66-43 victory over Del Valle in Walnut Creek. The Trojans are 7-0. Redwood High's freshmen (4-0) defeated Sacred Heart of San Francisco, 45-29, behind 10 points apiece by Lenny McCloyd and Steve Price. The Marin Catholic High School frosh defeated Westborough Junior High in Daly City yesterday, 56-41. Gary Johnson had 23 points for the winners.

Michigan State Changing Guard

Stolz Replaces Daugherty As Football Coach

DENNY STOLZ
Selected coach

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—They said goodbye to Duffy Daugherty and hello to Denny Stolz at Michigan State Tuesday.

Daugherty was the honored center of attention Tuesday night at the annual Spartan football banquet. Nearly 1,000 persons turned out to salute him, despite a freezing rain storm which pelted the area all day.

The banquet came just a few hours after University President Clifton R. Wharton announced that Spartan defensive coordinator Denny Stolz will be the new head coach.

Stolz, who has been on Daugherty's staff only two years, was picked in a selection process that began Nov. 3, the day Daugherty his 19th season as head coach would be his last. Stolz came to State from Alma College, where his teams compiled a 35-15 record in four years and at one point had an 18-game winning streak.

Stolz is a graduate of Alma, the same school which produced Nebraska coach Bob Devaney, and coached at Haslett and Lansing Eastern High Schools prior to going to his alma mater as head coach in 1965.

The past two seasons the defensive units he fashioned have been among the best in the Big Ten and the team has lost games because of troubles with the offense. This year the Spartans ranked third in the Big Ten in total defense and scoring defense and second in rushing defense.

Stolz' appointment was confirmed today by the Michigan State University Board of Trustees on a 5-0 vote. Athletic Director Burt Smith told board members he had informed the new coach that he expects next season to be a season in which the Spartans "can play competitively and defeat Michigan, Notre Dame, Ohio State and the other teams in our conference."

"We expect him to win," Smith said of Stolz.

San Rafael '5' Wins; Tars Tourney Slated

Bulldogs Overcome Albany

San Rafael High School, rapidly leaving its inexperience behind, overcame the loss of two starters yesterday to defeat host Albany High in a nonleague basketball game, 68-61.

In other action involving teams from Marin, San Marin defeated Piner of Santa Rosa, 49-42; College of Marin's freshmen subdued Tomales, 68-42; Novato was beaten by Sonoma, 56-47; Redwood fell to Santa Rosa, 75-56; and Terra Linda lost to Del Valle of Walnut Creek, 53-45.

San Rafael (5-2), which has no starters back from last year, captured its third straight game despite missing 6-foot-5 forward Guy Perry, out with the flu, and 6-7 center Byron Stewart, who has a pulled leg muscle.

The Bulldogs trotted out another 6-7 center, Pete Neuwald, to replace Stewart, and Neuwald scored 13 points. So did forward Greg Campbell. It was the year's best showing for both players.

Forward Dan Zitek tossed in 11 more and hauled down 14 rebounds as San Rafael gained a 31-22 advantage on the boards and shot a blistering 60 per cent from the floor on 30 of 50 shots.

San Marin (5-2) got 12 points each from a center (John Tait), a forward (Fred Doar) and a guard (Hoza Wright) to beat back Piner in a lackluster game, despite being outrebounded, 37-26.

The Mustangs held a 27-21 lead at halftime and a 41-36 margin with four and a half minutes remaining before breaking the game open on baskets by — three guesses — Wright, Doar and Tait.

College of Marin's freshmen got 13 points from forward Rich Hochschild and 12 from guard Jerry Smith in its lopsided victory over Tomales.

For the first time in the school's history, Redwood (3-4) failed to sink any free throws in its game in Santa Rosa. Actually, the Giants had just one chance from the line as the Panthers committed eight fouls

RAIDERS

Winningest Team Over Ten Years

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders have become the most successful professional football team over the past 10 years with their latest victory.

The Raiders' 24-16 win over the New York Jets Monday gave them a 93-36-10 record and a .721 winning percentage in the past decade. That put them ahead of the Baltimore Colts' .719 winning mark over that span. The Colts have a 97-38-4 mark.

But the Raiders have been served notice that the Chicago Bears don't expect to let themselves be treated like bums Sunday in the final game of the regular season.

"The last couple of weeks we've been as flat as hell," admitted Bears' advance man Dan Desmond. "We have holes, obviously any team with our record 4-8-1 does. But we're not coming out here figuring to be sparring partners for the Raiders."

In fact, Raiders Coach John Madden isn't letting himself look ahead. "We can't be concerned with the playoffs yet. We have the Bears first. Taking on Namath and Bobby Douglass in the same week is about as big a contrast in quarterbacks as you could get."

Last Monday's victory moved the Raiders' season record to 9-3-1 with the American Football Conference West championship bagged the week before.

Free Throw Accuracy Aids Over Hill Win

Free throws marksmanship enabled the Over the Hill Gang to decision San Rafael Saints, 44-35, in San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department adult basketball league competition last night.

The Hill Gang converted on five one-and-one free throw opportunities in the fourth quarter to win. In other games, Mike's Bar and Grill defeated McKee's, 48-42, while Suburban Auto edged King Realty, 41-38.

Rose City Basketball Tourney Set

The word from the Rose City basketball tournament is that Hayward fears Hayward.

That is to say, Drake High School basketball coach Pete Hayward is not looking forward to his possible meeting with powerful Hayward High in the tournament, which begins tomorrow in Santa Rosa.

The tourney brings together quite a gathering of talent, including four teams from Marin and southern Sonoma. Drake is fresh from winning its own Pirate Classic, Petaluma was second in the same tournament, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park won the St. Helena tourney and Marin Catholic was second in the St. Elizabeth tourney.

"But Hayward is super," said Hayward. The Farmers from the East Bay have gone to the Tournament of Champions two years in a row. Nor does coach Joe Fuccy have to worry about replacing his graduated stars. Fuccy coached the freshmen, junior varisty and varsity to a combined league record of 48-0 last year.

Thursday's schedule calls for Hayward to meet St. Patrick's of Vallejo at 5 p.m.; Rancho vs. Drake at 6:30; Montgomery of Santa Rosa vs. Marin Catholic at 8; and Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa vs. Petaluma at 9:30.

The winner of St. Pat's-Hayward will face the winner of Rancho-Drake at 8 p.m. Friday, which is the game Drake's coach worries about. The other semi-final between the other two winners is at 9:30 p.m. Friday. Finals are Saturday.

Owens Fights Dupree In 10-Round Benefit

The bout is being sponsored by the Friends of Boxing, a group to which Feldman belonged when he died Jan. 7, 1972, while covering a fight for the Scranton Tribune at Madison Square Garden in New

Marin Vs. Napa Game Tomorrow

It is first necessary to be master of your own house before you can go on to other exploits as Greek conquerors from Pericles to John Panagakis have realized.

Pericles won't be around this week but Panagakis will keep this truism in mind tomorrow night when his Tar basketball team opens play in the College of Marin Invitational Tournament.

Seven schools from throughout Northern California, including defending champion Reedley College, are scheduled to join the Tars in the seventh annual tournament.

Tomorrow's schedule pits the Tars (6-1) against Napa (0-5) in the feature game at 9 p.m. Earlier in the day, Foothill (4-2) of Los Altos will meet Solano (3-3) of Suisun City at 3 p.m.; Sierra (2-4) of Rocklin will face Reedley (2-4) at 5 p.m.; and Santa Rosa (4-1) will confront Oholone (5-1) of Fremont at 7 p.m.

The winner of Marin-Napa will meet the winner of Santa Rosa-Oholone in the feature game Friday at 9 p.m. Losers collide at 5 p.m. The Foothill-Solano winner will play the Sierra-Reedley winner at 7 p.m. Friday in the other semi-final. Losers meet at 3 p.m.

Championship game will be Saturday night at 9 o'clock. Games for third and fifth place will precede it. The two double-losers from the first two days will pack their gear and head home.

Solano's games will have special interest for Marin County fans, since Donnie Canfield, who starred for San Rafael High School last year, is starting at guard for the Falcons from Suisun City.

Some other exceptional players can be found on the visitors' rosters. Napa has a 6-foot-4 forward named Steve Bakker who is averaging 25 points a game. Foothill's K.C. Jackson is another fine forward. Oholone has a 6-3 backcourt and a 6-6 forward wall featuring 6-5 forward Chuck Pierce, who made the all-tournament team a year ago.

The Tars will be seeking to rectify a strange oversight they made last year, when they entered the tournament undefeated but lost to eventual champion Reedley in the semi-finals.

This year's version of the Tars has lost once in seven outings, to powerful Laney College of Oakland, but is devastating its opponents statistically. When Marin wins by 14, that's an average game, since the Tars are scoring points at an 82.4 clip and giving them up at 68.1.

Most of the punch has come from the forwards. Freshman Wil Garner is averaging 22.6 and sophomore Joe Casteel 16.6 for a combined figure a hair over 39 points a game. Guard Len Smith is averaging 8.0 and guard Joe DeMaestri 7.4. The battle for the pivot position remains unresolved, as Dana La Ferriere is averaging 8.2 and Neil Traub 6.6. Each has two games in double figures and one 20-point effort.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Knowledge Of Rope Is An Important Aid

A couple of times this past summer I saw a person on a dock pick up a line from a boat then hand it to someone else to tie it around a cleat, or a post, or a ring. It was obvious that they didn't want to appear conspicuous by not doing a workmanlike job.

And handing it to someone else was better than winding the rope around the cleat to look like a bird's nest.

It seems that many people think there is a great mystery to knots and the handling of ropes around a boat. Many believe that it's necessary to take some kind of a course in knot-tying before one dare handle the lines.

Actually it's possible to get by quite adequately in boating with really knowing only one knot — the bowline. It will suffice in almost every situation where a rope has to be fastened to some object.

That there is a grey area of knowledge on ropes and knots is shown by some of the questions I have been asked:

Q. Is a splice stronger than a knot in joining two ropes?

A. Very much stronger. A knot seldom attains a breaking strength of 65 percent of the original, but a splice can be 90 per cent as strong as the unbroken rope.

Q. When is a "rope" a "line?"

A. In the roll, as you buy it from a store, it's called rope. But once you put a piece of rope to work in a specific job on a boat it becomes a line — such as mooring line, anchor line, heaving line. Or it might become a sheet or a halliard on a sailboat. A boatman seldom uses the word rope when he means a specific line. But the word rope is retained in some terminology — bell rope, bolt rope, etc.

Q. I have a rope advertised as being made from sisal. What is it? It it any good?

A. Sisal rope is made from a fiber grown in South America and Mexico. It is not as good as manila, grown in the East Indies. Manila will stand more wear and abuse than any other natural fiber. Other fibers used in rope are hemp, jute, cotton and linen. Synthetic fibers are: nylon, dacron, polyethylene and polypropylene. The last two float.

Q. How can mildew harm rope?

A. It doesn't damage ropes made of artificial fibers. That's why they are so popular. They can be stored wet. Mildew is a fungus which feeds on natural fiber ropes and destroys the fibers. Mildew thrives under warm, wet conditions.

Q. What exactly is a heaving line?

A. This is a very light rope carried on bigger boats such as cruisers and yachts which may be tossed or "heaved" to someone on the dockside, and then used to haul a heavier mooring line ashore to tie up the boat. The light rope used for towing water skiers makes an excellent heaving line.

Q. I notice water ski tow rope is braided, not laid in twists like ordinary rope. Why?

A. It resists kinking despite being repeatedly coiled. Braiding gives it a greater springiness also.

Q. I towed a friend's boat and yanked off all his expensive deck hardware. Is there an easy way?

A. Yes there is. Pass the towing line completely around the hull of the boat to be towed. The line may be supported, so that it won't slip off by short lengths of rope tied to cleats or deck stanchions. Towing will reveal just how fragile some boats really are.

Eight New Names For Hall List

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight new names — six of them pitchers — showed up on ballots for election to baseball's Hall of Fame which were mailed Tuesday.

The new eligibles include Warren Spahn, winningest lefthander in major league history, Whitey Ford, Robin Roberts, Vern Law, Lou Burdette, Curt Simmons, Smokey Burgess and Dick Groat. Burgess, a catcher and pinch hitting star, and shortstop Groat are the only non-pitchers added to this year's list of eligibles.

The eight new names were added by a screening committee of baseball writers who sifted through all of the players who became eligible for election this year to pare the list down. To be eligible, a player must have performed for 10 seasons in the majors and have been retired for five years.

Election is in the hands of some 450 or so veteran members of the Baseball Writers Association of America. A player must be named on 75 per cent of the ballots in order to be elected.

Gymnastics Meet: Two Girls Star

Trish McLean of Vallecito Junior High and Susan Barnard and Kahea Bright of Mill Valley Middle School were the all-around winners yesterday in the Marin County Junior High-Middle School Compulsory Gymnastic Meet at Miller Creek School in Marinwood.

Trish won in Novice Division, Susan in Beginner and Kahea in Intermediate in scores combining balance beam, floor exercise, vaulting and uneven parallel bars. Five girls in each event qualified for a Feb. 3 Northern California meet.

Miss Bright was first in floor exercise, balance beam and parallel bars, and second to Kathy Tanem of Santa Venetia school in vaulting, highlighting the Intermediate Division.

First place winners in Novice Division were Miss McLean in parallel bars, Colleen Keating of Vallecito Junior High in vaulting, Jocelyn Shiro of Mill Valley in floor exercise and Cheri Cotti of Kent in balance beam.

Winning first in Beginners were Anita Lekven of Mill Valley in parallel bars and vaulting and Stevanie Voorsanger of Kent in floor exercise. Tami Wallace, Miss Voorsanger and Miss Barnard tied for first in balance beam.

Spurrier's Role In 49ers' Plans

By ERIC PREWITT

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pro football's Super Bowl is a month away, and if the longshot San Francisco 49ers get there it is a good bet Steve Spurrier will be the starting quarterback.

"But I know I wouldn't be playing if John Brodie hadn't hurt his ankle," the former quarterback-in-waiting said after Tuesday's practice. "I'm only here through circumstance."

Brodie is back in uniform but has watched from the sidelines in the two games since his return.

The 37-year-old veteran, third leading passer in National Football League history, may even rank behind Spurrier when 1973 training camp opens.

"Let's wait until next year to think about that," says coach Dick Nolan. "We're not through this year yet."

The 49ers, with Spurrier scheduled to make his ninth straight start, play the Minnesota Vikings here Saturday. A tie or victory will give them the National Football Conference West title.

Since Spurrier took over, the team is 5-2-1. The 27-year-old Heisman Trophy winner from Florida leads the NFC in touchdown passes, with 18, and has thrown for 1,907 yards.

"The yardage doesn't mean much, though," he says. "You'll always see some quarterbacks for losing teams with lots of yards. They're behind so much that they have to throw a lot.

"I threw 46 times against Los Angeles a week ago and we lost. I threw 18 times against Atlanta Sunday and we won."

In Sunday's 20-0 victory over the Falcons, the 49ers took advantage of their running attack, which was effective for one of the few times this season.

"It's great to have the running threat," says Spurrier. "The best thing about it is that it cuts down the other team's pass rush."

Canoe Winners

Larry Busby of the Marin Canoe Club took two victories in the Red Cross Canoe Races Saturday on Oakland's Lake Merritt. Other Marin club winners were Peggy Ford, Lowell Dwyer and Dean Ferrandini. Second place finishes were recorded by Cheryl Andrews, Pete Sweeney, Ferrandini, Dwyer, and Busby. Third place marks were taken by Annette Busby, Sweeney, Peggy Ford, and Larry Busby.

Cards' Wilson Retires Sunday

Combined AP & UPI

ST. LOUIS — The red and white jersey bearing No. 8 will be seen for the last time Sunday at Busch Memorial Stadium in St. Louis when the Cardinals host the Philadelphia Eagles in the last National Football League game of the season for both teams.

Cardinal safety Larry Wilson, who perfected the 'safety blitz,' announced during a press conference Tuesday that he would retire this year, and at the same time the Big Red announced they would retire the jersey he has worn in 13 seasons with the team.

"I know Larry Wilson right now is not able to do the things that he did four or five years ago," said Wilson, who was the team's seventh-round draft choice from Utah in 1960. He holds 10 team records.

He has been used by the Cardinals as a player-coach this season.

Wilson, 34, was described at one time by former Detroit Lions quarterback Bobby Layne as pound-for-pound, the greatest player in the NFL.

More Football

SAN FRANCISCO — The withdrawal of Oregon quarterback Dan Fouts from the ShrineEast-West game resulted Tuesday in two changes.

Game officials announced that George Amundson, Iowa State's "Jack of all trades" performer, will move into the quarterback slot and added Long Beach State running back Terry Metcalf to the West roster.

Amundson, a 6-3, 215-pounder, was previously listed on the roster as a running back and quarterback. The addition of Metcalf, a 9.6 sprinter, gives the West added speed. During his junior year at Long Beach State, Metcalf scored 29 touchdowns.

Fouts injured his foot in the season finale against Oregon State and his doctor declined to certify the passing star for the Dec. 30 game.

Swimming

SYDNEY — Dawn Fraser, winner of three Olympic 100-meter women's swimming freestyle titles, said yesterday a lack of money will probably keep her from going to the United States this month for a Hall of Fame dedication ceremony.

On Dec. 31, the American Swimming Hall of Fame in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., will dedicate an entire wall to her exploits.

Basketball

SANTA MONICA — John Wooden, the 25-year coach of the UCLA basketball team, remained at St. John's Hospital today where he was admitted Sunday night for a gastro-intestinal upset.

Wooden, 62, had been expected to be released yesterday but his doctor decided to delay the release indefinitely.

General

NEW YORK — The appointment of Milton S. Richman as Sports Editor of United Press International was announced today by H. L. Stevenson, Editor-in-Chief.

Richman's responsibilities will include the direction and planning of UPI's worldwide sports coverage. He will continue to write his five-day a week column, "The Sports Parade."

Richman succeeds John G. Griffin, who has been appointed a General News Editor of the service in New York, effective Jan. 1.

Controversy Over A Block Decreases

DALLAS (UPI) — A controversy stirred up by Washington Redskin coach George Allen about a crackback block thrown on one of his players by a Dallas player Saturday has subsided under a flood of facts, and Dallas players have pulled a lot of resentment from it that might help them to some victories.

"I'm sorry they (Washington) can't take a loss like men," said Dallas flanker Lance Alworth, the man who threw the block.

Alworth expects Dallas to make it through the first-round playoffs to the National conference playoffs, the final step before the super bowl game with the American conference winner. Dallas clinched a playoff berth with the 34-24 victory over Washington last Saturday after Washington had already clinched a berth.

The block was thrown by Alworth against Redskin linebacker Jack Pardee and it helped spring running back Calvin Hill loose for a 10-yard touchdown run. Alworth went in motion down the line, and then as the ball was snapped took a few steps downfield and slanted back toward the line of scrimmage to hit Pardee from a virtually blind angle.

Allen said the block was "illegal and vicious." However, the Redskins had knocked Dallas linebacker Chuck Howley out of the game with just such a crackback block. Howley was forced to undergo surgery for his injury, putting his career in jeopardy. Pardee was forced to sit out the second half allegedly because of the block.

Seals Host Canadiens Tonight

OAKLAND (AP) — The cellar-dwelling California Seals seem to do better against top National Hockey League teams and they'll have another go at it tonight against the visiting East Division leading Montreal Canadiens.

Last Saturday night, the Seals managed to come out or the short end by only a 2-1 score against Montreal in their first meeting of the season.

Weekend play saw the return of defenseman Bob Stewart who has been out almost a month. But left wing Gary Croteau took his place on the sidelines with a severe charley horse which has him on crutches and may prevent his seeing action Friday night against Chicago, the West Division front runner.

Cage Game Cancelled

The scheduled basketball game between the Danish National Basketball Team and the California State College, Sonoma Cossacks tomorrow night has been cancelled because the Danes could not get enough commitments to make their planned tour, it was announced yesterday.

all night. Seven of them were "common fouls". In a new rule this year, a team doesn't shoot from the line until the fifth team foul by the opponent in a half.

The Giants shot 50 per cent from the floor however to make the score somewhat respectable. Neil Hennessy led the losers with 16 points, while Steve Boro and Darrell Elder contributed 14 each. Redwood played without star Wingman Mike Connor, who attended the Scholar-Athlete dinner last night in San Francisco.

The Terra Linda Trojans (3-5) also had foul problems last night. They committed too many. The visitors were called 30 times as Del Valle scored 33 points from the line.

Terra Linda's defense held its opponents to 10 field goals. Mark Lowey and Scott Logan topped the Trojan scorers with 11 points each.

Novato (4-4) trailed all the way against Sonoma to lose its third straight game. The entire nine-point margin of defeat came at the foul line, as Sonoma made 18 of 27 free throws, compared to Novato's 9 of 19. Novato committed eight more fouls, 23-15.

Boxing Victory For Hernandez

SEATTLE (UPI) —Art Hernandez scored a 10th round technical knockout over previously unbeaten Mike Lankester, Renton, Wash. Tuesday night to successfully defend his North American Boxing Federation middleweight title.

Hernandez, of Omaha, paved the way for the TKO when he began to score heavily in the ninth round with punishing lefts to the head.

In the tenth, a cut opened over Lankester's eye and referee Pat McMurtry called the ring physician who inspected Lankester and waved that the fight was over.

AT ABA MEETING

A Hardship College Draft Authorized

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)— The board of trustees of the American Basketball Association put the finishing touches on their two-day meeting here Tuesday by authorizing a hardship college draft, deciding to expand the league and tentatively approving the sale of the Denver franchise.

The hardship draft would benefit the San Diego Conquistadors more than any other ABA team, since it could draft first and hope to land UCLA junior Bill Walton.

Dr. Leonard Bloom, the millionaire real estate developer who owns the Conquistadors, said he had no doubts that Walton could qualify as a hardship case.

Date of the special draft was not immediately determined, but could come in the next two months. If the Dallas Chaps, who hold future draft rights to Walton, do not sign him before then San Diego would be first in line.

However, Sam Gilbert, who has advised several UCLA players in negotiations with pro teams, said in Los Angeles he believes Walton will not be wooed from college.

"I think the pros are doing a disservice in recruiting youngsters still in school and then dropping them in a year or two when they should be encouraging them to get an education," Gilbert added.

ABA Commissioner Robert Carlson said two franchises will be added to the league next year. Los Angeles, Chicago, Honolulu and Jersey Meadows are among cities under consideration, he said.

He also said the proposed sale of the Denver franchise to a group headed by San Diego businessman Frank Goldberg had been tentatively approved. Carlson said the club would remain in Denver if sold.

Basketball: St. Vincent Victorious

St. Vincent High School of Petaluma overcame an early nine-point Geyserville lead in the fourth quarter last night to take a 59-52 non-league basketball victory over the visiting Broncos.

The win upped the Mustang's record to 5-2.

Without three of its regular starters, St. Vincent fell behind 11-2 at 4:40 of the first quarter. Then Mustang coach Ed Major put in Dan Tocchini, who did not start due to an ulcer, and Jim Leoni. From that point on, St. Vincent controlled the backboards and chipped away at the Bronco lead.

The Mustangs took over the lead at 44-42 with over seven minutes to play behind the scoring and rebounding of Tocchini and Leoni and the passing of Chris Dawson.

Tocchin was the game's top scorer with 21 points, with most of them coming on muscle plays underneath the basket.

Geyserville 16 14 12 10 — 52
St. Vincent 9 14 17 19 — 59
Geyserville — S. Franco 5-4-14, J. Franco 5-0-10, Duffield 3-1-7, Chairez 7-3-17, Deleon 1-0-2, Faber 1-0-2. Totals: 22-8-52.
St. Vincent — Tocchini 10-1-21, Dawson 5-2-12, Leoni 7-2-16, Murphy 4-2-10, McMahon 0-1-1. Totals: 26-16-59.

Twins Batting Star

MINNEAPOLIS-St. Paul (UPI) —Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins has won three American League batting titles.

Warriors Visit Detroit Tonight

DETROIT (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors call on Detroit tonight and at least one member of the team wishes big Clyde Lee was in there to help out.

The Warriors are only 2-3 since Lee sprained his right arch Nov. 28 and the mustachioed guard Jim Barnett has scored only 35 points in the five games.

"I'm trying as hard as I ever have," says Barnett, "but nothing is going right. I know I miss Clyde — without him we can't be sure of the rebound, so I can't get down the court on the break. When I'm playing well, he's as responsible as I am."

The Warriors starting guard spot opposite Jeff Mullins now seems wide open with Barnett, Fritz Williams, Mahdi Abdul Rahman and Charlie Johnson all having a shot at it.

Mullins and Nate Thurmond, who had permission to visit family Monday in Kentucky and Ohio respectively, missed the practice Tuesday and were fined. They were snowed in and couldn't get to Detroit.

Coach Al Attles held a team meeting Saturday and thought that might have helped. He said he felt that perhaps now that Rick Barry is back "a lot of guys feel he'll do it all."

He said the Warriors, 5-6 for their last four weeks of National Basketball Association play can expect more help from guard Mahdi Abdul-Rahman as he becomes adjusted to the team and from rookie Charlie Johnson as he gains experience.

Bicyclist Violators Will Get Citations

San Rafael police on Friday will start citing bicycle riders who are violating traffic laws, Police Chief Joseph J. Brusatori has announced.

"The holiday season is one of the worst times of the year for bicycle accidents," the chief said. He explained that many children get bicycles for presents and their parents turn them loose on them without any instruction.

"Bicycles are required to obey the same traffic laws as automobiles, going with the traffic, stopping at stop signs and red lights," he said.

Children under 14 who violate the traffic laws will be cited to their parents. Those 15 to 18 will go to juvenile traffic court and those over 18 will be cited to traffic court, he said.

Officer Scott E. Nelson on rounds of the city schools has talked to more than 6,000 students on bicycle safety and giving them a 50-question test on bicycle safety.

"Oddly enough, the students do better on the quiz than the adults who have taken it," Nelson said.

Little Can Stop Lightning Bolt

NEW YORK (UPI) —You've heard: stay away from open doors and windows in an electric storm? Well, the National Safety Council magazine, Family Safety, carries a report saying it really doesn't make any difference.

"Lightning can enter a building whether the window or door is open, closed or nonexistent," according to the report. "A bolt, flashing a half mile or so through highly resistant air, isn't likely to have its path altered by a window pane or wall."

MAILROOM BUSTLE — Employees of the San Rafael postal sectional center on Bellam Boulevard sort letters and shuffle parcels amid the humming of electric mail processing machines which handle up to 36,000 letters per hour. Employees, who process several million more pieces of mail than usual each week during the holiday season, are taking the Christmas rush in stride.

Christmas Mail Load Is Taken In Stride

One of the busiest places in the county this holiday season is the San Rafael postal sectional center on Bellam Boulevard, through which 4,000,000 letters and 110,000 parcels have flowed in the last week.

The mail-handling job is so mammoth that most of the city's 270 postal workers have been pressed into service 12 hours a day, seven days a week, for the next two weeks. Normally, employees work eight hours a day, five days a week and process about 2,300,000 letters and 75,000 parcels weekly.

And so far, everything's been running "as smooth as silk," according to Supt. of Mails Donald W. Baird, a 43-year-old career man whose job embraces incoming and outgoing mail in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

"Christmas is a mailman's headache ... it doubles the mail burden here," he said as his eyes darted about the expansive, bustling mail room cluttered with parcels and letters of every color, size and sort. "But we've got everything under control."

"In tones almost inaudible amid the humming of two electric mail processing machines which handle up to 36,000 letters per hour, Baird directed several of the Bellam station's 200 employees: "Put those packages here ... You don't need rubber fingers for that job ... We'll really be humming in an hour."

Employees hardly needed encouragement. Letters zipped by and parcels were tossed into waiting hoppers in an endless, rhythmic motion.

Baird, a 27-year veteran of the San Rafael postal system who began his career as a high school mail clerk, said the Bellam office is handling parcel post packages for the first time in 17 years. In the past, parcels have been handled through a post office annex station rented for the holiday season, he said. "But this year we just couldn't find an annex big enough."

The result is a flood of up to 20,000 parcels a day through the Bellam sectional center, he said. "And it's going to get worse before it gets better."

In addition to regular employees working double shifts for the next several weeks, 30 part-time clerks have been hired temporarily, he said.

Though the number of letters pouring into the Bellam station is expected to exceed last year's three-week holiday total of 15 million by about 6 per cent, the number of parcels is expected to be slightly less than the 400,000 mailed last Christmas season, he said. Baird said that the number of packages being mailed has dropped because of higher parcel postal rates.

The postman recommended that letters and packages destined for points within the continental United States be airmailed before Dec. 20 to insure Christmas delivery.

BRASS BEDS FROM OUT OF ANOTHER ERA

Many an American has memories of an old brass bed; sometimes fitted with a feather mattress, that used to grace the guest room of grandpa and grandma. And many yearn for just such a bed in their own home. To meet that demand, Jay Ring of San Rafael has been handcrafting brass beds that are exacting replicas of the antique originals. How he got into the craft and why he finds it so satisfying are part of a speical feature in this week's Independent-Journal Marin Magazine.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Knowledge Of Rope Is An Important Aid

A couple of times this past summer I saw a person on a dock pick up a line from a boat then hand it to someone else to tie it around a cleat, or a post, or a ring. It was obvious that they didn't want to appear conspicuous by not doing a workmanlike job.

And handing it to someone else was better than winding the rope around the cleat to look like a bird's nest.

It seems that many people think there is a great mystery to knots and the handling of ropes around a boat. Many believe that it's necessary to take some kind of a course in knot-tying before one dare handle the lines.

Actually it's possible to get by quite adequately in boating with really knowing only one knot — the bowline. It will suffice in almost every situation where a rope has to be fastened to some object.

That there is a grey area of knowledge on ropes and knots is shown by some of the questions I have been asked:

Q. Is a splice stronger than a knot in joining two ropes?

A. Very much stronger. A knot seldom attains a breaking strength of 65 percent of the original, but a splice can be 90 per cent as strong as the unbroken rope.

Q. When is a "rope" a "line?"

A. In the roll, as you buy it from a store, it's called rope. But once you put a piece of rope to work in a specific job on a boat it becomes a line — such as mooring line, anchor line, heaving line. Or it might become a sheet or a halliard on a sailboat. A boatman seldom uses the word rope when he means a specific line. But the word rope is retained in some terminology — bell rope, bolt rope, etc.

Q. I have a rope advertised as being made from sisal. What is it? It it any good?

A. Sisal rope is made from a fiber grown in South America and Mexico. It is not as good as manila, grown in the East Indies. Manila will stand more wear and abuse than any other natural fiber. Other fibers used in rope are hemp, jute, cotton and linen. Synthetic fibers are: nylon, dacron, polyethylene and polypropylene. The last two float.

Q. How can mildew harm rope?

A. It doesn't damage ropes made of artificial fibers. That's why they are so popular. They can be stored wet. Mildew is a fungus which feeds on natural fiber ropes and destroys the fibers. Mildew thrives under warm, wet conditions.

Q. What exactly is a heaving line?

A. This is a very light rope carried on bigger boats such as cruisers and yachts which may be tossed or "heaved" to someone on the dockside, and then used to haul a heavier mooring line ashore to tie up the boat. The light rope used for towing water skiers makes an excellent heaving line.

Q. I notice water ski tow rope is braided, not laid in twists like ordinary rope. Why?

A. It resists kinking despite being repeatedly coiled. Braiding gives it a greater springiness also.

Q. I towed a friend's boat and yanked off all his expensive deck hardware. Is there an easy way?

A. Yes there is. Pass the towing line completely around the hull of the boat to be towed. The line may be supported, so that it won't slip off by short lengths of rope tied to cleats or deck stanchions. Towing will reveal just how fragile some boats really are.

Eight New Names For Hall List

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight new names — six of them pitchers — showed up on ballots for election to baseball's Hall of Fame which were mailed Tuesday.

The new eligibles include Warren Spahn, winningest left-hander in major league history, Whitey Ford, Robin Roberts, Vern Law, Lou Burdette, Curt Simmons, Smokey Burgess and Dick Groat. Burgess, a catcher and pinch hitting star, and shortstop Groat are the only non-pitchers added to this year's list of eligibles.

The eight new names were added by a screening committee of baseball writers who sifted through all of the players who became eligible for election this year to pare the list down. To be eligible, a player must have performed for 10 seasons in the majors and have been retired for five years.

Election is in the hands of some 450 or so veteran members of the Baseball Writers Association of America. A player must be named on 75 per cent of the ballots in order to be elected.

Gymnastics Meet: Two Girls Star

Trish McLean of Vallecito Junior High and Susan Barnard and Kahea Bright of Mill Valley Middle School were the all-around winners yesterday in the Marin County Junior High-Middle School Compulsory Gymnastic Meet at Miller Creek School in Marinwood.

Trish won in Novice Division, Susan in Beginner and Kahea in Intermediate in scores combining balance beam, floor exercise, vaulting and uneven parallel bars. Five girls in each event qualified for a Feb. 3 Northern California meet.

Miss Bright was first in floor exercise, balance beam and parallel bars, and second to Kathy Tanem of Santa Venetia school in vaulting, highlighting the Intermediate Division.

First place winners in Novice Division were Miss McLean in parallel bars, Colleen Keating of Vallecito Junior High in vaulting, Jocelyn Shiro of Mill Valley in floor exercise and Cheri Cotti of Kent in balance beam.

Winning first in Beginners were Anita Lekven of Mill Valley in parallel bars and vaulting and Stevanie Voorsanger of Kent in floor exercise. Tami Wallace, Miss Voorsanger and Miss Barnard tied for first in balance beam.

Spurrier's Role In 49ers' Plans

By ERIC PREWITT

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pro football's Super Bowl is a month away, and if the longshot San Francisco 49ers get there it is a good bet Steve Spurrier will be the starting quarterback.

"But I know I wouldn't be playing if John Brodie hadn't hurt his ankle," the former quarterback-in-waiting said after Tuesday's practice. "I'm only here through circumstance."

Brodie is back in uniform but has watched from the sidelines in the two games since his return.

The 37-year-old veteran, third leading passer in National Football League history, may even rank behind Spurrier when 1973 training camp opens.

"Let's wait until next year to think about that," says coach Dick Nolan. "We're not through this year yet."

The 49ers, with Spurrier scheduled to make his ninth straight start, play the Minnesota Vikings here Saturday. A tie or victory will give them the National Football Conference West title.

Since Spurrier took over, the team is 5-2-1. The 27-year-old Heisman Trophy winner from Florida leads the NFC in touchdown passes, with 18, and has thrown for 1,907 yards.

"The yardage doesn't mean much, though," he says. "You'll always see some quarterbacks for losing teams with lots of yards. They're behind so much that they have to throw a lot.

"I threw 46 times against Los Angeles a week ago and we lost. I threw 18 times against Atlanta Sunday and we won."

In Sunday's 20-0 victory over the Falcons, the 49ers took advantage of their running attack, which was effective for one of the few times this season.

"It's great to have the running threat," says Spurrier. "The best thing about it is that it cuts down the other team's pass rush."

Canoe Winners

Larry Busby of the Marin Canoe Club took two victories in the Red Cross Canoe Races Saturday on Oakland's Lake Merritt. Other Marin club winners were Peggy Ford, Lowell Dwyer and Dean Ferrandini. Second place finishes were recorded by Cheryl Andrews, Pete Sweeney, Ferrandini, Dwyer, and Busby. Third place marks were taken by Annette Busby, Sweeney, Peggy Ford, and Larry Busby.

BEFORE '1776' OPENING

Women To Serve Tasty Appetizers

Members of the Marin Association for Mental Health Auxiliary will serve hors d'oeuvres in the lobby of the Northgate Theater prior to next Wednesday night's opening of the film "1776."

In keeping with Revolutionary War era, the women will serve some appetizers of the time.

Plum pudding from a recipe developed by Dr. J. Fred Walker Jr. of Corte Madera, whose wife, Joanne, is an auxiliary member, will be served, as will Mrs. Lawrence Guadagni's brandy cream cheese balls.

DR. FRED'S PLUM PUDDING

3 cups suet, minced
1 cup seedless Malaga raisins
1 cup seedless sultana raisins
1¼ cup currants
4 oz. candied citron
4 oz. candied orange peel
1 cup blanched almonds
½ cup pitted prunes
1½ cups brown sugar
1 orange, grated rind and juice
1 lemon, grated rind and juice
2 cups peeled and grated cooking apples
5½ cups fresh breadcrumbs
2 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon cinnamon
½ tablespoon mace
1 tablespoon ground cloves and nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup rum
4 eggs, beaten
Beer

Remove all skin and fiber from the suet. Sprinkle it with one-third of the flour and chop finely. Remove pits from prunes and chop. Peel and grate apples. Dice the citron and candied orange peel. Chop blanched almonds. Grate orange and lemon peel., strain juice.

Mix all and stir in a large bowl until smooth, then add rum. Cover bowl with cloth and keep in a cool place. For the next two weeks stir mixture daily, adding a few tablespoons of rum or cognac each time.

On the last day, stir in the eggs until smooth. If mixture is too thick and difficult to stir, soften with a few tablespoons of beer or ale.

Fill three-fourths full, basins greased with butter and sprinkled with flour with heavy muslin cloth tied over the top.

Place bowl on a rock in a kettle of boiling water. Boil for six hours.

HARD SAUCE
Pour over Plum Pudding

½ cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla or Kirsch
2 cups sifted powdered sugar
1 egg, separated

Cream butter and vanilla. Gradually add powdered sugar and continue to cream until fluffy. Beat in egg yolk. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white.

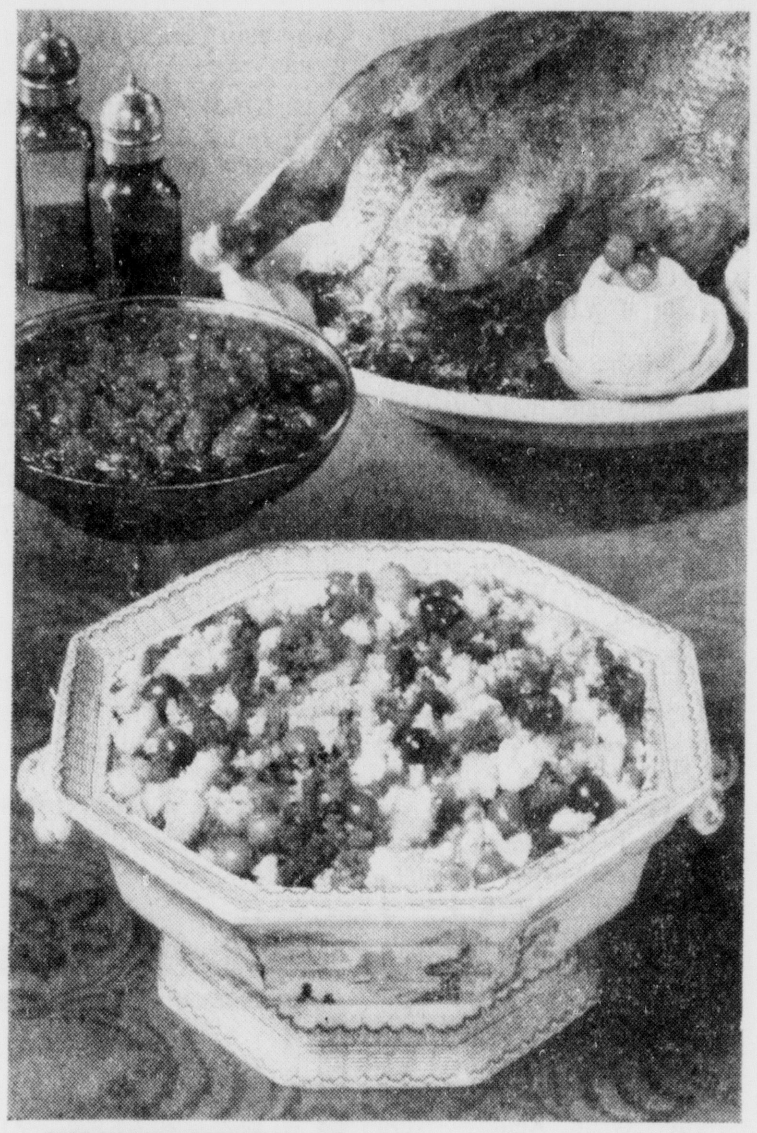
BRANDIED CREAM CHEESE BALLS

3 8-ounce packages cream cheese
1¼ cups brown sugar
¼ cup walnuts
Brandy flavor or extract to taste

Soften cream cheese. Blend in brown sugar. Whip well. Put walnuts in blender, and chop well. Add brandy extract. Whip all ingredients well. Make into balls. Refrigerate until ready to use.

Exotic Yogurt

Exotic yogurt varieties are normal at the University of Chicago's Nonesuch Coffee Shop. Manager Gary Engle notes that strawberry and raspberry flavors outsell such variations as Chinese yogurt with bean curd, salmon-supreme, Italian beef and chicken-fat ripple yogurt.



HOLIDAY SAUSAGE and cranberry stuffing may be the answer to a different stuffing to serve with roast goose or any holiday bird.

Stuff Your Holiday Bird With This Tasty Stuffing

If you are looking for a different and delicious stuffing to serve with roast goose or any holiday bird, try this Cranberry Sausage Stuffing. Made with sausage, corn muffins and cranberries, it is practically a meal in itself. You may want to serve any leftovers with gravy-for lunch or supper after the holiday feast.

Fruitcake A Splendid Thing

The American fruitcake is a many splendored thing; variations and methods would astound the British whose taste traditionally is limited to the dark fruitcake.

Though different, each is aromatic with spices and deliciously flavored with sweetened fruit. The type of fruitcake one favors is a personal affair, subject to taste fancy, time needed for preparation, and purpose, be it for gifting, entertaining or family nibbling.

KITCHEN TIPS FOR FRUITCAKES

Grease pan for a large cake, then line with cooking parchment or greased heavy brown paper to keep crust from becoming too dark and heavy. Non-stick pans can also be lined. Pans for smaller or muffin size cakes need greasing only.

Position cake below center of oven and regardless of shape and size, be watchful of oven time.

A shallow pan of hot water on lowest oven shelf keeps cake moist and crust lighter during baking.

Cake is done when center remains firm or springs back while pressed lightly with fingertip. Toothpick test is not always accurate for fruits stick to the toothpick even though batter is cooked.

Trim with additional candied fruit and California walnut halves dipped in corn syrup for hold and shine. Seal in foil or plastic wrap, shaping to keep out air and moisture.

Aging fruitcake makes for neater cut slices, melds all the delicate flavors and gives the fruits time to impart their moisture into the batter. Storage depends on type: a rich-in-fruit cake should be aged for a month or more whereas a quick fruitcake is better after 48 hours.

SPICY WALNUT FRUITCAKE

1 cup walnuts
1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup pitted dates
⅔ cup currants
½ cup sliced dried apricots
½ cup halved candied cherries
¼ cup chopped candied orange peel
¼ cup chopped candied lemon peel
⅓ cup butter or margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon mace
¼ teaspoon ginger
2 large eggs, beaten
⅛ teaspoon soda
¼ cup golden molasses
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour

Coarsely chop walnuts, raisins and dates; rinse and drain currants. Combine well with remaining fruits and peels. Cream butter, sugar, salt and spices until fluffy. Beat in eggs. Add soda, molasses and flour; mix to moderately stiff batter. Combine with walnut-fruit mixture. Pack batter into six-cup mold or pan. Bake at 275 degree F. about two and one half hours until cake tests done. Cool, then remove from pan; wrap in foil and store in a cool place. Makes one cake. Batter measures about five and one half cups and weighs about two pounds, 10 ounces.

(Cake can be baked in any pan or mold (fill three-fourths full); may be eaten after 48 hours storing.)

WHITE FRUITCAKE

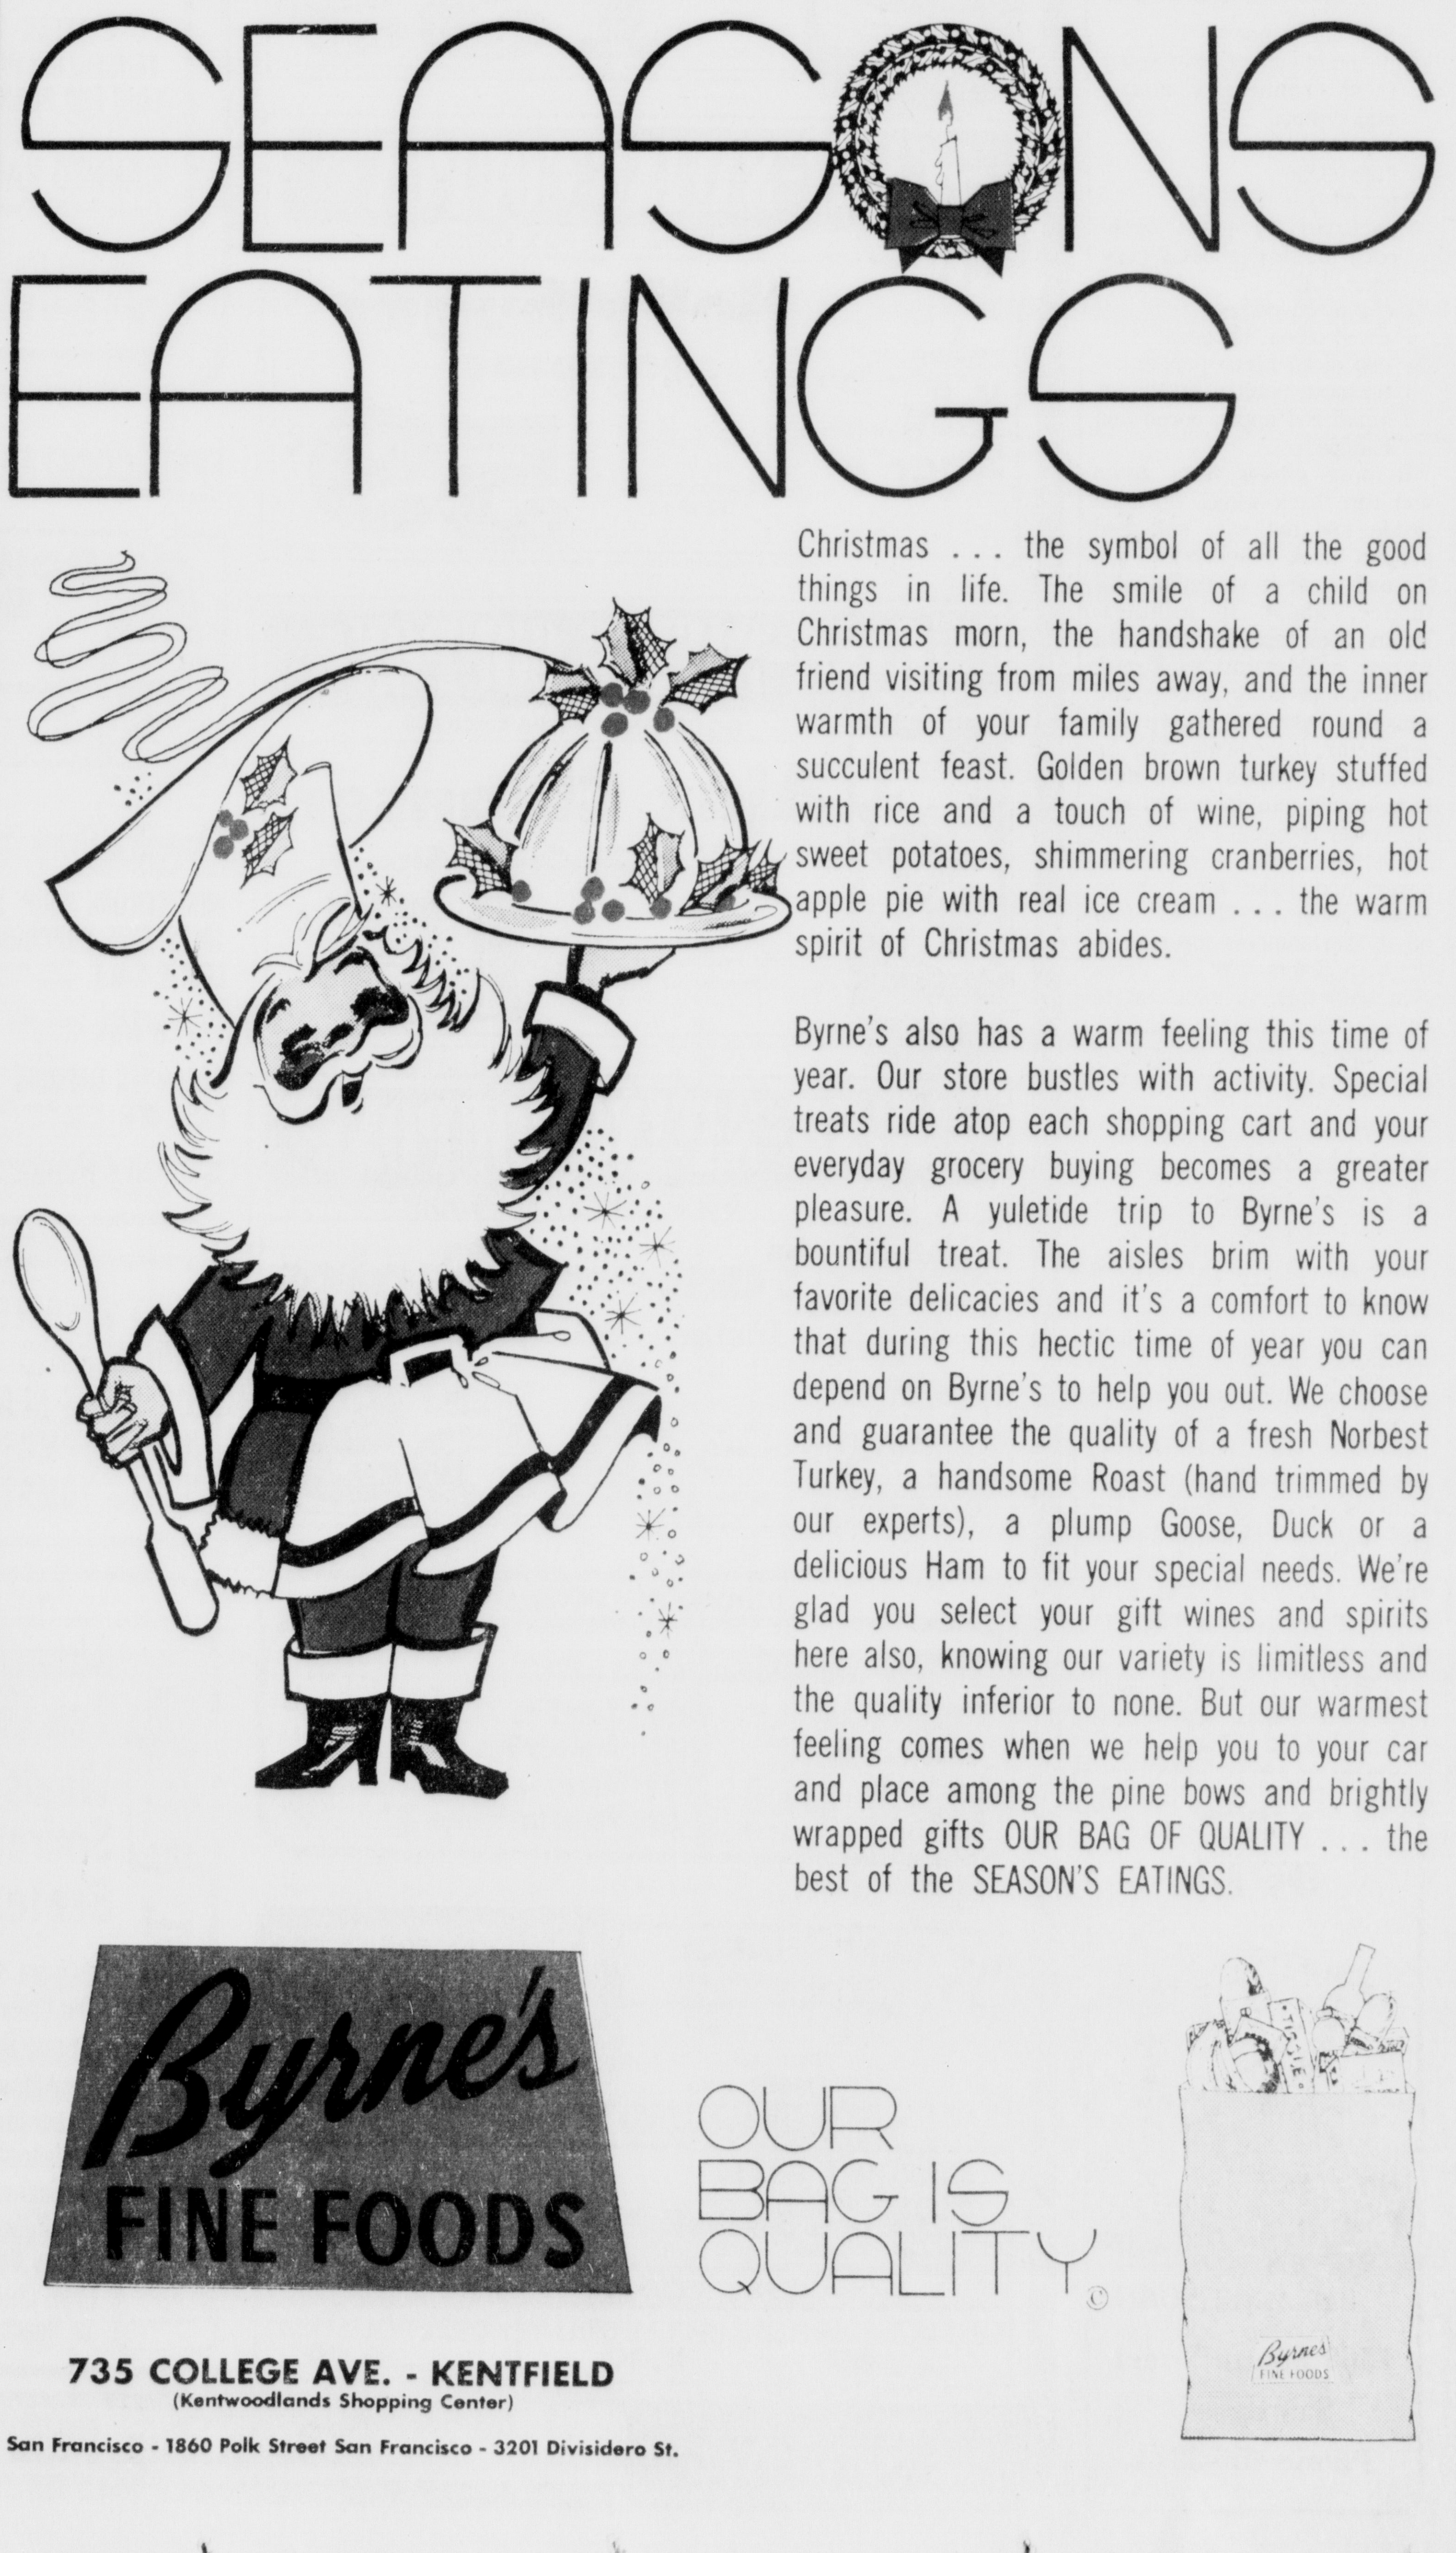
3 cups walnuts
2 cups golden raisins
1½ cups candied cherries, halved
1½ cups sliced candied pineapple
1 cup coarsely chopped citron
1 cup coarsely chopped candied orange peel
¼ cup brandy or orange juice
¼ cup sherry or pineapple juice
1½ cups butter or margarine
2 cups granulated sugar
1½ teaspoons vanilla
6 eggs
4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cup milk

Coarsely chop walnuts; set aside. Chop raisins; combine with remaining fruits and peels. Add brandy and sherry; mix well. Let stand covered three to four hours or overnight. Cream butter. Gradually beat in sugar until fluffy. Add vanilla. Beat in eggs, one at a time, until well blended. Resift flour with salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Combine batter with fruit mixture and walnuts. Pack batter in tube or loaf pans (filling two-thirds full) greased and lined with parchment or heavy brown paper. Bake at 275 degree F. about two and one half hours, until cake tests done. Cool, then remove from pan; brush with brandy or sherry, wrap in foil and store. Makes two loaves. Batter measures about 12 cups and weighs about three pounds, 10 ounces.

RICH FRUITCAKE

3 cups walnuts
2 cups coarsely chopped mixed candied fruits and peels
3 cups seedless raisins
1 cup candied cherries
1 cup currants
½ cups bourbon or orange juice
1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar, packed
6 eggs
½ ounce unsweetened chocolate, melted
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon soda
¾ teaspoon salt

Chop walnuts coarsely; set aside. Chop mixed fruits, peels and raisins; halve cherries. Rinse and drain currants. Combine fruits well with bourbon. Let stand covered three or four hours or overnight. Cream butter. Beat in sugar until fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time, until well blended. Stir in melted chocolate. (Batter may appear curdled, but this is normal.) Combine with fruits and wlanuts. Resift flour with spices, soda and salt. Stir into fruit mixture until well blended. Pack batter into greased and paper lined two and three-fourths-quart tube pan. Bake about 300 degrees F. about two hours 20 minutes, until cake tests done. Cool, then remove from pan; wrap in foil and store in a cool place. Makes one large cake. Batter measures about 10 cups and weighs about three pounds.



SEASONS EATINGS

Christmas . . . the symbol of all the good things in life. The smile of a child on Christmas morn, the handshake of an old friend visiting from miles away, and the inner warmth of your family gathered round a succulent feast. Bicyclist Violators Will Get Citations

San Rafael police on Friday will start citing bicycle riders who are violating traffic laws, Police Chief Joseph J. Brusatori has announced.

"The holiday season is one of the worst times of the year for bicycle accidents," the chief said. He explained that many children get bicycles for presents and their parents turn them loose on them without any instruction.

"Bicycles are required to obey the same traffic laws as automobiles, going with the traffic, stopping at stop signs and red lights," he said.

Children under 14 who violate the traffic laws will be cited to their parents. Those 15 to 18 will go to juvenile traffic court and those over 18 will be cited to traffic court, he said.

Officer Scott E. Nelson on rounds of the city schools has talked to more than 6,000 students on bicycle safety and giving them a 50-question test on bicycle safety.

"Oddly enough, the students do better on the quiz than the adults who have taken it," Nelson said.

Little Can Stop Lightning Bolt

NEW YORK (UPI) —You've heard: stay away from open doors and windows in an electric storm? Well, the National Safety Council magazine, Family Safety, carries a report saying it really doesn't make any difference.

"Lightning can enter a building whether the window or door is open, closed or nonexistent," according to the report. "A bolt, flashing a half mile or so through highly resistant air, isn't likely to have its path altered by a window pane or wall."

MAILROOM BUSTLE — Employees of the San Rafael postal sectional center on Bellam Boulevard sort letters and shuffle parcels amid the humming of electric mail processing machines which handle up to 36,000 letters per hour. Employees, who process several million more pieces of mail than usual each week during the holiday season, are taking the Christmas rush in stride.

Christmas Mail Load Is Taken In Stride

One of the busiest places in the county this holiday season is the San Rafael postal sectional center on Bellam Boulevard, through which 4,000,000 letters and 110,000 parcels have flowed in the last week.

The mail-handling job is so mammoth that most of the city's 270 postal workers have been pressed into service 12 hours a day, seven days a week, for the next two weeks. Normally, employees work eight hours a day, five days a week and process about 2,300,000 letters and 75,000 parcels weekly.

And so far, everything's been running "as smooth as silk," according to Supt. of Mails Donald W. Baird, a 43-year-old career man whose job embraces incoming and outgoing mail in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

"Christmas is a mailman's headache . . . it doubles the mail burden here," he said as his eyes darted about the expansive, bustling mail room cluttered with parcels and letters of every color, size and sort. "But we've got everything under control."

"In tones almost inaudible amid the humming of two electric mail processing machines which handle up to 36,000 letters per hour, Baird directed several of the Bellam station's 200 employees: "Put those packages here . . . You don't need rubber fingers for that job . . . We'll really be humming in an hour."

Employees hardly needed encouragement. Letters zipped by and parcels were tossed into waiting hoppers in an endless, rhythmic motion.

Baird, a 27-year veteran of the San Rafael postal system who began his career as a high school mail clerk, said the Bellam office is handling parcel post packages for the first time in 17 years. In the past, parcels have been handled through a post office annex station rented for the holiday season, he said. "But this year we just couldn't find an annex big enough."

The result is a flood of up to 20,000 parcels a day through the Bellam sectional center, he said. "And it's going to get worse before it gets better."

In addition to regular employees working double shifts for the next several weeks, 30 part-time clerks have been hired temporarily, he said.

Though the number of letters pouring into the Bellam station is expected to exceed last year's three-week holiday total of 15 million by about 6 per cent, the number of parcels is expected to be slightly less than the 400,000 mailed last Christmas season, he said. Baird said that the number of packages being mailed has dropped because of higher parcel postal rates.

The postman recommended that letters and packages destined for points within the continental United States be airmailed before Dec. 20 to insure Christmas delivery.

BRASS BEDS FROM OUT OF ANOTHER ERA

Many an American has memories of an old brass bed; sometimes fitted with a feather mattress, that used to grace the guest room of grandpa and grandma. And many yearn for just such a bed in their own home. To meet that demand, Jay Ring of San Rafael has been handcrafting brass beds that are exacting replicas of the antique originals. How he got into the craft and why he finds it so satisfying are part of a speical feature in this week's Independent-Journal Marin Magazine.

Alternative To Turkey Is Burnt Sugar Duck

During this era of nostalgia, many of us will be celebrating the holidays with turn-of-the-century dinners. Fortunately, modern technology has made it so much easier for us.

A brace of ducks is available from the nearest supermarket; fresh roses from the florist; and the glow of candlelight is an inviting mood-setter rather than a lighting necessity.

Burnt sugar duck is the scene-setter for this traditional holiday meal. It's a delicious alternative to the usual turkey and takes less time to prepare.

The birds are stuffed with a fragrant mixture of apples and fresh California table grapes. The festive colors of the grapes now available make this fruity stuffing a bright mosaic of color when served next to steaming slices of duck.

GRAPE CLUSTERS also garnish the finished ducks. . . but with an extra-special touch. Caramelized sugar is poured over the grapes and birds just before serving.

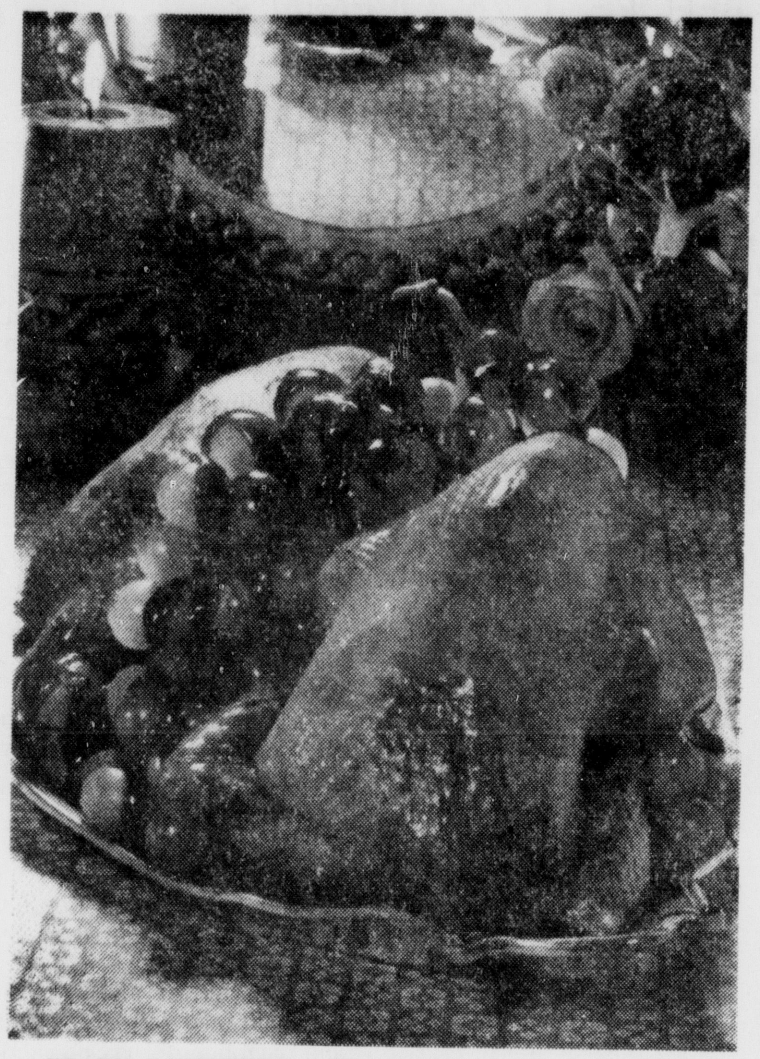
To caramelize sugar, melt sugar in a heavy skillet over medium heat. Cook, stirring constantly, until sugar forms an amber syrup. Remove from heat and pour over grapes and ducks.

Remember too, to set out bowls of grapes and other winter fruits and nuts for snacking. They're decorative and inviting and spread your holiday welcome throughout the house. After all, the best part of the holiday season is the joyous coming-together of friends.

BURNT SUGAR DUCK

2 small ducks or roasting chickens
1 medium sized apple, cut into cubes
2 cups halved and seeded California grapes
Salt and pepper
⅛ cup sugar
1 tablespoon salt
1 large cluster California grapes for garnish
1 cup sugar, caramelized

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Dry ducks with paper towels, inside and out. Combine apples and grapes; sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Stuff cavities and skewer or sew with thread. Rub sugar and salt into skin. Prick fattest parts of duck to allow excess fat to drain. Roast at 425 degrees for the first 20 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees. Allow 25 minutes per pound roasting time. Garnish with grapes. Pour caramelized sugar over duck and grapes just before serving.



GRAPE GARNISHED ducks glisten under a caramelized sugar coating for festive holiday entree.

STUFFING

Salt and pepper
1 pound (4 cups) Ocean Spray fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
1 cup water
1½ cups sugar
1 pound bulk sausage
3 packages (7 ounces each) corn muffins (about 9 cups crumbled)
1 cup diced celery
1 small onion, chopped
½ cup diced green pepper
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 small red apple, cored and chopped

Remove giblets from goose and turn back wings. Sprinkle inside and out with salt and pepper. Cook cranberries, water and sugar in saucepan until tender, about 10 minutes. Drain. Cook sausage meat until brown and crumbly. Break muffins into large pieces; add sausage meat, fat in pan and remaining ingredients. Stir in cooked cranberries. Pack mixture loosely into goose and sew or skewer opening. Put remaining stuffing into a casserole, cover and bake for 1 hour. Roast goose at 325° F. until meat thermometer inserted in thigh registers 190° F. Prick skin with fork to allow fat to escape. Allow goose to stand for 20 minutes before serving to make carving easier.

Notches Make A Great Snack

Cut two ounces natural cheddar cheese into 24 pieces, three-fourths of an inch square and one-eighth of an inch thick. Dice one mild chili pepper. Arrange 24 taco-flavored tortilla chips on baking sheet. Place one teaspoon refried beans or canned bean dip in center of each chip. Top beans with pieces of cheese and chili pepper.

Broil four inches from heat till cheese begins to melt, one to three minutes. Makes 24.

Persimmon Cookies

The following recipe was given this morning on the KTIM radio show, Kitchen Time in Marin.

PERSIMMON COOKIES

1 cup persimmon puree
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup (½ lb.) softened butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg room temperature
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 tablespoons brandy, or orange juice
3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ginger
¾ cup currants
½ cup finely chopped nuts

Note: If you have an electric mixer with "dough-hooks" they are excellent for beating and mixing cookie batter.

Mix persimmon puree and the soda together, set aside. (This combination will gel, and is characteristic.)

Cream butter and sugar together until light and fluffy. Beat in the egg, vanilla, brandy (or orange juice). Then beat in the persimmon mixture and blend thoroughly. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and spices. Gradually work into the creamed mixture. Fold in the currants and the chopped nuts. Drop dough by teaspoon two inches apart onto greased baking sheets. Bake in preheated 375 oven, 10-12 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Makes four to five dozen.

Refrigerate

Semi-dry sausages are cooked and partially dried in the smokehouse. Because they are softer than dry sausages and have a higher moisture content, they should be refrigerated, suggest food scientists.

BEFORE '1776' OPENING

Women To Serve Tasty Appetizers

Members, of the Marin Association for Mental Health Auxiliary will serve hors d'oeuvres in the lobby of the Northgate Theater prior to next Wednesday night's opening of the film "1776."

In keeping with Revolutionary War era, the women will serve some appetizers of the time.

Plum pudding from a recipe developed by Dr. J. Fred Walker Jr. of Corte Madera, whose wife, Joanne, is an auxiliary member, will be served, as will Mrs. Lawrence Guadagni's brandy cream cheese balls.

DR. FRED'S PLUM PUDDING

3 cups suet, minced
1 cup seedless Malaga raisins
1 cup seedless sultana raisins
1¼ cup currants
4 oz. candied citron
4 oz. candied orange peel
1 cup blanched almonds
½ cup pitted prunes
1½ cups brown sugar
1 orange, grated rind and juice
1 lemon, grated rind and juice
2 cups peeled and grated cooking apples
5½ cups fresh breadcrumbs
2 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon cinnamon
½ tablespoon mace
1 tablespoon ground cloves and nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup rum
4 eggs, beaten
Beer

Remove all skin and fiber from the suet. Sprinkle it with one-third of the flour and chop finely. Remove pits from prunes and chop. Peel and grate apples. Dice the citron and candied orange peel. Chop blanched almonds. Grate orange and lemon peel., strain juice.

Mix all and stir in a large bowl until smooth, then add rum. Cover bowl with cloth and keep in a cool place. For the next two weeks stir mixture daily, adding a few tablespoons of rum or cognac each time.

On the last day, stir in the eggs until smooth. If mixture is too thick and difficult to stir, soften with a few tablespoons of beer or ale.

Fill three-fourths full, basins greased with butter and sprinkled with flour with heavy muslin cloth tied over the top.

Place bowl on a rock in a kettle of boiling water. Boil for six hours.

HARD SAUCE
Pour over Plum Pudding

½ cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla or Kirsch
2 cups sifted powdered sugar
1 egg, separated

Cream butter and vanilla. Gradually add powdered sugar and continue to cream until fluffy. Beat in egg yolk. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white.

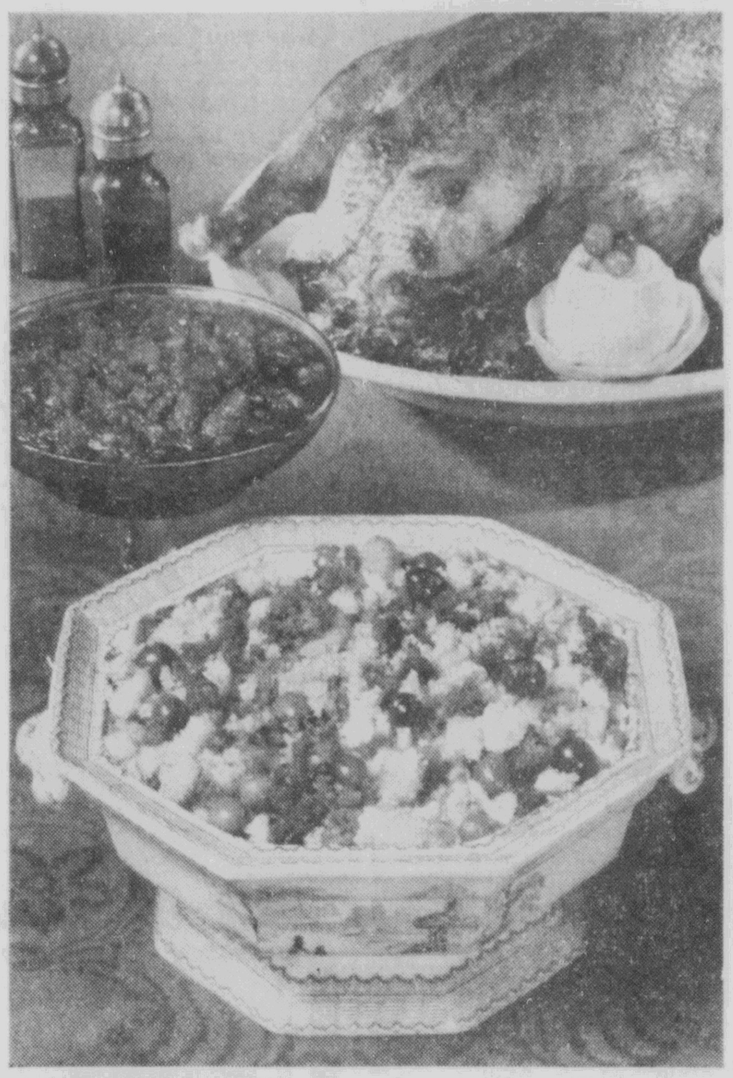
BRANDIED CREAM CHEESE BALLS

3 8-ounce packages cream cheese
1¼ cups brown sugar
¼ cup walnuts
Brandy flavor or extract to taste

Soften cream cheese. Blend in brown sugar. Whip well. Put walnuts in blender, and chop well. Add brandy extract. Whip all ingredients well. Make into balls. Refrigerate until ready to use.

Exotic Yogurt

Exotic yogurt varieties are normal at the University of Chicago's Nonesuch Coffee Shop. Manager Gary Engle notes that strawberry and raspberry flavors outsell such variations as Chinese yogurt with bean curd, salmon-supreme, Italian beef and chicken-fat ripple yogurt.



HOLIDAY SAUSAGE and cranberry stuffing may be the answer to a different stuffing to serve with roast goose or any holiday bird.

Stuff Your Holiday Bird With This Tasty Stuffing

If you are looking for a different and delicious stuffing to serve with roast goose or any holiday bird, try this Cranberry Sausage Stuffing. Made with sausage, corn muffins and cranberries, it is practically a meal in itself. You may want to serve any leftovers with gravy-for lunch or supper after the holiday feast.

ROAST GOOSE WITH CRANBERRY SAUSAGE STUFFING
(Makes 8 servings)

1 goose, oven ready, about 10 to 12 pounds

Fruitcake A Splendid Thing

The American fruitcake is a many splendored thing; variations and methods would astound the British whose taste traditionally is limited to the dark fruitcake.

Though different, each is aromatic with spices and deliciously flavored with sweetened fruit. The type of fruitcake one favors is a personal affair, subject to taste fancy, time needed for preparation, and purpose, be it for gifting, entertaining or family nibbling.

KITCHEN TIPS FOR FRUITCAKES

Grease pan for a large cake, then line with cooking parchment or greased heavy brown paper to keep crust from becoming too dark and heavy. Non-stick pans can also be lined. Pans for smaller or muffin size cakes need greasing only.

Position cake below center of oven and regardless of shape and size, be watchful of oven time.

A shallow pan of hot water on lowest oven shelf keeps cake moist and crust lighter during baking.

Cake is done when center remains firm or springs back while pressed lightly with fingertip. Toothpick test is not always accurate for fruits stick to the toothpick even though batter is cooked.

Trim with additional candied fruit and California walnut halves dipped in corn syrup for hold and shine. Seal in foil or plastic wrap, shaping to keep out air and moisture.

Aging fruitcake makes for neater cut slices, melds all the delicate flavors and gives the fruits time to impart their moisture into the batter. Storage depends on type: a rich-in-fruit cake should be aged for a month or more whereas a quick fruitcake is better after 48 hours.

SPICY WALNUT FRUITCAKE

1 cup walnuts
1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup pitted dates
⅔ cup currants
½ cup sliced dried apricots
½ cup halved candied cherries
¼ cup chopped candied orange peel
¼ cup chopped candied lemon peel
⅓ cup butter or margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon mace
¼ teaspoon ginger
2 large eggs, beaten
⅛ teaspoon soda
¼ cup golden molasses
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour

Coarsely chop walnuts, raisins and dates; rinse and drain currants. Combine well with remaining fruits and peels. Cream butter, sugar, salt and spices until fluffy. Beat in eggs. Add soda, molasses and flour; mix to moderately stiff batter. Combine with walnut-fruit mixture. Pack batter into six-cup mold or pan. Bake at 275 degree F. about two and one half hours until cake tests done. Cool, then remove from pan; wrap in foil and store in a cool place. Makes one cake. Batter measures about five and one half cups and weighs about two pounds, 10 ounces.

(Cake can be baked in any pan or mold (fill three-fourths full); may be eaten after 48 hours storing.)

WHITE FRUITCAKE

3 cups walnuts
2 cups golden raisins
1½ cups candied cherries, halved
1½ cups sliced candied pineapple
1 cup coarsely chopped citron
1 cup coarsely chopped candied orange peel
¼ cup brandy or orange juice
¼ cup sherry or pineapple juice
1½ cups butter or margarine
2 cups granulated sugar
1½ teaspoons vanilla
6 eggs
4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cup milk

Coarsely chop walnuts; set aside. Chop raisins; combine with remaining fruits and peels. Add brandy and sherry; mix well. Let stand covered three to four hours or overnight. Cream butter. Gradually beat in sugar until fluffy. Add vanilla. Beat in eggs, one at a time, until well blended. Resift flour with salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Combine batter with fruit mixture and walnuts. Pack batter in tube or loaf pans (filling two-thirds full) greased and lined with parchment or heavy brown paper. Bake at 275 degree F. about two and one half hours, until cake tests done. Cool, then remove from pan; brush with brandy or sherry, wrap in foil and store. Makes two loaves. Batter measures about 12 cups and weighs about three pounds, 10 ounces.

RICH FRUITCAKE

3 cups walnuts
2 cups coarsely chopped mixed candied fruits and peels
3 cups seedless raisins
1 cup candied cherries
1 cup currants
½ cups bourbon or orange juice
1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar, packed
6 eggs
½ ounce unsweetened chocolate, melted
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon soda
¾ teaspoon salt

Chop walnuts coarsely; set aside. Chop mixed fruits, peels and raisins; halve cherries. Rinse and drain currants. Combine fruits well with bourbon. Let stand covered three or four hours or overnight. Cream butter. Beat in sugar until fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time, until well blended. Stir in melted chocolate. (Batter may appear curdled, but this is normal.) Combine with fruits and wlanuts. Resift flour with spices, soda and salt. Stir into fruit mixture until well blended. Pack batter into greased and paper lined two and three-fourths-quart tube pan. Bake about 300 degrees F. about two hours 20 minutes, until cake tests done. Cool, then remove from pan; wrap in foil and store in a cool place. Makes one large cake. Batter measures about 10 cups and weighs about three pounds.

SEASONS EATINGS

Christmas . . . the symbol of all the good things in life. The smile of a child on Christmas morn, the handshake of an old friend visiting from miles away, and the inner warmth of your family gathered round a succulent feast. LIBERATED LIFE

Marin Visitor Bases Life On 'Lump Sum'

ACTRESS KATIE Drew-Wilkinson, who appeared in "Oh, Calcutta," finances her lifestyle of world travel by creating leather clothes. Visiting friends on Belvedere Lagoon, the Englishwoman advises anyone who would be a world traveler to learn to do an artcraft that they can sell en route.

By PAT BALMES

An unfettered life of world travel is Katie Drew-Wilkinson's style.

"I never have had a lump sum in the bank, but I am able to travel alone honestly on a legitimate ticket. I have the confidence to know that I can make money as I go along," said the actress and leather-garment maker.

Miss Drew-Wilkinson is the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mead of Belvedere Lagoon, whom she met in Lindos, Greece.

The Englishwoman first visited the United States in 1967 to act in the Hollywood movie, "The Killing of Sister George."

SHE NEXT performed in the original cast of the stage play, "Oh, Calcutta." That devastated her conservative parents, she said.

"I do not believe in stripping, but it was very much a spoof and against censorship," said the actress, who was chosen to be interviewed on televisin about the play.

Later she appeared in a Brooklyn dramatic production, "Cauldones Commissioner," a story in which a man's job depended upon the Vietnam War continuing. She played his wife, driven mad by the situation.

Her good acting reviews balanced her "Oh, Calcutta" notoriety, she believes.

"They asked me to take the play "Cauldones Commissioner" to Broadway but I could not go on going mad every night. And I had not seen a tree in over a year," she said.

She returned to Los Angeles where she sang at the Whiskey-A-Go-Go and lived at Malibu Beach until the 1971 earthquake "threw me out of bed" and she fled to a house on 200 acres in Sonoma, where she made leather jackets, shirts, vests and skirts.

ONE DAY she was lunching with a childhood friend at a Sausalito restaurant when a stranger stopped to ask about the leather garment she was wearing and bought it.

Her friend had invited Katie Drew-Wilkinson to visit her in Lindos, Greece, where she runs a non-profit weaving business to enable Greek girls to earn dowries. Since she had her "lump sum," she went to Greece.

There she met an American, Scott Deitz, who was on his way to Afghanistan.

"He is still on his way to Afghanistan before it goes too spoiled, but maybe there will be three of us going," said Miss Drew-Wilkinson whose baby, expected at Christmastime, will be named Star.

The couple is seeking a modest country house to rent until their baby is ready to travel to Greece next summer, she said.

"We want to rear the child in Greece where life is gentler, children seem happier and there is more time, away from American television, garbage food and dirty air," she said.

Later they would like to live in a French village, near a fashionable area for selling leather clothes. They want to teach their child three or four languages and train him to use his hands, she said.

"It's very satisfying to work with ones hands," said the artist as she showed how she cuts, laces and burns designs on leather garments.

ONE OF THE reasons she returned to the United States is the availability of the best garment leathers. She uses a Bedouin technique of lacing and burns in nature designs from sketchbook notes she keeps on her travels, she said.

Leather clothes are ideal for travelers because they don't need washing and one outfit suffices, she observed.

Pockets are sewn inside the garments so "a traveler could be rolled around, but they would never find your money."

She has traveled alone away from usual tourist routes.

"How are you going to know the Arab mentality unless you get off the main circuit? she said.

She advised would-be travelers to learn an artcraft so they can barter or sell it during their travels. She sells her leather clothes when people see her wearing them and ask about them.

"I sold a skirt for $500 right off my body in Carthage. My travels go garment-by-garment. Whenever I get a lump sum, I head for the airport," she said.

Her travels began at age 6 when her stepfather, a British army officer, took his family to Germany with the occupying army in 1946.

There her language fluency began. Her family also traveled to France in the summer.

"EVERY WELL brought-up English girl learns French; my mother had the principle of sending me abroad for the holidays," she said.

Whe she was 16 her parents took her to North Africa, where she helped archeologists.

"I have grown fastest where the Romans raged up and down the North African coast," she said.

Between ages 18 and 21 Miss Drew-Wilkinson studied at England's acting school, the Bristol Old Vic School. She received the "award in my bunch," the Sara Siddons Award.

Immediately afterward she left on several months' adventure to Malta and then returned to England on "a plastic catamaran" by asking the owners, "Can I come, too? I can cook." She discovered Italy when they put in at the islands.

Returning to England she worked as secretary to a commercial television station drama manager. Later she worked in the theater in props "to learn the theater from the back" and did odd bits of acting, including pantomime, which in England is heavy with tradition, dialogue and funny actors, she said.

HER SECOND trip to North Africa was with a photographer who took color pictures for the London Times Sunday supplement.

Later she was acting in England but not finding enough jobs when "Cleopatra" was being filmed in Italy. She traveled there to work in it and learn Italian. She stayed to work in low-budget Italian movies.

On a recent trip to North Africa, she traveled with an Arab man and woman who translated for her. There she met a family whose farm was a paradise because a stream ran through it and another who were starving because neighbors had cut off their access to water.

She told of desert Arabs who washed her hands by pouring water over them and onto the sand, in an area where no water seemed available.

She spoke of wild Arab youths who rode horses instead of motorcycles and carried two guns.

North Libyans have become wicked, she said, because of the oil in their land while their neighbors the Tunisians, whose economy is built on tourism, are good people.

Commenting on her life style, Katie Drew-Wilkinson said, "It is important to be able to support oneself to stay free of commitment to any contract so you can go where you want. I am allergic to contracts which takes it through to the fact that Scott and I are not legally married. You stay with a job or with a person because you love them."

BURNING A design from her travel sketchbook on leather with a French electric tool, Miss Drew-Wilkinson covers a vest with graceful ferns infested with ants, frogs, lizards and mushrooms "so whoever gets it will go on finding things." The United States is the best source of garment leather, she said.

ON THE AGENDA

Christmas Bake Sale Set At San Rafael's Presbyterian Church

A "Christmas Kitchen Concoctions and Bake Sale" will be held Friday and Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael as a benefit for the Carden Marin School. The sale will start at 3:30 p.m. the first day and 10 a.m. Saturday.

At 6:30 p.m. Friday a shoppers' supper of cheeses, homemade soup and breads will be served. Students will present a program, "Christmas in Six Eras" at 8 p.m.

SAN FRANCISCO Yacht Club will hold its membership Christmas party on Friday from 6 to 8 p.m. at the yacht club in Belvedere.

The cocktail party is sponsored by SFYC Women's Auxiliary, and husbands of board members will serve champagne.

Chairman Mrs. Alden Van Pelt, Mrs. Leonard James and auxiliary board members will decorate the dining room like a ski lodge.

A Scandinavian tradition will be part of San Francisco Yacht Club's Christmas party for members' small children, also sponsored by the women's auxiliary, on Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m. at the club.

A native of Denmark, chairman Mrs. Leonard James explained that on St. Lucia's Day a daughter wearing a long white gown and a candle crown serves coffee and freshly baked buns to her parents in bed, while the other children sing songs.

At the yacht club "Lucia bride" Meg Eldridge, daughter of the commodore, will lead a procession of white-gowned "Lucia girls" singing a Swedish song.

Also planned are a puppet show and Santa's arrival aboard the red-hulled sloop "Andale" to distribute gifts.

THE NOVATO Hostess Club members will attend the holiday dinner dance Friday at Rancho Nicasio. Mrs. Larry Monestier is chairman.

MEMBERS OF the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Wives Club will hold a Christmas punch party at the officers club tomorrow at 1:30 p.m.

The OWC Skylarks will present a holiday program. Hostesses for the party are wives of officers of Hamilton hospital group and the Western Reserve Region.

THE PACHECO School Parent-Teacher Association meeting will be held tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the school in Novato. A musical "Season's Greetings" program by students of the school will precede the meeting.

THE SIR Francis Drake Kennel Club will hold its Christmas party at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Marinwood Community Center.

Chairman of the party is Mrs. Eve Jorgensen.

"THE ISLAND of the Blue Dolphin," a children's classic film, will be shown at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Sequoia Theater in Mill Valley, as a benefit for the Beginning School.

The school is located in St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Marin City. Mrs. Henry Bourne of Mill Valley is chairman of the event.

AN INITIATION will be held at 7:30 p.m. tonight by the Mill Valley Bethel 119, International Order of Job's Daughters. The meeting will be held at the Mill Valley Masonic Temple.

Material From Jeans Now Paper

NEW YORK (UPI) — The material from the jeans you wear also may form the paper you write on.

The Cotton Fiber Paper Council says rag content paper is made from cotton scraps left from the manufacturers of a variety of items including U.S. mail bags and blue jeans.

New Slate Is Picked By Novato Hostess Club

Mrs. Gerald Gardner has been elected president of the Novato Hostess Club for 1973. Elected to serve with her are Mmes. Richard Cline, vice president; James Epp, recording secretary; Luis De Olazarra, corresponding secretary; and Raymond Szostak, treasurer.

Members of the club have voted to donate $300 to the Novato Unified School District for the use of the Sinaloa Junior High School reading clinic.

The money is to be used for the purchase of supplies and equipment, according to Mrs. Robert O. King, outgoing president of the club.

Quick Snack

Try broiled beans and bologna sandwiches. Toast bread on one side in broiler. Turn over and top with canned baked beans and one slice quartered bologna. Broil until bubbly, three to five minutes.

An Ideal Holiday Gift For Hostess

Put a sprig of holly or dried flowers in a wine glass or a brandy snifter or a small pitcher ready to use as a centerpiece and take it to a hostess.

Another centerpiece gift is a lettuce basket or colander filled with fruit or nuts.

Men's Turn To Take The Plunge

Now it's the men's turn to take the plunge. Sporran Sportswear is cutting a deep V front in an all-cotton knit vest.

It's designed for beachwear or as a vest to wear over other garments. The V is sleeveless and ends at the waistband in a close fit, like a cummerbund.

A Practical Gift

You've probably thought of giving your mother or favorite aunt a new hairdo or makeover. But this year you could also consider giving a man who's proud of his hair a session with a stylist.

Alternative To Turkey Is Burnt Sugar Duck

During this era of nostalgia, many of us will be celebrating the holidays with turn-of-the-century dinners. Fortunately, modern technology has made it so much easier for us.

A brace of ducks is available from the nearest supermarket; fresh roses from the florist; and the glow of candlelight is an inviting mood-setter rather than a lighting necessity.

Burnt sugar duck is the scene-setter for this traditional holiday meal. It's a delicious alternative to the usual turkey and takes less time to prepare.

The birds are stuffed with a fragrant mixture of apples and fresh California table grapes. The festive colors of the grapes now available make this fruity stuffing a bright mosaic of color when served next to steaming slices of duck.

GRAPE CLUSTERS also garnish the finished ducks. . . but with an extra-special touch. Caramelized sugar is poured over the grapes and birds just before serving.

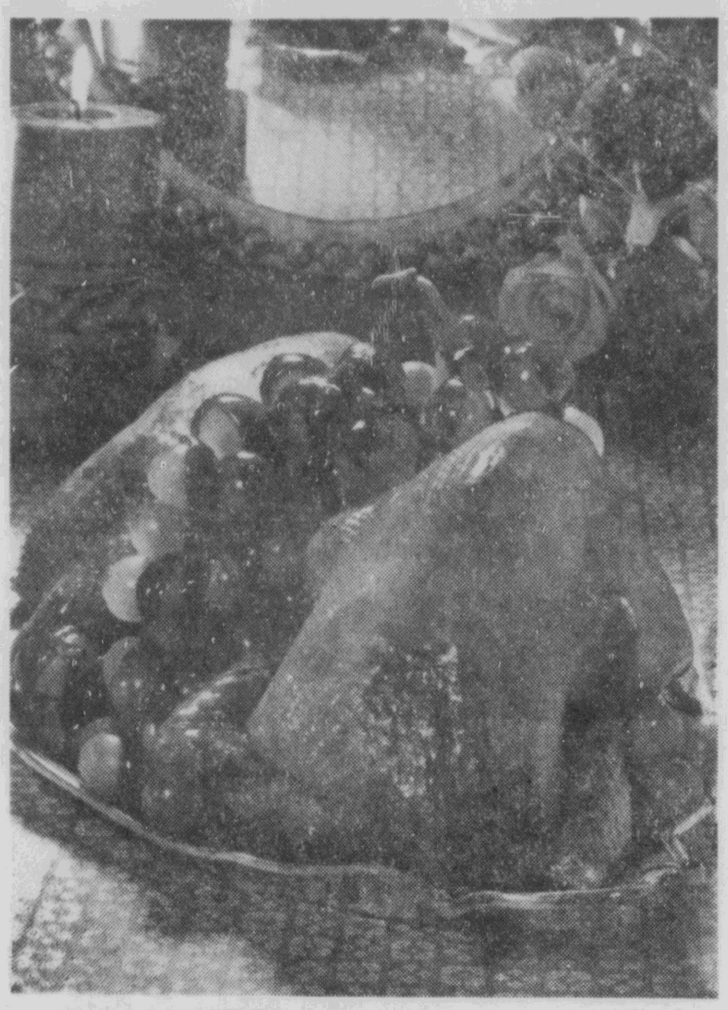
To caramelize sugar, melt sugar in a heavy skillet over medium heat. Cook, stirring constantly, until sugar forms an amber syrup. Remove from heat and pour over grapes and ducks.

Remember too, to set out bowls of grapes and other winter fruits and nuts for snacking. They're decorative and inviting and spread your holiday welcome throughout the house. After all, the best part of the holiday season is the joyous coming-together of friends.

BURNT SUGAR DUCK

2 small ducks or roasting chickens
1 medium sized apple, cut into cubes
2 cups halved and seeded California grapes
Salt and pepper
⅛ cup sugar
1 tablespoon salt
1 large cluster California grapes for garnish
1 cup sugar, caramelized

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Dry ducks with paper towels, inside and out. Combine apples and grapes; sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Stuff cavities and skewer or sew with thread. Rub sugar and salt into skin. Prick fattest parts of duck to allow excess fat to drain. Roast at 425 degrees for the first 20 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees. Allow 25 minutes per pound roasting time. Garnish with grapes. Pour caramelized sugar over duck and grapes just before serving.



GRAPE GARNISHED ducks glisten under a caramelized sugar coating for festive holiday entree.

Salt and pepper
1 pound (4 cups) Ocean Spray fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
1 cup water
1½ cups sugar
1 pound bulk sausage
3 packages (7 ounces each) corn muffins (about 9 cups crumbled)
1 cup diced celery
1 small onion, chopped
½ cup diced green pepper
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 small red apple, cored and chopped

Remove giblets from goose and turn back wings. Sprinkle inside and out with salt and pepper. Cook cranberries, water and sugar in saucepan until tender, about 10 minutes. Drain. Cook sausage meat until brown and crumbly. Break muffins into large pieces; add sausage meat, fat in pan and remaining ingredients. Stir in cooked cranberries. Pack mixture loosely into goose and sew or skewer opening. Put remaining stuffing into a casserole, cover and bake for 1 hour. Roast goose at 325° F. until meat thermometer inserted in thigh registers 190° F. Prick skin with fork to allow fat to escape. Allow goose to stand for 20 minutes before serving to make carving easier.

Notches Make A Great Snack

Cut two ounces natural cheddar cheese into 24 pieces, three-fourths of an inch square and one-eighth of an inch thick. Dice one mild chili pepper. Arrange 24 taco-flavored tortilla chips on baking sheet. Place one teaspoon refried beans or canned bean dip in center of each chip. Top beans with pieces of cheese and chili pepper.

Broil four inches from heat till cheese begins to melt, one to three minutes. Makes 24.

Persimmon Cookies

The following recipe was given this morning on the KTIM radio show, Kitchen Time in Marin.

PERSIMMON COOKIES

1 cup persimmon puree
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup (½ lb.) softened butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg room temperature
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 tablespoons brandy, or
or ange juice
3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ginger
¾ cup currants
½ cup finely chopped nuts

Note: If you have an electric mixer with "dough-hooks" they are excellent for beating and mixing cookie batter.

Mix persimmon puree and the soda together, set aside. (This combination will gel, and is characteristic.)

Cream butter and sugar together until light and fluffy. Beat in the egg, vanilla, brandy (or orange juice). Then beat in the persimmon mixture and blend thoroughly. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and spices. Gradually work into the creamed mixture. Fold in the currants and the chopped nuts. Drop dough by teaspoon two inches apart onto greased baking sheets. Bake in preheated 375 oven, 10-12 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Makes four to five dozen.

Refrigerate

Semi-dry sausages are cooked and partially dried in the smokehouse. Because they are softer than dry sausages and have a higher moisture content, they should be refrigerated, suggest food scientists.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

There's Several Ways For Your 'Husband' To Untangle His Mess

DEAR HELEN:

The man I think of as my husband is married to two other women. It goes like this:

His first marriage was a doomed teen-age thing that lasted six months. But they didn't get a divorce.

Shortly afterward, Sam met Cindy. He used his middle and last name on the license this time. They got into drugs and fought a lot, finally split up. Still no divorce.

Then I came along. Sam got straight, now has a good job and we've been living together as man and wife for almost two years. We have a baby son. Everything's great except I'd like to be legal. I have this nightmare about those two other wives showing up at once and each demanding their half.

It's been almost seven years since he last saw Wife No. 1, and four years since Wife No. 2 left. Isn't there a statute of limitations or something on old marriages? I mean like an automatic divorce? Can Sam be put in jail for bigamy? Both women have left town and we don't know where they are.

How can I get married without causing trouble for my "husband"? — NO NAME

DEAR NO:

There's no such thing as an "automatic divorce," but a lawyer can probably untangle this mess (though it won't be easy). You might even get lucky and discover that one or both women have already attended to legal matters with a Reno or Mexican "quickie." — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our shiftless son-in-law says the difference between his father and my husband (his wife's father) is that his dad had planned to retire, but will work a whole year longer to help "the children" pay their debts, children meaning a 28-year-old son and 26-year-old daughter-in-law who expect their parents to bail them out — constantly. In their five years of marriage, "Sonny" has quit ten jobs (or been fired), and still attends college but will never finish as he quits just before the finals, then starts fresh, on more of the old folks' funds.

He has brainwashed our daughter. She now says it's the parents' duty to satisfy their children's needs. She still feels grateful that he condescended to marry her after making her pregnant, and she's so fearful of losing him — being on her own — that she'll demand money from us whenever he says.

We furnished their house and helped with the down payment. Until recently I sent them a sizable check each month. When we finally called a halt, the comparisons between his parents' generosity and our stinginess started. They "show love," thus they see the grandchildren. We won't see them, so long as we "think only of ourselves." We aren't wealthy. We love our grandchildren, and our daughter, but buying their affection means an end to our retirement dream of leisurely travel.

Are we selfish? Is it really true that a parent's financial responsibility never ends? — MRS. B.G.

DEAR MRS. G.:

Of course you aren't selfish. A parent's financial responsibility ends when the child becomes a legal adult. You've kept your daughter a child far too long — and if you could only persuade her husband's parents likewise, these over-age juveniles might even yet grow up. — H.

Couple Will Reside In Castro Valley

MR. AND MRS. TIMOTHY K. CASSIDY
Married in San Rafael church

(Klepsch photo)

Rebecca Christine Shepherd of Hayward and Timothy Kevin Cassidy of San Rafael were married Dec. 3 at St. Vincent's Church in San Rafael. A reception at the Oakview Club of the Meadows in Terra Linda followed the ceremony.

Mrs. David C. Shepherd Jr. of Petaluma was matron of honor for her sister-in-law, and bridesmaids were Debbie Dunn of Chico and Donna McCusker of San Jose.

The bridegroom's brother Patrick Cassidy of San Jose was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by I. Ron Bresee and Tom Pillacelli, both of San Rafael.

Following a wedding trip to Carmel the couple will live in Castro Valley.

Rebecca and Timothy are both graduates of Terra Linda High School and both attended College of Marin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Shepherd of Hayward. She is the assistant manager of Stretch and Sew Fabrics in Hayward. Stephen C. Shepherd of Hayward is also her brother, and she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Holmquist of Sun City, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Cassidy of San Rafael are the bridegroom's parents, and Denis and Dan Cassidy, both of San Rafael, are also his brothers. He is employed by Western States Bankcard Assoc. in San Francisco. Timothy is the grandson of Mrs. K. J. LeFevre of Texas and Mrs. Emerson Burns of Arizona.

Taste Touchup

Weak gravy? Flavorless soup? Soy sauce may be just the touch needed to enrich them without necesarily making the Oriental flavor dominant.

A Real Gourmet Salad Dressing

Serving an exquisite dinner by candlelight soon? Then you'll want to clip this gourmet salad dressing recipe.

In a bowl blend together one cup dairy sour cream, two tablespoons tarragon vinegar, one and one-half teaspoons dried tarragon leaves, one teaspoon sugar and one-half teaspoon salt. Cover and chill. Yield: Approximately one cup.

New Gelatin Dessert Mix

A manufacturer of a popular gelatin is introducing a new dessert mix that the homemaker will combine with milk, or even cream, besides the usual water.

The quivering, shivering result is a pastel colored gelatin treat with a rich creamy texture, available in three delicious flavors — strawberry cream, banana cream and peach cream.

Good Flavor

Into mixed green salad, toss fancy mixed Chinese vegetables, rinsed and well drained, to enhance flavor and nutrition.

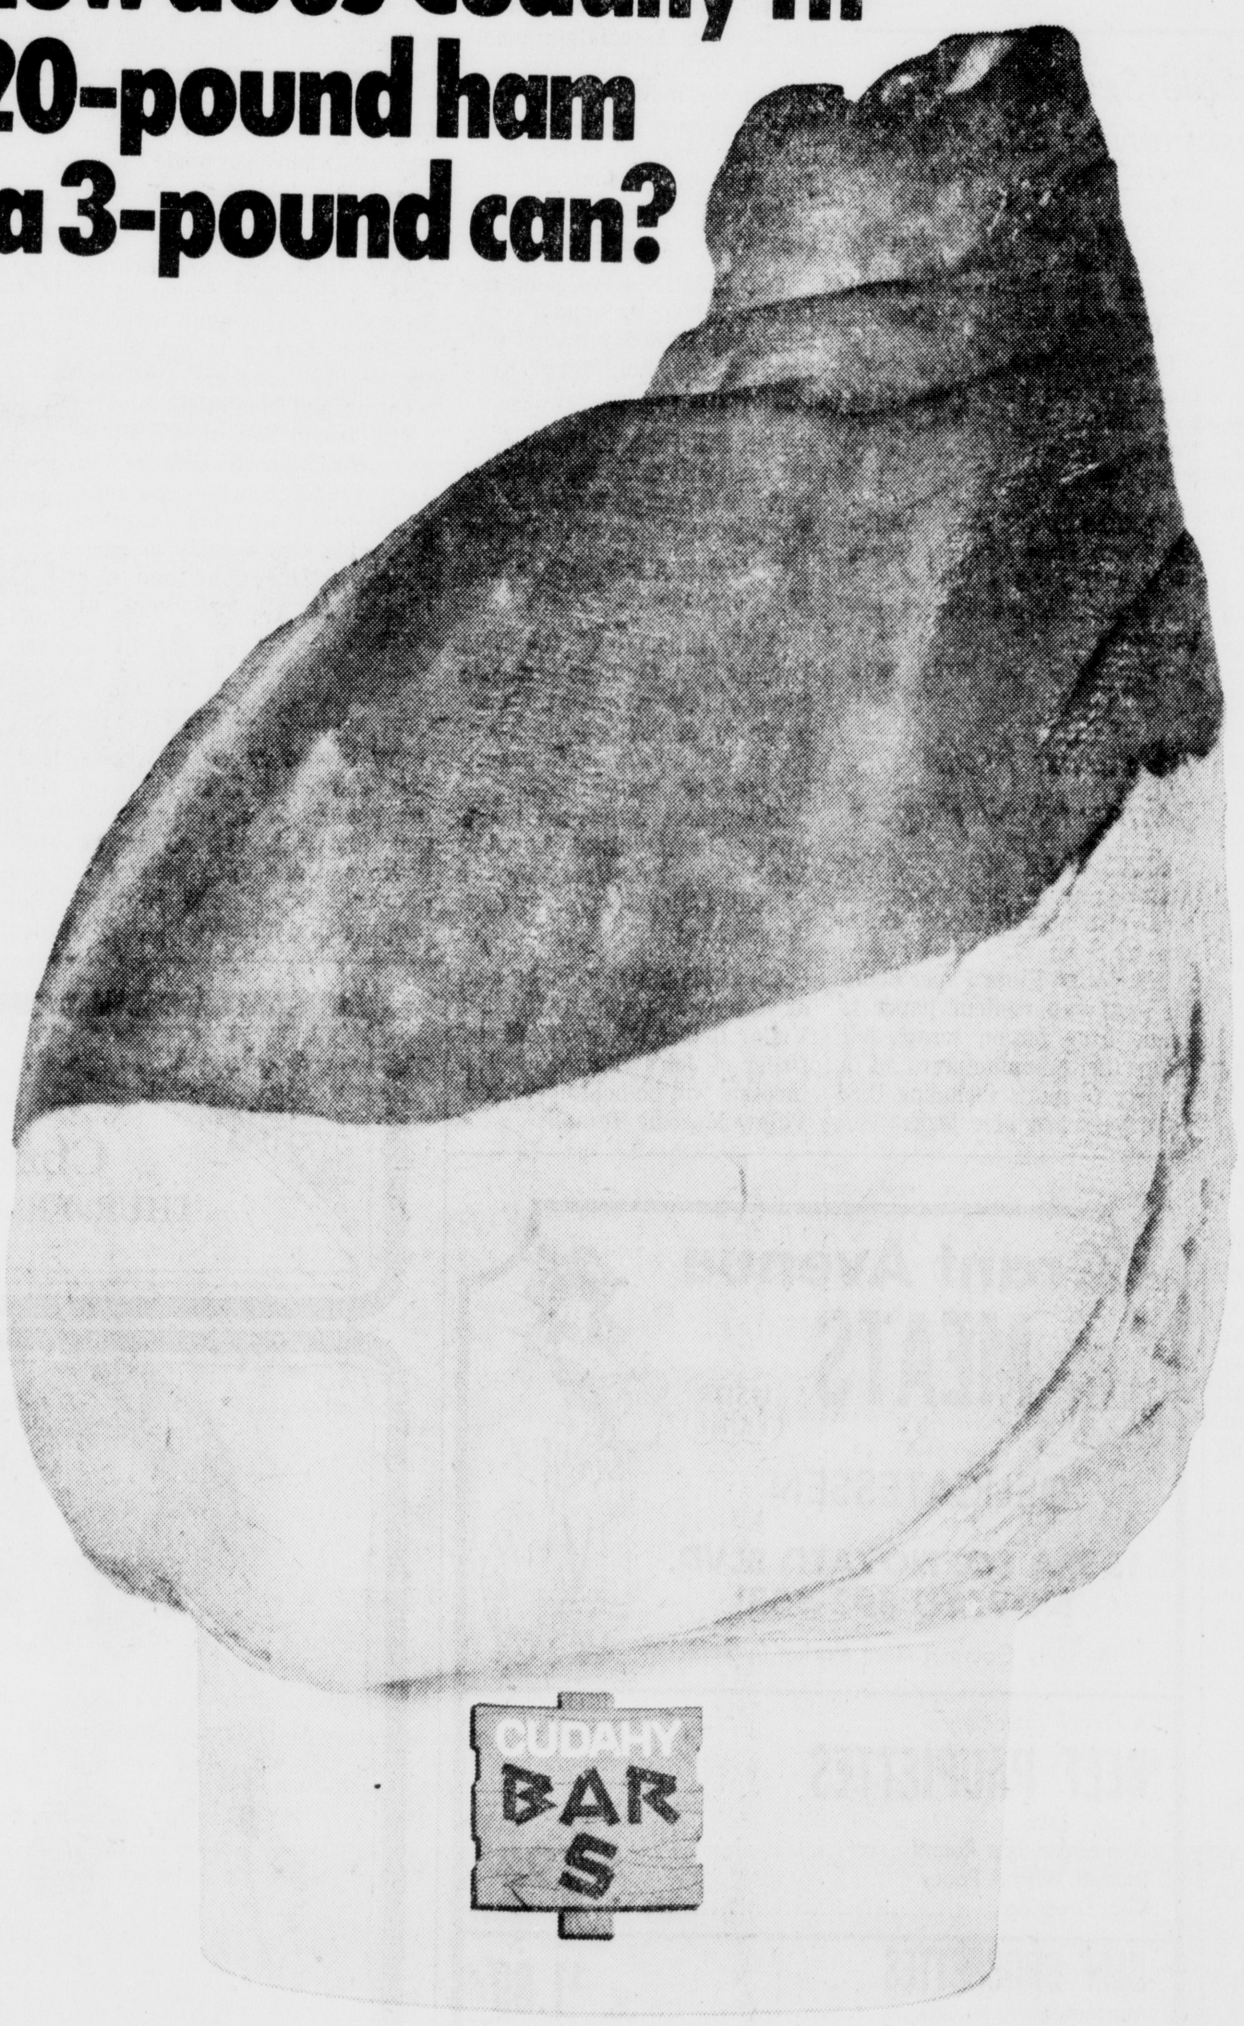
How does Cudahy fit a 20-pound ham in a 3-pound can?



First we get rid of the butt, shank and end pieces.

Then we remove the bone, cut away the gristle and trim the fat, leaving just enough to juice up the flavor.

What's left? The center cut . . . three juicy pounds of lean, pure ham. Ham that's fully-cooked, ready to eat, and easy to carve.

Cudahy Bar-S Holiday Ham in a new pull-top container.

A ham guaranteed to be so perfect, we'll refund every penny you paid for it if you don't love it.

LIBERATED LIFE

Marin Visitor Bases Life On 'Lump Sum'

ACTRESS KATIE Drew-Wilkinson, who appeared in "Oh, Calcutta," finances her lifestyle of world travel by creating leather clothes. Visiting friends on Belvedere Lagoon, the Englishwoman advises anyone who would be a world traveler to learn to do an artcraft that they can sell en route.

By PAT BALMES

An unfettered life of world travel is Katie Drew-Wilkinson's style.

"I never have had a lump sum in the bank, but I am able to travel alone honestly on a legitimate ticket. I have the confidence to know that I can make money as I go along," said the actress and leather-garment maker.

Miss Drew-Wilkinson is the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mead of Belvedere Lagoon, whom she met in Lindos, Greece.

The Englishwoman first visited the United States in 1967 to act in the Hollywood movie, "The Killing of Sister George."

SHE NEXT performed in the original cast of the stage play, "Oh, Calcutta." That devastated her conservative parents, she said.

"I do not believe in stripping, but it was very much a spoof and against censorship," said the actress, who was chosen to be interviewed on televisin about the play.

Later she appeared in a Brooklyn dramatic production, "Cauldones Commissioner," a story in which a man's job depended upon the Vietnam War continuing. She played his wife, driven mad by the situation.

Her good acting reviews balanced her "Oh, Calcutta" notoriety, she believes.

"They asked me to take the play "Cauldones Commissioner" to Broadway but I could not go on going mad every night. And I had not seen a tree in over a year," she said.

She returned to Los Angeles where she sang at the Whiskey-A-Go-Go and lived at Malibu Beach until the 1971 earthquake "threw me out of bed" and she fled to a house on 200 acres in Sonoma, where she made leather jackets, shirts, vests and skirts.

ONE DAY she was lunching with a childhood friend at a Sausalito restaurant when a stranger stopped to ask about the leather garment she was wearing and bought it.

Her friend had invited Katie Drew-Wilkinson to visit her in Lindos, Greece, where she runs a non-profit weaving business to enable Greek girls to earn dowries. Since she had her "lump sum," she went to Greece.

There she met an American, Scott Deitz, who was on his way to Afghanistan.

"He is still on his way to Afghanistan before it goes too spoiled, but maybe there will be three of us going," said Miss Drew-Wilkinson whose baby, expected at Christmastime, will be named Star.

The couple is seeking a modest country house to rent until their baby is ready to travel to Greece next summer, she said.

"We want to rear the child in Greece where life is gentler, children seem happier and there is more time, away from American television, garbage food and dirty air," she said.

Later they would like to live in a French village, near a fashionable area for selling leather clothes. They want to teach their child three or four languages and train him to use his hands, she said.

"It's very satisfying to work with ones hands," said the artist as she showed how she cuts, laces and burns designs on leather garments.

ONE OF THE reasons she returned to the United States is the availability of the best garment leathers. She uses a Bedouin technique of lacing and burns in nature designs from sketchbook notes she keeps on her travels, she said.

Leather clothes are ideal for travelers because they don't need washing and one outfit suffices, she observed.

Pockets are sewn inside the garments so "a traveler could be rolled around, but they would never find your money."

She has traveled alone away from usual tourist routes.

"How are you going to know the Arab mentality unless you get off the main circuit? she said.

She advised would-be travelers to learn an artcraft so they can barter or sell it during their travels. She sells her leather clothes when people see her wearing them and ask about them.

"I sold a skirt for $500 right off my body in Carthage. My travels go garment-by-garment. Whenever I get a lump sum, I head for the airport," she said.

Her travels began at age 6 when her stepfather, a British army officer, took his family to Germany with the occupying army in 1946.

There her language fluency began. Her family also traveled to France in the summer.

"EVERY WELL brought-up English girl learns French; my mother had the principle of sending me abroad for the holidays," she said.

Whe she was 16 her parents took her to North Africa, where she helped archeologists.

"I have grown fastest where the Romans raged up and down the North African coast," she said.

Between ages 18 and 21 Miss Drew-Wilkinson studied at England's acting school, the Bristol Old Vic School. She received the "award in my bunch," the Sara Siddons Award.

Immediately afterward she left on several months' adventure to Malta and then returned to England on "a plastic catamaran" by asking the owners, "Can I come, too? I can cook." She discovered Italy when they put in at the islands.

Returning to England she worked as secretary to a commercial television station drama manager. Later she worked in the theater in props "to learn the theater from the back" and did odd bits of acting, including pantomime, which in England is heavy with tradition, dialogue and funny actors, she said.

HER SECOND trip to North Africa was with a photographer who took color pictures for the London Times Sunday supplement.

Later she was acting in England but not finding enough jobs when "Cleopatra" was being filmed in Italy. She traveled there to work in it and learn Italian. She stayed to work in low-budget Italian movies.

On a recent trip to North Africa, she traveled with an Arab man and woman who translated for her. There she met a family whose farm was a paradise because a stream ran through it and another who were starving because neighbors had cut off their access to water.

She told of desert Arabs who washed her hands by pouring water over them and onto the sand, in an area where no water seemed available.

She spoke of wild Arab youths who rode horses instead of motorcycles and carried two guns.

North Libyans have become wicked, she said, because of the oil in their land while their neighbors the Tunisians, whose economy is built on tourism, are good people.

Commenting on her life style, Katie Drew-Wilkinson said, "It is important to be able to support oneself to stay free of commitment to any contract so you can go where you want. I am allergic to contracts which takes it through to the fact that Scott and I are not legally married. You stay with a job or with a person because you love them."

BURNING A design from her travel sketchbook on leather with a French electric tool, Miss Drew-Wilkinson covers a vest with graceful ferns infested with ants, frogs, lizards and mushrooms "so whoever gets it will go on finding things." The United States is the best source of garment leather, she said.

New Slate Is Picked By Novato Hostess Club

Mrs. Gerald Gardner has been elected president of the Novato Hostess Club for 1973. Elected to serve with her are Mmes. Richard Cline, vice president; James Epp, recording secretary; Luis De Olazarra, corresponding secretary; and Raymond Szostak, treasurer.

Members of the club have voted to donate $300 to the Novato Unified School District for the use of the Sinaloa Junior High School reading clinic.

The money is to be used for the purchase of supplies and equipment, according to Mrs. Robert O. King, outgoing president of the club.

Quick Snack

Try broiled beans and bologna sandwiches. Toast bread on one side in broiler. Turn over and top with canned baked beans and one slice quartered bologna. Broil until bubbly, three to five minutes.

ON THE AGENDA

Christmas Bake Sale Set At San Rafael's Presbyterian Church

A "Christmas Kitchen Concoctions and Bake Sale" will be held Friday and Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael as a benefit for the Carden Marin School. The sale will start at 3:30 p.m. the first day and 10 a.m. Saturday.

At 6:30 p.m. Friday a shoppers' supper of cheeses, homemade soup and breads will be served. Students will present a program, "Christmas in Six Eras" at 8 p.m.

SAN FRANCISCO Yacht Club will hold its membership Christmas party on Friday from 6 to 8 p.m. at the yacht club in Belvedere.

The cocktail party is sponsored by SFYC Women's Auxiliary, and husbands of board members will serve champagne.

Chairman Mrs. Alden Van Pelt, Mrs. Leonard James and auxiliary board members will decorate the dining room like a ski lodge.

A Scandinavian tradition will be part of San Francisco Yacht Club's Christmas party for members' small children, also sponsored by the women's auxiliary, on Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m. at the club.

A native of Denmark, chairman Mrs. Leonard James explained that on St. Lucia's Day a daughter wearing a long white gown and a candle crown serves coffee and freshly baked buns to her parents in bed, while the other children sing songs.

At the yacht club "Lucia bride" Meg Eldridge, daughter of the commodore, will lead a procession of white-gowned "Lucia girls" singing a Swedish song.

Also planned are a puppet show and Santa's arrival aboard the red-hulled sloop "Andale" to distribute gifts.

THE NOVATO Hostess Club members will attend the holiday dinner dance Friday at Rancho Nicasio. Mrs. Larry Monestier is chairman.

MEMBERS OF the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Wives Club will hold a Christmas punch party at the officers club tomorrow at 1:30 p.m.

The OWC Skylarks will present a holiday program. Hostesses for the party are wives of officers of Hamilton hospital group and the Western Reserve Region.

THE PACHECO School Parent-Teacher Association meeting will be held tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the school in Novato. A musical "Season's Greetings" program by students of the school will precede the meeting.

BEL MARIN Keys Women's Club will hold its annual cocktail party Saturday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Bel Marin Keys Community Center.

THE SIR Francis Drake Kennel Club will hold its Christmas party at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Marinwood Community Center.

Chairman of the party is Mrs. Eve Jorgensen.

"THE ISLAND of the Blue Dolphin," a children's classic film, will be shown at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Sequoia Theater in Mill Valley, as a benefit for the Beginning School.

The school is located in St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Marin City. Mrs. Henry Bourne of Mill Valley is chairman of the event.

AN INITIATION will be held at 7:30 p.m. tonight by the Mill Valley Bethel 119, International Order of Job's Daughters. The meeting will be held at the Mill Valley Masonic Temple.

Material From Jeans Now Paper

NEW YORK (UPI) — The material from the jeans you wear also may form the paper you write on.

The Cotton Fiber Paper Council says rag content paper is made from cotton scraps left from the manufacturers of a variety of items including U.S. mail bags and blue jeans.

An Ideal Holiday Gift For Hostess

Put a sprig of holly or dried flowers in a wine glass or a brandy snifter or a small pitcher ready to use as a centerpiece and take it to a hostess.

Another centerpiece gift is a lettuce basket or colander filled with fruit or nuts.

Men's Turn To Take The Plunge

Now it's the men's turn to take the plunge. Sporran Sportswear is cutting a deep V front in an all-cotton knit vest.

It's designed for beachwear or as a vest to wear over other garments. The V is sleeveless and ends at the waistband in a close fit, like a cummerbund.

A Practical Gift

You've probably thought of giving your mother or favorite aunt a new hairdo or makeover. But this year you could also consider giving a man who's proud of his hair a session with a stylist.

Busy Time For Young Volunteers

Young volunteers from the Marin Red Cross are involved in a variety of Christmas projects ranging from a string concert and caroling by Davidson Junior High School students for residents of the San Rafael Convalescent Hospital to collecting toys for Sonoma State Hospital patients by students at St. Hilary's School in Belvedere.

Cub Scout Pack 55 at San Pedro School is filling Red Cross friendship boxes with health items for distribution to children in disaster areas of foreign countries. Red Cross Youth at Red Hill, San Clemente, Neil Cummins and St. Raphael's schools are collecting canned goods for Tiny Tim's Christmas.

Youth volunteers at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital will plan a party for Sonoma State Hospital patients and St. Anselm School students will decorate a Christmas tree at the Fifth Avenue Convalescent Hospital.

The Red Cross Youth singing group from San Rafael High School is scheduled to appear at several Marin convalescent hospitals before Christmas. The Youth Guitar Group is also scheduled to play at hospitals and has several dates between now and Christmas.

Toys and gifts for patients at Sonoma State and Napa State Hospitals are being collected at the Marin Red Cross headquarters in San Rafael through Monday.

Gift suggestions are educational toys, athletic equipment, current long-playing phonograph records, cosmetics and grooming aids, children's books, comic books, decorative pillows, combs, toothpaste, nail clippers, emery boards, cards and cribbage boards.

Gifts should not be wrapped, but Christmas wrappings should be attached to them with the name and address of the group making the donation.

Christmas Program Will Be Tomorrow

The Sausalito Woman's Club Christmas program will be held tomorrow, not Friday as incorrectly reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

The program, to begin at 2 p.m. at the clubhouse in Sausalito, will feature handbell music, holiday table settings and hors d'oeuvres recipes.

Where To Draw Line On The Toy Demand

Where to draw the line on gift demands by children and how to survive the holidays if you're a woman alone are two topics discussed in this month's issue of Pageant Magazine.

Child psychologist and author Dr. Haim Ginott says children's demands grow beyond reason during the Christmas season — and so do parents' irritations and guilt.

Ginott feels parents can follow certain guidelines in order to avoid exploitation by their children during the holidays.

"First," said Ginott, "do not treat a wish as a need. A wish is neither a command nor a demand. It is a request which we acknowledge but do not necessarily gratify."

He feels the holiday season offers special opportunities to meet the vital needs of children and what they need most, he said, is evidence of the parent's delight in the child's presence.

Women without partners for the holiday season should plan ahead, said author Judi Kesselman. Plan a trip, invite other single or alone friends to dinner or visit those less fortunate than yourself, she suggests.

"For women without partners, holidays, at best, are difficult," said Miss Kesselman.

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, 60 per cent of women live without a total family.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

There's Several Ways For Your 'Husband' To Untangle His Mess

DEAR HELEN:

The man I think of as my husband is married to two other women. It goes like this:

His first marriage was a doomed teen-age thing that lasted six months. But they didn't get a divorce.

Shortly afterward, Sam met Cindy. He used his middle and last name on the license this time. They got into drugs and fought a lot, finally split up. Still no divorce.

Then I came along. Sam got straight, now has a good job and we've been living together as man and wife for almost two years. We have a baby son. Everything's great except I'd like to be legal. I have this nightmare about those two other wives showing up at once and each demanding their half.

It's been almost seven years since he last saw Wife No. 1, and four years since Wife No. 2 left. Isn't there a statute of limitations or something on old marriages? I mean like an automatic divorce? Can Sam be put in jail for bigamy? Both women have left town and we don't know where they are.

How can I get married without causing trouble for my "husband"? — NO NAME

DEAR NO:

There's no such thing as an "automatic divorce," but a lawyer can probably untangle this mess (though it won't be easy). You might even get lucky and discover that one or both women have already attended to legal matters with a Reno or Mexican "quickie." — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our shiftless son-in-law says the difference between his father and my husband (his wife's father) is that his dad had planned to retire, but will work a whole year longer to help "the children" pay their debts, children meaning a 28-year-old son and 26-year-old daughter-in-law who expect their parents to bail them out — constantly. In their five years of marriage, "Sonny" has quit ten jobs (or been fired), and still attends college but will never finish as he quits just before the finals, then starts fresh, on more of the old folks' funds.

He has brainwashed our daughter. She now says it's the parents' duty to satisfy their children's needs. She still feels grateful that he condescended to marry her after making her pregnant, and she's so fearful of losing him — being on her own — that she'll demand money from us whenever he says.

We furnished their house and helped with the down payment. Until recently I sent them a sizable check each month. When we finally called a halt, the comparisons between his parents' generosity and our stinginess started. They "show love," thus they see the grandchildren. We won't see them, so long as we "think only of ourselves." We aren't wealthy. We love our grandchildren, and our daughter, but buying their affection means an end to our retirement dream of leisurely travel.

Are we selfish? Is it really true that a parent's financial responsibility never ends? — MRS. B.G.

DEAR MRS. G.:

Of course you aren't selfish. A parent's financial responsibility ends when the child becomes a legal adult. You've kept your daughter a child far too long — and if you could only persuade her husband's parents likewise, these over-age juveniles might even yet grow up. — H.

Indian Valley Golfers Pick New Officers

Golf, bridge, sewing, bowling, square dancing are among the hobbies of Mrs. Roger E. Williams of San Rafael, new president of Indian Valley Women's Golf Club.

Peggy Williams and her husband, a chemical engineer, are the parents of Donald Williams, Mrs. Arthur Stackhouse, and Debbie, 16.

Mrs. Williams is also active in the Family Service League, Marin General Hospital Volunteers Carousel Branch, Huffs 'n Puffs Square Dance Club and the Rainbow Mothers Club.

The new president was born in Winchester, Wis., and was graduated from Oshkosh, Wis. Business College. She has been a resident of Marin County for 11 years and has served as co-captain, tournament chairman and handicap chairman during her 10 years as a member of the women's golf club.

Other officers serving with Mrs. Williams are Mmes. William Jonas, co-captain; Reuben Kaehler, secretary; Charles Johnson, treasurer; John Gaylord, tournament chairman; Miss Betty Peavey, assistant tournament chairman; Mmes. E. W. Roberts, handicap chairman; Lyle Hastings, assistant handicap chairman; Willard Stanfield, publicity; Lew Baysinger, parliamentarian; Robert Bourne, professional women's golf representative; Roy Enos, North Bay representative, and Jerry Evans, rules.

Couple Will Reside In Castro Valley

Rebecca Christine Shepherd of Hayward and Timothy Kevin Cassidy of San Rafael were married Dec. 3 at St. Vincent's Church in San Rafael. A reception at the Oakview Club of the Meadows in Terra Linda followed the ceremony.

Mrs. David C. Shepherd Jr. of Petaluma was matron of honor for her sister-in-law, and bridesmaids were Debbie Dunn of Chico and Donna McCusker of San Jose.

The bridegroom's brother Patrick Cassidy of San Jose was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by I. Ron Bresee and Tom Pillacelli, both of San Rafael.

Following a wedding trip to Carmel the couple will live in Castro Valley.

Rebecca and Timothy are both graduates of Terra Linda High School and both attended College of Marin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Shepherd of Hayward. She is the assistant manager of Stretch and Sew Fabrics in Hayward. Stephen C. Shepherd of Hayward is also her brother, and she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Holmquist of Sun City, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Cassidy of San Rafael are the bridegroom's parents, and Denis and Dan Cassidy, both of San Rafael, are also his brothers. He is employed by Western States Bankcard Assoc. in San Francisco. Timothy is the grandson of Mrs. K. J. LeFevre of Texas and Mrs. Emerson Burns of Arizona.

A Real Gourmet Salad Dressing

Serving an exquisite dinner by candlelight soon? Then you'll want to clip this gourmet salad dressing recipe.

In a bowl blend together one cup dairy sour cream, two tablespoons tarragon vinegar, one and one-half teaspoons dried tarragon leaves, one teaspoon sugar and one-half teaspoon salt. Cover and chill. Yield: Approximately one cup.

New Gelatin Dessert Mix

A manufacturer of a popular gelatin is introducing a new dessert mix that the homemaker will combine with milk, or even cream, besides the usual water.

The quivering, shivering result is a pastel colored gelatin treat with a rich creamy texture, available in three delicious flavors — strawberry cream, banana cream and peach cream.

Good Flavor

Into mixed green salad, toss fancy mixed Chinese vegetables, rinsed and well drained, to enhance flavor and nutrition.

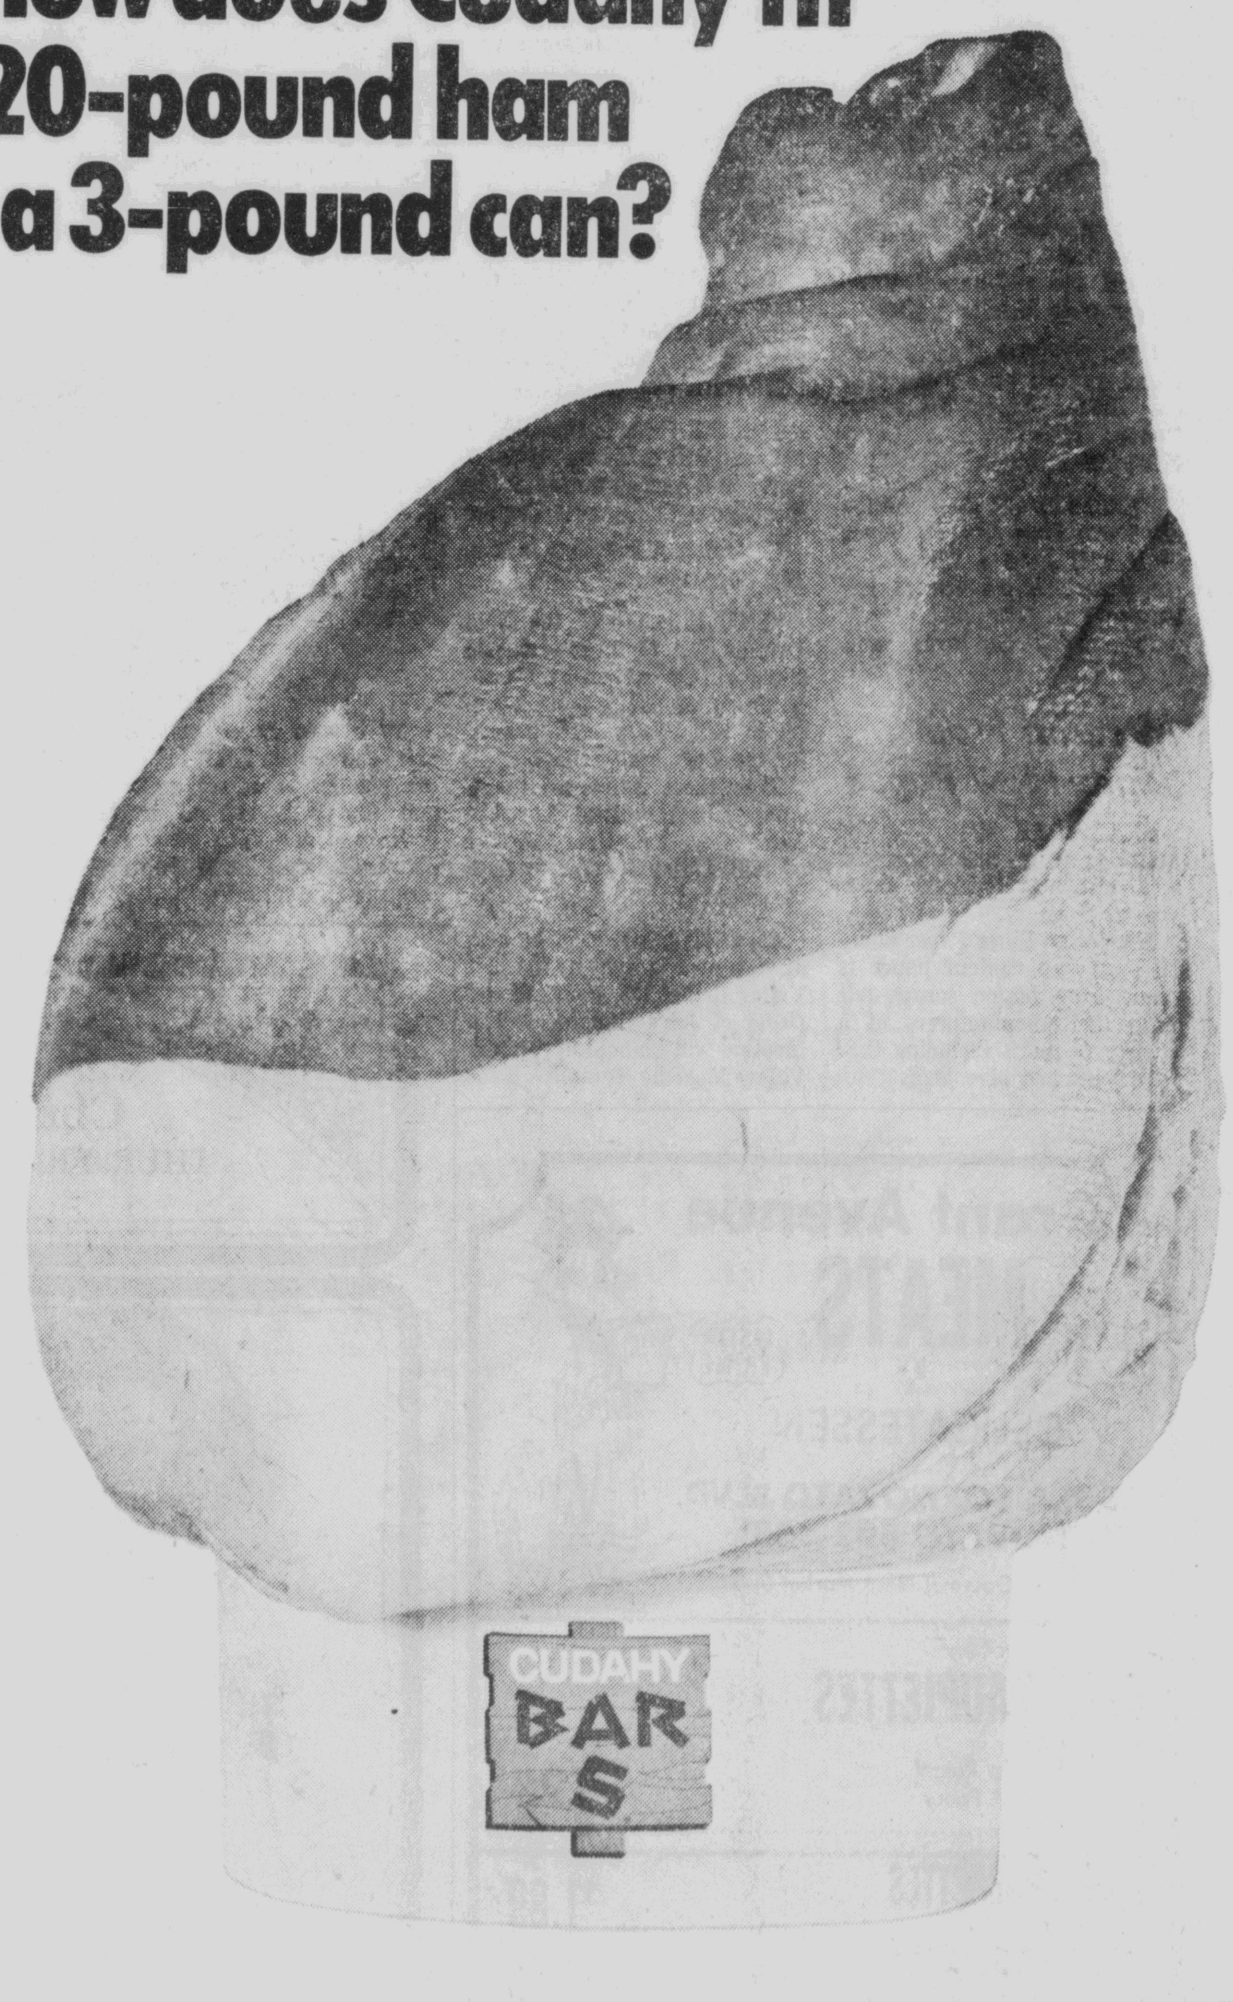
How does Cudahy fit a 20-pound ham in a 3-pound can?



First we get rid of the butt, shank and end pieces.
Then we remove the bone, cut away the gristle and trim the fat, leaving just enough to juice up the flavor.
What's left? The center cut . . . three juicy pounds of lean, pure ham. Ham that's fully-cooked, ready to eat, and easy to carve.

San Anselmo's Council Delays Open Space Bond Issue Action

The San Anselmo City Council, stymied by an absentee member, last night deferred setting of a bond issue to purchase community open space.

Members agreed Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson should be present for a decision to fix the date of the election and the amount of the bond issue.

The matter will be discussed again at the council's Jan. 9 meeting.

City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel noted the next scheduled election in the community is April 17, the date of the San Anselmo School District board vote. But he said he was unsure if the school board would welcome the bond issue on the ballot.

The council thus far has only designated large pieces of the community that might lend themselves to open space. A subgroup of the committee working on the city general plan is studying the areas for recommendation to the council.

A consensus seemed to have been struck last night that it would be unwise for the council to identify before the election specific properties under consideration for purchase, since this could increase land values.

Attilio Segale, a spectator at the meeting, questioned open space needs in view of long-standing hopes for a new firehouse and city hall. Mayor Warren R. Perry observed a "sense of immediacy" for open space, as well as noting continiing city efforts to obtain funds for a firehouse and city hall.

The council instructed representatives of bond counsel and municipal finance consulting firms to be present at the Jan. 9 meeting with bond figures. Figures were offered the council last night indicating an issue of $500,000 would require a tax rate boost of 10.8 cents the first year, based on current assessed valuation and a 5.5 per cent bond interest rate, while one of $1 million would carry an increase of 21.6 cents.

In related open space matters last night, the council granted the appeal of property owner John Deignan to costruct a home at 60 South Oak Avenue, and rejected the general plan committee's protest of planned home construction at 234 Oak Springs Drive.

Amid concern over the value of Deignan's property as access to potential open space areas, the council voted to allow the construction based on the owner's agreement to grant an easement across his property.

Another property owner, Kurt Kissman, was permitted to proceed with construction plans so long as the home doesn't mar views from below and given his promise he will not seek to build on nine other lots he owns in the area within at least six months.

The general plan committee had expressed concern over the effect of Kissman's total development on local traffic and population.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

SLEEPY HOLLOW — Heard Councilman Martin G. Blinder observe that Sleepy Hollow, which has said it wants to negotiate with the city for contracted police service, should annex itself to the city.

PROTEST — Protested to state officials campaign practices, particularly "distorted" advertising, in connection with the 22 state propositions on the November ballot.

TENNIS — Pending San Anselmo School District board ratification, voted to spend $8,000 toward half the cost of building two tennis courts at Red Hill School, although it was noted the cost could run higher.

BOARDS — Nominated Mary Sue Hulpke and Thomas R. Bieshheuvel to replace Allen J. Creighton on the city planning commission, appointment pending possibly more nominations at the Jan. 9 meeting; nominated Sarah Nome to serve on the Civil Service Board of Review and Paul Brand to sit on the Marin Mosquito Abatement Board.

PURCHASES — Approved purchase of $915 in equipment for the fire department and of a $740 "silent-type" pavement breaker.

LIGHT — Approved an agreement with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to install lighting equipment at a parking lot at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Center Road for $4,645.

DRAKE — Voted to proceed with design work on intersection improvements at Sunny Hills and Shaw Drive intersections of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, but said the action didn't commit the city to the project. A discussion with area residents is planned.

TRANSIT — Supported Golden Gate Bridge District plans for acquiring abandoned portions of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way, though noting the land might be used for bicycle or foot paths if rapid transit is found unfeasible.

COLLEGE CONCERT GUEST

Violinist Mary Helen Weinstein of Terra Linda will be the soloist in "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra, Opus 82" by A. Glazounov in the College of Marin's Community Orchestra concert at 8 p.m. Sunday evening in the fine arts theater. She is concert mistress of the orchestra.

New Plan For Dollar Development

San Rafael attorney Thomas R. Schaal, faced with a solid wall of opposition to previous proposals to develop the Dollar estate on Mission Avenue, has again filed for permits to develop the historic grounds.

Schaal's latest proposal calls for a 72-unit apartment building set back 150 feet from Mission Avenue coupled with the relocation and restoration of the Dollar mansion elsewhere on the grounds.

An earlier proposal by Schaal — rejected by both the planning commission and the city council — called for a 48-unit apartment building backed by 32 townhouse units. This proposal would have required the razing of the mansion.

Schaal said yesterday his new plan would relocate the mansion to a point near the swimming pool on the estate grounds, for use by apartment tenants. The mansion would be nipped its easterly wing addition and restored in original condition, Schaal said.

Parking for the apartment building would be underground, he said, adding that six acres, rather than the five proposed in his previous proposal for the 11.1-acre parcel, would be left as open space.

Schaal applied Monday for a use permit under the city's building moratorium in order to proceed with his new plan. The San Rafael Planning commission will consider the permit application at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 9.

Schaal said he has a contract to buy the estate from the Dollar heirs for about $360,000.

New Leader For Western Opera Group

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Western Opera Theater yesterday named Allan Lewis, assistant conductor with San Francisco Opera for three seasons, as its music director.

Lewis is former music director and conductor for the American Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Conn., and assistant conductor with Dallas Civic Opera, Santa Fe Opera and Opera Company of Boston.

Company manager Edward Corn also announced the appointment of Calvin Simmons, 22, an assistant conductor last season with San Francisco Opera and Merola Opera Program, as WOT's associate music director.

Sarah Brumback, former executive director of the Western Kansas Community Services Consortium, was named as company administrator for WOT, San Francisco Opera's touring repertory company of young singers who perform in schools and theaters of western communities that already see opera.

Pesticides Not Used At Lagoon

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The state Division of Highways yesterday told Audubon Canyon Ranch directors that the state uses no weed-killing chemicals or pesticides near Bolinas Lagoon that might harm the lagoon's wildlife.

Directors of the ranch wrote Thomas R. Lammers, Division IV chief engineer on Nov. 30, urging that state crews use only mechanical means to get rid of weeds along the Shoreline Highway where it skirts the lagoon. The letter was signed by 260 persons.

Lammers's office stated yesterday that the only spray used near the lagoon is a substance called Simazine, which spokesmen termed "about as toxic as table salt." Road crews use it to keep seeds from sprouting; it is a soil sterilizer like salt rather than a green-plant herbicide, and is used only at the rate of five pounds per acre, after the weeds are chopped away from guardrails and signs, the state office said.

Model Legislature Picks Marin Student

A Marin County student has been elected Assembly Speaker pro-Tem for the 25th annual YMCA Model Legislature which will be held in Sacramento next February.

Lynn Cresalia of San Domenico School in Sleepy Hollow was the winner in a five-way race as teen-agers from YMCA delegations throughout the state held an assembly to elect legislative officers for the annual exercise in government.

Lisa Morrison of Marin Catholic High School is the only female among 10 candidates statewide, who will be vying for the governorship at another meeting Jan. 20-21 in San Luis Obispo.

Seventeen Marin County teenagers have been working for 11 weeks, studying parliamentary procedure and polishing legislation they will present during the actual Model Legislature, according to James K. Looney, director of the Marin YMCA.

They are Michelle Bushong, William Larkin, Lisa Morrison and Chris Morrison of Marin Catholic; Cindy Chapman and Carol Harris of Terra Linda High; Jeanne Coyne, Susy Mettner, Jack Schmitz, Jamie Sheldon, Robert Southmayd and Mary Urquhart of San Rafael High; Miss Cresalia and Elizabeth Yates of San Domenico; Garrett Lawrence of Tamalpais High; Devon Smith of Redwood High and Laurie Guerin of Katharine Branson School.

Stewardesses Striking Back

NEW YORK (UPI) —Angered at "idiots who are making money by slandering us," two organizations representing airline stewardesses launched a drive Tuesday against commercials, books and movies which they feel degrade them.

"We are grabbed, pinched, felt and even slapped," Mrs. Judi Lindsey of Stewardesses for Women's Rights told a news conference.

Mrs. Lindsey said airlines prevent stewardesses from objecting to the insulting treatment because they fear a passenger might become angry and fly another airline next time.

Busy Time For Young Volunteers

Young volunteers from the Marin Red Cross are involved in a variety of Christmas projects ranging from a string concert and caroling by Davidson Junior High School students for residents of the San Rafael Convalescent Hospital to collecting toys for Sonoma State Hospital patients by students at St. Hilary's School in Belvedere.

Cub Scout Pack 55 at San Pedro School is filling Red Cross friendship boxes with health items for distribution to children in disaster areas of foreign countries. Red Cross Youth at Red Hill, San Clemente, Neil Cummins and St. Raphael's schools are collecting canned goods for Tiny Tim's Christmas.

Youth volunteers at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital will plan a party for Sonoma State Hospital patients and St. Anselm School students will decorate a Christmas tree at the Fifth Avenue Convalescent Hospital.

The Red Cross Youth singing group from San Rafael High School is scheduled to appear at several Marin convalescent hospitals before Christmas. The Youth Guitar Group is also scheduled to play at hospitals and has several dates between now and Christmas.

Toys and gifts for patients at Sonoma State and Napa State Hospitals are being collected at the Marin Red Cross headquarters in San Rafael through Monday.

Gift suggestions are educational toys, athletic equipment, current long-playing phonograph records, cosmetics and grooming aids, children's books, comic books, decorative pillows, combs, toothpaste, nail clippers, emery boards, cards and cribbage boards.

Gifts should not be wrapped, but Christmas wrappings should be attached to them with the name and address of the group making the donation.

Christmas Program Will Be Tomorrow

The Sausalito Woman's Club Christmas program will be held tomorrow, not Friday as incorrectly reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

The program, to begin at 2 p.m. at the clubhouse in Sausalito, will feature handbell music, holiday table settings and hors d'oeuvres recipes.

Where To Draw Line On The Toy Demand

Where to draw the line on gift demands by children and how to survive the holidays if you're a woman alone are two topics discussed in this month's issue of Pageant Magazine.

Child psychologist and author Dr. Haim Ginott says children's demands grow beyond reason during the Christmas season — and so do parents' irritations and guilt.

Ginott feels parents can follow certain guidelines in order to avoid exploitation by their children during the holidays.

"First," said Ginott, "do not treat a wish as a need. A wish is neither a command nor a demand. It is a request which we acknowledge but do not necessarily gratify."

He feels the holiday season offers special opportunities to meet the vital needs of children and what they need most, he said, is evidence of the parent's delight in the child's presence.

Women without partners for the holiday season should plan ahead, said author Judi Kesselman. Plan a trip, invite other single or alone friends to dinner or visit those less fortunate than yourself, she suggests.

"For women without partners, holidays, at best, are difficult," said Miss Kesselman.

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, 60 per cent of women live without a total family.

Air Board Chairman Ignores Subpoena

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A defiant chairman of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District yesterday ignored a subpoena to testify before a legislative committee investigating the district.

The committee vowed "appropriate steps to assure his presence" at a hearing next month.

San Mateo County Supervisor Robert B. St. Clair insisted in a statement issued from his county office that it was "absolutely imperative" that he remain there for the regular weekly meeting of his board of supervisors.

He said he was needed to make a quorum of the five-member board because one member was absent, though it takes only three to make a quorum.

St. Clair cited advice from his county's district attorney, Keith C. Sorenson, that the committee's subpoena probably was invalid because it had been sent to sheriff's deputies by teletype instead of being delivered in its original form.

The chairman of the Assembly Environmental Quality Committee, March K. Fong, D-Oakland, told newsmen after the all-day hearing in the Marin Civic Center that she will have St. Clair subpoenaed in person next time. "I may deliver it myself," said the 110-pound, five-foot, three-inch chairman.

St. Clair, a former tackle for the San Francisco 49ers, stands a foot and a half above Mrs. Fong and outweighs her by 155 pounds.

The disparity did not faze Assemblyman Richard D. Hayden, R-Sunnyvale. "If Mr. St. Clair wants to tackle Mrs. Fong," he said, "my bet is on Mrs. Fong."

She added that St. Clair "may have been a defensive tackle, but he's being offensively defensive."

St. Clair's statement criticized the committee for listening Monday to testimony by critics of the district. The same critics have appeared "more than 100 times" before the smog board, and do not represent the public, he said.

Assemblyman Hayden also tackled St. Clair, criticizing the supervisor for asserting last week that the Legislature has "no damn business" investigating the district, which it created in 1955. St. Clair argued that the Legislature itself was so "out of order" that it should tend to its own problems and leave the district alone.

District director William R. Jelavich followed with an attack on the district's top administrator, D. J. Callaghan, for running the staff with "iron-fisted control. You salute and kick your heels, and God help you in that organization if you don't toe the mark."

Jelavich, a Mountain View City councilman, called again for the firing of Callaghan, declaring he also was responsible for "unnecessary friction and distrust" between the district and public.

Callaghan assured the committee that "we've done everything humanly possible" to meet citizens complaints. Like St. Clair, he suggested that the few who complain to the district are not representative of the region's five million citizens.

Noting that the district also takes heat from industry, developers, labor and builders, Callaghan said "if we can be damned with equal impunity by conservationists and developers, we certainly must be doing something right."

He argued that the air in the district was "significantly cleaner as a result of the district's activity."

Defending Callaghan was director Gerald M. Poznanovich, a Santa Rosa city councilman. Noting the board's 14-2 vote last week to clear Callaghan of charges made by Jelavich, he said "there wasn't enough there to tell me that our administrative officer was doing a bad job, and I couldn't vote to remove him. Thirteen others agreed.

Poznanovich insisted that district directors give the job enough time to know what is going on, but could name only two of the 20 members on the board's advisory council. He has been on the board for a year and a half.

The committee also heard charges that Callaghan doctored board minutes so they no longer reflected boarF/actions. The charges were made by the board's secretary, Mabel Harder, a 13-year employee.

Callaghan rebutted that the changes he made were only for accuracy, and it was only "her opinion" that they distorted the board's actions.

Obliged to clear the planning commission chambers to make way for the county's aviation commission, the committee agreed to hold another hearing sometime next month in the district's San Francisco headquarters.

"Many questions remain to be asked and many issues remain to be probed," Mrs. Fong said. "And we still want to hear from Mr. St. Clair."

Arsenic Content High In Chickens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 465 million broiler-fryer chickens, nearly one out of every six grown this year, apparently went to market with illegal residues of organic arsenic in their livers, the Agriculture Department said Tuesday.

Officials said residues also were found in the livers of hogs in a scientific random hog-poultry sampling, but appeared in only 1.7 per cent of the pork samples in contrast to the 15.5 per cent violation rate found in chicken livers.

Spokesmen said the levels of the organic arsenic, which is mixed into hog and chicken feed to stimulate growth, were considered "not particularly dangerous" to human consumers, but nevertheless were illegal because they were above official "safety tolerance" levels of 1 part per million for chickens and 2 parts per million in hogs.

COLLEGE CONCERT GUEST

Violinist Mary Helen Weinstein of Terra Linda will be the soloist in "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra, Opus 82" by A. Glazounov in the College of Marin's Community Orchestra concert at 8 p.m. Sunday evening in the fine arts theater. She is concert mistress of the orchestra.

San Anselmo's Council Delays Open Space Bond Issue Action

The San Anselmo City Council, stymied by an absentee member, last night deferred setting of a bond issue to purchase community open space.

Members agreed Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson should be present for a decision to fix the date of the election and the amount of the bond issue.

The matter will be discussed again at the council's Jan. 9 meeting.

City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel noted the next scheduled election in the community is April 17, the date of the San Anselmo School District board vote. But he said he was unsure if the school board would welcome the bond issue on the ballot.

The council thus far has only designated large pieces of the community that might lend themselves to open space. A subgroup of the committee working on the city general plan is studying the areas for recommendation to the council.

A consensus seemed to have been struck last night that it would be unwise for the council to identify before the election specific properties under consideration for purchase, since this could increase land values.

Attilio Segale, a spectator at the meeting, questioned open space needs in view of long-standing hopes for a new firehouse and city hall. Mayor Warren R. Perry observed a "sense of immediacy" for open space, as well as noting contin-iing city efforts to obtain funds for a firehouse and city hall.

The council instructed representatives of bond counsel and municipal finance consulting firms to be present at the Jan. 9 meeting with bond figures. Figures were offered the council last night indicating an issue of $500,000 would require a tax rate boost of 10.8 cents the first year, based on current assessed valuation and a 5.5 per cent bond interest rate, while one of $1 million would carry an increase of 21.6 cents.

In related open space matters last night, the council granted the appeal of property owner John Deignan to costruct a home at 60 South Oak Avenue, and rejected the general plan committee's protest of planned home construction at 234 Oak Springs Drive.

Amid concern over the value of Deignan's property as access to potential open space areas, the council voted to allow the construction based on the owner's agreement to grant an easement across his property.

Another property owner, Kurt Kissman, was permitted to proceed with construction plans so long as the home doesn't mar views from below and given his promise he will not seek to build on nine other lots he owns in the area within at least six months.

The general plan committee had expressed concern over the effect of Kissman's total development on local traffic and population.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

SLEEPY HOLLOW — Heard Councilman Martin G. Blinder observe that Sleepy Hollow, which has said it wants to negotiate with the city for contracted police service, should annex itself to the city.

PROTEST — Protested to state officials campaign practices, particularly "distorted" advertising, in connection with the 22 state propositions on the November ballot.

TENNIS — Pending San Anselmo School District board ratification, voted to spend $8,000 toward half the cost of building two tennis courts at Red Hill School, although it was noted the cost could run higher.

BOARDS — Nominated Mary Sue Hulpke and Thomas R. Bieshеuvel to replace Allen J. Creighton on the city planning commission, appointment pending possibly more nominations at the Jan. 9 meeting; nominated Sarah Nome to serve on the Civil Service Board of Review and Paul Brand to sit on the Marin Mosquito Abatement Board.

PURCHASES — Approved purchase of $915 in equipment for the fire department and of a $740 "silent-type" pavement breaker.

LIGHT — Approved an agreement with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to install lighting equipment at a parking lot at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Center Road for $4,645.

DRAKE — Voted to proceed with design work on intersection improvements at Sunny Hills and Shaw Drive intersections of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, but said the action didn't commit the city to the project. A discussion with area residents is planned.

TRANSIT — Supported Golden Gate Bridge District plans for acquiring abandoned portions of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way, though noting the land might be used for bicycle or foot paths if rapid transit is found unfeasible.

New Plan For Dollar Development

San Rafael attorney Thomas R. Schaal, faced with a solid wall of opposition to previous proposals to develop the Dollar estate on Mission Avenue, has again filed for permits to develop the historic grounds.

Schaal's latest proposal calls for a 72-unit apartment building set back 150 feet from Mission Avenue coupled with the relocation and restoration of the Dollar mansion elsewhere on the grounds.

An earlier proposal by Schaal — rejected by both the planning commission and the city council — called for a 48-unit apartment building backed by 32 townhouse units. This proposal would have required the razing of the mansion.

Schaal said yesterday his new plan would relocate the mansion to a point near the swimming pool on the estate grounds, for use by apartment tenants. The mansion would be nipped its easterly wing addition and restored in original condition, Schaal said.

Parking for the apartment building would be underground, he said, adding that six acres, rather than the five proposed in his previous proposal for the 11.1-acre parcel, would be left as open space.

Schaal applied Monday for a use permit under the city's building moratorium in order to proceed with his new plan. The San Rafael Planning commission will consider the permit application at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 9.

Schaal said he has a contract to buy the estate from the Dollar heirs for about $360,000.

New Leader For Western Opera Group

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Western Opera Theater yesterday named Allan Lewis, assistant conductor with San Francisco Opera for three seasons, as its music director.

Lewis is former music director and conductor for the American Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Conn., and assistant conductor with Dallas Civic Opera, Santa Fe Opera and Opera Company of Boston.

Company manager Edward Corn also announced the appointment of Calvin Simmons, 22, an assistant conductor last season with San Francisco Opera and Merola Opera Program, as WOT's associate music director.

Sarah Brumback, former executive director of the Western Kansas Community Services Consortium, was named as company administrator for WOT, San Francisco Opera's touring repertory company of young singers who perform in schools and theaters of western communities that already see opera.

Pesticides Not Used At Lagoon

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The state Division of Highways yesterday told Audubon Canyon Ranch directors that the state uses no weed-killing chemicals or pesticides near Bolinas Lagoon that might harm the lagoon's wildlife.

Directors of the ranch wrote Thomas R. Lammers, Division IV chief engineer on Nov. 30, urging that state crews use only mechanical means to get rid of weeds along the Shoreline Highway where it skirts the lagoon. The letter was signed by 260 persons.

Lammers's office stated yesterday that the only spray used near the lagoon is a substance called Simazine, which spokesmen termed "about as toxic as table salt." Road crews use it to keep seeds from sprouting; it is a soil sterilizer like salt rather than a green-plant herbicide, and is used only at the rate of five pounds per acre, after the weeds are chopped away from guardrails and signs, the state office said.

Model Legislature Picks Marin Student

A Marin County student has been elected Assembly Speaker pro-Tem for the 25th annual YMCA Model Legislature which will be held in Sacramento next February.

Lynn Cresalia of San Domenico School in Sleepy Hollow was the winner in a five-way race as teen-agers from YMCA delegations throughout the state held an assembly to elect legislative officers for the annual exercise in government.

Lisa Morrison of Marin Catholic High School is the only female among 10 candidates statewide, who will be vying for the governorship at another meeting Jan. 20-21 in San Luis Obispo.

Seventeen Marin County teenagers have been working for 11 weeks, studying parliamentary procedure and polishing legislation they will present during the actual Model Legislature, according to James K. Looney, director of the Marin YMCA.

They are Michelle Bushong, William Larkin, Lisa Morrison and Chris Morrison of Marin Catholic; Cindy Chapman and Carol Harris of Terra Linda High; Jeanne Coyne, Susy Mettner, Jack Schmitz, Jamie Sheldon, Robert Southmayd and Mary Urquhart of San Rafael High; Miss Cresalia and Elizabeth Yates of San Domenico; Garrett Lawrence of Tamalpais High; Devon Smith of Redwood High and Laurie Guerin of Katharine Branson School.

Stewardesses Striking Back

NEW YORK (UPI) —Angered at "idiots who are making money by slandering us," two organizations representing airline stewardesses launched a drive Tuesday against commercials, books and movies which they feel degrade them.

"We are grabbed, pinched, felt and even slapped," Mrs. Judi Lindsey of Stewardesses for Women's Rights told a news conference.

Mrs. Lindsey said airlines prevent stewardesses from objecting to the insulting treatment because they fear a passenger might become angry and fly another airline next time.

Grand Avenue Philatelic Supply Store To Open Early Next Year

Grand Stamp Center, a new philatelic supply shop, will open in San Rafael on Grand Avenue near Stan's For Sports about Jan. 15.

Proprietor will be Sidney Golditch, of New York, a retired businessman in the trucking field, who has pursued stamp collection as a hobby for 13 years. His son is Dr. Ira Golditch of San Rafael.

The Grand Stamp Center will open at 969 Grand Avenue, three doors from Stan's, where a camping supplies store was formerly located. Golditch plans to encourage stamp collection among youth, setting up school stamp clubs and working with community service groups. He will have used stamps, mint stamps and new issues from all over the world, and a complete line of supplies for all stamp collectors.

ACE LETTER SERVICE at 831 B Street in San Rafael plans to move into new quarters at 123 Alto Street, near the corner of Belvedere and Tiburon Streets in San Rafael next February.

Ace Letter Service, owned by Vernon and Renate Burns, will occupy a portion of a new building under construction behind the Marin Builders Exchange.

The company, established in 1949 by Alicia Jacobsen, was purchased by the Burnses seven years ago. It specializes in small job printing, letterheads, small brochures, and mailing of newsletters nd communications for organizations and individuals. Ace Letter uses high speed duplicators, magnetic tape selective typewriters and other modern equipment for quick and personalized service.

The new building, called the Baron Pacific Building, is owned by Baron Pacific Limited, whose partners are Burns, John Kuntz and Alfred Dalecio. It is the first structure in San Rafael to use the new Rolin-Truss developed by Etienne Rolin of San Anselmo.

TERRY LEHMAN (Mrs. Carl Lehman III) of San Rafael has been promoted to manager of the new Fairfax office of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, San Rafael.

President Harold S. Elberg announced that Mrs. Lehman will begin her new assignment on Jan. 2, the opening date of the new Fairfax office at 1 Bolinas Road.

Mrs. Lehman joined the staff of First Federal four years ago and was in charge of the loan servicing department.

W. E. GEDDES of Daly City opened a new company which manufactures wood products at Hamilton Industrial Park in Ignacio this week.

William Hoey Company arranged the lease of 2,880 square feet for Geddes at 92 Hamilton Drive. Geddes said he plans to make decorative items such as bookcases.

Geddes was engaged in the exhibit business, planning and putting on trade shows, for the past 20 years. He decided to retire from that business, move to Terra Linda, and open his wood products shop.

Hoey Company also arranged the lease of 890 square feet at 102-D Hamilton Drive, Hamilton Industrial Park, for Don Clark's auto and marine upholstery business. Clark operated from his home on Lynwood Drive in Novato until he moved to Hamilton Industrial Park last week.

A FASHION SHOW featuring apparel from the Ross Valley Shop in Larkspur will be held tomorrow from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. at Lark Creek Inn in Larkspur.

Laura Mouer, fashion show specialist from San Anselmo, will arrange the one-hour presentation of dresses, some casual pant suits, and nightgown and robe ensembles, all in Christmas and New Year's motif.

OIL PAINTINGS of Kay Cousineau and the acrylics and weavings of Henri Boussy are on display at the Redwood Bank in San Rafael during the month of December.

Mrs. Cousineau, a resident of Mill Valley, was the first illustrator for "Etc", the general semantics magazine. Boussy is an art teacher at the Tamalpais High School and chairman of its fine arts department.

VAN DER MAELEN Dry Cleaners on the Miracle Mile in San Rafael is an old establishment, but the old brick building is not quite as old as we thought it was.

Last month, we said the building had been there before the 1906 earthquake, but this has been refuted by Eugenie Watson Grady of San Rafael, who should know. Mrs. Grady, born in 1908, lived at 38 Alexander Avenue, the street behind the present Van Der Maelen building. As a child, she played in the fields where the Van Der Maelen building is now located.

"I know there was no building on that site," said Mrs. Grady. "In fact there were no commercial buildings from the San Rafael-San Anselmo town limits on Fourth Street (as it was known then) until Billy Shannon's saloon (where Triple S. Tire is now) at the start of the Miracle Mile . . . Van Der Maelen may have owned the land in 1905, but I know the building was built way after the first World War (1914-1918)."

That whole area was once a swampy lake where Mrs. Grady's father and grandfather used to shoot wild ducks.

Van Der Maelen Cleaners, now owned by Henry Catalaa of San Rafael, will go out of business at the end of this year. The brick building will be converted into a beer and wine store by the owners of Maison Gourmet Delicatessen of Greenbrae.

Chappel Is Head Of U.S. Leasing

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — United States Leasing International, Inc. has announced the election of Edgar H. Chappel as president of U.S. Leasing Realty Advisers Inc., replacing Louis W. Walker, who resigned.

Advisers, a USL subsidiary, is the management company for U.S. Leasing Real Estate Investors, a real estate investment trust.

Walker, who will remain on the REIT's board of Trustees, resigned "to pursue personal interests in real estate investment, development, consulting and brokerage."

Chappell will become a trustee effective Jan. 1.

Chappell, 49, has been associated with the trust since its inception and was a vice president of the management company.

An experienced real estate investment executive, he supervised construction lending activity during the development of San Francisco's Embarcadero Center for Wells Fargo Bank.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

Knowing How To Handle Loss On Investments Is Valuable

If you have investments and you have short-term losses, it would be a good idea to take them in 1972. If you have long-term losses, be careful that you don't take more losses than are necessary to offset capital gains because you can only claim long-term losses to the extent of capital gains plus $2 of long-term loss to offset $1 of ordinary income up to a maximum of $1,000 of ordinary income offset by $2,000 of long-term losses.

Excess losses can be carried over to subsequent years and remain long-term or short-term. Short-term losses are used first, then long-term.

If you have large capital gains, actually compute your tax and see which year will come out best. Don't forget, income averaging applies to capital gains this year and the maximum tax on capital gains over $50,000 is now 35 per cent.

The new tax law has many ways to hit wealthy taxpayers who have formerly escaped paying taxes or have paid very little taxes.

There is a new concept in the tax law called "preference income" and while this preference income is subject to an additional 10 per cent tax, it affects very few people. There are nine types of preference income:

1. Depletion.
2. Accelerated depreciation on real estate and amortization of on-the-job training and child care facilities.
3. Restricted qualified stock options.
4. Net long-term gains.
5. Amortization of certified pollution control facilities.
6. Amortization of railroad rolling stock.
7. Bad debts - financial institutions.
8. Accelerated depreciation on personal property subject to net lease.
9. Some foreign source tax preference income, but only to the extent that it reduces domestic income.

However, tax preference items have to total more than $30,000 before they are subject to tax because you have a $30,000 exclusion and also exclude your regular tax liability.

Your capital gains may be taxed at more than 25 per cent, but to do this you would have to have capital gains in excess of $50,000 and also you would have to have a taxable income in excess of $26,000 for a single person and $38,000 for a head of household and $52,000 for a married couple.

The reason is that only 50 per cent of your capital gains is taxed and unless your rate on all of your income exceeds 50 per cent, then the tax on your capital gain would not exceed 25 per cent of the amount of the gain.

Hence, if you have a large income and capital gains, you would use the alternative tax method to arrive at the tax on your capital gains of 25 per cent of the total amount of the gain, up to the first $50,000 of gain.

After that, the maximum tax would be 35 per cent on the excess.

Homeowners Can Expect Increased Value In '73

Owners of raw land in Marin will continue to take a beating in 1973, but those with used single-family homes can expect a price increase of at least 7 per cent.

These predictions are made in a newsletter to be mailed next week by Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors Inc.

The Real Estate Newsletter says raw acreage in Marin must have lost 15 to 20 per cent of its market value in the past 12 months because of conservation movements such as the open space drives, building moratoriums, and environmental impact studies. "We predict an increase in prices of used single-family homes of at least 7 per cent due to scarcity of supply," says the newsletter.

"Real estate taxes on improved properties are going to soar in 1973 . . . The assessor must acknowledge losses in value from adverse zoning, moratoriums, 60-acre minimums, water supply limitations and open space movements. To balance these decreased values, the assessed value of improved property will increase as demand forces the prices upward on the limited supply.

"For raw land holders in Marin, we see nothing but difficulties ahead in liquidating your properties if it is unzoned acreage."

The demand for office space and substantial amounts of condominium construction are the bright spots in Marin's development potential, says the newsletter. Its conclusion:

"Construction will be severely hampered because of the lack of new land being developed. Prices will soar, taxes will soar, and the less-than-affluent and the faint-of-heart will seek and find housing elsewhere than Marvelous Marin."

Realtor Offers To Play Santa For The Needy

Unneeded toys or clothing from Marin households will brighten Christmas for many Marin County children, with the help of Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors Inc.

The realty firm is volunteering to collect such toys and clothing for distribution to children who have few if any presents to open Christmas morning.

"Bring them to the lobby of our Greenbrae offce at 505 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and we will see that they are delivered to the proper county agencies who will distribute them," said R. Peter Attell, who heads the collection campaign for Allen & Co. "Used and like-new articles alike are welcome. Take a moment today and look to see if you have anything you would like to contribute to a child's merry Christmas."

Attell said contributors who are unable to bring the items to the realty office should call his office. "We will be gald to pick up any contribution you may have, no matter how small."

Moderate Profit Taking Slices Range Of Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — Moderate profit taking swept prices lower in a broad range today on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was moderate.

Analysts said the profit taking was normal after the market's steep climb of recent weeks. The stock market also has glued its eyes on the Paris peace talks.

U.S. Freight was the most active issue, off ⅝ at 25 ⅜ on 229,300 shares, including a block trade of 221,000 shares at 25, off 1.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were lower in fairly active trading. Champion Home Builders was the most active Amex issue, off 1 at 13 ⅞ on 67,300 shares.

Air Board Chairman Ignores Subpoena

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A defiant chairman of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District yesterday ignored a subpoena to testify before a legislative committee investigating the district.

The committee vowed "appropriate steps to assure his presence" at a hearing next month.

San Mateo County Supervisor Robert B. St. Clair insisted in a statement issued from his county office that it was "absolutely imperative" that he remain there for the regular weekly meeting of his board of supervisors.

He said he was needed to make a quorum of the five-member board because one member was absent, though it takes only three to make a quorum.

St. Clair cited advice from his county's district attorney, Keith C. Sorenson, that the committee's subpoena probably was invalid because it had been sent to sheriff's deputies by teletype instead of being delivered in its original form.

The chairman of the Assembly Environmental Quality Committee, March K. Fong, D-Oakland, told newsmen after the all-day hearing in the Marin Civic Center that she will have St. Clair subpoenaed in person next time. "I may deliver it myself," said the 110-pound, five-foot, three-inch chairman.

St. Clair, a former tackle for the San Francisco 49ers, stands a foot and a half above Mrs. Fong and outweighs her by 155 pounds.

The disparity did not faze Assemblyman Richard D. Hayden, R-Sunnyvale. "If Mr. St. Clair wants to tackle Mrs. Fong," he said, "my bet is on Mrs. Fong."

She added that St. Clair "may have been a defensive tackle, but he's being offensively defensive."

St. Clair's statement criticized the committee for listening Monday to testimony by critics of the district. The same critics have appeared "more than 100 times" before the smog board, and do not represent the public, he said.

Assemblyman Hayden also tackled St. Clair, criticizing the supervisor for asserting last week that the Legislature has "no damn business" investigating the district, which it created in 1955. St. Clair argued that the Legislature itself was so "out of order" that it should tend to its own problems and leave the district alone.

District director William R. Jelavich followed with an attack on the district's top administrator, D. J. Callaghan, for running the staff with "iron-fisted control. You salute and kick your heels, and God help you in that organization if you don't toe the mark."

Jelavich, a Mountain View City councilman, called again for the firing of Callaghan, declaring he also was responsible for "unnecessary friction and distrust" between the district and public.

Callaghan assured the committee that "we've done everything humanly possible" to meet citizens complaints. Like St. Clair, he suggested that the few who complain to the district are not representative of the region's five million citizens.

Noting that the district also takes heat from industry, developers, labor and builders, Callaghan said "if we can be damned with equal impunity by conservationists and developers, we certainly must be doing something right."

He argued that the air in the district was "significantly cleaner as a result of the district's activity."

Defending Callaghan was director Gerald M. Poznanovich, a Santa Rosa city councilman. Noting the board's 14-2 vote last week to clear Callaghan of charges made by Jelavich, he said "there wasn't enough there to tell me that our administrative officer was doing a bad job, and I couldn't vote to remove him. Thirteen others agreed.

Poznanovich insisted that district directors give the job enough time to know what is going on, but could name only two of the 20 members on the board's advisory council. He has been on the board for a year and a half.

The committee also heard charges that Callaghan doctored board minutes so they no longer reflected boarF/actions. The charges were made by the board's secretary, Mabel Harder, a 13-year employee.

Callaghan rebutted that the changes he made were only for accuracy, and it was only "her opinion" that they distorted the board's actions.

Obliged to clear the planning commission chambers to make way for the county's aviation commission, the committee agreed to hold another hearing sometime next month in the district's San Francisco headquarters.

"Many questions remain to be asked and many issues remain to be probed," Mrs. Fong said. "And we still want to hear from Mr. St. Clair."

Arsenic Content High In Chickens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 465 million broiler-fryer chickens, nearly one out of every six grown this year, apparently went to market with illegal residues of organic arsenic in their livers, the Agriculture Department said Tuesday.

Officials said residues also were found in the livers of hogs in a scientific random hog-poultry sampling, but appeared in only 1.7 per cent of the pork samples in contrast to the 15.5 per cent violation rate found in chicken livers.

Spokesmen said the levels of the organic arsenic, which is mixed into hog and chicken feed to stimulate growth, were considered "not particularly dangerous" to human consumers, but nevertheless were illegal because they were above official "safety tolerance" levels of 1 part per million for chickens and 2 parts per million in hogs.

Automatic Check Plan Being Eyed

Each month, Californians write about 50 million routine checks for fixed payments on cars, mortgages, loans, rents, insurance and other recurring bills.

Why can't these recurring, fixed payments be made automatically by banks to save customer's time and effort and reduce the paperwork that threatens to gum up the banking system?

That is exactly what is being done by California banks, working with the Federal Reserve System. They have launched what is called the Automatic Payments and Deposits, a voluntary service enabling bank customers to authorize deposits to and withdrawals from their accounts automatically without using checks.

Explanation of the new system came from Joseph Barish of Tiburon, an executive with Hill and Knowlton Inc. public relations firm in San Francisco. Barish explained that the concept of automatic payments and deposits is not new. But until now, each of these preauthorized payment services was limited to transactions within a single bank. Under the new program, these paperless transactions are possible among various banks.

To provide central clearing facilities for paperless entries, the Federal Reserve Bank in San Francisco, with its computer equipment, has agreed to operate as an automatied clearing house.

The employer must agree to participate before any employee can join the program. And even if the employer participates, each employee has the option of joining or not. Furthermore, an employee may join and then get out if he does not like the system.

If an employee decides to join, this is how it would work:

Each payday, the employer sends deposit information on the participating employees to the originating (employer's) bank. The information is cleared through the Automated Clearing House, and deposits are made in the proper employee accounts. Participating employees no longer need to stand in line to deposit. Employees will not get their paychecks but will get the usual statement of earnings, indicating gross pay, deductions, and net amount deposited.

Periodic payments like insurance, car and house payments will then be handled automatically.

Employees will continue to write checks as before on nonrecurring payments and will get monthly statements showing both checks and automatic payments charged during the month.

In case of error in payments, provisions are made to cancel the payment, or if the payment is already made, to credit the account for the amount in question and return the entry to the billing firm.

Almost all banks in the state are participating in the statewide system. Since the Automated Clearing Houses serve only the state of California, the program is available only to customers of California banks at present.

Checks Larger For Yule Clubs

A total of $24,041,196 will be distributed to more than 105,596 Christmas Club customers, in California, Wells Fargo Bank announced today.

The average Christmas Club check will be about $228 up from $217 a year ago.

In the North Bay area, the Bank will mail a total of $793,411 to some 3,173 customers. The average amount will be $250.

Last year a total of $23,129,344 in checks was sent to 106,451 California residents.

Record Sales

New York (UPI) — This year will see a record number of automobile tires sold in the United States, reports Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. Americans will spend $4.9 billion to buy 148 million new replacement auto tires.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Sale Suggested Of Stock Shares

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I paid 36½ for Genesco, Inc. (NYSE) in 1964 and it has dropped so much! Now the dividend has been cut. I am a senior citizen and can ill afford the loss. Any advice would be greatly appreciated. — B.H.

A. You are correct in noting that Genesco shares have suffered a drop in price. You have neglected, however, to adjust your per share cost for the three-for-two split paid in August, 1966. This adjustment would reduce your cost to 24½ per share. While you still have a paper loss the figures are not quite as alarming.

In the first quarter of the current fiscal year, margins remainedunder pressure. Earnings dropped 32 per cent to 44 cents a share in the quarter ended Oct. 31 while sales rose 7 per cent. Directors finally reduced the dividend by more than 50 per cent with the October payment. In view of the narrow dividend coverage from 1970 forward, this move was no surprise. A shareholder has filed a suit against the company charging it with overstatement of net worth. Recently installed cost controls may not be immediately apparent, thus recovery is apt to be a long process. Sale is suggested.

Q. About a year ago I purchased 1,000 shares of Lord Abbett bond debenture fund. On this I receive $200 quarterly. I am a widow and would like to know if the money would be better placed in government bonds for greater safety and income? — M.H.

A. Although greater safety could be achieved in government securities, you would certainly sacrifice some income in such an exchange. At current asset value the Lord Abbett bond debenture fund yields 7 per cent versus a maximum of 6.5 per cent on a U.S. Treasury bond. Certainly a good measure of security is achieved through the diversity of the more than 100 different debt issues held in your fund's portfolio. While some of these individual securities are speculative, the risk is diffused in the $100 million plus portfolio. Hold.

Moderate Profit Taking Slices Range Of Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — Moderate profit taking swept prices lower in a broad range today on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was moderate.

Analysts said the profit taking was normal after the market's steep climb of recent weeks. The stock market also has glued its eyes on the Paris peace talks.

U.S. Freight was the most active issue, off ⅝ at 25 ⅜ on 229,300 shares, including a block trade of 221,000 shares at 25, off 1.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were lower in fairly active trading. Champion Home Builders was the most active Amex issue, off 1 at 13 ⅞ on 67,300 shares.

Grand Avenue Philatelic Supply Store To Open Early Next Year

Grand Stamp Center, a new philatelic supply shop, will open in San Rafael on Grand Avenue near Stan's For Sports about Jan. 15.

Proprietor will be Sidney Golditch, of New York, a retired businessman in the trucking field, who has pursued stamp collection as a hobby for 13 years. His son is Dr. Ira Golditch of San Rafael.

The Grand Stamp Center will open at 969 Grand Avenue, three doors from Stan's, where a camping supplies store was formerly located. Golditch plans to encourage stamp collection among youth, setting up school stamp clubs and working with community service groups. He will have used stamps, mint stamps and new issues from all over the world, and a complete line of supplies for all stamp collectors.

ACE LETTER SERVICE at 831 B Street in San Rafael plans to move into new quarters at 123 Alto Street, near the corner of Belvedere and Tiburon Streets in San Rafael next February.

Ace Letter Service, owned by Vernon and Renate Burns, will occupy a portion of a new building under construction behind the Marin Builders Exchange.

The company, established in 1949 by Alicia Jacobsen, was purchased by the Burnses seven years ago. It specializes in small job printing, letterheads, small brochures, and mailing of newsletters nd communications for organizations and individuals. Ace Letter uses high speed duplicators, magnetic tape selective typewriters and other modern equipment for quick and personalized service.

The new building, called the Baron Pacific Building, is owned by Baron Pacific Limited, whose partners are Burns, John Kuntz and Alfred Dalecio. It is the first structure in San Rafael to use the new Rolin-Truss developed by Etienne Rolin of San Anselmo.

TERRY LEHMAN (Mrs. Carl Lehman III) of San Rafael has been promoted to manager of the new Fairfax office of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, San Rafael.

President Harold S. Elberg announced that Mrs. Lehman will begin her new assignment on Jan. 2, the opening date of the new Fairfax office at 1 Bolinas Road.

Mrs. Lehman joined the staff of First Federal four years ago and was in charge of the loan servicing department.

W. E. GEDDES of Daly City opened a new company which manufactures wood products at Hamilton Industrial Park in Ignacio this week.

William Hoey Company arranged the lease of 2,880 square feet for Geddes at 92 Hamilton Drive. Geddes said he plans to make decorative items such as bookcases.

Geddes was engaged in the exhibit business, planning and putting on trade shows, for the past 20 years. He decided to retire from that business, move to Terra Linda, and open his wood products shop.

Hoey Company also arranged the lease of 890 square feet at 102-D Hamilton Drive, Hamilton Industrial Park, for Don Clark's auto and marine upholstery business. Clark operated from his home on Lynwood Drive in Novato until he moved to Hamilton Industrial Park last week.

A FASHION SHOW featuring apparel from the Ross Valley Shop in Larkspur will be held tomorrow from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. at Lark Creek Inn in Larkspur.

Laura Mouer, fashion show specialist from San Anselmo, will arrange the one-hour presentation of dresses, some casual pant suits, and nightgown and robe ensembles, all in Christmas and New Year's motif.

OIL PAINTINGS of Kay Cousineau and the acrylics and weavings of Henri Boussy are on display at the Redwood Bank in San Rafael during the month of December.

Mrs. Cousineau, a resident of Mill Valley, was the first illustrator for "Etc", the general semantics magazine. Boussy is an art teacher at the Tamalpais High School and chairman of its fine arts department.

VAN DER MAELEN Dry Cleaners on the Miracle Mile in San Rafael is an old establishment, but the old brick building is not quite as old as we thought it was.

Last month, we said the building had been there before the 1906 earthquake, but this has been refuted by Eugenie Watson Grady of San Rafael, who should know. Mrs. Grady, born in 1908, lived at 38 Alexander Avenue, the street behind the present Van Der Maelen building. As a child, she played in the fields where the Van Der Maelen building is now located.

"I know there was no building on that site," said Mrs. Grady. "In fact there were no commercial buildings from the San Rafael-San Anselmo town limits on Fourth Street (as it was known then) until Billy Shannon's saloon (where Triple S. Tire is now) at the start of the Miracle Mile . . . Van Der Maelen may have owned the land in 1905, but I know the building was built way after the first World War (1914-1918)."

That whole area was once a swampy lake where Mrs. Grady's father and grandfather used to shoot wild ducks.

Van Der Maelen Cleaners, now owned by Henry Catalaa of San Rafael, will go out of business at the end of this year. The brick building will be converted into a beer and wine store by the owners of Maison Gourmet Delicatessen of Greenbrae.

Chappel Is Head Of U.S. Leasing

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — United States Leasing International, Inc. has announced the election of Edgar H. Chappel as president of U.S. Leasing Realty Advisers Inc., replacing Louis W. Walker, who resigned.

Advisers, a USL subsidiary, is the management company for U.S. Leasing Real Estate Investors, a real estate investment trust.

Walker, who will remain on the REIT's board of Trustees, resigned "to pursue personal interests in real estate investment, development, consulting and brokerage."

Chappell will become a trustee effective Jan. 1.

Chappell, 49, has been associated with the trust since its inception and was a vice president of the management company.

An experienced real estate investment executive, he supervised construction lending activity during the development of San Francisco's Embarcadero Center for Wells Fargo Bank.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

Knowing How To Handle Loss On Investments Is Valuable

If you have investments and you have short-term losses, it would be a good idea to take them in 1972. If you have long-term losses, be careful that you don't take more losses than are necessary to offset capital gains because you can only claim long-term losses to the extent of capital gains plus $2 of long-term loss to offset $1 of ordinary income up to a maximum of $1,000 of ordinary income offset by $2,000 of long-term losses.

Excess losses can be carried over to subsequent years and remain long-term or short-term. Short-term losses are used first, then long-term.

If you have large capital gains, actually compute your tax and see which year will come out best. Don't forget, income averaging applies to capital gains this year and the maximum tax on capital gains over $50,000 is now 35 per cent.

The new tax law has many ways to hit wealthy taxpayers who have formerly escaped paying taxes or have paid very little taxes.

There is a new concept in the tax law called "preference income" and while this preference income is subject to an additional 10 per cent tax, it affects very few people. There are nine types of preference income:

1. Depletion.
2. Accelerated depreciation on real estate and amortization of on-the-job training and child care facilities.
3. Restricted qualified stock options.
4. Net long-term gains.
5. Amortization of certified pollution control facilities.
6. Amortization of railroad rolling stock.
7. Bad debts - financial institutions.
8. Accelerated depreciation on personal property subject to net lease.
9. Some foreign source tax preference income, but only to the extent that it reduces domestic income.

However, tax preference items have to total more than $30,000 before they are subject to tax because you have a $30,000 exclusion and also exclude your regular tax liability.

Your capital gains may be taxed at more than 25 per cent, but to do this you would have to have capital gains in excess of $50,000 and also you would have to have a taxable income in excess of $26,000 for a single person and $38,000 for a head of household and $52,000 for a married couple.

The reason is that only 50 per cent of your capital gains is taxed and unless your rate on all of your income exceeds 50 per cent, then the tax on your capital gain would not exceed 25 per cent of the amount of the gain.

Hence, if you have a large income and capital gains, you would use the alternative tax method to arrive at the tax on your capital gains of 25 per cent of the total amount of the gain, up to the first $50,000 of gain.

After that, the maximum tax would be 35 per cent on the excess.

Homeowners Can Expect Increased Value In '73

Owners of raw land in Marin will continue to take a beating in 1973, but those with used single-family homes can expect a price increase of at least 7 per cent.

These predictions are made in a newsletter to be mailed next week by Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors Inc.

The Real Estate Newsletter says raw acreage in Marin must have lost 15 to 20 per cent of its market value in the past 12 months because of conservation movements such as the open space drives, building moratoriums, and environmental impact studies. "We predict an increase in prices of used single-family homes of at least 7 per cent due to scarcity of supply," says the newsletter.

"Real estate taxes on improved properties are going to soar in 1973 . . . The assessor must acknowledge losses in value from adverse zoning, moratoriums, 60-acre minimums, water supply limitations and open space movements. To balance these decreased values, the assessed value of improved property will increase as demand forces the prices upward on the limited supply.

"For raw land holders in Marin, we see nothing but difficulties ahead in liquidating your properties if it is unzoned acreage."

The demand for office space and substantial amounts of condominium construction are the bright spots in Marin's development potential, says the newsletter. Its conclusion:

"Construction will be severely hampered because of the lack of new land being developed. Prices will soar, taxes will soar, and the less-than-affluent and the faint-of-heart will seek and find housing elsewhere than Marvelous Marin."

Realtor Offers To Play Santa For The Needy

Unneeded toys or clothing from Marin households will brighten Christmas for many Marin County children, with the help of Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors Inc.

The realty firm is volunteering to collect such toys and clothing for distribution to children who have few if any presents to open Christmas morning.

"Bring them to the lobby of our Greenbrae offce at 505 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and we will see that they are delivered to the proper county agencies who will distribute them," said R. Peter Attell, who heads the collection campaign for Allen & Co. "Used and like-new articles alike are welcome. Take a moment today and look to see if you have anything you would like to contribute to a child's merry Christmas."

Attell said contributors who are unable to bring the items to the realty office should call his office. "We will be gald to pick up any contribution you may have, no matter how small."

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Schools Should Be 'Freeze-Proof' Too

Marin's unusual freezing spell has shown up some of the shortcomings of our buildings.

Frozen water pipes have suddenly become a commonplace, with fire departments and both water districts in the county deluged with calls about them.

To the many Marinites who have come here from parts of the country where long, hard freezes are expected every winter, the idea of water pipes freezing at temperatures of 20 or 25 degrees seems almost fantastic.

THE REASON, of course, is that no care is taken to protect pipes against cold when buildings are erected here.

Many of Marin's older two-story homes have water pipes on the outside, exposed to the elements. In newer homes, pipes are within the walls, but often a portion between ground and floor is completely unprotected from the weather.

Water pipes leading in from mains often are buried only a few inches, or in some instances not at all. The same applies to sewer pipes leading out from houses.

With this kind of construction, water that stands in a pipe will freeze in a relatively short time at 20 to 25 degree temperatures.

People buy houses in Marin which have exposed water pipes without giving it a thought. Only a really unusual cold spell, such as that which began last week, causes them to realize that such things as burying or insulating water pipes are required methods of construction in places with a normally less salubrious climate.

APPARENTLY no more thought of freezing hazards is taken in planning school buildings. Pipes burst in five schools in the San Anselmo School District last week end, causing extensive damage.

By law, California school buildings must be "earthquake resistant." We are constantly reminded of the hazards of quakes. Of course, when one hits the damage may be tremendous, and any type of construction that will lessen it should be encouraged, especially for school buildings.

The damage from freezing is comparatively small. But the likelihood is greater.

The last quake that did much damage in Marin County was over 66 years ago. The last big freeze to compare with this month's, according to old timers with long memories, was less than 30 years ago.

IT WOULD seem good sense for school construction to include protection of water pipes — which is not costly —along with protection against earthquakes.

For that matter, it might pay home buyers to see whether pipes are protected before signing mortgage contracts. Damage from a broken water pipe, while not comparable to that from a severe earth tremor, can be expensive to repair.

'Tax Reform' Bill Fails To Close Those Loopholes

By RUS WALTON

SB 90, the Moretti-Reagan tax reform bill, has several major failings. One of them is that it did nothing to close some major tax loopholes.

Thus, while the state's tax burden will be increased for middle income families, some individuals and companies will continued to enjoy tax subsidies, and preferential tax treatment.

It is estimated that if all the existing "loopholes" were closed, the additional tax revenue would mount to $300 million a year. Time and time again, efforts have been made to do just that. But the loopholes are still there. And you are paying the bill.

Some of these came as a result of powerful political pressure. Others evolved as an attempt to attract industry and stimulate the economy. All are reminders of what can happen when taxes cease to be neutral and are used for favoritism or social reform.

ONE MAJOR loophole is the "principal office deduction" for insurance companies. The subsidy was originally granted in 1910 to attract insurance companies to California. It was modified in 1942 so that it applies only to the "principal office property."

This law permits an insurance company to deduct from its state taxes those local property taxes paid on its main office building.

An insurance company that has its national headquarters in California may deduct all of that property tax, regardless of how much of the home office building it uses, or how much it rents out.

An insurance company that has its national headquarters in another state (or country) may deduct local property taxes, based on the proportion of its local office building it occupies —plus an extra 25 per cent for growth factor.

ANOTHER TAX subsidy is the "bad debt allowance" provided for banks and savings and loan institutions. These organizations are permitted to deduct from their gross taxable incomes as "bad debt reserve."

Under the present law, a bank can multiply its actual bad debt losses anywhere from three to five times, and average them over a six-year period.

In 1969, for example, banks and savings and loans lost $64.4 million in bad debts. But, they were allowed to deduct $186 million from their gross taxable incomes.

The Franchise Tax Board estimated that in 1971 this loophole cost the citizens some $20 million in lost tax revenue.

ANOTHER LITTLE loophole is available to folks in the 60 per cent and over tax bracket. (The fact that government can confiscate 60 per cent of a man's income creates a strong compulsion to seek loopholes.) This is known as generating tax benefits in excess of investment; it means there is a way to invest your money so that you save more in taxes than you invested in the first place.

Briefly, it can work like this:

You invest $10,000 in a ranch, as a limited partner. The man who manages the ranch borrows $30,000 on the strength of your $10,000 investment. Since it is a limited partnership, you are not directly liable for the $30,000 loan. But your "tax basis" on the deal is now $40,000.

Say the ranch loses $20,000 in the first few months, due to prepayment of certain bills. You can take a tax deduction of $20,000. In the 60 per cent bracket, that is a tax saving of $12,000 — $2,000 more than your investment.

Later you can sell the cattle and your profit will be taxed at 25 per cent —as capital gains.

BUT, IF YOU are a $15,000-a-year wage-earner that is not for you. You pays your taxes and takes your lumps.

There is a crying need to overhaul the state's tax structure. To make it fair, and neutral, and honest.

SB 90 made no attempt to clean up the tax mess. It just added taxes on top of taxes and left the loopholes where they are.

Today's woman doesn't know whether to show her timidity by remaining upright or reveal her bravery by sitting down.

A London inventor has come to the rescue with a legless chair that looks like half a honeydew melon. For tomatoes with short skirts.

The short, short dress is like the late, late show. Too much material has been left out.

When a fellow looks a gal in the eye these days she feels insulted.

Don't want to seem prudish about modern styles, but we can remember when there was more to women than met the eye.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

American Bombing Is America's Responsibility

In today's editorial you rid the United States of America of all responsibility of any destruction caused by American bombs, dropped from American planes, built by American people, and paid for by American people. These bombs were transported to Vietnam for the purpose of continuing a war that was begun by France in trying to recapture a colony which they had (in 1945) recognized as an independent nation.

However, you have not made it clear in what way all of our sacrifices could possibly save "President" (?) Thieu's country (Vietnam) from invasion by the Vietnamese people.

Women's Center Works For Women, Not County

Your coverage of the Mill Valley City Council meeting, and, in particular, of the agenda item pertaining to our mayor, Jean Barnard, was fine.

I would, however, like to correct two errors in the article. First, the representative from the Women's Center was Charlotte Krause — not Krauss, as it appeared in the paper.

Secondly, the Women's Center is formally titled the Marin Women's Center. We are not the women's center for Marin County. We are for Marin County only in the sense that we are for the women of the county. For too many years women have brought together their energies to work for causes other than their own — the Marin Women's Center is a group of Marin women working for women.

San Rafael Receives Third-Rate Bus Service

Is San Rafael a "third rate" community? It appears to be from a commuter's viewpoint. Since the Golden Gate Bridge District took over our transportation almost a year ago, the commuter bus service between San Rafael and San Francisco has continually become less acceptable.

Let us make a comparison:

Bus fare Central Marin-San Francisco went up (remember, S.R.-S.F. $13.55 to $15 for 20 rides). At the same time Novato-San Francisco fares were reduced. Do you realize you can commute from Novato to S.F. for the same fare as Corte Madera to S.F. (there is a real difference on a per-mile basis)?

. . . Commuters from all Northern Marin ride on very nice, comfortable, new air-conditioned buses run on "express" scheduled (from Terra Linda to the county line). San Rafael commuters wait in line (at Fourth and Hetherton I have seen from 50 to 125 people waiting in line for 20 minutes or more), for what? An "old dog" (400 number series), an "East Bay dog" (500 series), or a "school bus" (600 series) if they are lucky. These types come equipped with a green driver who asks the passengers the route, or he knows the route and stops at every bus pad, even if the bus is full and no passengers are waiting.

. . . Mr. White told me the reason for not using the "dogs" in Northern Marin and Sonoma is "economy." His explanation seems reasonable. However, if it is more economical to run the "dogs" on San Rafael schedules, why does the fare remain the same as on the longer runs?

. . . All the San Rafael commuters see of the new "express" types are as they speed down the overpass, above our "third rate city," and disappear in the smoggy distance.

'Sudden Conversion' For Council Candidates?

Isn't it interesting that open space, intelligent planning, and citizen participation in government are suddenly such vital issues with the candidates who have declared for the vacant San Rafael City Council seat? The eight announced hopefuls for appointment and/or election to the council have spoken almost as a single voice in assuring us that these issues are uppermost in their minds. And these words of concern about open space and sound planning have come tumbling off some rather unlikely tongues.

Granted, a few of the candidates — John Starkweather, Jack Nixon, Al Boro, perhaps — had demonstrated a sincere concern for conservation and planning long before they announced for the council seat. But if the others had used their votes more wisely as appointed commissioners, or had been more involved in these causes as private citizens, perhaps planning and open space would not be such crisis issues today.

I suppose we can only hope that if a man is politically astute enough to realize he must espouse these issues to have any chance of election, then he'll be responsible and honest enough to honor the will of the people while he's serving on the council.

$1 Gasoline By 1980 Forecast By Authority

Gasoline will cost $1 a gallon by 1980 because of diminishing domestic reserves of petroleum, U.S. Undersecretary of Transportation James Beggs told a transportation symposium in San Francisco recently . . .

An oil man, among a small group who gathered about Mr. Beggs after the symposium, protested that the $1 a gallon figure was scare talk which did not take into account inflation, the production possible from domestic oil shales, or foreign oil imports.

Mr. Beggs replied that oil could be extracted from domestic shales only if formidable environmental problems could be overcome. Foreign nations might well raise their prices on oil exports as our domestic production fell, or their own people's needs increased. His economist advisers, he said, felt the $1 per gallon price by 1980 was a "lead pipe cinch" because of the supply-demand relationship.

Among his other comments: as an engineer, he regarded transit as the most efficient use of an increasingly scarce resource. As for the plight of our cities today, no engineer in his right mind, if asked to design a transportation system for present needs, would ever come up with what we now have.

I hope our state and local governments will heed these revolutionary warnings from a high U.S. official in an administration that can hardly be characterized as revolutionary . . .

For this year alone, Marin residents are spending about $150 million to operate their cars and trucks on the highway system. (125,000 registered vehicles x 12,000 miles per year x 10 cents per mile.) This is a direct measure of consumption of natural resources.

By contrast, Golden Gate Transit is estimated to cost about $7 million to operate in 1972, and much of this figure includes labor costs.

First Amendment Gets All Mixed Up With Christmas

WASHINGTON — 'Tis the season to be jolly, and also contentious.

Here in the midst of rain that should be snow, and elbowing shopping rush and the great Nixon cabinet shell game, the First Amendment to the Constitution is getting a going-over from more directions at once than at any time I can remember.

The Supreme Court tells the bottomless barmaids and orgy actors in California that freedom of their particular form of expression is limited to places where you cannot buy a drink. In Pennsylvania and elsewhere, people are balancing off freedom of "speech" vs. freedom of press on the subject of newspaper ads for X-rated movies.

You may have thought the companion issue of religious freedom, specifically church-state separation as it applies to the public schools, was clearly covered in the First Amendment and reinforced by the failure of the school-prayer amendment in Congress. But religious freedom to one man, or one faith, is religious imprisonment to another. The broad subject will not lie still.

DESPITE RECENT court rulings, the movement continues to provide federal or state aid to parochial schools by doing it one way instead of another. And now, in the spirit of the season, the celebrators in Prince George's County, Md., just outside your national capital, are joined in brotherly dissent over whether or not to sing Christmas carols in their public schools.

The Superintendent, Carl Hassel, says no. At least he seems to, and a lot of parents around his neighborhood seem to think he does. Exactly what he said to provoke the controversy — I am sure he hoped to settle it instead — is open to interpretation. The operative part of his memo to Prince George's principals reads like this:

"Public schools must show no preference for one religion over another, and must refrain from the specific promotion of any religion or all religions. Consequently, no religious celebrations as such may be held as part of any public school program. Discretion should be exercised in the planning of musical programs during the school day which may coincide with any period of specific religious celebration. It should be emphasized that this guideline clearly permits the singing of festive songs, as may be a part of a winter or spring festival."

UNLIKE AID to parochial schools, this is a question that would seem to unite Catholics and Protestants on one side and Jewish parents on the other. If, that is, people chose sides up strictly on the basis of their own religion. Such is only roughly true.

For instance, one recent symposium of letters to the editor published by the Washington Post covered both sides of the Prince George's affair. All the letters used (five of them) happened to be from Jews, and their feelings were stated just as eloquently, even emotionally, on one side as on the other.

One said the ruling "represents a very real attempt to eliminate the unfairness that has heretofore existed in the public school system by imposing the religious music activities of one faith on those of all faiths . . . Chanukah is not our Christmas, nor does it have anything to do with Christmas . . ."

Another: "I doubt that the Christian community has even an elementary awareness of the devastating effect these observances can have on non-Christians, particularly the young."

But another: "To imagine that this land of freedom . . . would suddenly condemn something beautiful because it is based on religion is beyond my comprehension. Since when has religion become a dirty word to be carefully kept away from our young children's ears . . .?"

IF THE SCHOOLS proceed in this direction, she says, they may have to eliminate also the study of Egyptian culture, Michelangelo, Da Vinci and Bach.

Another, perhaps most sensibly, suggests singing Jewish songs (for example, "Rock of Ages") and Mohammedan or Buddhist, too, if available. "There is a definite educational value in making children aware of the nature of the world's great religions . . . These are times to accentuate unifying rather than divisive forces."

Meanwhile, however, Superintendent Hassel is sticking to his memo. And if I interpret it correctly, it means you can go to your church and sing your songs, and you can go to your synagogue and sing yours, and afterwards, both of you come over to my place for eggnog and we'll sing "Jingle Bells."

Soviet Union Seeks To Have World Censor News For It

WASHINGTON — What on earth are the Soviet Union and its allies up to, trying to trap the whole world into banning the free flow of news via satellite television?

An earlier column set out the headway (an initial U.N. vote of 102 to 1) which this hideous enterprise is making.

What are the Russians really after in pressing this planetary black-out-at-will of the satellite TV news?

WE DON'T HAVE to look very far to find the answer.

Before worldwide satellite television news broadcasting gets well established and becomes so appealing to everybody everywhere, the Soviet sponsors of this evil treaty — and others like-minded — want to get the rest of the world to do their censoring for them.

That's it — and nothing else — and when it emerges without its sheep's clothing perhaps some governments will wake up and say no.

The United Nations didn't exist when radio news began to circle the globe and there was no easy forum before which Moscow could plead against the free flow of news.

Thus the Russians had to do their own censoring and erect their own blackout whenever they didn't want their people to hear unapproved news. They had to do their own jamming.

But now, under the treaty which so many governments find so alluring, the Soviet Union and other totalitarians want others to do their censoring for them.

UNDER THE TERMS of the proposed treaty, which is rolling merrily along, all the censorship-prone nations would have to do is raise a hand and say: "Stop the news" — and it would have to be stopped.

At the crook of the censor's finger anywhere around the planet, the news-bearing satellite would have to go silent. It wouldn't take many well-placed nations to keep it silent all the time.

Is that what so many countries which voted to draft this treaty really want?

Have these governments thought through whether they can tear up the U.N. Declaration of Human Rights with one hand and then expect to invoke it successfully with the other?

This U.N. provision affirms that all people have the right to "receive and impart information and ideas by any media regardless of frontiers."

The proposed treaty erases this right.

IN POINTING OUT that his country has ample devices to blockade both radio and satellite TV news, the Soviet spokesman at the U.N. avowed that Moscow is only trying to look out for the welfare of other nations.

The news from East Germany sheds light on why the Russians want to strengthen the censorship in other like-minded regimes even if its own censorship seems stout enough.

Recently the East German government signed a treaty making it easier for West Germans to visit briefly with their relatives in East Germany. But even this slight amount of intercommunication causes trembling. Therefore the East German regime has just issued an edict that leading Communist Party members and other East Germans with official functions (numbering about two million) must not receive visits from their West German relatives.

The New York Times reports that the Communist leaders appeared deeeply worried because too many East Germans were beginning to think too favorably about life in West Germany.

It is natural for Communist governments to resist the free flow of ideas and information, but why should other nations do their censoring for them?

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Dec. 13, 1962

The Marin County Grand Jury opened a hearing on alleged mismanagement of the Golden Gate Bridge District.

Nine persons were ousted from their dwelling on an old ferry boat in Richardson Bay as Marin County opened a drive to eliminate health and safety hazards in the bay.

20 YEARS AGO

Dec. 13, 1952

The State of California offered $1 million for the Richmond ferry terminal, signaling the impending end of ferry service between San Rafael and Richmond.

Final results of the 1950 federal census showed San Rafael with a population of 13,848. Unincorporated Novato had 3,496.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

Automatic Check Plan Being Eyed

Each month, Californians write about 50 million routine checks for fixed payments on cars, mortgages, loans, rents, insurance and other recurring bills.

Why can't these recurring, fixed payments be made automatically by banks to save customer's time and effort and reduce the paperwork that threatens to gum up the banking system?

That is exactly what is being done by California banks, working with the Federal Reserve System. They have launched what is called the Automatic Payments and Deposits, a voluntary service enabling bank customers to authorize deposits to and withdrawals from their accounts automatically without using checks.

Explanation of the new system came from Joseph Barish of Tiburon, an executive with Hill and Knowlton Inc. public relations firm in San Francisco. Barish explained that the concept of automatic payments and deposits is not new. But until now, each of these preauthorized payment services was limited to transactions within a single bank. Under the new program, these paperless transactions are possible among various banks.

To provide central clearing facilities for paperless entries, the Federal Reserve Bank in San Francisco, with its computer equipment, has agreed to operate as an automatied clearing house.

The employer must agree to participate before any employee can join the program. And even if the employer participates, each employee has the option of joining or not. Furthermore, an employee may join and then get out if he does not like the system.

If an employee decides to join, this is how it would work:

Each payday, the employer sends deposit information on the participating employees to the originating (employer's) bank. The information is cleared through the Automated Clearing House, and deposits are made in the proper employee accounts. Participating employees no longer need to stand in line to deposit. Employees will not get their paychecks but will get the usual statement of earnings, indicating gross pay, deductions, and net amount deposited.

Periodic payments like insurance, car and house payments will then be handled automatically.

Employees will continue to write checks as before on nonrecurring payments and will get monthly statements showing both checks and automatic payments charged during the month.

In case of error in payments, provisions are made to cancel the payment, or if the payment is already made, to credit the account for the amount in question and return the entry to the billing firm.

Almost all banks in the state are participating in the statewide system. Since the Automated Clearing Houses serve only the state of California, the program is available only to customers of California banks at present.

Checks Larger For Yule Clubs

A total of $24,041,196 will be distributed to more than 105,596 Christmas Club customers, in California, Wells Fargo Bank announced today.

The average Christmas Club check will be about $228 up from $217 a year ago.

In the North Bay area, the Bank will mail a total of $793,411 to some 3,173 customers. The average amount will be $250.

Last year a total of $23,129,344 in checks was sent to 106,451 California residents.

Record Sales

New York (UPI) — This year will see a record number of automobile tires sold in the United States, reports Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. Americans will spend $4.9 billion to buy 148 million new replacement auto tires.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Sale Suggested Of Stock Shares

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I paid 36½ for Genesco, Inc. (NYSE) in 1964 and it has dropped so much! Now the dividend has been cut. I am a senior citizen and can ill afford the loss. Any advice would be greatly appreciated. — B.H.

A. You are correct in noting that Genesco shares have suffered a drop in price. You have neglected, however, to adjust your per share cost for the three-for-two split paid in August, 1966. This adjustment would reduce your cost to 24½ per share. While you still have a paper loss the figures are not quite as alarming.

In the first quarter of the current fiscal year, margins remainedunder pressure. Earnings dropped 32 per cent to 44 cents a share in the quarter ended Oct. 31 while sales rose 7 per cent. Directors finally reduced the dividend by more than 50 per cent with the October payment. In view of the narrow dividend coverage from 1970 forward, this move was no surprise. A shareholder has filed a suit against the company charging it with overstatement of net worth. Recently installed cost controls may not be immediately apparent, thus recovery is apt to be a long process. Sale is suggested.

Q. About a year ago I purchased 1,000 shares of Lord Abbett bond debenture fund. On this I receive $200 quarterly. I am a widow and would like to know if the money would be better placed in government bonds for greater safety and income? — M.H.

A. Although greater safety could be achieved in government securities, you would certainly sacrifice some income in such an exchange. At current asset value the Lord Abbett bond debenture fund yields 7 per cent versus a maximum of 6.5 per cent on a U.S. Treasury bond. Certainly a good measure of security is achieved through the diversity of the more than 100 different debt issues held in your fund's portfolio. While some of these individual securities are speculative, the risk is diffused in the $100 million plus portfolio. Hold.

New Property Ownership Rule: You Pay For It, Can't Use It

Today, dear readers, a little cautionary tale.

Once upon a time there was an Air Force sergeant who was stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base and fell in love with Marin County. "Eureka!" he cried, gazing at the Pacific Ocean from the pastoral loveliness of Bolinas.

It was, he decided, just the place for his family's home when he retired from the Air Force. So he made a down payment on an acre of land at Bolinas, and while he was stationed overseas he thought long and lovingly about the house he would some day build there.

For six years he made monthly payments on his little piece of Bolinas until it was all his.

He was mildly surprised when the Marin County assessor's office annually informed him that its value had skyrocketed. The increase in assessed valuation, said the long-distance letters, meant he'd have to pay much higher taxes.

So our sergeant paid more and more taxes on his future homesite in Bolinas; not complaining about supporting the schools in West Marin and the splendor of the Civic Center and the College of Marin and so forth, because that is the American Way . . . Property Begets Responsibility.

He understood that, and was willing to pay for it.

WHEN IT CAME near time to return to America, he learned that he might have to wait awhile to build on his little piece of the country. The water district had slapped a moratorium on all new water hookups in Bolinas, he learned.

He couldn't quite understand this, because water district directors don't have planning authority. He began to wonder if things were changing.

And when he came back to Marin County, clutching the plans for his dream house in his hot, retired hands, he found he certainly couldn't build on the land. No water, hence no building.

So, sighing, he put money down on a house elsewhere in Marin and thought he'd sell his land in Bolinas to augment his puny G.I. Bill money.

And that's when our sergeant learned that Property Still Begets Responsibility — WITH NO BENEFITS.

"You can't give away land in West Marin," warned the realty men, "unless, of course, you're a major land holder — then you can sell it as a nature preserve at a vast profit."

BEFORE HE COULD put their warnings to the test, the people of California passed a coastal initiative, effectively putting his ocean view lot into the icebox.

"The right to own private property is no longer inalienable" pontificated the pundits, secure in their private homes.

"Keep West Marin for the birds and the visitors," said the ecologists, secure in their homes in East Marin.

"We don't want anyone else building houses in our lovely West Marin," cried all the people who'd already built their houses in lovely West Marin. Even some of the people who have houses in West Marin they only inhabit a few weeks a year joined in the keep-'em-out cries.

"Land speculators get what they deserve!" cried the opponents of all development anywhere — crying from their already constructed homes.

"Absentee landlord!" scoffed advocates of keeping Marin in a tight Eastern Urban Corridor.

"Keep paying your taxes," warned the county assessor's office.

ALL OUR BEWILDERED sergeant knows is that he owns a pleasant piece of land overlooking the ocean. It's on a paved road, with houses all around, and he is, by community will, forced to keep it as a kind of Involuntary Open Space.

Unfortunately, he's paid for and is continuing to pay for, his very own Open Space.

To him it seems remarkably like confiscation without compensation. And he has many companions in his plight.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Teachers In Woodland Become Own Performance Contractors

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Teachers in a Woodland, Yolo County, elementary school have met the demand for school accountability head-on. They have incorporated themselves to enter into a performance contract with Woodland Unified School District.

The Woodland agreement is one of five three-year performance contracts awarded this month under terms of last year's Assembly Bill 1482 by Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Anaheim, which guaranteed that this approach to school accountability will get a trial in California. All will start with the new year 1973.

Cory's bill provided for annual state subsidy grants for performance contracts in one district in each of five categories, to be chosen by the state superintendent of public instruction.

SELECTED AMONG districts in urban areas with higher than average unemployment was Pittsburg Unified School District in Contra Costa County, which will receive a $46,909 grant; among suburban areas, Ontario-Montclair Elementary School District in San Bernardino County, to receive $48,835; among the 20 largest districts in enrollment, Oakland Unified, to receive $70,000; among districts with fewer than 5,000 pupils, Southern Kern Unified in the Mojave Desert, to receive $40,000.

Woodland was chosen among districts in rural agricultural areas, and has been awarded a $44,000 grant.

But only in Woodland are the school teachers the contractors.

TEACHERS AT Woodland's Whitehead Elementary School have bound themselves to: (1) increase reading levels at least 25 per cent beyond the normal month-by-month gains; (2) show 80 per cent overall scores on tests given all pupils by Stanford University consultants; (3) prove that the pupils involved have at least as good attitudes toward school, themselves, and reading as pupils in other schools of the district.

The contract covers first through sixth grades, for reading instruction only.

According to David E. Reeves, Woodland Superintendent, "The basic purpose. . . .is to demonstrate that professional teachers, given the same kind of resources available to private contractors, will outperform their competitors."

TO PUT the contract into operation, the district — by agreement with the Whitehead teachers — diverted $12,500 from its budget to supplement the $44,000 state grant. More than half the money will be used for additional teaching equipment and materials. The rest will go to pay a contract supervisor from Educational Turnkey Systems of Menlo Park, a director of the program (who is Jess Camacho, one of the Whitehead teachers), Stanford University test consultants, and teacher aides.

A reserve of $9,000 is provided to reward the teaching staff if the goals are met each year. But, under terms of the contract, this money will be plowed back into the district. The teachers won't get additional pay for proving they can do the job.

Reeves, a business administrator who took over the Woodland superintendency this year, claims this is the first time in the United States that the entire teaching staff of a school has collectively guaranteed performance of pupils.

THE OTHER FOUR performance contracts are going to companies already in this type of business.

Pittsburg Unified District has contracted with Behavioral Research Laboratories of Palo Alto to teach reading and mathematics in first through sixth grades of Village Elementary School.

Ontario-Montclair has contracted with Appleton-Century-Croft to teach reading and math in first through sixth grades of Margarita Elementary School.

Oakland will contract out the teaching of reading at Santa Fe Elementary School and mathematics at Horace Mann Elementary School. The contract has not yet been signed.

Southern Kern has contracted with American Learning Corp. to teach all subjects in fifth and sixth grades at Tropico School.

The teachers at Whitehead School in Woodland are out to prove that they can out-perform all the outside contractors, according to Superintendent Reeves.

Woman Has Her Purse Snatched

Mrs. Gene Maser, 707 F Street, Petaluma, told police a young man snatched her purse Monday at 9:50 a.m. on the Golden Concourse near Kentucky Street.

She said the man grabbed her purse quickly and fled down an alley. Officers said they sighted the suspect several times downtown, but were unable to catch him in a foot race. The purse contained $70.

Desalting

Since over 97 per cent of the Earth's water is found either in the ocean or in other salt-water seas or lakes, scientists have been trying to produce freshwater from these saline sources. One desalting process involves the use of nuclear energy. Presently, about 750 desalting plants worldwide produce over 300 million gallons of freshwater daily for municipal and industrial uses. The cost of this water is still high, but technological improvements within the next 5 years are expected to drastically reduce the expense of the desalting process.

DO YOU KNOW — What chemical element is often used to purify fresh drinking water?

WHAT HAVE YOU DONE FOR YOUR HOME LATELY? GIVE YOUR HOME A PRESENT . . .
Paint a Room For Christmas

In these days of "Do It Yourself" home improvements, the easiest and most inexpensive way of achieving a dramatic effect is the painting of interior rooms. New latex base paints are quick drying, odorless, and any cleanup can be done with water. Two hours including preparation and cleanup will be all that is required to paint most rooms.

Some hints on making this task even easier are:

1. Remove door and cabinet hardware, cover plates for electrical switches and outlets, and the base of ceiling fixtures. If this presents any difficulty, the edges can be covered with masking tape.
2. Always start and end in a corner and paint an entire wall or the ceiling at one time. Then, if something important like a football game interrupts this short task, not even the most discerning eye can tell. If more than one gallon is used, bucket the paint in a larger container and mix.
3. Inexpensive plastic tarps cover carpets and furniture. New shields with handles make painting trim easier.
4. Extension handles on rollers allow painting walls and ceiling from the floor. Once an area is covered, do not re-roll it unnecessarily. This is where some problems with former paint jobs occur.

Schools Should Be 'Freeze-Proof' Too

Marin's unusual freezing spell has shown up some of the shortcomings of our buildings.

Frozen water pipes have suddenly become a commonplace, with fire departments and both water districts in the county deluged with calls about them.

To the many Marinites who have come here from parts of the country where long, hard freezes are expected every winter, the idea of water pipes freezing at temperatures of 20 or 25 degrees seems almost fantastic.

THE REASON, of course, is that no care is taken to protect pipes against cold when buildings are erected here.

Many of Marin's older two-story homes have water pipes on the outside, exposed to the elements. In newer homes, pipes are within the walls, but often a portion between ground and floor is completely unprotected from the weather.

Water pipes leading in from mains often are buried only a few inches, or in some instances not at all. The same applies to sewer pipes leading out from houses.

With this kind of construction, water that stands in a pipe will freeze in a relatively short time at 20 to 25 degree temperatures.

People buy houses in Marin which have exposed water pipes without giving it a thought. Only a really unusual cold spell, such as that which began last week, causes them to realize that such things as burying or insulating water pipes are required methods of construction in places with a normally less salubrious climate.

APPARENTLY no more thought of freezing hazards is taken in planning school buildings. Pipes burst in five schools in the San Anselmo School District last week end, causing extensive damage.

By law, California school buildings must be "earthquake resistant." We are constantly reminded of the hazards of quakes. Of course, when one hits the damage may be tremendous, and any type of construction that will lessen it should be encouraged, especially for school buildings.

The damage from freezing is comparatively small. But the likelihood is greater.

The last quake that did much damage in Marin County was over 66 years ago. The last big freeze to compare with this month's, according to old timers with long memories, was less than 30 years ago.

IT WOULD seem good sense for school construction to include protection of water pipes — which is not costly —along with protection against earthquakes.

For that matter, it might pay home buyers to see whether pipes are protected before signing mortgage contracts. Damage from a broken water pipe, while not comparable to that from a severe earth tremor, can be expensive to repair.

'Tax Reform' Bill Fails To Close Those Loopholes

By RUS WALTON

SB 90, the Moretti-Reagan tax reform bill, has several major failings. One of them is that it did nothing to close some major tax loopholes.

Thus, while the state's tax burden will be increased for middle income families, some individuals and companies will continued to enjoy tax subsidies, and preferential tax treatment.

It is estimated that if all the existing "loopholes" were closed, the additional tax revenue would mount to $300 million a year. Time and time again, efforts have been made to do just that. But the loopholes are still there. And you are paying the bill.

Some of these came as a result of powerful political pressure. Others evolved as an attempt to attract industry and stimulate the economy. All are reminders of what can happen when taxes cease to be neutral and are used for favoritism or social reform.

ONE MAJOR loophole is the "principal office deduction" for insurance companies. The subsidy was originally granted in 1910 to attract insurance companies to California. It was modified in 1942 so that it applies only to the "principal office property."

This law permits an insurance company to deduct from its state taxes those local property taxes paid on its main office building.

An insurance company that has its national headquarters in California may deduct all of that property tax, regardless of how much of the home office building it uses, or how much it rents out.

An insurance company that has its national headquarters in another state (or country) may deduct local property taxes, based on the proportion of its local office building it occupies —plus an extra 25 per cent for growth factor.

ANOTHER TAX subsidy is the "bad debt allowance" provided for banks and savings and loan institutions. These organizations are permitted to deduct from their gross taxable incomes as "bad debt reserve."

Under the present law, a bank can multiply its actual bad debt losses anywhere from three to five times, and average them over a six-year period.

In 1969, for example, banks and savings and loans lost $64.4 million in bad debts. But, they were allowed to deduct $186 million from their gross taxable incomes.

The Franchise Tax Board estimated that in 1971 this loophole cost the citizens some $20 million in lost tax revenue.

ANOTHER LITTLE loophole is available to folks in the 60 per cent and over tax bracket. (The fact that government can confiscate 60 per cent of a man's income creates a strong compulsion to seek loopholes.) This is known as generating tax benefits in excess of investment; it means there is a way to invest your money so that you save more in taxes than you invested in the first place.

Briefly, it can work like this:

You invest $10,000 in a ranch, as a limited partner. The man who manages the ranch borrows $30,000 on the strength of your $10,000 investment. Since it is a limited partnership, you are not directly liable for the $30,000 loan. But your "tax basis" on the deal is now $40,000.

Say the ranch loses $20,000 in the first few months, due to prepayment of certain bills. You can take a tax deduction of $20,000. In the 60 per cent bracket, that is a tax saving of $12,000 — $2,000 more than your investment.

Later you can sell the cattle and your profit will be taxed at 25 per cent —as capital gains.

BUT, IF YOU are a $15,000-a-year wage-earner that is not for you. You pays your taxes and takes your lumps.

There is a crying need to overhaul the state's tax structure. To make it fair, and neutral, and honest.

SB 90 made no attempt to clean up the tax mess. It just added taxes on top of taxes and left the loopholes where they are.

Today's woman doesn't know whether to show her timidity by remaining upright or reveal her bravery by sitting down.

A London inventor has come to the rescue with a legless chair that looks like half a honeydew melon. For tomatoes with short skirts.

The short, short dress is like the late, late show. Too much material has been left out.

When a fellow looks a gal in the eye these days she feels insulted.

Don't want to seem prudish about modern styles, but we can remember when there was more to women than met the eye.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

American Bombing Is America's Responsibility

In today's editorial you rid the United States of America of all responsibility of any destruction caused by American bombs, dropped from American planes, built by American people, and paid for by American people. These bombs were transported to Vietnam for the purpose of continuing a war that was begun by France in trying to recapture a colony which they had (in 1945) recognized as an independent nation.

However, you have not made it clear in what way all of our sacrifices could possibly save "President" (?) Thieu's country (Vietnam) from invasion by the Vietnamese people.

Women's Center Works For Women, Not County

Your coverage of the Mill Valley City Council meeting, and, in particular, of the agenda item pertaining to our mayor, Jean Barnard, was fine.

I would, however, like to correct two errors in the article. First, the representative from the Women's Center was Charlotte Krause — not Krauss, as it appeared in the paper.

Secondly, the Women's Center is formally titled the Marin Women's Center. We are not the women's center for Marin County. We are for Marin County only in the sense that we are for the women of the county. For too many years women have brought together their energies to work for causes other than their own — the Marin Women's Center is a group of Marin women working for women.

San Rafael Receives Third-Rate Bus Service

Is San Rafael a "third rate" community? It appears to be from a commuter's viewpoint. Since the Golden Gate Bridge District took over our transportation almost a year ago, the commuter bus service between San Rafael and San Francisco has continually become less acceptable.

Let us make a comparison:

Bus fare Central Marin-San Francisco went up (remember, S.R.-S.F. $13.55 to $15 for 20 rides). At the same time Novato-San Francisco fares were reduced. Do you realize you can commute from Novato to S.F. for the same fare as Corte Madera to S.F. (there is a real difference on a per-mile basis)?

. . . Commuters from all Northern Marin ride on very nice, comfortable, new air-conditioned buses run on "express" scheduled (from Terra Linda to the county line). San Rafael commuters wait in line (at Fourth and Hetherton I have seen from 50 to 125 people waiting in line for 20 minutes or more), for what? An "old dog" (400 number series), an "East Bay dog" (500 series), or a "school bus" (600 series) if they are lucky. These types come equipped with a green driver who asks the passengers the route, or he knows the route and stops at every bus pad, even if the bus is full and no passengers are waiting.

. . . Mr. White told me the reason for not using the "dogs" in Northern Marin and Sonoma is "economy." His explanation seems reasonable. However, if it is more economical to run the "dogs" on San Rafael schedules, why does the fare remain the same as on the longer runs? . . . All the San Rafael commuters see of the new "express" types are as they speed down the overpass, above our "third rate city," and disappear in the smoggy distance.

'Sudden Conversion' For Council Candidates?

Isn't it interesting that open space, intelligent planning, and citizen participation in government are suddenly such vital issues with the candidates who have declared for the vacant San Rafael City Council seat? The eight announced hopefuls for appointment and/or election to the council have spoken almost as a single voice in assuring us that these issues are uppermost in their minds. And these words of concern about open space and sound planning have come tumbling off some rather unlikely tongues.

Granted, a few of the candidates — John Starkweather, Jack Nixon, Al Boro, perhaps — had demonstrated a sincere concern for conservation and planning long before they announced for the council seat. But if the others had used their votes more wisely as appointed commissioners, or had been more involved in these causes as private citizens, perhaps planning and open space would not be such crisis issues today.

I suppose we can only hope that if a man is politically astute enough to realize he must espouse these issues to have any chance of election, then he'll be responsible and honest enough to honor the will of the people while he's serving on the council.

$1 Gasoline By 1980 Forecast By Authority

Gasoline will cost $1 a gallon by 1980 because of diminishing domestic reserves of petroleum, U.S. Undersecretary of Transportation James Beggs told a transportation symposium in San Francisco recently . . .

An oil man, among a small group who gathered about Mr. Beggs after the symposium, protested that the $1 a gallon figure was scare talk which did not take into account inflation, the production possible from domestic oil shales, or foreign oil imports.

Mr. Beggs replied that oil could be extracted from domestic shales only if formidable environmental problems could be overcome. Foreign nations might well raise their prices on oil exports as our domestic production fell, or their own people's needs increased. His economist advisers, he said, felt the $1 per gallon price by 1980 was a "lead pipe cinch" because of the supply-demand relationship.

Among his other comments: as an engineer, he regarded transit as the most efficient use of an increasingly scarce resource. As for the plight of our cities today, no engineer in his right mind, if asked to design a transportation system for present needs, would ever come up with what we now have.

I hope our state and local governments will heed these revolutionary warnings from a high U.S. official in an administration that can hardly be characterized as revolutionary . . .

For this year alone, Marin residents are spending about $150 million to operate their cars and trucks on the highway system. (125,000 registered vehicles x 12,000 miles per year x 10 cents per mile.) This is a direct measure of consumption of natural resources.

By contrast, Golden Gate Transit is estimated to cost about $7 million to operate in 1972, and much of this figure includes labor costs.

First Amendment Gets All Mixed Up With Christmas

WASHINGTON — 'Tis the season to be jolly, and also contentious.

Here in the midst of rain that should be snow, and elbowing shopping rush and the great Nixon cabinet shell game, the First Amendment to the Constitution is getting a going-over from more directions at once than at any time I can remember.

The Supreme Court tells the bottomless barmaids and orgy actors in California that freedom of their particular form of expression is limited to places where you cannot buy a drink. In Pennsylvania and elsewhere, people are balancing off freedom of "speech" vs. freedom of press on the subject of newspaper ads for X-rated movies.

You may have thought the companion issue of religious freedom, specifically church-state separation as it applies to the public schools, was clearly covered in the First Amendment and reinforced by the failure of the school-prayer amendment in Congress. But religious freedom to one man, or one faith, is religious imprisonment to another. The broad subject will not lie still.

DESPITE RECENT court rulings, the movement continues to provide federal or state aid to parochial schools by doing it one way instead of another. And now, in the spirit of the season, the celebrators in Prince George's County, Md., just outside your national capital, are joined in brotherly dissent over whether or not to sing Christmas carols in their public schools.

The Superintendent, Carl Hassel, says no. At least he seems to, and a lot of parents around his neighborhood seem to think he does. Exactly what he said to provoke the controversy — I am sure he hoped to settle it instead — is open to interpretation. The operative part of his memo to Prince George's principals reads like this:

"Public schools must show no preference for one religion over another, and must refrain from the specific promotion of any religion or all religions. Consequently, no religious celebrations as such may be held as part of any public school program. Discretion should be exercised in the planning of musical programs during the school day which may coincide with any period of specific religious celebration. It should be emphasized that this guideline clearly permits the singing of festive songs, as may be a part of a winter or spring festival."

UNLIKE AID to parochial schools, this is a question that would seem to unite Catholics and Protestants on one side and Jewish parents on the other. If, that is, people chose sides up strictly on the basis of their own religion. Such is only roughly true.

For instance, one recent symposium of letters to the editor published by the Washington Post covered both sides of the Prince George's affair. All the letters used (five of them) happened to be from Jews, and their feelings were stated just as eloquently, even emotionally, on one side as on the other.

One said the ruling "represents a very real attempt to eliminate the unfairness that has heretofore existed in the public school system by imposing the religious music activities of one faith on those of all faiths . . . Chanukah is not our Christmas, nor does it have anything to do with Christmas . . ."

Another: "I doubt that the Christian community has even an elementary awareness of the devastating effect these observances can have on non-Christians, particularly the young."

But another: "To imagine that this land of freedom . . . would suddenly condemn something beautiful because it is based on religion is beyond my comprehension. Since when has religion become a dirty word to be carefully kept away from our young children's ears . . .?"

IF THE SCHOOLS proceed in this direction, she says, they may have to eliminate also the study of Egyptian culture, Michelangelo, Da Vinci and Bach.

Another, perhaps most sensibly, suggests singing Jewish songs (for example, "Rock of Ages") and Mohammedan or Buddhist, too, if available. "There is a definite educational value in making children aware of the nature of the world's great religions . . . These are times to accentuate unifying rather than divisive forces."

Meanwhile, however, Superintendent Hassel is sticking to his memo. And if I interpret it correctly, it means you can go to your church and sing your songs, and you can go to your synagogue and sing yours, and afterwards, both of you come over to my place for eggnog and we'll sing "Jingle Bells."

Soviet Union Seeks To Have World Censor News For It

WASHINGTON — What on earth are the Soviet Union and its allies up to, trying to trap the whole world into banning the free flow of news via satellite television?

An earlier column set out the headway (an initial U.N. vote of 102 to 1) which this hideous enterprise is making.

What are the Russians really after in pressing this planetary black-out-at-will of the satellite TV news?

WE DON'T HAVE to look very far to find the answer.

Before worldwide satellite television news broadcasting gets well established and becomes so appealing to everybody everywhere, the Soviet sponsors of this evil treaty — and others like-minded — want to get the rest of the world to do their censoring for them.

That's it — and nothing else — and when it emerges without its sheep's clothing perhaps some governments will wake up and say no.

The United Nations didn't exist when radio news began to circle the globe and there was no easy forum before which Moscow could plead against the free flow of news.

Thus the Russians had to do their own censoring and erect their own blackout whenever they didn't want their people to hear unapproved news. They had to do their own jamming.

But now, under the treaty which so many governments find so alluring, the Soviet Union and other totalitarians want others to do their censoring for them.

UNDER THE TERMS of the proposed treaty, which is rolling merrily along, all the censorship-prone nations would have to do is raise a hand and say: "Stop the news" — and it would have to be stopped.

At the crook of the censor's finger anywhere around the planet, the news-bearing satellite would have to go silent. It wouldn't take many well-placed nations to keep it silent all the time.

Is that what so many countries which voted to draft this treaty really want?

Have these governments thought through whether they can tear up the U.N. Declaration of Human Rights with one hand and then expect to invoke it successfully with the other?

This U.N. provision affirms that all people have the right to "receive and impart information and ideas by any media regardless of frontiers."

The proposed treaty erases this right.

IN POINTING OUT that his country has ample devices to blockade both radio and satellite TV news, the Soviet spokesman at the U.N. avowed that Moscow is only trying to look out for the welfare of other nations.

The news from East Germany sheds light on why the Russians want to strengthen the censorship in other like-minded regimes even if its own censorship seems stout enough.

Recently the East German government signed a treaty making it easier for West Germans to visit briefly with their relatives in East Germany. But even this slight amount of intercommunication causes trembling. Therefore the East German regime has just issued an edict that leading Communist Party members and other East Germans with official functions (numbering about two million) must not receive visits from their West German relatives.

The New York Times reports that the Communist leaders appeared deeeply worried because too many East Germans were beginning to think too favorably about life in West Germany.

It is natural for Communist governments to resist the free flow of ideas and information, but why should other nations do their censoring for them?

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Dec. 13, 1962

The Marin County Grand Jury opened a hearing on alleged mismanagement of the Golden Gate Bridge District.

Nine persons were ousted from their dwelling on an old ferry boat in Richardson Bay as Marin County opened a drive to eliminate health and safety hazards in the bay.

20 YEARS AGO

Dec. 13, 1952

The State of California offered $1 million for the Richmond ferry terminal, signaling the impending end of ferry service between San Rafael and Richmond.

Final results of the 1950 federal census showed San Rafael with a population of 13,848. Unincorporated Novato had 3,496.

A New Twist: Don't Be Right, But Be Successful

An American statesman once said he would rather be right than be President, but he was not a practical bridge player so we don't have to accept his standard of conduct. Today's hand offered just such a choice to one of the contestants in the Women's Pair Championship in the recent national bridge tournament in Lancaster, Pa. Would you have made her choice?

BIDDING PUSHY

If you consider South's bidding very pushy, I agree with you. Still, more than half of the finalists in the Women's Pairs got to four hearts. Perhaps this proves only that tournament champions tend to overbid.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the queen. South ruffed the second club and led a low heart on which West played the nine. And now declarer had to decide whether to take a finesse with dummy's queen of hearts or whether to put up dummy's ace of hearts as a safety play.

The safety play wins if East has the singleton king of hearts or if East has K-J or K-10 combined with the ability to give or receive a ruffing trick.

PRACTICAL PLAYER

Gratian Goldstein of Coral Gables, Fla., winner of six national championships, is a practical bridge player, and she wanted to be right. Her knowledge of bridge mathematics told her that the safety play was slightly safer than the finesse. Hence she played dummy's ace of hearts.

ALAS FOR MATH

Alas for mathematics. When Mrs. Goldstein got to her hand with a spade to lead another heart, West took the king of hearts and led his singleton diamond. East won with the ace and led another diamond, whereupon West's ruff defeated the contract. The safety play was actually so unsafe that it cost Mrs. Goldstein the championship.

Ah, well. When the millennium arrives, the "right" play will always work!

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Trouble is the business which brought today's birthday celebrities to fame, whether in drama to be staged or real life problems to be solved by warriors and kings.

1. LEE REMICK, 37 today, is that blue-eyed blonde who got so mixed up with Jack Lemmon in the film, "Days of Wine and Roses." But in real life she is happily married, living in England with husband Kip Gowans, a film director. Lee regularly turns down Hollywood offers because she prefers to stay home taking care of her two children. Right?

2. JIMMY DOOLITTLE, flying hero of World War II, is 76 today. This brave Air Corps colonel led a small force of American bombers launched from an aircraft carrier in a raid on Tokyo, surprising the Japanese who had hit Pearl Harbor in a sneak attack only five months earlier. Was he rescued by the U.S. Navy, the Russians, or the Chinese after his plane crashed?

3. JOHN COWLES, editor and publisher, was born Dec. 14, 1898, in Algona, Iowa. He entered newspaper work in 1920, rising to the board chairmanship of several successful publications, including the Minneapolis "Star-Tribune" and the Des Moines "Register-Tribune." Was he only a private in the Army in World War I? Yes? No?

4. HENRY IV, King of France (1553-1610), spent most of his lifetime taking this side and that in the religious wars which plagued his country. Taught by his mother to follow Protestantism, he became involved in the massacre of St. Bartholomew's day after he married the sister of King Charles and had to espouse Catholicism to save his life. Then he fled to Gascony, where he again joined the Protestants. But in wars that followed he only was able to secure peace and the throne by once again claiming to be Catholic. Is that right?

ANSWERS: 1 - Right; 2 - Chinese; 3 - Yes; 4 - Right.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By PAT PERRY

New Property Ownership Rule: You Pay For It, Can't Use It

Today, dear readers, a little cautionary tale.

Once upon a time there was an Air Force sergeant who was stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base and fell in love with Marin County. "Eureka!" he cried, gazing at the Pacific Ocean from the pastoral loveliness of Bolinas.

It was, he decided, just the place for his family's home when he retired from the Air Force. So he made a down payment on an acre of land at Bolinas, and while he was stationed overseas he thought long and lovingly about the house he would some day build there.

For six years he made monthly payments on his little piece of Bolinas until it was all his.

He was mildly surprised when the Marin County assessor's office annually informed him that its value had skyrocketed. The increase in assessed valuation, said the long-distance letters, meant he'd have to pay much higher taxes.

So our sergeant paid more and more taxes on his future homesite in Bolinas; not complaining about supporting the schools in West Marin and the splendor of the Civic Center and the College of Marin and so forth, because that is the American Way . . . Property Begets Responsibility.

He understood that, and was willing to pay for it.

WHEN IT CAME near time to return to America, he learned that he might have to wait awhile to build on his little piece of the country. The water district had slapped a moratorium on all new water hookups in Bolinas, he learned.

He couldn't quite understand this, because water district directors don't have planning authority. He began to wonder if things were changing.

And when he came back to Marin County, clutching the plans for his dream house in his hot, retired hands, he found he certainly couldn't build on the land. No water, hence no building.

So, sighing, he put money down on a house elsewhere in Marin and thought he'd sell his land in Bolinas to augment his puny G.I. Bill money.

And that's when our sergeant learned that Property Still Begets Responsibility — WITH NO BENEFITS.

"You can't give away land in West Marin," warned the realty men, "unless, of course, you're a major land holder — then you can sell it as a nature preserve at a vast profit."

BEFORE HE COULD put their warnings to the test, the people of California passed a coastal initiative, effectively putting his ocean view lot into the icebox.

"The right to own private property is no longer inalienable" pontificated the pundits, secure in their private homes.

"Keep West Marin for the birds and the visitors," said the ecologists, secure in their homes in East Marin.

"We don't want anyone else building houses in our lovely West Marin," cried all the people who'd already built their houses in lovely West Marin. Even some of the people who have houses in West Marin they only inhabit a few weeks a year joined in the keep-'em-out cries.

"Land speculators get what they deserve!" cried the opponents of all development anywhere — crying from their already constructed homes.

"Absentee landlord!" scoffed advocates of keeping Marin in a tight Eastern Urban Corridor.

"Keep paying your taxes," warned the county assessor's office.

ALL OUR BEWILDERED sergeant knows is that he owns a pleasant piece of land overlooking the ocean. It's on a paved road, with houses all around, and he is, by community will, forced to keep it as a kind of Involuntary Open Space.

Unfortunately, he's paid for and is continuing to pay for, his very own Open Space.

To him it seems remarkably like confiscation without compensation. And he has many companions in his plight.

Desalting

Since over 97 per cent of the Earth's water is found either in the ocean or in other salt-water seas or lakes, scientists have been trying to produce freshwater from these saline sources. One desalting process involves the use of nuclear energy. Presently, about 750 desalting plants worldwide produce over 300 million gallons of freshwater daily for municipal and industrial uses. The cost of this water is still high, but technological improvements within the next 5 years are expected to drastically reduce the expense of the desalting process.

DO YOU KNOW — What chemical element is often used to purify fresh drinking water?

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Teachers In Woodland Become Own Performance Contractors

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Teachers in a Woodland, Yolo County, elementary school have met the demand for school accountability head-on. They have incorporated themselves to enter into a performance contract with Woodland Unified School District.

The Woodland agreement is one of five three-year performance contracts awarded this month under terms of last year's Assembly Bill 1482 by Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Anaheim, which guaranteed that this approach to school accountability will get a trial in California. All will start with the new year 1973.

Cory's bill provided for annual state subsidy grants for performance contracts in one district in each of five categories, to be chosen by the state superintendent of public instruction.

SELECTED AMONG districts in urban areas with higher than average unemployment was Pittsburg Unified School District in Contra Costa County, which will receive a $46,909 grant; among suburban areas, Ontario-Montclair Elementary School District in San Bernardino County, to receive $48,835; among the 20 largest districts in enrollment, Oakland Unified, to receive $70,000; among districts with fewer than 5,000 pupils, Southern Kern Unified in the Mojave Desert, to receive $40,000.

Woodland was chosen among districts in rural agricultural areas, and has been awarded a $44,000 grant.

But only in Woodland are the school teachers the contractors.

TEACHERS AT Woodland's Whitehead Elementary School have bound themselves to: (1) increase reading levels at least 25 per cent beyond the normal month-by-month gains; (2) show 80 per cent overall scores on tests given all pupils by Stanford University consultants; (3) prove that the pupils involved have at least as good attitudes toward school, themselves, and reading as pupils in other schools of the district.

The contract covers first through sixth grades, for reading instruction only.

According to David E. Reeves, Woodland Superintendent, "The basic purpose. . . .is to demonstrate that professional teachers, given the same kind of resources available to private contractors, will outperform their competitors."

TO PUT the contract into operation, the district — by agreement with the Whitehead teachers — diverted $12,500 from its budget to supplement the $44,000 state grant. More than half the money will be used for additional teaching equipment and materials. The rest will go to pay a contract supervisor from Educational Turnkey Systems of Menlo Park, a director of the program (who is Jess Camacho, one of the Whitehead teachers), Stanford University test consultants, and teacher aides.

A reserve of $9,000 is provided to reward the teaching staff if the goals are met each year. But, under terms of the contract, this money will be plowed back into the district. The teachers won't get additional pay for proving they can do the job.

Reeves, a business administrator who took over the Woodland superintendency this year, claims this is the first time in the United States that the entire teaching staff of a school has collectively guaranteed performance of pupils.

THE OTHER FOUR performance contracts are going to companies already in this type of business.

Pittsburg Unified District has contracted with Behavioral Research Laboratories of Palo Alto to teach reading and mathematics in first through sixth grades of Village Elementary School.

Ontario-Montclair has contracted with Appleton-Century-Croft to teach reading and math in first through sixth grades of Margarita Elementary School.

Oakland will contract out the teaching of reading at Santa Fe Elementary School and mathematics at Horace Mann Elementary School. The contract has not yet been signed.

Southern Kern has contracted with American Learning Corp. to teach all subjects in fifth and sixth grades at Tropico School.

The teachers at Whitehead School in Woodland are out to prove that they can out-perform all the outside contractors, according to Superintendent Reeves.

Woman Has Her Purse Snatched

Mrs. Gene Maser, 707 F Street, Petaluma, told police a young man snatched her purse Monday at 9:50 a.m. on the Golden Concourse near Kentucky Street.

She said the man grabbed her purse quickly and fled down an alley. Officers said they sighted the suspect several times downtown, but were unable to catch him in a foot race. The purse contained $70.

WHAT HAVE YOU DONE FOR YOUR HOME LATELY?
GIVE YOUR HOME A PRESENT . . .
Paint a Room For Christmas

In these days of "Do It Yourself" home improvements, the easiest and most inexpensive way of achieving a dramatic effect is the painting of interior rooms. New latex base paints are quick drying, odorless, and any cleanup can be done with water. Two hours including preparation and cleanup will be all that is required to paint most rooms.

Some hints on making this task even easier are:
1. Remove door and cabinet hardware, cover plates for electrical switches and outlets, and the base of ceiling fixtures. If this presents any difficulty, the edges can be covered with masking tape.
2. Always start and end in a corner and paint an entire wall or the ceiling at one time. Then, if something important like a football game interrupts this short task, not even the most discerning eye can tell. If more than one gallon is used, bucket the paint in a larger container and mix.
3. Inexpensive plastic tarps cover carpets and furniture. New shields with handles make painting trim easier.
4. Extension handles on rollers allow painting walls and ceiling from the floor. Once an area is covered, do not re-roll it unnecessarily. This is where some problems with former paint jobs occur.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A New Twist: Don't Be Right, But Be Successful

An American statesman once said he would rather be right than be President, but he was not a practical bridge player so we don't have to accept his standard of conduct. Today's hand offered just such a choice to one of the contestants in the Women's Pair Championship in the recent national bridge tournament in Lancaster, Pa. Would you have made her choice?

BIDDING PUSHY

If you consider South's bidding very pushy, I agree with you. Still, more than half of the finalists in the Women's Pairs got to four hearts. Perhaps this proves only that tournament champions tend to overbid.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the queen. South ruffed the second club and led a low heart on which West played the nine. And now declarer had to decide whether to take a finesse with dummy's queen of hearts or whether to put up dummy's ace of hearts as a safety play.

The safety play wins if East has the singleton king of hearts or if East has K-J or K-10 combined with the ability to give or receive a ruffing trick.

PRACTICAL PLAYER

Gratian Goldstein of Coral Gables, Fla., winner of six national championships, is a practical bridge player, and she wanted to be right. Her knowledge of bridge mathematics told her that the safety play was slightly safer than the finesse. Hence she played dummy's ace of hearts.

ALAS FOR MATH

Alas for mathematics. When Mrs. Goldstein got to her hand with a spade to lead another heart, West took the king of hearts and led his singleton diamond. East won with the ace and led another diamond, whereupon West's ruff defeated the contract. The safety play was actually so unsafe that it cost Mrs. Goldstein the championship.

Ah, well. When the millennium arrives, the "right" play will always work!

A Thief's Treasure Found In Seabed

BARRY, Wales (AP) — Divers taking part in a competition came across an unexpected prize off the Glamorganshire coast — a thief's treasure.

Family heirlooms, antique silver and jewelry worth more than 5,000 pounds were recovered from the seabed. Police later traced the owner who had been robbed three weeks before.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Trouble is the business which brought today's birthday celebrities to fame, whether in drama to be staged or real life problems to be solved by warriors and kings.

1. LEE REMICK, 37 today, is that blue-eyed blonde who got so mixed up with Jack Lemmon in the film, "Days of Wine and Roses." But in real life she is happily married, living in England with husband Kip Gowans, a film director. Lee regularly turns down Hollywood offers because she prefers to stay home taking care of her two children. Right?

2. JIMMY DOOLITTLE, flying hero of World War II, is 76 today. This brave Air Corps colonel led a small force of American bombers launched from an aircraft carrier in a raid on Tokyo, surprising the Japanese who had hit Pearl Harbor in a sneak attack only five months earlier. Was he rescued by the U.S. Navy, the Russians, or the Chinese after his plane crashed?

3. JOHN COWLES, editor and publisher, was born Dec. 14, 1898, in Algona, Iowa. He entered newspaper work in 1920, rising to the board chairmanship of several successful publications, including the Minneapolis "Star-Tribune" and the Des Moines "Register-Tribune." Was he only a private in the Army in World War I? Yes? No?

4. HENRY IV, King of France (1553-1610), spent most of his lifetime taking this side and that in the religious wars which plagued his country. Taught by his mother to follow Protestantism, he became involved in the massacre of St. Bartholomew's day after he married the sister of King Charles and had to espouse Catholicism to save his life. Then he fled to Gascony, where he again joined the Protestants. But in wars that followed he only was able to secure peace and the throne by once again claiming to be Catholic. Is that right?

ANSWERS: 1 - Right; 2 - Chinese; 3 - Yes; 4 - Right.

Painting Display

Oil paintings by artist Fran McKinney of San Rafael will be on display in the first floor of Marin General Hospital for six weeks beginning Friday.

Find out what it's like to live and work in Europe

You've probably read about our European duty offer. 16 months with the unit of your choice. Guaranteed.

But maybe you'd like to know more about the job. The country. Or more about today's Army.

Well, here's a chance to ask a man who's been there.

Specialist 4 Jeffrey Ashley, currently stationed with the 237th Engineer Battalion, West Germany, will be here in San Rafael to tell you about Europe. And the things you can do there. On the job. And on the weekends.

Call me, Sergeant Jim Bowles, at 456-4423 for an appointment. Or stop in. 910 D Street

If you've ever seen a newer used car than this one-owner Chev. Caprice 2-Dr. hardtop — then we'll stand on our head at high noon in the middle of 101.

Local couple just traded on a new Buick. There isn't one spot of wear inside or out on this beautiful silver grey Caprice. The matching black interior looks better than the average living room sofa and the car is loaded with extras like factory air conditioning, power steering, power brakes, vinyl top, automatic, radio, heater, V-8 engine and loads of other Caprice extras. 242 ENQ.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 13, the 348th day of 1972 with 18 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Mars. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius.

Famed American clergyman Phillips Brooks was born Dec. 13, 1835.

On this day in history:

In 1642, New Zealand was discovered and named by Abel Tasman, Dutch navigator.

In 1862, Union troops commanded by Gen. Ambrose Burnside were severely defeated by Confederate forces on Marye's Heights outside Fredericksburg, Va.

In 1927, Yehudi Menuhin, a 10-year-old child violinist later to become famous, made his New York debut in a concert at Carnegie Hall.

In 1971, President Nixon met with French President Georges Pompidou in the Azores for an economic conference.

A thought for the day: American historian Henry Brooks Adams said, "All experience is an arch, to build upon."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, clean air.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, light air pollution.

• Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

ORDINANCE NO. 1080
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL AMENDING TITLE 14, ZONING OF THE SAN RAFAEL MUNICIPAL CODE BY DELETING CERTAIN PARAGRAPHS UNDER SUBSECTIONS 14.30.020(a) AND 14.32.020(b) WHICH PARAGRAPHS WERE RENDERED INCORRECT AND SUPERFLUOUS WHEN CHAPTER 14.11 WAS ADDED TO THE ZONING ORDINANCE

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

DIVISION 1: Title 14 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended by amending subsection 14.30.020(a) to read as follows:

(a) Multiple family dwellings. If the lot or parcel of land is of a size and shape which would permit subdivision in compliance with the Subdivision Ordinance of the City of San Rafael, all the requirements of that ordinance concerning dedication and improvement shall be met.

DIVISION 2: TITLE 14 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended by amending subsection 14.32.020(b) to read as follows:

(b) Multiple family dwellings, apartment houses.

If the lot or parcel of land is of a size and shape which would permit subdivision in compliance with Title 15 of this Code (Subdivisions), all the requirements of that Title concerning dedication and improvements shall be met.

There shall be no more than one main building on each lot or parcel unless the Planning Commission determines that the lot or parcel cannot be subdivided.

DIVISION 3: This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

No. 1797 Dec. 13, 1972

ORDINANCE NO. 1082
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL AMENDING TITLE 14, ZONING, OF THE SAN RAFAEL MUNICIPAL CODE BY ADDING CERTAIN DEFINITIONS TO CHAPTER 14.08 AND AMENDING CHAPTER 14.75 AS THAT CHAPTER RELATES TO CERTAIN USES AND MAKING CERTAIN DELETIONS.

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

DIVISION 1: Chapter 14.08 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended by adding the following definitions to the listed sections:

14.08.130L LOT: Is a specific area of land, the boundaries of which have been established according to the legal requirements in effect at the time the lot was created.

14.08.170P PARCEL: Is a specific area of land or an air space, shown as a separately taxable single unit on the County Assessor's Parcel Map. Such parcels may or may not qualify as lots or sites.

14.08.200S SITE: Is a parcel or parcels used as a unit for the development of a project which may consist of one or more buildings. A site may consist of one or more adjoining lots.

SMALL LOT: Is a lot in a given zone which was created prior to May 3, 1951, or subsequent to that date in conformance with subdivision requirements in effect at the time of its creation and which is smaller in width and/or area than minimum requirements now legally allowable for subdivision in the given zone.

SPATIAL REQUIREMENTS: Are any or all requirements in a particular zoning district relating to lot width, lot area, setbacks, land coverage, or building height.

DIVISION 2: Chapter 14.75 is hereby amended by adding thereto the following sections and subsections.

14.75.070 MERGING OF LOTS. Where a development constructed or established as a unit has been built or established on more than one adjoining lot, the owner or owners of such lots must take the legal steps necessary to merge such lots into a single lot within a reasonable period after the enactment of this ordinance or of ownership of said lots, whichever event occurs last.

14.75.080 (i) Small lots developed in accordance with Section 14.75.090 shall not be considered nonconforming.

14.75.080 (j) Structures erected in accordance with Section 14.75.090 shall not be considered nonconforming uses.

14.75.090 SMALL LOTS AND STRUCTURES ERECTED ON SUCH LOTS NOT CONSIDERED NONCONFORMING:

(a) Purpose of this Section. Within a number of zoning districts created since May 2, 1951, legally subdivided small lots exist which do not meet the spatial requirements set forth in such districts. Furthermore, on certain of such lots, structures have been erected which do not meet the spatial requirements set forth in such district. In order to simplify zoning procedures and to make this ordinance more equitable to land owners and the owners of certain types of structures, the following provisions shall be made effective:

(b) Small lots:

(1) In single family zones: If such lot is undeveloped and no adjacent property is or has been owned by the same owner since January 1, 1972, or if a lot has at some time been used and developed for single family house, or if a use permit is obtained, such lot may be developed with a single family house if it and its development can meet the spatial requirements of any single family district in the City. This shall be considered a conforming use.

(2) In duplex zones: If such lot is undeveloped and no adjacent property is or has been owned by the same owner since January 1, 1972, or if a lot has at some time been used and developed for a duplex house or if a use permit is obtained, it may be developed with a duplex house if its development can meet the spatial requirements of any duplex district in the City. This shall be considered a conforming use.

(3) In multiple family zones: If such lot is undeveloped and no adjacent property is or has been owned by the same owner since January 1, 1972, it may be developed with a single family or duplex structure. Multiple family dwellings and apartments may be permitted only if a use permit is first secured. This shall be considered a conforming use.

(4) In nonresidential zones: If no adjacent property is or has been owned by January 1, 1972, and if a use permit is obtained, it may be developed for the purposes allowed in the zoned districts in which it is located. This shall be considered a conforming use.

(c) Structures on small lots:

(1) A single family house on a small lot shall be considered conforming if it is built in accordance with the spatial requirements of a single family zone in the City, the lot width and area requirements of which are met by such lot. If such lot meets the width and area requirements of more than one such zone, then to be considered conforming such house must meet the spatial requirements of the zone with the largest lot width and area requirements.

(2) A duplex house on a small lot, in a zone which provides for duplex housing, shall be considered conforming if it is built in accordance with the spatial requirements of the duplex zone within the City.

DIVISION 3: Section 14.75.040 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby repealed.

DIVISION 4: Constitutionality. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance. The Council hereby declares that it would have adopted the Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more section, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

DIVISION 5: This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

No. 1796 Dec. 13, 20, 1972

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN
ORDINANCE NO. 1938
AN ORDINANCE OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN AMENDING TITLE 22 (ZONING) OF THE MARIN COUNTY CODE TO RECLASSIFY PROPERTIES WITHIN THE AGRICULTURAL PRESERVE WITHIN ASSESSOR'S PARCEL BOOK #125.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION I: Title 22 (Zoning) of the Marin County Code is hereby amended to reclassify properties within the Agricultural Preserve within Assessor's Parcel Book #125 from the present zoning to A-60 (Agricultural and Conservation District - one unit per 60 acres) and A-10 (Agricultural and Conservation District - one unit per 10 acres), as set forth in Chapter 22.10 of the Marin County Code and as shown on Exhibit A attached hereto, and dated November 28, 1972.

SECTION II: This Ordinance shall take effect and be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after the date of passage and approval and shall be published in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation in the County, with the names of the Supervisors voting for and against the same, at least once before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after its passage.

PASSED AND ADOPTED at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, on the 28th day of November, 1972, by the following vote, to-wit:

AYES: Supervisors Arnold M. Baptiste, Michael Wornum, Peter R. Arrigoni

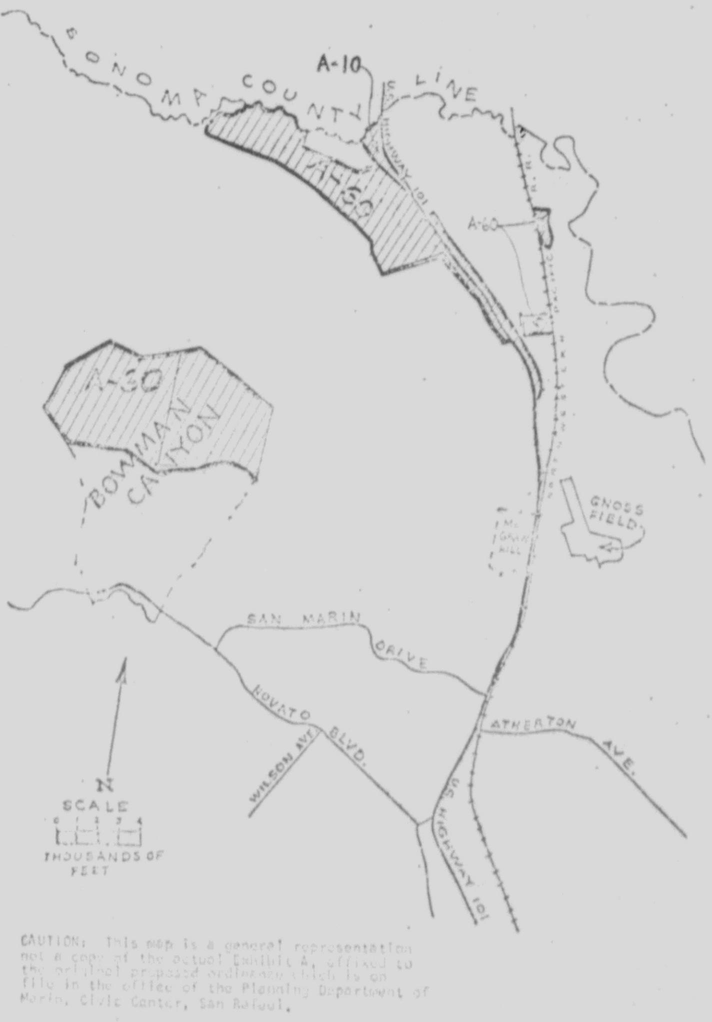
NOES: Supervisors Louis H. Baar, Bob Roumiguiere

ABSENT: None

/s/ PETER R. ARRIGONI
Chairman of the Board of Supervisors County of Marin

Attest:
/s/ GEO. H. GNOSS,
Clerk of the Board

REZONING: AGRICULTURAL PRESERVE: SECTION III (HOLDOVERS)



CAUTION: This map is a general representation not a copy of the actual Exhibit A, affixed to the original proposed ordinance which is on file in the office of the Planning Department of Marin, Civic Center, San Rafael.

20-Year-Old Given Option On Jail Time

A 20-year-old San Rafael man, who admitted a burglary count, has been given 90 days in jail with the option to serve his time at the DeLancey Street Foundation in San Francisco instead.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court told John Gregory Vigno, "I don't know how much good it is going to do you, John, but it is better than anything else we have got."

Vigno promised to enroll in the 18-month program of DeLancey Street and "give their program everything I have got."

Vigno pleaded guilty in a plea bargain for no more than 90 days in jail. He was charged with stealing three rugs valued at $2,100 and television and stereo equipment valued at $900 from a Ross home April 16.

Vigno and his brother, Ricci, 21, were arrested after a policeman found the older brother's wallet in the home on Upper Road. A burglary charge against Ricci Vigno was dismissed in municipal court for lack of evidence.

Long-Haired Law Students Sue Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Five long-haired University of California law students have sued the Clift Hotel for allegedly barring them from its Redwood Room because their hair extended "slightly below" their collars.

The incident, according to the lawsuit, filed in superior court Friday, took place Sept. 24.

It asserted the hotel's "anachronistic view of property" is illegal and each student asked $250 damages in addition to an order that Allied Properties, Inc., owner of the hotel, be prohibited from doing the same thing again.

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 13, the 348th day of 1972 with 18 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Mars. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius.

Famed American clergyman Phillips Brooks was born Dec. 13, 1835.

On this day in history:

In 1642, New Zealand was discovered and named by Abel Tasman, Dutch navigator.

In 1862, Union troops commanded by Gen. Ambrose Burnside were severely defeated by Confederate forces on Marye's Heights outside Fredericksburg, Va.

In 1927, Yehudi Menuhin, a 10-year-old child violinist later to become famous, made his New York debut in a concert at Carnegie Hall.

In 1971, President Nixon met with French President Georges Pompidou in the Azores for an economic conference.

A thought for the day: American historian Henry Brooks Adams said, "All experience is an arch, to build upon."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, clean air.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

ORDINANCE NO. 1080
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL AMENDING TITLE 14, ZONING OF THE SAN RAFAEL MUNICIPAL CODE BY DELETING CERTAIN PARAGRAPHS UNDER SUBSECTIONS 14.30.020(a) AND 14.32.020(b) WHICH PARAGRAPHS WERE RENDERED INCORRECT AND SUPERFLUOUS WHEN CHAPTER 14.11 WAS ADDED TO THE ZONING ORDINANCE

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

DIVISION 1: Title 14 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended by amending subsection 14.30.020(a) to read as follows:

(a) Multiple family dwellings. If the lot or parcel of land is of a size and shape which would permit subdivision in compliance with the Subdivision Ordinance of the City of San Rafael, all the requirements of that ordinance concerning dedication and improvement shall be met.

DIVISION 2: TITLE 14 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended by amending subsection 14.32.020(b) to read as follows:

(b) Multiple family dwellings, apartment houses.

If the lot or parcel of land is of a size and shape which would permit subdivision in compliance with Title 15 of this Code (Subdivisions), all the requirements of that Title concerning dedication and improvements shall be met.

There shall be no more than one main building on each lot or parcel unless the Planning Commission determines that the lot or parcel cannot be subdivided.

DIVISION 3: This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

City Clerk
No. 1797 Dec. 13, 1972

ORDINANCE NO. 1082
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL AMENDING TITLE 14, ZONING, OF THE SAN RAFAEL MUNICIPAL CODE BY ADDING CERTAIN DEFINITIONS TO CHAPTER 14.08 AND AMENDING CHAPTER 14.75 AS THAT CHAPTER RELATES TO CERTAIN USES AND MAKING CERTAIN DELETIONS.

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

DIVISION 1: Chapter 14.08 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended by adding the following definitions to the listed sections:

14.08.130L LOT: Is a specific area of land, the boundaries of which have been established according to the legal requirements in effect at the time the lot was created.

14.08.170P PARCEL: Is a specific area of land or an air space, shown as a separately taxable single unit on the County Assessor's Parcel Map. Such parcels may or may not qualify as lots or sites.

14.08.200S SITE: Is a parcel or parcels used as a unit for the development of a project which may consist of one or more buildings. A site may consist of one or more adjoining lots.

SMALL LOT: Is a lot in a given zone which was created prior to May 3, 1951, or subsequent to that date in conformance with subdivision requirements in effect at the time of its creation and which is smaller in width and/or area than minimum requirements now legally allowable for subdivision in the given zone.

SPATIAL REQUIREMENTS: Are any or all requirements in a particular zoning district relating to lot width, lot area, setbacks, land coverage, or building height.

DIVISION 2: Chapter 14.75 is hereby amended by adding thereto the following sections and subsections.

14.75.070 MERGING OF LOTS. Where a development constructed or established as a unit has been built or established on more than one adjoining lot, the owner or owners of such lots must take the legal steps necessary to merge such lots into a single lot within a reasonable period after the enactment of this ordinance or of ownership of said lots, whichever event occurs last.

14.75.080 (i) Small lots developed in accordance with Section 14.75.090 shall not be considered nonconforming.

14.75.080 (j) Structures erected in accordance with Section 14.75.090 shall not be considered nonconforming uses.

14.75.090 SMALL LOTS AND STRUCTURES ERECTED ON SUCH LOTS NOT CONSIDERED NONCONFORMING:

(a) Purpose of this Section. Within a number of zoning districts created since May 2, 1951, legally subdivided small lots exist which do not meet the spatial requirements set forth in such districts. Furthermore, on certain of such lots, structures have been erected which do not meet the spatial requirements set forth in such district. In order to simplify zoning procedures and to make this ordinance more equitable to land owners and the owners of certain types of structures, the following provisions shall be made effective:

(b) Small lots:

(1) In single family zones: If such lot is undeveloped and no adjacent property is or has been owned by the same owner since January 1, 1972, or if a lot has at some time been used and developed for single family house, or if a use permit is obtained, such lot may be developed with a single family house if it and its development can meet the spatial requirements of any single family district in the City. This shall be considered a conforming use.

(2) In duplex zones: If such lot is undeveloped and no adjacent property is or has been owned by the same owner since January 1, 1972, or if a lot has at some time been used and developed for a duplex house or if a use permit is obtained, it may be developed with a duplex house if its development can meet the spatial requirements of any duplex district in the City. This shall be considered a conforming use.

(3) In multiple family zones: If such lot is undeveloped and no adjacent property is or has been owned by the same owner since January 1, 1972, it may be developed with a single family or duplex structure. Multiple family dwellings and apartments may be permitted only if a use permit is first secured. This shall be considered a conforming use.

(4) In nonresidential zones: If no adjacent property is or has been owned by January 1, 1972, and if a use permit is obtained, it may be developed for the purposes allowed in the zoned districts in which it is located. This shall be considered a conforming use.

(c) Structures on small lots:

(1) A single family house on a small lot shall be considered conforming if it is built in accordance with the spatial requirements of a single family zone in the City, the lot width and area requirements of which are met by such lot. If such lot meets the width and area requirements of more than one such zone, then to be considered conforming such house must meet the spatial requirements of the zone with the largest lot width and area requirements.

(2) A duplex house on a small lot, in a zone which provides for duplex housing, shall be considered conforming if it is built in accordance with the spatial requirements of the duplex zone within the City.

DIVISION 3: Section 14.75.040 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby repealed.

DIVISION 4: Constitutionality. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance. The Council hereby declares that it would have adopted the Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more section, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

DIVISION 5: This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

20-Year-Old Given Option On Jail Time

A 20-year-old San Rafael man, who admitted a burglary count, has been given 90 days in jail with the option to serve his time at the DeLancey Street Foundation in San Francisco instead.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court told John Gregory Vigno, "I don't know how much good it is going to do you, John, but it is better than anything else we have got."

Vigno promised to enroll in the 18-month program of DeLancey Street and "give their program everything I have got."

Vigno pleaded guilty in a plea bargain for no more than 90 days in jail. He was charged with stealing three rugs valued at $2,100 and television and stereo equipment valued at $900 from a Ross home April 16.

Vigno and his brother, Ricci, 21, were arrested after a policeman found the older brother's wallet in the home on Upper Road. A burglary charge against Ricci Vigno was dismissed in municipal court for lack of evidence.

Long-Haired Law Students Sue Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Five long-haired University of California law students have sued the Clift Hotel for allegedly barring them from its Redwood Room because their hair extended "slightly below" their collars.

The incident, according to the lawsuit, filed in superior court Friday, took place Sept. 24.

It asserted the hotel's "anachronistic view of property" is illegal and each student asked $250 damages in addition to an order that Allied Properties, Inc., owner of the hotel, be prohibited from doing the same thing again.

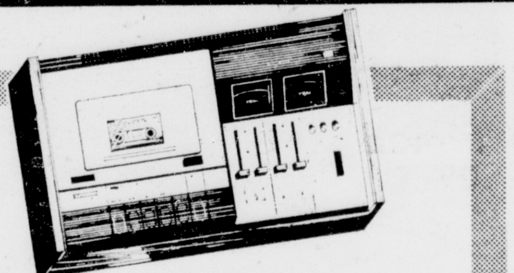
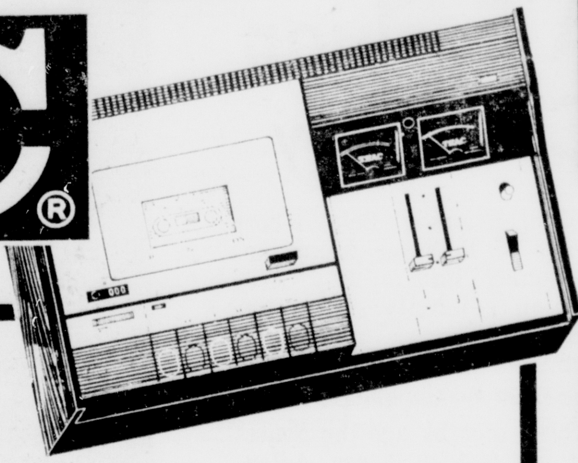
TEAC®





TEAC 1230 STEREO TAPE DECK

TEAC's 1230 Stereo Tape Deck is for you if you've always hankered for something less expensive than stacks of "the latest hits" and something more versatile than just playing "the same old tune." First, unlike most moderately priced decks, the 1230 has three motor drive, not one, built-in Mic/Line mixing in stereo and mono, and solenoid operation. So you're ahead of the game already.

And you get . . .
- Special "Edi-Q" Pause Control
- Dual VU meter & tape bias switch

And a lot more for only $349.50. Come in for a demonstration. And if you want all these features plus automatic reverse play, pick up a TEAC 1250 for only $459.50

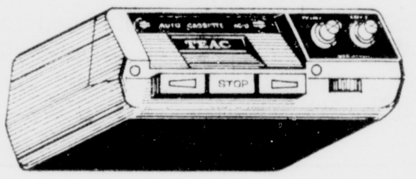
$349.95

1 YEAR PARTS/LABOR GUARANTEE

TEAC 350 CASSETTE DECK

Carry a tune wherever you go. First record it at your place with studio-like precision on the TEAC 350 Cassette Deck. With built-in Dolby® circuitry, straight-line level controls, you won't miss one rich note.

$289.50



TEAC AC-9 AUTO CASSETTE PLAYER

CAR PLAYER
$139.95

TEAC 210 CASSETTE DECK

Some sound entertainment centers take up a corner of your house. TEAC'S 210 Cassette Deck takes up just a corner of a corner display shelf. And it still fills a room with rich wall-to-wall sound.

The reasons why go on and on . . .
- Precision-built TEAC heads
- Tape selector switch that improves the new low-noise/high-output tapes.

Plus automatic shutoff, built-in headphone jack, straight-line level controls and much more. For only $199.50 And for the same cassette versatility at a lower price, see the TEAC 210 Deck. Only $159.50.

Mimi's A Fashion Celebrity

Mimi Frierson, Belgian-born owner of Boutique Mimi, has blossomed into a Bay Area fashion celebrity. Mimi has long been known to Town & Country Village shoppers as an expert on fashionable dress.

Three months ago the Swiss-German fashion house Adler-Mode entered the American market with a San Mateo store called the European Experience. After combing the area for just the right person to represent them in the Bay Area, Adler chose Mimi.

Since then she has been heard on all the major Bay Area radio stations, was featured on television, and has a heavy schedule of speaking appearances ahead.

"It's been an exciting experience," says Mimi.

Actually, Mimi still spends several days a week at the Boutique, and in her absence Bonnie Stinski, wife of the Kentfield artist, or Dutch-born Rita Tuchscherer, serve customers in the Mimi manner.

A GIFT FOREVER

Coin Items Make Fine Yule Gifts

Every Christmas perplexed shoppers seek the new and different to bestow upon their special people on Christmas morning.

A classic and traditional gift for men is coin jewelry. The leading coin gift for men is cufflinks, while ladies enjoy special necklaces and charms of coin motifs. While some silver dollar vintages are popular, most coins selected are made of gold in attractive mountings designed to protect the coins and accent their sculptured designs.

The U.S. coin in gold is the most popular — with Mexican gold and British gold sovereigns also receiving wide acceptance.

Fred Velten of the Golden Gate Coin Shop in Town & Country Village, Strawberry, indicates that a new, contemporary item is now becoming very popular as a Crhistmas gift. These are the ingots and medals produced by the Franklin Mint, probably the leading private mint in the world, according to Velten.

Private mints issue medals while only governments mint coins.

The 1972 Christmas ingot is the second of a distinguished series produced by the Franklin Mint. The beautifully detailed "Sleigh Scene" sculptured by Ernest Schroeder was designed by James Farrell. It is now available at most leading coin shops in the Bay Area.

Tips On Making Coffee Come From An Expert

Hildy Sarkissian, owner of the Caravansary, the coffee, tea and spice store in Strawberry's Town & Country Village, outlines several considerations in attaining the perfect cup of coffee.

First there is the selection of the right coffee bean. "The best is, of course, the one you enjoy the most," says Hildy.

Brazil is a full bodied coffee with a snappy flavor. Columbian has a full, rich flavor and deep mellow body. Costa Rica is a smooth, rich coffee with a heavy body. Guatemalan has a sharp flavor. Kona is one of the most aromatic coffees, is mild in acidity and is noted for its medium body and flavor.

Jamaica has the best balance of coffee in body, aroma, flavor, and acidity. The Mocha-Java blend is a matrixing of two fine coffees into an even smoother cup. Mocha provides the flavor, while Java provides the body and aroma.

The roasts include the light Viennese roasts; Espresso, the continental style, and French roast, the strong bitter-black roast.

In preparing coffee, use cold water. Grind your beans using the proper setting just before serving. Fill the coffee maker to capacity. Hildy believes the best coffee makers are the filter types. The coffee should filter one time and never be boiled.

Another important consideration, reminds Mrs. Sarkissian, is the method of cleaning the pot. Coffee grounds should be removed after the coffee is made. Do not clean with soap, scouring pad or cleanser. Boil once a month with regular baking soda.

Snow Gives Way To Freezing Rain

'Heaviest In Memory'; Weekend Thaw Seen

By MARY LEYDECKER

Marin's children romped last night in what oldtimers called the heaviest snowfall in memory while their parents bemoaned their frozen gardens and traffic problems.

Snow started falling in late afternoon, even in low-lying areas in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties, turning later to freezing rain which covered windshields and roads with ice.

Last night's snowfall was the first time in 19 years that enough snow fell in downtown San Rafael to stay on the ground and ridges and hills in Marin took on the appearance usually reserved for the Sierras and other high mountains in California.

The weatherman said that Northern California will start thawing out today from the weeklong wintry spell that has killed crops and plants.

"A gradual warming trend is expected to begin today as the weather pattern changes from a strong northerly one to a more westerly flow by tomorrow," the U.S. Weather Service forecaster said.

The mercury is expected to soar to the upper 40s and 50s tomorrow, but the unusual cold spell has already done some irreparable damage to Bay Area gardens.

Last night the temperature dropped again to as low as 19 degrees in Novato.

The California Highway Patrol reported about a half-dozen accidents on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge between 7 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. as commuters hit icy spots. There were no serious injuries in the crashes, most of which were spinouts or slides into guard rails.

Other fender-benders were

SNOWBOUND — Renate Ranft isn't about to rush to the aid of her husband, Gunter, who has taken a spill and is sliding down the icy driveway of their Sleepy Hollow Home at 245 Stuyvesant Drive. They and their pet, William Tell, found themselves housebound this morning. The driveway was not only too slippery for their car, but Ranft —who never did get to work in San Francisco — couldn't even stand on it when he tried a little icebreaking. The night's legacy of snow, carpeted not only the hills of Sleepy Hollow, but most of Marin County from mountaintop to sea level.

Board Approves Ranchette Plan

By ERIK M. INGRAM

After nearly a year of sometimes bitter controversy, Marin County supervisors yesterday approved the Martinelli Farms subdivision and in doing so set the stage for the county's first legal battle over environmental impact reports. (Other supervisors stories, photo, page 10.)

Board approval came on a 4-1 vote and followed some three hours of debate which again pitted West Marin conservationists against supporters of developer Lawrence J. Walters, an Inverness real estate agent.

The lone dissenting vote was cast by Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste, who said he liked the idea of 68 "ranchettes" on the 260-acre site near Point Reyes Station but couldn't vote favorably because it lacked a complete environmental impact report.

Other supervisors, though expressing concern over the lack of such a report, didn't share Baptiste's reluctance in voting for the motion made by Supervisor Louis H. Baar and seconded by Supervisor Michael Wornum.

Bolinas attorney Paul D. Kayfetz, who represented the Marin Conservation League in opposing the plan, told the Independent-Journal after the vote he will file suit in Marin Superior Court next week to stop the project.

Kayfetz, whose first suit against the project was nullified last May when supervisors rejected Walters's first set of

Three Deny Charges In TV Theft

Two San Anselmo policemen and a friend pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to felony charges of stealing nine television sets from a catalog store in San Anselmo.

Sgt. Edwin Souza Silvia, 38, Reserve Officer Eugene Charles Saporetti, 24, and Warren Charles Osborne, 25, of Fairfax, waited in the hall until their case was called, waived arraignment, pleaded, then left after Judge Robert A. Smallman set a preliminary hearing for Dec. 26.

Discussion as to whether their arrest had been handled in an unusual manner was widespread among attorneys and law officers in the corridors of the Hall of Justice, but few in the courtroom realized who they were.

The three were never booked

Kissinger Returning For Talk With Nixon

PARIS (UPI) — Dr. Henry A. Kissinger met for slightly more than six hours today with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho —the last and longest meeting of their current negotiations. Peace conference sources said Kissinger would return to Washington tonight to report to President Nixon.

A spokesman at Orly Field said Kissinger's U.S. Air Force plane was scheduled to depart at 7 p.m. (1 p.m. EST).

Conference sources said Kissinger would confer with Nixon, and the respected newspaper Le Figaro said he would then present the draft of a new peace treaty to President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam. Technical experts worked again today on the wording of the treaty.

Washington dispatches and French diplomatic sources said the talks had hit "snags" and that no cease-fire agreement is expected to be signed before Christmas. However, French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann said Tuesday he thought there would be an agreement by Jan. 3.

The official North Vietnamese newspaper Nhan Dan in an editorial broadcast today by Hanoi Radio demanded again that the United States sign the original draft agreement and said continuing support for South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu would "put out the light which just glimmers at the end of the tunnel."

The commentary said further support of Thieu would "continue a protracted war."

UPI diplomatic reporter Stewart Hensley said administration officials in Washington gave the impression that one of the problems concerned the exact nature of the cease-fire arrangements —extremely difficult to arrange in a war where there are no clearly defined front lines —and the degree of authority each side would exercise in the areas under its control.

This authority will be subject to military observation by a four-nation supervisory commission in which approximately 5,000 troops from Indonesia, Canada, Poland and Hungary are expected to participate. In the political sphere, the Saigon and Viet Cong authorities would operate under the auspices of a three-segment national council for reconciliation and cooperation.

James Reston of the New York Times reported in a Paris dispatch that one unresolved issue at the start of today's talks was the insistence by Thieu that any agreement must state unequivocally that the Saigon government has the sole sovereign right to control all the territory it held before the Vietnam War began.

Fairfax Nod To Countywide Plan

By JEFF GREER

Fairfax Town Council members last night voted 3-2 to approve the countywide general plan, but at the same time tried to hammer a stake into the coffin of long-buried plans to extend Highway 17 through the community.

The special hearing on the countywide plan was spiced by Fairfax Planning Commissioner John J. Hourihan's declaration that he will file court action "in the next few days" to invalidate Councilman E. Ross Parkerson's favorable vote, on grounds of conflict of interest.

Parkerson, a professional planner in the county planning department, refused to disqualify himself from discussion or voting, as Hourihan demanded during the joint council-planning commission meeting.

The council attached three reservations to its approval of the general plan, via a complicated motion by Councilman Frank J. Egger:

1. That any transit corridor entering Fairfax from the east be only the existing four lanes provided by Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Center Street, plus one new lane exclusively for buses.

2. That the controversial review agency proposed to watchdog implementation of the countywide plan must be fully described and must be approved by both the town council and the planning commission before it could operate; and

3. That implementation of the countywide plan's economic goals be given further study.

Sol Silver, chief of advance planning for the county, presented the plan which his

Plan Holds Funds For Street Work

Marin County supervisors voted unanimously yesterday to approve a new federal road program which will pump about $230,000 into downtown San Rafael street improvements. (Other supervisors stories, page 10.)

The board's action, taken grudgingly by some supervisors, ends another round in the county's fight with San Rafael over city redevelopment.

Last week, the board voted to delay approval of the program as a negotiating tool over redevelopment, which will siphon off county and school district funds to pay redevelopment bonds.

San Rafael officials charged the board's action amounted to "blackmail" and Monday night moved to scrap a joint city-county committee agreement giving the county limited veto power over city redevelopment projects.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said today the county's action will have no effect on the city's position that giving redevelopment veto power to outside agencies is legally impossible. He said city councilmen and redevelopment agency staff will meet with county supervisors at 11 a.m. tomorrow in city hall to discuss the city's position.

The board's change of heart came yesterday after Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker Jr. told supervisors further delay in approving the program could jeopardize not only San Rafael's funds but also $62,000 for Tiburon and $20,000 for Novato.

Supervisors Michael Wornum and Arnold M. Baptiste, in approving the program, repeated their warning of last week that other road funds funneled through the county might be withheld in the future from cities contemplating redevelopment.

SECRET MEETING CHARGE LEVELED

Members Of Sausalito City Council Called To Answer For Attending Development Party

By PAT ANGLE

An attorney last night accused four members of the Sausalito City Council of "holding a secret meeting in violation of all ethics of government" by getting together with a developer's representative at a private party Sunday to inspect a model of a proposed project. (Another Sausalito Council story, page 11.)

"You have engaged in very improper practices," attorney Hugh Lawrence told the councilmen, who promptly denied they had done anything wrong.

Lawrence chastised Mayor Robin Sweeny and Councilmen Stephen A. Fraser, Earl F. Dunphy and Sally Stanford for attending an open house at the Sausalito Boulevard home of architect Donn Emmons. (Councilman Evert Heynneman had also been invited, but was unable to go because of "prior commitments.")

Emmons is architect for a multimillion dollar residential-commercial-recreational development proposed for the 30-acre Schoonmaker property on the city's waterfront. He told the Independent-Journal today he had invited the council members, who are not personal friends along with some members of the planning commission and community appearances advisory board, to view a model of a revised development plan for the huge project.

The altered proposal, which Emmons said was informally presented at the open house, has not yet been made public.

The architect said, "There was no attempt to move anybody's point of view or get any decision.

"It was hardly a private meeting since about 30 people, including friends and neighbors, attended. I didn't see anything inappropriate about it."

In addition to the councilmen, Emmons's wife, Audrey, a member of the appearances advisory board and Charles Merrill, another advisory board member, were present.

Robert L. Nissen, planning commission chairman, told the I-J yesterday he had been invited, but didn't attend "because I don't go to private showings."

Lawrence said last night he saw the council attendance at the party as "a violation of the (Ralph M.) Brown Act," the state's antisecrecy statute for public agencies.

The attorney said Fraser had told him about the open house and had also indicated to the attorney the issue of permitting only 220 units of housing in future development of the Marinship — which the council discussed last night — had been the subject of conversation at the party, based on the model they had seen. (The Schoonmaker development would be located in Marinship and the original plan called for 223 residential units).

"You even told me how the other council members would vote on the question (of limiting future residential development in Marinship to 220)," Lawrence told Fraser.

"Any councilman has a right to speculate on how the other members will vote," Fraser retorted. "In that session at the Emmons house, no more than two councilmen discussed the subject at any one time," he added. "I talked about it with Robin and Early and Sally, but all at different times.

(In response to a question about the party from the I-J,

Four San Anselmo Fires

A two-story house was destroyed, two garages were damaged and a church social hall suffered extensive damage in a rash of fires last night in the seminary section of San Anselmo.

It was unknown today whether the four blazes were connected but two of them appeared to have been set deliberately, according to fire department officials.

In the most serious fire, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Frank of 11 Waverly Road, escaped without injury from their blazing house, even though he was on crutches.

Firemen, rushing from one fire to another, were further hampered by the bitter cold and frozen hydrants.

Capt. Robert Beedle of the San Anselmo Fire Department said that firemen were first called at 9:04 p.m. to a garage at the home of Vernon Wiggins at 18 Raymond Avenue, where someone had ignited a pile of rags in an open garage.

The fire scorched a wall and Beedle estimated the damage at about $200.

Then at 9:49 p.m. the department was called to 18 Kensington Court, where another ga-

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Boyle Trailing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 10-year reign of W. A. (Tony) Boyle as president of the United Mine Workers was threatened today by unofficial returns showing his opponent, Arnold R. Miller, running a strong race in a federally supervised election.

The unofficial returns early today gave Boyle 5,605 votes and Miller, 5,479.

"We are surprised that the lead is not bigger," said a Miller spokesman. "Most of these returns are from pension locals expected to go for Boyle."

The spokesman said Miller's camp expected the challenger to take the lead when the "big working locals come in" and keep it for the balance of the vote counting.

Hijacker Convicted

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Martin J. McNally became the eighth person convicted of an extortion hijacking when a federal court jury found him guilty on two counts of air piracy late Tuesday.

McNally, 28, Wynadotte, Mich., will be sent to the federal medical center at Springfield, Mo., for an examinationbefore sentencing by U.S. District Judge John K. Regan.

McNally was charged with two counts of air piracy because he took control of two separate airplanes. A substitute plane was demanded and provided after a St. Louis businessman rammed the first plane with his car in an attempt to stop the hijacking. The crash took place at Lambert Field in St. Louis.

The hijacker eventually bailed out of the second airplane in the vicinity of Peru.

No Sub Search

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — The Danish navy has decided against any immediate operation to pursue an unidentified foreign submarine spotted in the iceberg-choked fjords along the coast of Greenland, a Danish official said today.

"There is no doubt that a foreign submarine is lurking in the fjords but we have no clue on the identity," Defense Minister Kjeld Olesen said. "We are not going to start a fulltime search before we have more information."

Ruled Dead

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — An Alaskan jury ruled yesterday that missing Congressman Nick Begich and two other men who disappeared on a flight with House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs are dead.

But District Court Judge Dorothy Tyner refused to sign an order immediately permitting a special election to fill Alaska's lone congressional seat, which was held by Democrat Begich. She said she would take final action "shortly."

At the request of Boggs' family, the fate of the Louisiana congressman was not considered by the jury of these three men and three women.

Martial Law Lifted

SEOUL (UPI) — The government announced it would lift today a nationwide state of martial law imposed 58 days ago by President Park Chung-hee.

Martial law was decreed Oct. 17 as a prelude to sweeping reforms Park said were needed to cope with international and domestic developments, including the current negotiations with North Korea.

The martial law decree suspended parts of the former constitution, dissolved parliament, banned all political activities and closed down universities.

Policeman Killed

BELFAST (UPI) — Gunmen armed with automatic weapons murdered a policeman emerging from a Belfast hotel early today by pumping at least 24 bullets into his body. He was the 660th victim of Northern Ireland violence in more than three years.

An army spokesman said the victim was the 29th policeman slain during the political and religious strife in the province.

His death came only hours after Roman Catholic politicians ended a boycott lasting 10 months and met secretly with British government officials to discuss ways to resolve the Northern Ireland crisis.

Missile Downs U.S. Spy Plane

SAIGON (UPI) —A Communist missile shot down a U.S. Air Force spy plane over North Vietnam last week and the jet's two crewmen are missing despite rescue attempts by helicopters that were hit by antiaircraft fire, the U.S. command said today.

Military sources said two chopper crewmen were wounded when the rescue armada flew into a Communist ambush. Unconfirmed reports from other military sources said it was believed Communist troops captured the pilot of the RF4 Phantom reconnaissance plane and forced him to call in a false position to set up the ambush. Those reports could not be verified.

Military spokesmen said the spy plane crashed after being hit by a surface-to-air (SAM) missile Saturday about 110 miles south of Hanoi. It was the 127th plane lost over North Vietnam since heavy U.S. bombing resumed April 6 and the 1,060th since 1964. Crewmen missing from the downed flight brought to 912 the number of Americans missing or captured in the North.

The U.S. command reported today that it was forced to cut back airstrikes over North Vietnam Tuesday to just 20, the lowest number in more than a month. Military sources said "heavy rains" accounted for the reduction.

At the same time, jet fighter-bombers hit South Vietnam Tuesday with their heaviest raids in more than a month, spokesmen said. At least 323 raids were reported, more than half of them in Military Region I just below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams.

The warplanes knocked out a Communist tank 10 miles south of the DMZ and sank a barge headed down the nearby Cua Viet River in Quang Tri Province with supplies for Communist troops in the area, spokesmen said.

B52 bombers recorded another 33 bombing waves throughout the two Vietnams. Ten of the three-plane raids dumped about 900 tons of bombs on "enemy supply caches" in North Vietnam and the other 23 struck in the South.

In the ground war, a Saigon command communique said Communist troops stepped up their attacks slightly with 69 "enemy-initiated incidents" reported between dawn Tuesday and daybreak today—a dozen more than in the previous 24 hours.

Fighting was scattered but fierce and included battles from just below the DMZ to deep in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon.

FUTURE PLANS — William P. Clements Jr. of Dallas, who has been selected as No. 2 man in the Defense Department by Nixon, says if and when he is confirmed, he'll "resign. . .walk away" as head of his large Texas oil drilling firm, but that he is not going to sell his stock.

Multivitamin Controls Urged By Food, Drug Administration

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Food and Drug Administration, citing mounting evidence of adverse effects from overdoses of vitamins A and D, today proposed new rules to limit the amount of such vitamins in nonprescription products.

The FDA said the thrust of its proposal would fall on multiple-formula vitamins, some of which now have 60 times the recommended daily allowance of vitamin D and 10 times the recommended dosage of vitamin A.

The makers of multivitamins will have to change formulas to comply with the new limits, the FDA said, but prescription vitamin products will not be affected.

"Vitamins A and D are known to be toxic; and they are heavily promoted in high doses to the consumer; and we continue to accumulate evidence of adverse effects from excessive intake," said FDA Commissioner Charles E. Edwards.

"The FDA has concluded, therefore, that consumer safety requires the action we are taking," he said.

Too much vitamin A, the FDA said, can increase pressure within the human skull, creating symptoms not unlike those created by a brain tumor. Large doses have also been known to retard growth in children.

Vitamin D, the FDA said, has been shown to retard mental and physical growth of children when too much is taken over extended periods.

The agency said many multivitamins now on the market have amounts of vitamin A and D below the proposed limits, but it said others were far over the recommended daily allowances.

"Reports of misuse of large doses of both vitamins A and D have prompted medical groups and FDA to seek limitations on them," the FDA said in announcing the action. "Widespread promotion of both vitamins has resulted in excessive use for conditions such as acne, night blindness and arthritis. Neither vitamin A nor D are proven effective for these conditions in well nourished people."

Reagan Organizes New Public Service Branch — Radio News

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The latest wrinkle in the Reagan administration's reorganization of state public information activities is the inauguration of its own radio broadcast service.

The fledgling program, titled "California Information Broadcast Service," is headed by Bob McCafferty, a former Sacramento television reporter and editor, who promises to steer it away from "political controversy."

McCafferty, who will receive an $18,000 annual salary, said the service is "nothing more complicated than taking a lot of press releases and turning them into voice actualities through interviews with various state officials."

Those interviews are conducted by McCafferty, who said the "vast majority" of information would flow from major state agencies such as health and welfare, resources, business and transportation and agriculture.

In the first broadcasts, no effort was made to identify McCafferty as a public employe who is presenting the administration's viewpoint on various issues.

He said tape-recorded interviews are signed off by "this is Bob McCafferty at the state Capitol." At their option, stations may choose to further identify him as an employe of the Reagan administration.

"The idea when I took the job was to make it as valid a news service as we can," he said. "We don't want to get involved in political controversy. For instance, if the governor should be critical of someone in one of his news conference, that won't be in the service."

At a news conference Tuesday, Gov. Ronald Reagan said the money to finance the program—modeled after one that has been in operation in Illinois for three years—will come from existing state funds.

He said it is "just an effort to again let the people know that factual statements on state programs, whatever they may be, are recorded and available for radio broadcast."

The program went into operation Monday and McCafferty describes the initial response as "excellent." He said more than 100 stations throughout the state used the service on the opening day.

Interested radio stations can get three audio feeds daily by calling a toll-free number in Sacramento. The state will pick up the tab for the calls.

The new radio service is part of a general reorganization of state public information activities spearheaded by James Jenkins, who previously served as a lobbyist for the Reagan administration in Washington.

As part of the reorganization program, Reagan hired Harvey Yorke, who was a publicity lieutenant for S.I. Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State College. Yorke will be paid $25,000 a year as "super-chief" of the administration's public information program.

FIRES

rage was on fire.

This blaze was more serious, Beedle said, with the garage in flames when firemen arrived. An Alpha Romeo car, 10-speed bicycles and other contents of the garage were destroyed, along with the wall between the house and garage.

Beedle estimated the damage to the property of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Knecht would "be close to $10,000."

Firemen fighting the Knecht garage blaze were told by a neighbor that another house was afire about a half-block away.

When they arrived at that house, the Frank home, the two-story frame building was completely engulfed in flames, Captain Beedle said.

The Ross and Fairfax fire departments were called to assist San Anselmo firemen, some of whom had stayed behind at the Kensington Court blaze.

Neighbors took in Mr. and Mrs. Frank, who apparently had escaped through the rear of their house, according to a witness.

Firemen thought this fire started in the basement of the house, but were investigating the origin and cause today. They spent most of the night pulling down dangerous walls and extinguishing smoldering pockets of fire in the house, Beedle said.

At least two firemen suffered minor injuries, he said, and "everyone feels like they've been run over by a truck today."

It took the combined efforts of two firemen to "muscle" open a frozen valve on a hydrant to get water.

Damage to the Frank residence and contents was estimated at $50,000.

Finally, at 11:15 p.m., while firemen were still at the Frank house, a call came reporting smoke at the social hall of the First Presbyterian Church at 72 Kensington Road.

"Someone had set the draperies on fire," Beedle said. These fell down and set the hall's stage afire, which was damaged even more when firemen had to chop it up to extinguish fire underneath.

All the fires were under investigation today.

ARRESTS

into Marin County Jail after being arrested Tuesday and remained free without posting bail.

Following the court appearance, some law enforcement officials termed police handling of the case against their fellow officers "unusual," but a San Anselmo police lieutenant denied that yesterday.

Everyone contacted agreed that the case was handled routinely until after the men were arrested Tuesday morning on suspicion of breaking into the Sears store in Red Hill Shopping Center to take the sets valued at $1,223.

Instead of being taken to jail, the three were released on their promise to appear in court yesterday.

"If they were arrested, why did they let them go?" Judge Smallman wondered.

Police Lt. G. Albert Howenstein replied, "there is no place in the penal code that says they have to be taken to the county jail and processed." He said any solid citizen arrested by San Anselmo police would also be spared that "mere technicality."

"There was no doubt in my mind they would appear in court," he said. Furthermore, he said, the department wanted to check on the soundness of the case with the district attorney's office before making the arrests public.

Smallman, who handles the criminal calendar in Municipal Court, said it is unusual for police to make a felony arrest, then release the suspect.

However, Chief Raymond R. Buchignani, who announced the arrests yesterday, said it is not unusual to postpone booking until the city has its case ready.

Buchignani arrested the men after receiving a telephoned tip that the men had broken into the store. The two officers reportedly told the chief they wanted to have color television sets for Christmas.

86 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

Eighty-six cases of streptococcus infections topped the list of communicable diseases reported in Marin County last week, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht of the county health department. San Rafael residents had 31 of the cases.

Second most common disease, as usual, was gonorrhea, with a total of 31 cases, nine of them in San Rafael. Countywide, there were two cases of syphilis and one each of salmonella and infectious hepatitis.

FAIRFAX

department prepared. He repeatedly tried to reassure Fairfax officials and the half-dozen citizens in the audience that the plan did not envision a Highway 17 extension by any other name.

The controversy began more than eight years ago, when state and county officials were seeking a major east-west link from Highway 101 to West Marin. Fairfax, San Anselmo, Ross and county supervisors killed the proposal on grounds it would bisect the Ross Valley cities.

Silver insisted last night that the countywide general plan sought only to expand the commuter corridor between downtown Fairfax and the Hub in San Anselmo by adding two auto lanes and a bus lane either to Sir Francis Drake Boulevard or to Center Street, while diverting tourist traffic via a new road from White Hill to Lucas Valley. The result would be a total of seven east-west lanes.

Councilmen Lee Nelder and Robert R. Souza voted against the countywide plan regardless of the reservations, and opposed any expansion of east-west streets.

Souza charged the plan's goals of preserving open space conflicted with its other goals of a mix of low and moderate income housing and of economic growth — especially noncommute jobs.

Mayor Albert E. Gately urged "extreme caution" in creating the countywide planning superagency. He suggested that the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission designate "spheres of influence" around each city.

Parkerson argued "there is no way a small town can control its own development independent of its surroundings."

Hourihan, after declaring that "litigation will be filed" to disqualify Parkerson from action on the general plan, charged that the plan had been prepared by the county staff under "an enormous CCPC budget."

Town Atty. Wallace S. Myers attended the beginning of the hearing, but left before Parkerson was challenged. Mayor Gately ruled that the disqualification decision was up to Parkerson, who then said he had no direct part in preparing the master plan, and would vote.

Before the council vote, Silver urged the council to "adopt the plan intact" but promised that the City-County Planning Council would consider the changes demanded by Fairfax and other cities before adopting the countywide plan.

The Fairfax general plan adopted in 1968 basically matches the countywide plan except for smaller population predictions, Silver said.

Fairfax's conditional approval of the countywide plan makes it the fourth city to take a formal stand on the proposal. Only Mill Valley has approved the plan without strings. Larkspur and Novato have endorsed the plan's goals but not its specifics; San Anselmo councilmen condemned provisions for increased traffic through the Hub and higher population density but postponed action pending recommendations from the city planning commission.

San Rafael has yet to review the plan. No action has yet been taken by Belvedere, Corte Madera, Ross, Sausalito or Tiburon.

There is no plant or animal life as we know it on the planet Saturn because the temperature is always around minus 250 degrees Fahrenheit and the atmosphere does not contain enough oxygen to support life.

LAND

plans, said the new suit will be based on the board's approval of the project without considering an environmental impact report.

(There is currently in effect an optional moratorium on the state Supreme Court's requirement for such reports and supervisors last week passed a resolution requiring environmental reports for projects in Marin.

(While such reports are still required in Marin, supervisors yesterday found themselves faced with another legal requirement — a time deadline — forcing them to act upon Walters's revised plans, which otherwise would automatically be approved.)

The Martinelli Farms project was first proposed last February after Walters and others agreed to purchase the property from long-time dairyman Elmer Martinelli.

The first set of plans called for 51 lots, varying in size from three to five acres, with about 100 acres to be left in private open space.

Those plans were endorsed by the county planning commission but met stiff opposition from conservationists when considered by supervisors in May. A majority of the board, Baptiste, Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., rejected the plans and suggested changes be made for more open space.

Walters submitted revised plans in August calling for 68 smaller "ranchettes" and more open space, but during a heated planning commission session the revised plans were rejected.

The developer took his revised plans before the board yesterday, claiming he had made the requested revisions and should not be bound by the requirement for an environmental impact report because that requirement was placed long after his plans were first submitted.

Though no formal environmental impact report was made, Walters and his attorney, Leland H. Jordan of San Rafael, argued they had made efforts to answer questions raised previously on earthquake hazards and soil conditions.

Donald Clark of Cooper-Clark and Associates, a Novato engineering firm, told the board the earthquake hazard was no greater for structures on the Martinelli property than elsewhere in the county.

John Stuber of Murray McCormick engineers of Novato said the development proposes only minimum grading and added sewer connections would be made with the Coast Guard facility to be built at Point Reyes.

Jordan, meanwhile, said project engineers had answered serious environmental questions and charged that opposition was by a group that wanted the land left untouched.

"If you're saying 'let's leave it undeveloped' then say so and we'll approach it from there," Jordan told the audience, suggesting they purchase the land.

Kayfetz responded that the conservation league was opposed to any development and suggested the land be put to some other profitable use such as recreation.

Wornum appeared to sum up the position of the majority when he told the audience he thought the development — geared toward horse lovers — was ideal for the area.

Among several conditions placed on approval was one calling for some means of keeping horse-related problems — such as soil erosion — in check. Walters said he would work with the staff in developing an ordinance and deed restrictions on the number of horses any "ranchette" owner will be allowed to keep.

Original Plant Prints Displayed At Civic Center

Original plant prints by Ida Geary are on display through the end of December at the Marin County Civic Center Library.

The 79 prints, from "The Leaf Book" by Mrs. Geary, were shown during the September opening of the new library at the Strybring Arboretum at Golden Gate Park in San Francisco.

Mrs. Geary, a native of Philadelphia, resides in Mill Valley and holds a master's degree in creative arts from San Francisco State College.

Copies of "How to Make Plant Prints" by Mrs. Geary are being given away at the Civic Center Library, open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday.

SESSION

Fraser had said earlier that he "didn't discuss any city business there.")

Lawrence urged the city council to stop discussion about the residential limit in Marinship "until the general public has had the opportunity you had at the Emmons party" to view the proposal.

The council rejected Lawrence's request and later passed the 220-unit limit by a 3-2 vote.

Mrs. Sweeny replied to Lawrence's allegations by saying the party was "not a secret meeting, nothing improper. We didn't decide anything or negotiate anything," she said. "In my estimate, it was nothing more than a social event at which a model was discussed. They served hors d'oeuvres and cocktails. We weren't cheating or trying to decieve anyone."

Dean Jennings, a member of the audience said Emmons had told him that "anyone could have come there (to the open house) who knew about it. It wasn't a secret," Jennings said.

Miss Stanford said she had arrived late and stayed only 15 minutes. "I never thought about the Brown Act, didn't know it applied to situations like that," she told the I-J.

Dunphy said he got a call from Emmons simply asking the councilman to meet with him to discuss the project. "I went, just like I'd go to your house, Hugh Lawrence, if you asked me," he said.

Stabbed Inmate Dies Of Wounds

A San Quentin inmate died today from stab wounds suffered yesterday at the hands of one or more fellow inmates, a prison spokesman said.

Information officer Lee DeBord said Michael James Nolan, 24, a convicted robber from Riverside serving concurrent terms of one and five-years-to-life, died at Marin General Hospital at 1:25 a.m., 12 hours after the attack.

DeBord said Nolan was stabbed numerous times, including thrice in the chest, outside his cell in the east block.

DeBord said one inmate is a "strong suspect" but that others are being questioned. No motive for the attack was immediately known.

OBITUARIES

Mary H. Stewart, 78, Church Leader, Succumbs

Mary H. Stewart, longtime Marinite who took active part in United Presbyterian Church affairs, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 78.

She was the wife of Rev. Donald G. Stewart, retired minister of visitation at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Stewart, of 153 Sacramento Avenue, San Anselmo, was a native of Parsons, Kan., who had lived in Marin 28 years. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo.

Survivors, besides her husband, are a son, Kensey D. Stewart of Oakland; a daughter, Clara Jane Gunter of Sacramento, and two grandchildren.

Memorial service will be at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the First Presbyterian Church. The family prefers memorial gifts to the church.

reported throughout Marin last night, and Woodside Drive and Oak Springs drives in San Anselmo were closed temporarily because of hazardous conditions.

The road up Christmas Tree Hill in Corte Madera was sanded after it became icy.

Motorists who left their cars out during the night were forced to cope with icy windshields, motors which refused to start and in some cases, frozen door locks.

Youngsters, however, delighted in the unusual snowfall and every block in East Petaluma, like many in Marin, was adorned with a snowman last night — products of both children and adults.

It took a little longer to get to school today in most cases, too, as boys and girls alike tarried along the way to make snowballs.

Gardeners could only sigh, though, as their already frozen plants took another beating. "Don't do anything to them" was the warning of a San Rafael nurseryman who said many will revive in the spring if they are not pruned now.

California artichoke, citrus, cauliflower and avocado crops all have suffered extensive damage and prices of these products are expected to rise.

A final note of misery was given by Fernando Ortiz, University of California zoologist in Berkeley, who said yesterday that many birds are starving because nectar-producing flowers and backyard feeders are frozen.

Hummingbirds found semiconscious should be cupped gently in a person's hands until they revive, he said. Then they should be fed with an eyedropper with a solution of one part of sugar dissolved in two or three parts water, according to Ortiz.

Avalanche Kills 15

NICE (UPI) — An avalanche 5,610 feet high crashed down on a column of 15 soldiers in the French Alps today leaving all dead, injured or missing, authorities said.

MARY PARKER

Funeral for Mary Parker of San Rafael, a native of Canada, will be held in Montreal.

Mrs. Parker, 67, of 1954 Las Gallinas Avenue, died at home Sunday. She had been a Marin resident for six years.

She was a widow.

GERTA WILLIAMS

Funeral has been held for Gerta Williams of Tiburon.

Mrs. Williams, a widow, died Sunday in a local convalescent hospital.

Mrs. Williams, a native of Canada, had been a Marin resident a year and lived at 20 Salt Landing.

ADDIE MEYERS

Funeral for Addie May Meyers, a native Californian and a longtime resident of Ross, will be at 11 a.m. Friday at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

Mrs. Meyers, widow of Charles Meyers, died Monday at home, 27 Poplar Avenue, after a short illness. She was 90.

Burial will be private.

RALPH W. JACOBS III

Funeral for Ralph W. Jacobs III, 20, of San Rafael, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary.

The youth's body was found yesterday on a hillside near Lucas Valley Road by a 12-year-old boy who was looking for mistletoe.

Young Jacobs, a student at Dominican College, has been missing since Nov. 28.

The cause of death was not known today pending results of pathological tests. The coroner's office said the body was fully clothed and the only marks had been caused by insects.

The youth was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Jacobs and is also survived by a brother, four sisters and two grandmothers.

BEVERLEY KILGORE

Beverley Regina Kilgore of 805 Fourth Street, Room 12, San Rafael, died yesterday in a local hospital. She was 36.

According to Marin County Coroner's Deputy Keith C. Craig, Mrs. Kilgore was taken to hospital on Dec. 4 after consuming a large quantity of malt liquor and medication. She had remained in the intensive care unit until her death yesterday at 1 p.m.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

JOHN CARLISLE

John A. Carlisle, a 47-year resident of Marin County, died yesterday in a local hospital after a brief illness. He was 80.

Born in Des Moines, Iowa, he was an army veteran of World War I. Before his retirement, he had been a machinist for more than 20 years, last working at the Mare Island Naval Shipyard in Vallejo.

He resided at 14 Marin Street in San Rafael with his wife, Rachael E. Carlisle. He also is survived by a stepson, Otho E. Thomas of Larkspur.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, followed by burial in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

DIANE MITCHELL

Mass of the Angels for 6-year-old Diane Marie Mitchell of San Rafael will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael.

Diane died Sunday in a Seattle hospital after a long fight with leukemia. She entered the hospital several months ago.

The child, who lived at 23 Aquinas Drive with her parents, Ian and Genevieve Mitchell, was a native of Mill Valley.

Survivors, besides her parents, are three sisters, Kathleen, Jennifer and Alison, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. da Silva.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, with burial in Mount Olivet Cemetery. The family prefers spiritual bouquets or donations to the American Cancer Society Leukemia Fund.

RICHARD ABRAHAM

No funeral service will be held for Richard Ians Abraham, retired San Francisco school principal and father of Frances Kohler of Larkspur.

Abraham died Saturday in his San Francisco home following a heart attack. He was 80.

He was born in Iowa, and was educated in Nebraska and at Oregon and at Stanford University. He retired from the school system in 1952 after serving as principal at John Swett and Portola junior high schools.

He also is survived by his wife, Frances, of the home; a son, Richard Abraham of Phoenix, Ariz., two brothers and three grandchildren.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Heart Association.

BIKE BRIGADE — Dennis Tate (left), president of the Mill Valley Optimist Club, tightens a bolt while club secretary James Eberhart applies a fresh coat of paint to bicycles the Optimists are repairing to give to needy children at Christmas. The club hopes to repaint, repair and distribute about 50 bikes by Christmas Day.

Optimist Members Turn Old Bikes Into Holiday Happiness

Members of the Mill Valley Optimist Club may not resemble Santa's elves and Anthony's Auto Craft in San Rafael is hardly Santa's workshop, but the Christmas Spirit pervades the auto body shop no less than it pervades the North Pole.

For there, amidst repainted cars and mangled fenders, the Mill Valley Optimist Club is busily repairing used bicycles to give to needy children for Christmas.

The club has already gathered about 25 bikes, whose condition range from sparkling clean to downright awful.

But, every bike is appreciated, said project chairman James Eberhart, and even the most dilapidated bike can supply a needed part or two.

The club, a nonprofit group of Mill Valley businessmen dedicated to helping Marin County youths, has been repairing bikes for three years now.

Two years ago, their delivery truck filled with bikes was almost mobbed by a horde of delighted children in Marin City.

This year, the club will seek names of needy families from the Marin County Welfare Department, according to Eberhart.

"Most poor kids just don't get bikes for Christmas," said Eberhart. "We want to fill some of those voids."

Optimist president Dennis Tate added, "We hope it will make some of these kids feel like someone is working for them, not against them."

The 10 club members are prepared to accept bikes at Anthony's Auto Craft Shop, 103 Verdi Street in San Rafael, until Dec. 22.

They hope to repaint, repair and distribute about 50 bikes by Christmas Day.

Pop Singer Gives Birth To Girl

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Recording star Helen Reddy, whose current pop hit is "I am Woman," gave birth Tuesday to an 8-pound, 4-ounce boy at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

The 31-year-old singer named her son Jordan Sommers Wald, the first child of her five year marriage to Jeff Wald, 29. Miss Reddy has a 10-year-old daughter from a previous marriage.

BART Controls Safety Defended

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Westinghouse Electric Co. executive said today that the Bay Area Rapid Transit System's automatic controls are the safest in the world and that problems which have turned up during the first three months of operation "can be cleared up very quickly."

Woodrow E. Johnson, a vice president of Westinghouse and general manager of its transportation division, said much of the criticism pouring down on BART because of a series of accidents is based on misinformation about the sophisticated electronic controls.

Johnson conceded BART has a "lost train" problem and a "station run-through" problems.

Johnson said tests are now under way to solve both these problems.

The failure of the central computer to detect the presence of a car sitting dead on a track can be corrected by providing a better electric contact between the car wheels and the track, and several means are being tested to do that, he said.

"These tests will be completed by the middle of January and then the problem can be cleared up very quickly," he said.

The other major problem — "station run-through" —is the result of various faults in specific equipment such as short circuits. Finding all of them "is a matter of testing," Johnson said, and such incidents are being gradually reduced to about three a week.

The Westinghouse executive called a news conference to respond to questions by Bay Area reporters. Westinghouse and BART management have already been questioned extensively by state legislative committees and the state Public Utilities Commission, which has ordered back-up human drivers to man all the system's trains despite the fully automated Westinghouse computer controls.

Another Hot Topic Facing Trustees

The Tamalpais High School District board, plagued recently with controversies over district spending on travel and lavish furniture, will enter yet another field of controversy at its meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Redwood High School faculty lounge.

Letters from taxpayers will be presented, objecting to the educational philosophies of the Tamalpais High School educational leader, Lawrence Sheppard, the newly hired administrator whose $5,700-worth of office furniture triggered the latest district uproar.

After trustees ordered the furniture sent back for a refund last week, Sheppard moved into the office of Tamalpais High School Principal Ramond J. Bell, the unbudgeted furniture was put into storage and Bell moved into the empty office.

Another angry letter from the Marin Builders Exchange also will be presented, objecting to the district's practice in advertising for bids.

At its meeting last week the board approved a $991.10 payment to the San Francisco Chronicle-Examiner for one advertisement soliciting bids for re-roofing the Redwood High School gymnaisum, plus $107.80 for the same ad in the Oakland Tribune, and one in the Independent-Journal at $58.94. The cost of the ads was more than 10 per cent of the $10,212 total cost of the project.

The Marin Builders Exchange weekly bulletin advertises such bids free of charge, states the letter, "and the Marin Builders Exchange has a membership of nearly 400 construction related firms who work and pay taxes in this county. Don't you think it appropriate that they be solicited for bids in the future?"

Younger Views Obscenity Rule

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —"You can still see dirty shows in California. You can still eat and drink. You just can't do both at once."

That was California Attorney General Evelle Younger's capsule analysis of last week's U.S. Supreme Court ruling on obscene entertainment.

The court upheld the state's authority to regulate nude entertainment in bars and to prohibit "bottomless" dancing and so-called "adult" movies.

Younger said Tuesday that the Alcoholic Beverage Control (ABC) regulations sustained by the court dealt only with bars and private clubs where alcohol was sold for consumption on the premises.

"The regulations do not deal with theaters, movie house, or other establishments which do not sell and serve alcoholic beverages, nor do they affect the state's criminal statutes," he said.

Five Office Buildings Ruled Out

The Mill Valley Planning Commission has refused to allow building a set of five office buildings on eight acres of land in the Shelter Ridge development because the property is zoned for commercial and recreational uses only.

The proposal was submitted by Mape Industries, which plans five one and two-story office buildings, with a total of 65,400 square feet, on the property north of Shelter Bay.

According to Planning Director Tom W. Newton, the commission turned down the developer's application for planned unit development status because the project was not a compatible use in a commercial-recreation zone.

The commission did not rule on the merits of the plan itself, said Newton.

In order to keep its proposal alive, Mape Industires can either appeal the planning commission's decision or seek a change in the parcel's zoning.

The commission also adopted the countywide plan's open space element as Mill Valley's interim open space plan.

The countywide plan identified Northridge, the small boat harbor area and the land along Miller Creek as important open space areas.

The interim open space plan, if approved by the city council, will be followed by a more detailed final open space plan.

Puppet Show To Be On Dec. 29

Tam Valley puppeteers Brian Healey, 11, and Terry Louis, also 11, will present three puppet plays for children at 2:30 p.m. Dec. 29 in the Corte Madera Regional Library children's room.

The boys are being helped by Kitty Adams, adult puppeteer of Mill Valley, and Leonora James of Tam Valley, octagenarian former costume designer for legitimate theaters in New Zealand.

Young Healey previously wrote and produced several children's plays for the Tam Valley Library and the Marin Story-telling Association, according to Teddy Olwyler, children's librarian at the regional library.

Meeting Postponed

Tonight's meeting of the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission has been postponed to next week, Dec. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at Larkspur City Hall, announced Harlan Barry, Larkspur's parks and recreation director.

POTENTIAL BATTLEGROUND

The grassy slopes of Elmer Martinelli's ranch north of Point Reyes Station loom as a potential battleground for a legal fight between conservationists and developers over environmental impact reports. Conservationists claim a 68-lot subdivision approved by county supervisors yesterday could threaten Tomales Bay, to the right of the photo. See story, page 1.

No Action Taken On Novato Plan

Novato's proposed general plan was given its fifth and final public hearing last night, but the Novato City Council took no action on it.

The council set 8 p.m. Monday for its discussion and possible adoption of the plan.

The crowd of approximately 180 people seemed about equally divided for and against it, judging by the applause.

The differences were — as they have been from the outset — mainly between developers and large property owners who want to develop their property to its fullest use, and the homeowner associations and conservationists who want to keep the open spaces.

In the discussion, both God and Hell were used to describe the plan.

Irving Perlman of 1581 Hill Road said that God had made such beauty as Big Rock with snow on it, but man wanted to destroy the open spaces by building on them.

Phillip Coady, president of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, which opposes the plan, said a man with a single-family house on a lot does not want his neighbor with 10 acres to develop it. The plan makes the man in the single family home say "to Hell with my neighbor."

The proposed plan has been a year in preparation by the city staff. Neighborhood committees were formed and said what they thought should go into it. The plan was prepared and submitted to the Novato Planning Commission, which held a series of public hearings. This was the fifth held by the council.

Speaking against the plan were: Jack H. West, developer of Bel Marin Keys, who still owns 1,100 acres north of Hamilton Air Force Base, Timothy W. O. Donoghue of 7 Brown Drive who owns 33 acres at the end of Hill Road, John W. Hill of 1602 Grant Avenue, Ronald D. Schenck of 728 Eucalyptus Avenue, and Alfred Bellucci of 7 Equestrian Court.

Backing the plan were Robert Burke of the San Marin Improvement Association, Ellen Wagner of the League of Women Voters, Eric Kinsey of the South Novato Homeowners Association, Linn Childs of the Marin Conservation League, Dixie Conway of 17 Cathy Court, Harold Blue of the North Marin Federation of Homeowners Associations, George Amaroli of 11 Rebecca Way and Lawrence Smith of the Indian Valley Associates.

Richard Gaebel of the Black Point Improvement Club asked that Black Point be excluded from the plan as it is not a part of Novato. "Let us plan for ourselves," he said. (The plan includes the greater Novato area.)

Jerry A. Cannon of 1 Isabella Court, representing the Marin Conservation League, said he is undecided on the plan. "Open space raises the prices of houses in the flat land and is pricing people out of Novato. You must chose people or open space," he said.

Supervisors Name 10 Choices As Recreation Area Advisers

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday named 10 persons it would like to see serve on the Golden Gate National Recreation Area Advisory Commission.

The 15-member commission will be selected by Secretary of the Interior Rogers B. Morton.

Nominated by the supervisors were: Polly Smith, representing the county parks and recreation commission; Robert Raab, conservation organization member; A. J. Bianchi, representing West Marin residents; Jo Julin, representing Southern Marin; Clerin W. Zumwalt, representing the Marin Municipal Water District; Margaret B. Azevedo, transportation representative; Jack Craemer, Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau; Peter Haas, "experienced in trials," and George Leonard and Phyllis Faber, citizens at-large.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

ORDINANCE — Voted 4-1, Supervisor Louis H. Baar dissenting, on an emergency ordinance doing away with deadlines for board action on rezonings, tentative maps and other planning matters. The new ordinance gives the county the power to delay projects until environmental impact reports are made. Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, who voted for the emergency ordinance, voted against the same ordinance last week prior to the mandatory hearing on the Martinelli Farms proposal, which was approved yesterday without an environmental report.

CONTRACT — Approved a $14,026 contract with Pride Unlimited for janitorial services for the two Marin Community Mental Health Center clinics.

STREET — Approved the abandonment of a portion of Laurel Way, a paper street in Tamalpais Valley, but retained a small section to allow future access to a vacant lot.

MAPPING — Approved a request from the department of public works for $3,270 for aerial mapping of Kent and College avenues in Kentfield as part of the proposed reconstruction project.

HEARING — Set Jan. 2 for a hearing on a proposal to abandon the once-controversial Sausalito Canal dredging project. The project, needed before Mill Valley can build its yacht harbor, would require formation of a special assessment district to pay the estimated $670,000 dredging cost.

BENEFITS — Approved increasing fringe benefits of management and midmanagement employees by $8 per month to $38 through June. The employees received no increase in fringe benefits during June budget hearings while all others did. Total cost through June will be $7,257.

MOTORCYCLE — Named Leroy Gerner, county parks and recreation commissioner, to a committee advising the board on off-road motorcycle sites.

FEES — Voted an increase in fees for gun permits, employment licenses and fingerprinting. The high is $10 for gun permit processing.

CONTRACT — Awarded a $102,813 contract to L. H. Leonardi of San Rafael for signal work in connection with the Sir Francis Drake Boulevard widening project in Kentfield.

DESIGN — Approved negotiating an agreement with the architectural firm of Hageman and Eklund for design of a residence and office building at county fire headquarters in Woodacre.

I-J Readers May Study For Credit

The nation's first college-level course to appear in newspapers will begin next September in the Independent-Journal as well as more than 100 other American and foreign newspapers.

The course-America and the Future of Man — will be provided at the third year college level under a $96,000 grant by the National Endowment for the Humanities.

John Coley, promotion manager for the I-J, said subscribers may either read the course "for their own edification" or take it for college credit.

The course will consist of 20 lectures of about 1,400 words.

"Participating newspapers will publish the lectures as news articles, one to appear each week over a 20-week period, beginning in September 1973," the NEH said.

Those taking the course for credit will pay about $45 and take midterm and final examinations. Lectures will be given at participating universities at midway and final points.

Coley said final arrangements have not been made yet for the university to participate in this area, but it will probably be the University of California at Berkeley.

The program was originally intended to be undertaken on a pilot basis in six newspapers but the response was so great the field was opened to all interested newspapers.

Phone Ripping Case Goes To Superior Court

A 32-year-old San Francisco man with an antipathy for telephcnes was bound over yesterday to Marin Suoerior Court on a felony charge of ripping a receiver from a Strawberry phone booth.

Municipal Court Judge Robert A. Smallman told Walter Preston Harper, 32, to appear Dec. 27.

When arrested by sheriff's deputies Nov. 25, Harper is said to have told them he rips out receivers because his wife ran away with a phone company employee.

The man, distinguished by a swastika carved in his forehead, has a history both of damaging phones and undergoing psychiatric treatment.

The latest vandalism occurred at a gas station at 570 Redwood Highway, according to deputies.

Reorganized Health Unit Approved By Supervisors

The Marin County Board of Supervisors unanimously and enthusiastically approved yesterday a major reorganization of county mental health services. (Other supervisors stories, page 1.)

The changes, aimed at decentralizing the $2.9 million department of some 180 employees, were hailed as long overdue, although some critics believed the proposal was being rushed.

"It's my feeling the redirection should have come about a long time ago," Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste said. "I believe Marin has the highest expenditure per capita in California (in mental health services) and as far as I'm concerned, the dollar has not been wisely spent."

Under the reorganization, proposed by Dr. Robert Taylor, mental health program chief, after a four-month study with staff and numerous community agencies, four teams of psychiatrists, psychologists, counselors and nurses will administer general services on a regional basis in northern, central, southern and western Marin.

Aside from relieving community inaccessibility to services, Taylor told the board, the reorganization plan deals in various ways with the problems of achieving cost effectiveness, providing better service to the severely disturbed, lack of integration of services and of faulty interagency coordination.

The reorganization includes creation of units for crisis services, transitional care (a program under which patients released from an institution live and work together while remaining under treatment), special problems and community services.

Taylor told the Independent-Journal the plan will mean filling seven vacant positions, but no new increase in staff. And cost of the new programs, he said, will not exceed the current budget, nor is it expected that any extra program money will be needed next fiscal year.

Sharpest of the critics was Dr. William Dickerson, chairman of the mental health committee of the Marin Medical Society. While observing that the plan seemed to be "moving in a direction that showed great promise," Dickerson urged delay in approval since it was his believe the community —and the medical society, in particular — had not been given sufficient time to react to the proposal.

"It's like reorganizing the kitchen without consulting the working crew," he said. Dickerson also said the plan failed to contain a detailed supporting budget.

Board members, notably chairman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., seemed unimpressed with Dickerson's complaint of a rushed proposal, noting the reorganization had been in the works for months and the unlikelihood that the medical society would have been unaware of the planning.

George Carter, pastor of the Methodist Church of Mill Valley also questioned the "hurry" in view of the fact the Marin Mental Health Advisory Board approved the reorganization only last week on "short notice." And he expressed concern over what he termed a lack of in-depth services, especially for the severely disturbed.

Trude Baum, a member of the mental health advisory board, noted the panel had favored Taylor's reorganization proposal by a vote of 5-2. She was among its supporters.

"I'm convinced that the program is the right way to go," said Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere. "We can't afford to play political football with the children and adults who suffer from mental illness."

It was the second time in two weeks that the supervisors have considered program reorganization within the county's health services department. Last week, the board postponed action on changes in the public health division in the face of audience opposition.

Little Girl Helps Save Her Mother

FAREHAM, England (UPI) — Telephone operator Eileen Smith kept the little girl talking, asking her about Santa Claus and other things about Christmas.

Mrs. Smith said she kept Sarah Jane Chase, 4, chattering for 15 minutes Tuesday while engineers traced the telephone number of the Chase home, where the girl's mother lay unconscious and bleeding.

When ambulance men reached the house, Sarah Jane was still talking. Doctors said the girl probably helped prevent her mother from bleeding to death.

Mrs. Smith said the drama began when Mrs. Chase, bleeding from injuries sustained when she fell through a window pane, telephoned for help but collapsed before she could give her address.

"A little girl came to the phone and said her mummy was asleep," Mrs. Smith said. "I kept her talking for 15 minutes. We talked about Christmas and what Santa was going to bring her."

What do doctors recommend for patients in·pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give up to 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin®.

Old Adobe Board Has New Trustee

Terence M. Garvey was elected yesterday to the Old Adobe School District board in one of the poorest voter turn-outs in Sonoma County history, not quite seven-tenths of 1 per cent of the electorate.

In unofficial results, Garvey received 228 votes and Donald P. Petro received 82 votes. A total of 310 votes were cast out of 4,884 registered voters.

Garvey, 45, will replace John A. Thompson on the school board that serves East Petaluma. Thompson resigned when he moved to Marin County.

Garvey is a registered civil engineer employed by Spreckels Sugar Co. in San Francisco. He and his wife, Joanne, and their six children live at 83 Maria Drive.

Bill Requires Quentin Study Before Sale

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State cannot sell San Quentin until completion of a study aimed at finding out if there would be any good public use for the prison site, under a bill signed by Gov. Reagan.

The measure, authored by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, and signed Tuesday, requires that the General Services Department prepare a report for the legislature by July 1974 on possible public uses of the land and buildings. The state Corrections Department has announced plans to close the state's largest prison, but no firm date has been established.

Under the bill, the property could not be sold, leased or disposed until after the report has been received and approved by the legislature.

It was SB 229.

Housing Limits Set In Marinship Area

By a 3-2 vote, the Sausalito City Council decided last night to limit housing in the city's 100-acre Marinship area to 200 units. (Another Sausalito City Council story, page 1.)

Till now, the city's general plan allowed 644 residential units there.

Councilman Robin Sweeny and Earl F. Dunphy cast the two dissenting votes.

Dunphy objected to the council majority's other decision, that the housing units can be spread throughout the Marinship and not limited to certain areas.

"I don't feel there should be residences to the north of Harbor Drive," he said.

A group of Marinship business, including the E. D. Bullard Co., Clipper Yacht Harbor, Vincent Whitney Co., Gerhardt Co., Heath Ceramics and Interbay Lumber, had presented the council with a letter opposing a mixture of industrial and residential land uses in the area.

Mrs. Sweeny said she voted against the motion because of uncertainty as to whether any housing should be allowed in future development of the northern Marinship.

Councilman Stephen A. Fraser, who proposed the 200-unit limit, said he thought some housing in Marinship would be beneficial to the city.

The Sausalito Planning Commission had earlier called for banning homes in Marinship and chairman Robert L. Nissen explained the commission's stand by saying that if 200 units were distributed throughout the large area, "We'd have a few units there, mixed in with any kind of use you could imagine. If you are going to limit housing to only 200 units, you might as well limit it to none," he said.

The council tentatively agreed to make houseboats a conditional, rather than a permitted use, in Marinship. If this action is formalized, houseboats would be allowed into the area only after obtaining conditional use permits.

The council agreed to continue its discussion of guidelines for the future development of Marinship at its Dec. 26 meeting.

Ignatius Is Named Air Group's Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Navy Secretary Paul Ignatius Tuesday was named president of the Air Transport Association (ATA), a trade organization representing the major scheduled airlines.

Ignatius, formerly an ATA vice president, succeeds Stuart G. Tipton, elected chairman of the board. Ignatius, who was President of the Washington Post Co. from 1969 to 1971, served as Navy secretary in 1967-69.

Cadet Program Approval Asked

The Marinwood Fire Commission has asked directors of the community services district to approve a round-the-clock cadet program for the fire department.

Chief Gaylord E. Bonfield said the project would mean adding another cadet on a full-time shift such as that worked by regular firemen. One cadet already is on the staff, although he works only days.

Bonfield said the cost of the round-the-clock had not been fully computed.

The program is to go before the services district board Monday.

Reagan: Educational Cuts Possible

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said today he believes the cost of educating California's school children can be reduced with the savings being spent on more property tax relief for homeowners.

"I am convinced in my mind they (schools) do not require all the money they are presently getting. And to blame the lack of quality in education in many of our schools on the lack of funds is absolutely ridiculous," Reagan said.

In a far-ranging, 40-minute news conference Reagan also said:

He is "committed," as reported Monday by UPI, to an income tax cut next year. He said his proposal will be sent to the 1973 legislature "as early as I can do it."

Despite a $700 million state treasury surplus which "has removed the state from the threat of insolvency," he is committed to the "philosophy of squeeze, cut and trim" and intends to look carefully at the $300 million in appropriation bills pending on his desk.

He is opposed to building a new state capitol to replace the century-old golden-domed structure. "I think this Capitol building should be preserved, not as a monument, but as a working building," he said.

He isn't ready to announce his opinion of a bill on his desk to reduce marijuana penalties from a felony in some cases to a misdemeanor in all cases. But, hinting he probably will veto the bill, the governor praised California's present penalties as "very enlightened."

He still believes Prop. 20, the coastline protection initiative approved by voters Nov. 7, was "unnecessary" and "unrealistic."

He will "not inject myself" into legislative salary matters and indicated he probably will sign a bill raising lawmakers' pay by 5 per cent starting at the end of 1974.

The $1.1 billion property tax relief-school aid bill sponsored by Reagan and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, appropriated $332 million in new education funds. Reagan intends to sign the bill Monday.

Reagan told newsmen that given the level of many schools' efficiency—or lack of it—there is "no question they need the money that has been available."

But he added: "I still insist that if and when local school districts—not all of them, some are run very well—can actually review their own administrative policies, I am convinced in my mind they do not require all the money they are presently getting."

Reagan said, as he told UPI, that he has ordered a task force to study whether schools can become more efficient.

"I am committed to the idea that the state continues to give the money that it is giving. But this would then further reduce the homeowners' tax — the school property tax—as they lowered the cost of education," Reagan said.

"It's just silly to say that there is any insitution, whether it's a business concern or department of government, that cannot constantly find areas of more savings in which more fat can be trimmed out."

Reagan said "I am committed to the idea of an income tax cut" because "I am committed to the theory you don't take any more money from the people than you need."

Newsmen had a tough time cutting off the news conference. Reagan insisted on continuing to answer questions and talking about issues he deemed important—such as the fact the average American pays 43 per cent of his income to governments.

"Print all of that," he told reporters after the news conference finally broke up. "I say it and say it and nobody listens."

Federal Jury Indicts 12 In $87 Million Dope Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal grand jury in New York today indicted a New York man, a Belgian, four Frenchmen and six Latin Americans on charges of conspiring to import more than $87 million of heroin and cocaine into the United States.

Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst said the seven-count indictment was returned Nov. 30 in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn and unsealed yesterday.

Robert A. Morse, U.S. attorney in Brooklyn said the 12 were charged with conspiring to smuggle in 174 kilograms of heroin and 12 kilograms of cocaine.

Morse said the indictment resulted from a joint investigation by the Bureau of Customs and the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, coordinated by his office together with a Justice Department strike force on organized crime.

He identified the defendants as:

Andrew Gaetan Condemine, 39, a French citizen recently living in Brussels, Belgium, under the name Mario Deniz.

Joannes Munoz, 40, a French citizen living in Boulogne, France.

Louis Riviere, 46, a French citizen, now in custody in Italy.

Jozef Vienne, 45, a Belgian citizen, now in custody in Belgium.

Yolanda Sarmiento, 43, a Chilean citizen, arrested this month in Buenos Aires.

Jorge Varela Fernandez, 40, a citizen of Uruguay and believed to be living there.

Juan Carlos Franco, 30, a citizen of Uruguay now in custody in Paris.

Roberto Cristobal, 43, an Argentine citizen believed to be living in Buenos Aires.

Alfredo Aviles, 44, New York.

Elsa Yasbic, 43, an Argentine citizen living in Buenos Aires.

John Doe, also known as Guigui, a French citizen, age and whereabouts unknown.

John Doe, also known as Garcia, an Argentine citizen believed to be living in Buenos Aires and employed as a customs official.

Governor Is Opposed To New Capitol

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday declared his opposition to proposed construction of a new state Capitol to replace the current golden-domed, century-old structure.

"I don't see those fellows upstairs (legislators) needing 30 or 40 stories of new building," the governor told a news conference in response to questions.

"I think this Capitol building should be preserved, not as a monument, but as a working building to perform the functions of government," he said.

Legislative plans to construct a new state Capitol, envisioned by some as a skyscraper affair with twin 17-floor towers, have gained new momentum in the wake of engineering reports that the current 102-year-old building would be unsafe in an earthquake.

Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, chairman of a legislative committee charged with finding more space for the lawmakers, has estimated it could cost $50 million to build a new capitol, another $18-to $20 million to restore the current building to its original shape, and has proposed tying the two projects together in a bill that included $1 million for a new governor's mansion.

Reagan has said he wants to be the governor who finally builds a new residence for California chief executives.

The governor told newsmen that if it takes $18 million to make the current state Capitol's west wing useable and as safe as a new Capitol "that would be my choice."

Truman's Heart A Bit Stronger

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Seriously ill former President Harry S Truman's weakened heart grew stronger today and "he is holding his own," his doctor said.

The former chief executive's temperature rose early today to 101. His pulse quickened. But doctors were not alarmed.

"His heart condition is fairly strong now," said Research Hospital spokesman John Dreves.

"President Truman responded to verbal stimuli but did not talk during the night," said Dr. Wallace H. Graham, who has been Truman's personal physician since World War II. "He is holding his own. He had a quiet night."

His condition was listed as serious on the eighth day of his hospitalization for a weakened heart and lung infection.

Although doctors said Truman's recovery is uncertain, the people in his native northwestern Missouri have faith that their No. 1 citizen will recover.

More Changes Made In Nixon Entourage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, continuing the reshuffle of his second term administration, today selected Joseph T. Sneed, dean of Duke University Law School, to be second in command at the Justice Department.

Sneed will be nominated to be deputy attorney general, the White House announced. He will succeed Ralph E. Erickson whose resignation was accepted last week.

Nixon also selected James Keogh, a former member of his speech writing team, to be head of the U.S. Information Agency (USIA), succeeding Frank Shakespeare.

In addition, Dr. Robert Q. Marston, director of the National Institutes of Health (NIH), advised his staff that he will be replaced "within the next few months." Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler had no coment on Marston's status.

The President also announced that William H. Brown III has been asked to remain as chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC).

In another development, Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton appointed Ronald H. Walker, a special assistant to the President, to be new director of the National Park Service.

No successor to Marston was indicated in his NIH staff memorandum.

Youth Sent To Jail On Burglaries

A 19-year-old San Rafael resident has been ordered to jail for six months for two burglaries in San Rafael.

Completing a plea bargain with Richard A. Hickox, Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court ordered the jail term and two years of probation.

The teen-ager told a probation officer he was high on drugs and alcohol when he committed the burglaries in July.

He was originally charged with four burglaries committed in a span of 11 days, but two counts were dismissed last month by E. Warren McGuire, the judge who made the sentence promise.

A codefendant, 17-year-old Deborah Bronson of San Rafael, pleaded guilty on condition she receive the same jail term, but her sentencing is slated for Jan. 2.

She is charged with burglarizing the home of Dr. Thomas A. Zavattero on Prospect Drive with Hickox, then forging the doctor's name to use his credit card.

Miss Bronson was sent to adult court by Juvenile Court Referee Jack G. Blaine, who ruled she was not a suitable candidate for the private juvenile proceedings.

In juvenile court, she faced 15 counts of forgery to obtain more than $500 in merchandise on July 25.

Annexation Of Land Studied

Novato Sanitary District directors are considering annexation of a 67-acre parcel along Olive Avenue east of Rita Court, according to Bill L. Bayles, assistant engineer.

Directors approved initiation of the annexation Monday night, and it will be considered by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission tonight.

The board adjourned until 6 p.m. tomorrow at the district office to complete annexation of several other parcels.

Bid Opening Set On Freeway Project

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The State Division of Highways will open bids Jan. 10 for a project to cut antiskid grooving in Highway 101 between the north end of the San Rafael Viaduct and a half-mile north of the Freitas Parkway overcrossing.

About $45,000 is available for the project, which will be similar to work done earlier on Highway 101 at St. Vincent's Hill and elsewhere in Marin County.

Planners Approve Two Signs

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night approved two freestanding illuminated signs, one twice as large as normally allowed under the signing ordinance, for Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury at 475 Francisco Boulevard.

Applicant Hercules L. Viglienzone received permission to erect a 72-square-foot sign, twice the size permitted under the ordinance, a 36-square-foot sign and another 42-square-foot sign to be placed on his building, according to Fern Vincent, commission secretary.

The commission allowed the 72-square-foot sign after noting Viglienzone was requesting only 150-square-feet of signage or 104-square-feet less than the total he is permitted.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

REPORT — Declared a 20-unit apartment complex proposed for 312 First Street does not require an environmental impact report.

RESUBDIVISION — Put over to Jan. 9 consideration of the resubdivision of a parcel at 2031 Francisco Boulevard. Fred Grange has requested the amalgamation of two parcels and a lot split for another parcel at the site, as well as approval for a debris-box facility and commercial building.

SWIMMING POOL — Approved permits for a swimming pool at 217 Locust Avenue.

MASTERPLAN — Told San Rafael Cayes, Inc. it can proceed with plans to prepare a master plan for a 120-acre site on East Canal Street for possible residential or recreational use.

MISSION AVENUE — Permitted the development of a 19,090 square-foot lot at 418 Mission Avenue with multiple residential units as requested by owners William Kelly and Kenneth Levy.

WATCHMAN — Extended a permit for a night watchman's trailer at 51 Harbor Street until nearby development is completed.

FILL — Approved placement of 40,000 cubic yards of fill on an eight-acre site at 2121 Francisco Boulevard as requested by owner Sam Gardiner.

WALL — Approved a six-foot wall to be erected around a swimming pool at 217 Locust Avenue.

WAREHOUSE — Approved a warehouse facility for Marin Gas Products at 86 Belvedere Street.

REVISED PLANS — Approved changes in the exterior treatment of a 13-unit apartment building at 1718 and 1720 Lincoln Avenue.

ADDITION — Approved addition of a wing to an existing building at 50 DeLuca Place.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Jan. 9.

First Concert At School Is Tonight

Young musicians and singers of the music department of the Casa Grande Junior-Senior High School in Petaluma will present their first concert in the new school's multiuse room at 7:30 p.m. today.

Charlene Wilkerson will direct the stage and concert bands, while Gary Walker will direct the swing choir in a program of traditional and contemporary music.

Crater Finding Said Top Moon Discovery

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) —The last men of Apollo gave scientists today one of the most important discoveries on the moon — a deep, orange-stained crater that probably was blown out by the dying gasp of lunar volcanism.

Pushing their oxygen back packs and moon buggy to the limits, the Apollo 17 explorers also drove to a mountain landslide and collected prize specimens that may range to the opposite end of the lunar life span.

Eugene A. Cernan and Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt may now have stored in the cabin of the spacecraft Challenger the youngest and oldest rocks ever seen on the moon. It will take months of laboratory analysis back on Earth, however, to confirm this.

The explorers drove a record 12 miles during their second excursion. They returned to moonship Challenger at 2:06 a.m. EST today after spending a record 7 hours and 37 minutes outside.

They were tired, their muscles were weary and their hands sore, but Cernan and Schmitt were exuberant. And, so were scientists at Mission Control.

"It was absolutely outstanding," said mission scientist Robert Parker.

The third crew member, Ronald E. Evans, was adding to the scientific windfall by observing the moon from the orbiting command ship America. He sighted what apparently were three extinct volcanos elsewhere on the lunar surface Tuesday.

Cernan and Schmitt make one more seven-hour excursion from Challenger tonight, planting man's footprints in the lunar dust for perhaps the last time this century.

They will leave the moon Thursday and rejoin Evans in orbit for two more days around the moon before returning for a splashdown in the Pacific next Tuesday.

During tonight's surface expedition, Cernan and Schmitt will visit a second massive mountain and inspect another crater that might produce additional evidence that Taurus-Littrow valley was the scene of a fiery, explosive volcano that photographic evidence suggests occurred about 1 billion years ago.

"What we have been witnessing is one of the most important finds since Apollo 11," NASA geochemist Robin W. Brett said after the astronauts discovered the strange orange soil around a crater called Shorty.

Dr. Farouk El-Baz, an Apollo geologist from Bell Laboratories, said the orange color most likely was the result of iron in the lunar soil rusted by water vapor escaping from the vent. It means, he said, the moon did not die when the lunar seas were flooded by lava 3 billion years ago but the lunar heartbeat continued up to an estimated 1 billion years ago.

El-Baz also said the volcano must have originated deep within the moon and the soil collected by Cernan and Schmitt "gives you a sample of what's below everything we now know." This would be a significant bonus in moon chemistry. The discovery also fits in with the idea that the deep lunar valley was blanketed by a rain of volcanic ash, a theory that has grown in acceptance today. Brett said gas venting would be expected to come right after an explosive volcanic outburst.

Shot Victim Is Critical At Hospital

The 33-year-old wife of a Sonoma State College professor was reported in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital with a bullet wound in the chest.

According to police, Ulrike Steiner, wife of Dr. John Michael Steiner, shot herself either intentionally or accidentally at about noon yesterday in their residence in the Portofino-Riviera Apartments, Second and Main streets, Sausalito.

Steiner reported he was in another room at the time and heard a shot ring out in the bedroom, where he found Mrs. Steiner lying on the bed.

According to police, Steiner and family friends said Mrs. Steiner had been depressed recently.

Steiner teaches sociology at Sonoma State. He and his wife are natives of Germany, where he survived the Nazis' World War II concentration camps of Auschwitz and Dachau. He is considered an expert on the Nazi SS and is the author of a book on the subject.

Supervisors Hear Plan Of Petaluma

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday heard Petaluma's environmental design plan explained at length, but delayed approving it.

Petaluma Mayor Helen Putnam, City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer and Planning Director William C. McGivern reviewed the plan for more than an hour, but got no commitment from the supervisors. The board said it would discuss the plan and perhaps vote on it at a meeting Jan. 24 at 7:30 p.m.

The plan incorporates the city's slow-growth policy of allowing only 500 new living units per year. It also calls for a greenbelt around the city and sets goals on open space, housing, bicycle trails and other amenities.

The plan asks the county to cooperate by not allowing massive subdivisions on the city's edge.

Davies Estate $70 Million

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Ralph K. Davies, who rose from office boy to board chairman of Natomas Corp. left an estate of more than $70 million, according to probate records.

Davies, who died Sept. 19, 1971, began his career as office boy with the Standard Oil of California at the age of 15.

Records revealed Tuesday showed that his estate includes Natomas stock, the family home in Woodside and property in El Dorado and Lake Counties.

Wife Of Justice Passes Bar Exam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cathy Douglas, the 29-year-old wife of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, has passed her bar examination,

"Cathy expected the worse," said Douglas Tuesday. "She remembered all the mistakes she made."

Douglas said his wife, a graduate of American University law school, wants to get some trial experience now.

Mobile Home Park Influx Upsets Board

The Cotati-Rohnert Park School District board blasted the Rohnert Park City Council last night for permitting a large concentration of children in a new mobile home park.

Schools Supt. James H. Davidson said the board fired off an angry letter to the council chiding it for permitting too many family units in an 80-acre mobile home park in the northern part of the district.

Diversified Communities received permission for a two-phase park with development set for spring on the first 40 acres. The school board had requested that family units be limited to 30 per cent, but the city council granted 100 per cent family units.

Davidson said as many as 210 students may come from the 300 unit mobile home park and said school facilities will not accommodate them. The board said it would also set a bad precedent and encourage present mobile home park owners to request higher densities of family units.

Davidson said some schools are already overcrowded and received permission to lease three additional portable classrooms from the Sonoma County Board of Education. He said two will be placed at Cotati School and the other at Waldo Rohnert School.

The board also authorized four new teaching positions and interviewed applicants in closed session. The teachers will be hired at Tuesday's board meeting.

The board also approved the new position of administrative assistant for the district office. Robert Plikuhn of Waldo Rohnert School was named to the job at a salary of $13,900 per year.

The board granted a two-year contract extension to Davidson and approved a 7.5 per cent salary increase, but said it would not be effective until the 1973-74 school year.

Holiday Round At White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House has begun a series of Christmas parties for assorted Republicans, Democrats, and leaders of labor, ethnic, veterans, senior citizens and other groups, who helped President Nixon get re-elected.

White House invitations have gone out to some 4,000 guests. The first group, mainly businessmen, attended a White House reception Tuesday. Another reception, including representatives of labor and ethnic groups and pro-Nixon Democrats, is being held today.

On Friday there will be a reception for 1,000 guests followed by the lighting of the national Christmas tree on the Ellipse by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

To Raise Prices

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors today announced it was increasing prices on its 1973 models an average $38, ending the first round of the 1973-model price battle with Washington.

Petaluma Board Eyes Split Into Two Units

The Petaluma Board of Education began the difficult task of dividing itself into two separate school boards last night in anticipation of a state Supreme Court ruling.

Board President Arthur L. Lafranchi, an attorney, said he believed the ruling of the Santa Barbara Superior Court requiring separate school boards for different school districts will be upheld by the Supreme Court.

Lafranchi called the court decision "unassailable" based on the one man-one vote concept. Like Santa Barbara, the Petaluma Board of Education directs both an elementary and a high school district, although some members are not residents of both districts. San Rafael and Santa Rosa are also affected by the ruling.

Lafranchi said he expects the Supreme Court will act on the ruling in January or February and that the districts must give immediate and serious thought to implementing the ruling.

He said the districts may want enabling legislation approved to set up elections next year to seat a new five-member school board. "We must get with it and get with it very quickly," Lafranchi said.

He and schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer had attended a meeting in Sacramento yesterday, with other involved school districts, and will return for another session Jan. 10.

The board asked that teacher and parent groups give thought to the problem and be prepared to discuss it at a special board meeting next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the administration building.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

STADIUM — Endorsed the concept of a football stadium for Rohnert Park, but said final approval would depend on both financial and legal liability to the district.

TEACHERS — Heard that five graduate students in music at Sonoma State College are currently teaching music to first grade classes as volunteers.

GIFT — Accepted a gift of choral risers for Casa Grande Junior-Senior High School from the school boosters club.

PRINCIPAL — Named William Thorsen acting principal of the adult education program at a salary of $81.63 per day.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

3:43 p.m., Novato — Malfunctioning furnace at home of Peter Godbois, 2046 Feliz Road, created smoke.

3:44 p.m., Petaluma — Fire on deck and in living room of mobile home owned by Robert Gast at Petaluma Estates Mobile Home Park, 901 North McDowell Boulevard; out on arrival of firemen; cause under investigation.

3:55 p.m., Petaluma — Children melting wax for candles caused flash fire at home of James Miller, 415 F Street; minor damage; fire out on arrival of firemen.

4:39 p.m., Fairfax — Fire in oven at residence at 91 Meernaa Avenue; heavy smoke damage to kitchen, ceiling and wall burned; about $400 damage.

6:04 p.m., Novato — Fire in utility room at home at 17 Hayes Street, owned by John R. Glassmaker, apparently caused by combustibles being stacked near furnace; damage to room and contents estimated at $1,500.

8:20 p.m., Bolinas — A fire which began in a faulty fireplace destroyed weekend home of John B. McCormick of San Francisco at 240 Nymph Road; $12,000 damage to home and $3,000 to contents.

9:04 p.m., San Anselmo — Fire in open garage at home of Vernon Wiggins, 18 Raymond Avenue; caused by passerby lighting pile of rags on fire; damage to wall estimated at $200.

9:49 p.m., San Anselmo — Fire in garage at home of Gerald R. Knecht at 18 Kensington Court; destroyed Alpha Romeo car and several bicycles, as well as garage and wall of house; damage estimated at $10,000; cause under investigation.

9:57 p.m., San Anselmo — Large old house at 11 Waverly Road destroyed by fire; house owned by Nina Frank; cause of fire under investigation; damage estimated at $50,000.

11:15 p.m., San Anselmo — Unknown person set draperies on fire in the social hall of the First Presbyterian Church at 72 Kensington Road; stage destroyed; damage extensive but not estimated yet.

10:45 p.m., San Anselmo — Fire in car owned by Dennis Umphreys of San Rafael at 20 Greenfield Avenue; Fairfax Fire Department put it out because San Anselmo firemen involved in several other fires.

11:24 p.m., Tiburon — Fire in pickup truck belonging to Dee Charles of Palo Alto while vehicle parked at Trestle Glen Drive and Shepherd Way; caused by short in wiring; minor damage.

A $12,000 Home Burns In Bolinas

A Bolinas weekend home was destroyed yesterday by a blaze which began in a faulty fireplace and spread quickly to the rest of the four-room dwelling.

Volunteer Fire Chief Jose A. Silva said the fire began shortly after 8 p.m. in the living room of a house at 240 Nymph Road owned by John B. McCormick of San Francisco.

The fire was caused by hot embers burning through the floor beneath the fireplace, according to Silva. No one was in the residence at the time, he said, but McCormick's grandson had left the house about three hours earlier.

The flames raced along the floor and spread rapidly to the rest of the house, which was engulfed by the time firemen were called at 8:20 p.m.

Muddy dirt roads hampered firefighting efforts by forcing firemen to haul about 1,000 feet of hose to the home from the nearest passable road about 500 feet away, Silva said.

The wood-frame structure, built in 1929 and estimated to be worth $12,000, was a total loss, the chief said, with $3,000 worth of damage to its contents.

Plea Made In Morals Case

A 52-year-old Santa Venetia man, charged with three counts of sexual perversion with young girls, pleaded guilty to two counts yesterday on the verge of a trial.

Marin Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick accepted the pleas from Thomas Edward Umberger, then dismissed the third count. There was no plea bargain in the case, but the judge set a hearing for Jan. 16 to determine whether Umberger is a mentally disordered sex offender who should be committed for treatment.

Umberger was arrested in April on suspicion of committing unnatural acts with a 7-year-old girl March 31 and with an 8-year-old and a 7-year-old in December.

He was indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury in October.

Guilty Plea To Casino Charges

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Nathan Marks, 28, entered a guilty plea Tuesday to federal charges of attempting to extort $2 million from 21 Las Vegas gambling casinos by threatening to blow them up.

U.S. District Judge Jesse W. Curtis immediately sentenced the former Salt Lake City resident to 20 years in federal penitentiary.

The sentencing was a formality to place the defendant under a three-month psychiatric study. After the study, he will be returned to court for possible modification of the sentence.

Nongraded Class Programs Impress Education Board

Video tapes of nongraded classroom programs in the San Rafael school system impressed the city's board of education last night.

Board members heard a panel of principals explain the nongraded concept in use at some classrooms in Laurel Dell, Glenwood and Davidson schools, according to Supt. John F. Plank.

Under the program, children are grouped on a level-of-achievement basis and taught individually by team teachers, he said. A 9-year-old pupil might be in the same classroom with an 11-year-old, he said.

The program, now several years old, allows flexibility of time, materials and skill groupings, he said.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

REDEVELOPMENT — Tabled the final draft of a redevelopment agreement with the city's Redevelopment Agency because board members had not had enough time to study it, Plank said. The board set 7:30 p.m. Monday as the time of a special meeting to consider adoption of the agreement, which will return some revenues normally frozen under redevelopment to the school system.

SABBATICALS — Heard teacher Alan Barahal, who recently returned from a year in Europe, say that industry is spoiling the culture there. The board gave tentative approval of sabbatical leaves for Pat Swenney, Louis Ferrario, Frank Furtado and Al Lozano.

MINIMUM DAYS — Said it will study the minimum day policy for teachers when next year's school calendar is developed.

PERSONNEL — Appointed Russell Batt as an instructional aide at $2.72 per hour, and Joe DeField as a custodian at $751 per month. The board announced that instructional aide Dan Scannell and teacher Linda Carr have resigned and that custodian Robert Coman and teacher Jean MacConnell have retired. Leave for librarian Katherine Wade was extended for two months without pay.

WORKDAY — Declared Jan. 26 a workday for teachers in the high school district.

GIFTS — Accepted playground equipment, carpeting, plants and tools valued at $1,701 from Coleman School Parent-Teacher Association for Coleman School; an arm saw valued at $150 from Lilie Low Wong for the Terra Linda High School Industrial Arts Department; five pine trees from Cub Scout Pack 55 for San Pedro School and two ceramic kilns and two tape recorders from the Laurel Dell Parent-Teacher Association for the Laurel Dell School.

REPORTS — Said it will study the development of curriculum, the physical education programs in the high school district and the possibility of waiving fees for senior citizens enrolled in adult education courses, at future meetings.

ADJOURNMENT — Ad — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Dec. 18. The next regular meeting is 7:30 p.m. Dec. 26.

Busing, Economy Held Top Issues

AMERICUS, Ga. (UPI) — Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., said Tuesday the next Congress will have to meet the issues of busing and the economy "head on and do something."

Speaking to the Americus Rotary Club, Talmadge said the American people should use the Congress to put spending controls on the federal government. Talmadge said Americans also are "sick of the federal government hauling children all over creation to attain some arbitrary, contrived racial quota while the idea of equal education for everybody goes down the drain."

Some Tough Questions For 49ers' Beasley

Terry Beasley is not exactly the type of guy who would cause a scare if he happened to walk up behind you in a dark alley. Instead you would probably ask him if he had permission to be out after curfew.

Beasley is a professional football player who draws his paychecks from the San Francisco 49ers. By pro football standards, his 5-foot-11 and 188-pound frame makes him always one of the smallest players on the field. His red hair and boyish face makes you think of Huck Finn.

A rookie No. 1 draft choice out of Auburn University, Beasley fielded questions like a veteran last night at a dinner meeting of the 49er Goal Rushers of Marin at Holiday Inn.

He got past two questions early in the meeting, the tough kind that asks for comparisons of players. A youngster in the audience of 100 or so wanted to know who was the more accurate passer, 49er Steve Spurrier or Atlanta reserve quarterback Pat Sullivan who was on the firing end of the passes when Terry was at Auburn. Both, as the youngster noted, were Heisman Trophy winners.

"BOTH ARE EXCELLENT passers," Beasley sidestepped as only a wide receiver could do. "I know much more about Pat than Steve because I played football four years with Pat at Auburn."

Then master of ceremonies Dave Scofield, public address man at Candlestick Park, threw in the inevitable question: "What about comparing Spurrier and (John) Brodie?"

"Well," said Beasley, "John is a better long passer but Steve throws well against a zone." That's a very polite way of saying Spurrier has a tendency to float his long passes, something that has become evident the past few games. And in the winds of Candlestick Park, floating passes are a no-no.

In explaining his early season injuries which kept him out of action at preseason training camp, Terry told the boosters he had never missed a game during his high school and college career. But following his senior year, he had minor knee surgery two months before the college all-star game, and then because he was favoring the knee too much, pulled a muscle in his other leg. Then when he reported to 49er training camp in Santa Barbara, he broke a big toe on the second day.

"Missing training camp really put me behind in practice and I could never show the coaches what I could do," he said. That's why he isn't being used very much this season, although he is now at full speed. And speed is the word for it, as Beasley was a sprinter in high school and college, and was clocked at 9.5 for the 100-yard dash.

DESPITE HIS SIZE, Beasley is a very rough and tough player. Remember back to that first Atlanta game this year, seen by Bay Area fans on television, Oct. 29, Beasley was in three plays and got in two fights, and that has to be some kind of record.

"That Atlanta defensive back kicked me in the head," explained Beasley. "And I wasn't about to take that."

A questioner asked about the rough shots absorbed by wide receivers after they catch passes and wanted to know if Beasley had ever suffered any. Terry told about one play at Auburn when he was smashed in the neck by a defender's helmet when he was stretching to catch a pass. The blow knocked him unconscious, but he says that's all part of the game.

"Every one in a while they'll get in a good lick on you, but you just can't worry about that."

BEASLEY, WHEN asked to name the best cornerback in football, put out the name of teammate Jimmy Johnson, which was cause for applause. Then someone wanted to know if the players were aware of the crowd's booing and he said yes, the fans' treatment of cornerback Bruce Taylor last Sunday against Atlanta when he was introduced was noticed by the players.

"He (Taylor) is aware of the booing, but he knows he has a job to do."

When asked by Scofield about the players' feeling going into the crucial game Saturday against the Minnesota Vikings, Beasley said, "the team enthusiasm is really good. We're on top and we plan to stay there."

I hope so, Terry.

Baseball Contract Parley Has Dispute

NEW YORK (UPI) — The representatives of both sides in the basic contract dispute between the baseball owners and players couldn't even agree on how much they disgreed after their meeting Tuesday.

The two sides met for the first time in a month and one side called it a "meaningful exchange" and the other side said "nothing was accomplished."

John Gaherin, the representative of the owners, was the optimist in his statement. "I think it was a meaningful exhange," he said, "I'd rather not characterize the discussion, but when two people talk they always make some degree of progress."

However, Marvin Miller, the executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, had a different view.

"Nothing was accomplished on either side," he said, "I wouldn't even describe it as negotiating session. They simply came in and repeated what they said in Hawaii and what Bowie Kuhn said after that.

"One of the things we've warned about has come to pass. When you have negotiations publicly, you harden positions of some of the principals. That's why we complained about Mr. Kuhn's actions in Hawaii and then he repeated them."

Although Kuhn is not participating in the discussions, he revealed the owners' stand in Hawaii and then said this week the owners have "no inclination to give ground" on the questions of free agency and binding arbitration of salary disputes.

The owners are offering to make a player a free agent if he isn't making $30,000 after five years or $40,000 after eight years.

49er Fullback Schreiber Is Available Saturday

Combined AP & UPI

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. — Fullback Larry Schreiber will be available Saturday when the San Francisco 49ers play their do-or-die battle against tough Minnesota at Candlestick Park.

The 49ers are favored by six points over the Vikings, according to Harrah's Tahoe figures.

Schreiber tore a rib cartilage in the big 20-0 win against Atlanta, but team physician Lloyd Milburn diagnoses the injury as not serious enough to hold Schreiber out of action.

Meanwhile, defensive coach Don Heinrich Tuesday called Bruce Taylor's block of a pass to Ken Burrow on the five-yardline "one of the finest pieces of defensive coverage I've seen for a long time."

The 49ers failed to get any rush on quarterback Bob Berry so that Burrow had time to do his full repertoire of fakes on Taylor, who still caught up with the pass.

For Taylor, his key play had to be a boost for the ego. He had been booed before Sunday's game when the defensive unit was introduced.

"Sure I was upset," Taylor admitted. "Nobody likes to be booed. It shakes you up. I'm glad I was able to do something about it."

Coach Dick Nolan believes most of the criticism heaped on Taylor is unwarranted.

"You have to understand that Taylor will have at least 75 to 80 per cent of the passes thrown to his side," he said. "The opposing quarterback won't gamble against Jimmy Johnson and Dave Wilcox on the other side.

"That means most of the completions will be on Taylor's side and people have a tendency to remember the completions more so than the incompletions."

Nolan recalled that he was a rookie in a New York Giant defensive backfield that included veteran stars Emlen Tunnell, Herb Rich and Tom Landry on the opposite side.

"They threw everything but their helmets in my direction," he recalled.

Minnesota coach Bud Grant promises his team will put out all the way against the 49ers even though the Vikings don't have a chance for a National Football League playoff berth.

"We owe it to ourselves and to the league to play our best," Grant said in a telephone interview Tuesday.

The Vikings, divisional champions the past three yars, have slipped to 7-6 this season, but Grant thinks they are just as good as the 1970 and 1971 teams.

He noted that five of Minnesota's losses have been by a total of 10 points.

"In the last few years, we won the close games; this year we lost them, he said.

"A lot of NFL games can go either way. For instance, I saw the 49ers' game on TV and Atlanta could have won it. We've had a tough schedule, playing four playoff teams. If the 49ers make it, they would be the fifth."

PREP AWARD TO CONNOR OF REDWOOD

Redwood High School halfback Mike Connor was one of five winners of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame scholarships.

Connor received the $1,000 scholarship last night at the foundation awards dinner in San Francisco. Steve Fowler of San Marin High was also among the 22 Bay Area nominees for the scholar-athlete awards.

The Giants' star rushed for 1,800 yards and scored 30 touchdowns in two seasons. He had a 3.9 (out of 4.0) grade point average.

Also receiving $1,000 scholarships were: Bill Nagy, an El Molino High fullback; Dave Templeton, a Napa High guard; Stephen Piontek, an Armijo High halfback; and James Gibson, a Willow Glen (San Jose) quarterback.

Frosh, J. V. Cage

Doug Carlisle scored 14 points and Jim Cronin and Mike Bird added 11 each as Terra Linda High School's junior varsity basketball team remained undefeated yesterday with a 66-43 victory over Del Valle in Walnut Creek. The Trojans are 7-0. Redwood High's freshmen (4-0) defeated Sacred Heart of San Francisco, 45-29, behind 10 points apiece by Lenny McCloyd and Steve Price. The Marin Catholic High School frosh defeated Westborough Junior High in Daly City yesterday, 56-41. Gary Johnson had 23 points for the winners.

Michigan State Changing Guard

Stolz Replaces Daugherty As Football Coach

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—They said goodbye to Duffy Daugherty and hello to Denny Stolz at Michigan State Tuesday.

Daugherty was the honored center of attention Tuesday night at the annual Spartan football banquet. Nearly 1,000 persons turned out to salute him, despite a freezing rain storm which pelted the area all day.

The banquet came just a few hours after University President Clifton R. Wharton announced that Spartan defensive coordinator Denny Stolz will be the new head coach.

Stolz, who has been on Daugherty's staff only two years, was picked in a selection process that began Nov. 3, the day Daugherty his 19th season as head coach would be his last. Stolz came to State from Alma College, where his teams compiled a 35-15 record in four years and at one point had an 18-game winning streak.

Stolz is a graduate of Alma, the same school which produced Nebraska coach Bob Devaney, and coached at Haslett and Lansing Eastern High Schools prior to going to his alma mater as head coach in 1965.

The past two seasons the defensive units he fashioned have been among the best in the Big Ten and the team has lost games because of troubles with the offense. This year the Spartans ranked third in the Big Ten in total defense and scoring defense and second in rushing defense.

DENNY STOLZ
Selected coach

Stolz' appointment was confirmed today by the Michigan State University Board of Trustees on a 5-0 vote. Athletic Director Burt Smith told board members he had informed the new coach that he expects next season to be a season in which the Spartans "can play competitively and defeat Michigan, Notre Dame, Ohio State and the other teams in our conference."

"We expect him to win," Smith said of Stolz.

San Rafael '5' Wins; Tars Tourney Slated

Bulldogs Overcome Albany

San Rafael High School, rapidly leaving its inexperience behind, overcame the loss of two starters yesterday to defeat host Albany High in a nonleague basketball game, 68-61.

In other action involving teams from Marin, San Marin defeated Piner of Santa Rosa, 49-42; College of Marin's freshmen subdued Tomales, 68-42; Novato was beaten by Sonoma, 56-47; Redwood fell to Santa Rosa, 75-56; and Terra Linda lost to Del Valle of Walnut Creek, 53-45.

San Rafael (5-2), which has no starters back from last year, captured its third straight game despite missing 6-foot-5 forward Guy Perry, out with the flu, and 6-7 center Byron Stewart, who has a pulled leg muscle.

The Bulldogs trotted out another 6-7 center, Pete Neuwald, to replace Stewart, and Neuwald scored 13 points. So did forward Greg Campbell. It was the year's best showing for both players.

Forward Dan Zitek tossed in 11 more and hauled down 14 rebounds as San Rafael gained a 31-22 advantage on the boards and shot a blistering 60 per cent from the floor on 30 of 50 shots.

San Marin (5-2) got 12 points each from a center (John Tait), a forward (Fred Doar) and a guard (Hoza Wright) to beat back Piner in a lackluster game, despite being outrebounded, 37-26.

The Mustangs held a 27-21 lead at halftime and a 41-36 margin with four and a half minutes remaining before breaking the game open on baskets by — three guesses — Wright, Doar and Tait.

College of Marin's freshmen got 13 points from forward Rich Hochschild and 12 from guard Jerry Smith in its lopsided victory over Tomales.

For the first time in the school's history, Redwood (3-4) failed to sink any free throws in its game in Santa Rosa. Actually, the Giants had just one chance from the line as the Panthers committed eight fouls

Rose City Basketball Tourney Set

The word from the Rose City basketball tournament is that Hayward fears Hayward.

That is to say, Drake High School basketball coach Pete Hayward is not looking forward to his possible meeting with powerful Hayward High in the tournament, which begins tomorrow in Santa Rosa.

The tourney brings together quite a gathering of talent, including four teams from Marin and southern Sonoma. Drake is fresh from winning its own Pirate Classic, Petaluma was second in the same tournament, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park won the St. Helena tourney and Marin Catholic was second in the St. Elizabeth tourney.

"But Hayward is super," said Hayward. The Farmers from the East Bay have gone to the Tournament of Champions two years in a row. Nor does coach Joe Fuccy have to worry about replacing his graduated stars. Fuccy coached the freshmen, junior varisty and varsity to a combined league record of 48-0 last year.

Thursday's schedule calls for Hayward to meet St. Patrick's of Vallejo at 5 p.m.; Rancho vs. Drake at 6:30; Montgomery of Santa Rosa vs. Marin Catholic at 8; and Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa vs. Petaluma at 9:30.

The winner of St. Pat's-Hayward will face the winner of Rancho-Drake at 8 p.m. Friday, which is the game Drake's coach worries about. The other semi-final between the other two winners is at 9:30 p.m. Friday. Finals are Saturday.

Marin Vs. Napa Game Tomorrow

It is first necessary to be master of your own house before you can go on to other exploits as Greek conquerors from Pericles to John Panagakis have realized.

Pericles won't be around this week but Panagakis will keep this truism in mind tomorrow night when his Tar basketball team opens play in the College of Marin Invitational Tournament.

Seven schools from throughout Northern California, including defending champion Reedley College, are scheduled to join the Tars in the seventh annual tournament.

Tomorrow's schedule pits the Tars (6-1) against Napa (0-5) in the feature game at 9 p.m. Earlier in the day, Foothill (4-2) of Los Altos will meet Solano (3-3) of Suisun City at 3 p.m.; Sierra (2-4) of Rocklin will face Reedley (2-4) at 5 p.m.; and Santa Rosa (4-1) will confront Oholone (5-1) of Fremont at 7 p.m.

The winner of Marin-Napa will meet the winner of Santa Rosa-Oholone in the feature game Friday at 9 p.m. Losers collide at 5 p.m. The Foothill-Solano winner will play the Sierra-Reedley winner at 7 p.m. Friday in the other semi-final. Losers meet at 3 p.m.

Championship game will be Saturday night at 9 o'clock. Games for third and fifth place will precede it. The two double-losers from the first two days will pack their gear and head home.

Solano's games will have special interest for Marin County fans, since Donnie Canfield, who starred for San Rafael High School last year, is starting at guard for the Falcons from Suisun City.

Some other exceptional players can be found on the visitors' rosters. Napa has a 6-foot-4 forward named Steve Bakker who is averaging 25 points a game. Foothill's K.C. Jackson is another fine forward. Oholone has a 6-3 backcourt and a 6-6 forward wall featuring 6-5 forward Chuck Pierce, who made the all-tournament team a year ago.

The Tars will be seeking to rectify a strange oversight they made last year, when they entered the tournament undefeated but lost to eventual champion Reedley in the semi-finals.

This year's version of the Tars has lost once in seven outings, to powerful Laney College of Oakland, but is devastating its opponents statistically. When Marin wins by 14, that's an average game, since the Tars are scoring points at an 82.4 clip and giving them up at 68.1.

Most of the punch has come from the forwards. Freshman Wil Garner is averaging 22.6 and sophomore Joe Casteel 16.6 for a combined figure a hair over 39 points a game. Guard Len Smith is averaging 8.0 and guard Joe DeMaestri 7.4. The battle for the pivot position remains unresolved, as Dana La Ferriere is averaging 8.2 and Neil Traub 6.6. Each has two games in double figures and one 20-point effort.

RAIDERS

Winningest Team Over Ten Years

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders have become the most successful professional football team over the past 10 years with their latest victory.

The Raiders' 24-16 win over the New York Jets Monday gave them a 93-36-10 record and a .721 winning percentage in the past decade. That put them ahead of the Baltimore Colts' .719 winning mark over that span. The Colts have a 97-38-4 mark.

But the Raiders have been served notice that the Chicago Bears don't expect to let themselves be treated like bums Sunday in the final game of the regular season.

"The last couple of weeks we've been as flat as hell," admitted Bears' advance man Dan Desmond. "We have holes, obviously any team with our record 4-8-1 does. But we're not coming out here figuring to be sparring partners for the Raiders."

In fact, Raiders Coach John Madden isn't letting himself look ahead. "We can't be concerned with the playoffs yet. We have the Bears first. Taking on Namath and Bobby Douglass in the same week is about as big a contrast in quarterbacks as you could get."

Last Monday's victory moved the Raiders' season record to 9-3-1 with the American Football Conference West championship bagged the week before.

Cards' Wilson Retires Sunday

Combined AP & UPI

ST. LOUIS — The red and white jersey bearing No. 8 will be seen for the last time Sunday at Busch Memorial Stadium in St. Louis when the Cardinals host the Philadelphia Eagles in the last National Football League game of the season for both teams.

Cardinal safety Larry Wilson, who perfected the 'safety blitz,' announced during a press conference Tuesday that he would retire this year, and at the same time the Big Red announced they would retire the jersey he has worn in 13 seasons with the team.

"I know Larry Wilson right now is not able to do the things that he did four or five years ago," said Wilson, who was the team's seventh-round draft choice from Utah in 1960. He holds 10 team records.

He has been used by the Cardinals as a player-coach this season.

Wilson, 34, was described at one time by former Detroit Lions quarterback Bobby Layne as pound-for-pound, the greatest player in the NFL.

SAN FRANCISCO — The withdrawal of Oregon quarterback Dan Fouts from the ShrineEast-West game resulted Tuesday in two changes.

Game officials announced that George Amundson, Iowa State's "Jack of all trades" performer, will move into the quarterback slot and added Long Beach State running back Terry Metcalf to the West roster.

Amundson, a 6-3, 215-pounder, was previously listed on the roster as a running back and quarterback. The addition of Metcalf, a 9.6 sprinter, gives the West added speed. During his junior year at Long Beach State, Metcalf scored 29 touchdowns.

Fouts injured his foot in the season finale against Oregon State and his doctor declined to certify the passing star for the Dec. 30 game.

Swimming

SYDNEY — Dawn Fraser, winner of three Olympic 100-meter women's swimming freestyle titles, said yesterday a lack of money will probably keep her from going to the United States this month for a Hall of Fame dedication ceremony.

On Dec. 31, the American Swimming Hall of Fame in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., will dedicate an entire wall to her exploits.

Basketball

SANTA MONICA — John Wooden, the 25-year coach of the UCLA basketball team, remained at St. John's Hospital today where he was admitted Sunday night for a gastro-intestinal upset.

Wooden, 62, had been expected to be released yesterday but his doctor decided to delay the release indefinitely.

NEW YORK — The appointment of Milton S. Richman as Sports Editor of United Press International was announced today by H. L. Stevenson, Editor-in-Chief.

Richman's responsibilities will include the direction and planning of UPI's worldwide sports coverage. He will continue to write his five-day a week column, "The Sports Parade."

Richman succeeds John G. Griffin, who has been appointed a General News Editor of the service in New York, effective Jan. 1.

all night. Seven of them were "common fouls". In a new rule this year, a team doesn't shoot from the line until the fifth team foul by the opponent in a half.

The Giants shot 50 per cent from the floor however to make the score somewhat respectable. Neil Hennessy led the losers with 16 points, while Steve Boro and Darrell Elder contributed 14 each. Redwood played without star Wingman Mike Connor, who attended the Scholar-Athlete dinner last night in San Francisco.

The Terra Linda Trojans (3-5) also had foul problems last night. They committed too many. The visitors were called 30 times as Del Valle scored 33 points from the line.

Terra Linda's defense held its opponents to 10 field goals. Mark Lowey and Scott Logan topped the Trojan scorers with 11 points each.

Novato (4-4) trailed all the way against Sonoma to lose its third straight game. The entire nine-point margin of defeat came at the foul line, as Sonoma made 18 of 27 free throws, compared to Novato's 9 of 19. Novato committed eight more fouls, 23-15.

AT ABA MEETING

A Hardship College Draft Authorized

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)— The board of trustees of the American Basketball Association put the finishing touches on their two-day meeting here Tuesday by authorizing a hardship college draft, deciding to expand the league and tentatively approving the sale of the Denver franchise.

The hardship draft would benefit the San Diego Conquistadors more than any other ABA team, since it could draft first and hope to land UCLA junior Bill Walton.

Dr. Leonard Bloom, the millionaire real estate developer who owns the Conquistadors, said he had no doubts that Walton could qualify as a hardship case.

Date of the special draft was not immediately determined, but could come in the next two months. If the Dallas Chaps, who hold future draft rights to Walton, do not sign him before then San Diego would be first in line.

However, Sam Gilbert, who has advised several UCLA players in negotiations with pro teams, said in Los Angeles he believes Walton will not be wooed from college.

"I think the pros are doing a disservice in recruiting youngsters still in school and then dropping them in a year or two when they should be encouraging them to get an education," Gilbert added.

ABA Commissioner Robert Carlson said two franchises will be added to the league next year. Los Angeles, Chicago, Honolulu and Jersey Meadows are among cities under consideration, he said.

He also said the proposed sale of the Denver franchise to a group headed by San Diego businessman Frank Goldberg had been tentatively approved. Carlson said the club would remain in Denver if sold.

Basketball: St. Vincent Victorious

St. Vincent High School of Petaluma overcame an early nine-point Geyserville lead in the fourth quarter last night to take a 59-52 non-league basketball victory over the visiting Broncos.

The win upped the Mustang's record to 5-2.

Without three of its regular starters, St. Vincent fell behind 11-2 at 4:40 of the first quarter. Then Mustang coach Ed Major put in Dan Tocchini, who did not start due to an ulcer, and Jim Leoni. From that point on, St. Vincent controlled the backboards and chipped away at the Bronco lead.

The Mustangs took over the lead at 44-42 with over seven minutes to play behind the scoring and rebounding of Tocchini and Leoni and the passing of Chris Dawson.

Tocchin was the game's top scorer with 21 points, with most of them coming on muscle plays underneath the basket.

Twins Batting Star

MINNEAPOLIS-St. Paul (UPI) —Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins has won three American League batting titles.

Warriors Visit Detroit Tonight

DETROIT (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors call on Detroit tonight and at least one member of the team wishes big Clyde Lee was in there to help out.

The Warriors are only 2-3 since Lee sprained his right arch Nov. 28 and the mustachioed guard Jim Barnett has scored only 35 points in the five games.

"I'm trying as hard as I ever have," says Barnett, "but nothing is going right. I know I miss Clyde — without him we can't be sure of the rebound, so I can't get down the court on the break. When I'm playing well, he's as responsible as I am."

The Warriors starting guard spot opposite Jeff Mullins now seems wide open with Barnett, Fritz Williams, Mahdi Abdul Rahman and Charlie Johnson all having a shot at it.

Mullins and Nate Thurmond, who had permission to visit family Monday in Kentucky and Ohio respectively, missed the practice Tuesday and were fined. They were snowed in and couldn't get to Detroit.

Coach Al Attles held a team meeting Saturday and thought that might have helped. He said he felt that perhaps now that Rick Barry is back "a lot of guys feel he'll do it all."

He said the Warriors, 5-6 for their last four weeks of National Basketball Association play can expect more help from guard Mahdi Abdul-Rahman as he becomes adjusted to the team and from rookie Charlie Johnson as he gains experience.

Controversy Over A Block Decreases

DALLAS (UPI) — A controversy stirred up by Washington Redskin coach George Allen about a crackback block thrown on one of his players by a Dallas player Saturday has subsided under a flood of facts, and Dallas players have pulled a lot of resentment from it that might help them to some victories.

"I'm sorry they (Washington) can't take a loss like men," said Dallas flanker Lance Alworth, the man who threw the block.

Alworth expects Dallas to make it through the first-round playoffs to the National conference playoffs, the final step before the super bowl game with the American conference winner. Dallas clinched a playoff berth with the 34-24 victory over Washington last Saturday after Washington had already clinched a berth.

The block was thrown by Alworth against Redskin linebacker Jack Pardee and it helped spring running back Calvin Hill loose for a 10-yard touchdown run. Alworth went in motion down the line, and then as the ball was snapped took a few steps downfield and slanted back toward the line of scrimmage to hit Pardee from a virtually blind angle.

Allen said the block was "illegal and vicious." However, the Redskins had knocked Dallas linebacker Chuck Howley out of the game with just such a crackback block. Howley was forced to undergo surgery for his injury, putting his career in jeopardy. Pardee was forced to sit out the second half allegedly because of the block.

Seals Host Canadiens Tonight

OAKLAND (AP) — The cellar-dwelling California Seals seem to do better against top National Hockey League teams and they'll have another go at it tonight against the visiting East Division leading Montreal Canadiens.

Last Saturday night, the Seals managed to come out or the short end by only a 2-1 score against Montreal in their first meeting of the season.

Weekend play saw the return of defenseman Bob Stewart who has been out almost a month. But left wing Gary Croteau took his place on the sidelines with a severe charley horse which has him on crutches and may prevent his seeing action Friday night against Chicago, the West Division front runner.

With Croteau out, Pete Laframboise is expected to move from center to left wing with rookie Morri Mott taking over the middle spot.

Cage Game Cancelled

The scheduled basketball game between the Danish National Basketball Team and the California State College, Sonoma Cossacks tomorrow night has been cancelled because the Danes could not get enough commitments to make their planned tour, it was announced yesterday.

Boxing Victory For Hernandez

SEATTLE (UPI) —Art Hernandez scored a 10th round technical knockout over previously unbeaten Mike Lankester, Renton, Wash. Tuesday night to successfully defend his North American Boxing Federation middleweight title.

Hernandez, of Omaha, paved the way for the TKO when he began to score heavily in the ninth round with punishing lefts to the head.

In the tenth, a cut opened over Lankester's eye and referee Pat McMurtry called the ring physician who inspected Lankester and waved that the fight was over.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Knowledge Of Rope Is An Important Aid

A couple of times this past summer I saw a person on a dock pick up a line from a boat then hand it to someone else to tie it around a cleat, or a post, or a ring. It was obvious that they didn't want to appear conspicuous by not doing a workmanlike job.

And handing it to someone else was better than winding the rope around the cleat to look like a bird's nest.

It seems that many people think there is a great mystery to knots and the handling of ropes around a boat. Many believe that it's necessary to take some kind of a course in knot-tying before one dare handle the lines.

Actually it's possible to get by quite adequately in boating with really knowing only one knot — the bowline. It will suffice in almost every situation where a rope has to be fastened to some object.

That there is a grey area of knowledge on ropes and knots is shown by some of the questions I have been asked:

Q. Is a splice stronger than a knot in joining two ropes?

A. Very much stronger. A knot seldom attains a breaking strength of 65 percent of the original, but a splice can be 90 per cent as strong as the unbroken rope.

Q. When is a "rope" a "line?"

A. In the roll, as you buy it from a store, it's called rope. But once you put a piece of rope to work in a specific job on a boat it becomes a line — such as mooring line, anchor line, heaving line. Or it might become a sheet or a halliard on a sailboat. A boatman seldom uses the word rope when he means a specific line. But the word rope is retained in some terminology — bell rope, bolt rope, etc.

Q. I have a rope advertised as being made from sisal. What is it? It it any good?

A. Sisal rope is made from a fiber grown in South America and Mexico. It is not as good as manila, grown in the East Indies. Manila will stand more wear and abuse than any other natural fiber. Other fibers used in rope are hemp, jute, cotton and linen. Synthetic fibers are: nylon, dacron, polyethylene and polypropylene. The last two float.

Q. How can mildew harm rope?

A. It doesn't damage ropes made of artificial fibers. That's why they are so popular. They can be stored wet. Mildew is a fungus which feeds on natural fiber ropes and destroys the fibers. Mildew thrives under warm, wet conditions.

Q. What exactly is a heaving line?

A. This is a very light rope carried on bigger boats such as cruisers and yachts which may be tossed or "heaved" to someone on the dockside, and then used to haul a heavier mooring line ashore to tie up the boat. The light rope used for towing water skiers makes an excellent heaving line.

Q. I notice water ski tow rope is braided, not laid in twists like ordinary rope. Why?

A. It resists kinking despite being repeatedly coiled. Braiding gives it a greater springiness also.

Q. I towed a friend's boat and yanked off all his expensive deck hardware. Is there an easy way?

A. Yes there is. Pass the towing line completely around the hull of the boat to be towed. The line may be supported, so that it won't slip off by short lengths of rope tied to cleats or deck stanchions. Towing will reveal just how fragile some boats really are.

Eight New Names For Hall List

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight new names — six of them pitchers — showed up on ballots for election to baseball's Hall of Fame which were mailed Tuesday.

The new eligibles include Warren Spahn, winningest lefthander in major league history, Whitey Ford, Robin Roberts, Vern Law, Lou Burdette, Curt Simmons, Smokey Burgess and Dick Groat. Burgess, a catcher and pinch hitting star, and shortstop Groat are the only non-pitchers added to this year's list of eligibles.

The eight new names were added by a screening committee of baseball writers who sifted through all of the players who became eligible for election this year to pare the list down. To be eligible, a player must have performed for 10 seasons in the majors and have been retired for five years.

Election is in the hands of some 450 or so veteran members of the Baseball Writers Association of America. A player must be named on 75 per cent of the ballots in order to be elected.

Spurrier's Role In 49ers' Plans

By ERIC PREWITT

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pro football's Super Bowl is a month away, and if the longshot San Francisco 49ers get there it is a good bet Steve Spurrier will be the starting quarterback.

"But I know I wouldn't be playing if John Brodie hadn't hurt his ankle," the former quarterback-in-waiting said after Tuesday's practice. "I'm only here through circumstance."

Brodie is back in uniform but has watched from the sidelines in the two games since his return.

The 37-year-old veteran, third leading passer in National Football League history, may even rank behind Spurrier when 1973 training camp opens.

"Let's wait until next year to think about that," says coach Dick Nolan. "We're not through this year yet."

The 49ers, with Spurrier scheduled to make his ninth straight start, play the Minnesota Vikings here Saturday. A tie or victory will give them the National Football Conference West title.

Since Spurrier took over, the team is 5-2-1. The 27-year-old Heisman Trophy winner from Florida leads the NFC in touchdown passes, with 18, and has thrown for 1,907 yards.

"The yardage doesn't mean much, though," he says. "You'll always see some quarterbacks for losing teams with lots of yards. They're behind so much that they have to throw a lot.

"I threw 46 times against Los Angeles a week ago and we lost. I threw 18 times against Atlanta Sunday and we won."

In Sunday's 20-0 victory over the Falcons, the 49ers took advantage of their running attack, which was effective for one of the few times this season.

"It's great to have the running threat," says Spurrier. "The best thing about it is that it cuts down the other team's pass rush."

Canoe Winners

Larry Busby of the Marin Canoe Club took two victories in the Red Cross Canoe Races Saturday on Oakland's Lake Merritt. Other Marin club winners were Peggy Ford, Lowell Dwyer and Dean Ferrandini. Second place finishes were recorded by Cheryl Andrews, Pete Sweeney, Ferrandini, Dwyer, and Busby. Third place marks were taken by Annette Busby, Sweeney, Peggy Ford, and Larry Busby.

Gymnastics Meet: Two Girls Star

Trish McLean of Vallecito Junior High and Susan Barnard and Kahea Bright of Mill Valley Middle School were the all-around winners yesterday in the Marin County Junior High-Middle School Compulsory Gymnastic Meet at Miller Creek School in Marinwood.

Trish won in Novice Division, Susan in Beginner and Kahea in Intermediate in scores combining balance beam, floor exercise, vaulting and uneven parallel bars. Five girls in each event qualified for a Feb. 3 Northern California meet.

Miss Bright was first in floor exercise, balance beam and parallel bars, and second to Kathy Tanem of Santa Venetia school in vaulting, highlighting the Intermediate Division.

First place winners in Novice Division were Miss McLean in parallel bars, Colleen Keating of Vallecito Junior High in vaulting, Jocelyn Shiro of Mill Valley in floor exercise and Cheri Cotti of Kent in balance beam.

Winning first in Beginners were Anita Lekven of Mill Valley in parallel bars and vaulting and Stevanie Voorsanger of Kent in floor exercise. Tami Wallace, Miss Voorsanger and Miss Barnard tied for first in balance beam.

Bicyclist Violators Will Get Citations

San Rafael police on Friday will start citing bicycle riders who are violating traffic laws, Police Chief Joseph J. Brusatori has announced.

"The holiday season is one of the worst times of the year for bicycle accidents," the chief said. He explained that many children get bicycles for presents and their parents turn them loose on them without any instruction.

"Bicycles are required to obey the same traffic laws as automobiles, going with the traffic, stopping at stop signs and red lights," he said.

Children under 14 who violate the traffic laws will be cited to their parents. Those 15 to 18 will go to juvenile traffic court and those over 18 will be cited to traffic court, he said.

Officer Scott E. Nelson on rounds of the city schools has talked to more than 6,000 students on bicycle safety and giving them a 50-question test on bicycle safety.

"Oddly enough, the students do better on the quiz than the adults who have taken it," Nelson said.

Little Can Stop Lightning Bolt

NEW YORK (UPI) —You've heard: stay away from open doors and windows in an electric storm? Well, the National Safety Council magazine, Family Safety, carries a report saying it really doesn't make any difference.

"Lightning can enter a building whether the window or door is open, closed or nonexistent," according to the report. "A bolt, flashing a half mile or so through highly resistant air, isn't likely to have its path altered by a window pane or wall."

MAILROOM BUSTLE — Employees of the San Rafael postal sectional center on Bellam Boulevard sort letters and shuffle parcels amid the humming of electric mail processing machines which handle up to 36,000 letters per hour. Employees, who process several million more pieces of mail than usual each week during the holiday season, are taking the Christmas rush in stride.

Christmas Mail Load Is Taken In Stride

One of the busiest places in the county this holiday season is the San Rafael postal sectional center on Bellam Boulevard, through which 4,000,000 letters and 110,000 parcels have flowed in the last week.

The mail-handling job is so mammoth that most of the city's 270 postal workers have been pressed into service 12 hours a day, seven days a week, for the next two weeks. Normally, employees work eight hours a day, five days a week and process about 2,300,000 letters and 75,000 parcels weekly.

And so far, everything's been running "as smooth as silk," according to Supt. of Mails Donald W. Baird, a 43-year-old career man whose job embraces incoming and outgoing mail in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

"Christmas is a mailman's headache ... it doubles the mail burden here," he said as his eyes darted about the expansive, bustling mail room cluttered with parcels and letters of every color, size and sort. "But we've got everything under control."

"In tones almost inaudible amid the humming of two electric mail processing machines which handle up to 36,000 letters per hour, Baird directed several of the Bellam station's 200 employees: "Put those packages here ... You don't need rubber fingers for that job . . . We'll really be humming in an hour."

Employees hardly needed encouragement. Letters zipped by and parcels were tossed into waiting hoppers in an endless, rhythmic motion.

Baird, a 27-year veteran of the San Rafael postal system who began his career as a high school mail clerk, said the Bellam office is handling parcel post packages for the first time in 17 years. In the past, parcels have been handled through a post office annex station rented for the holiday season, he said. "But this year we just couldn't find an annex big enough."

The result is a flood of up to 20,000 parcels a day through the Bellam sectional center, he said. "And it's going to get worse before it gets better."

In addition to regular employees working double shifts for the next several weeks, 30 part-time clerks have been hired temporarily, he said.

Though the number of letters pouring into the Bellam station is expected to exceed last year's three-week holiday total of 15 million by about 6 per cent, the number of parcels is expected to be slightly less than the 400,000 mailed last Christmas season, he said. Baird said that the number of packages being mailed has dropped because of higher parcel postal rates.

The postman recommended that letters and packages destined for points within the continental United States be airmailed before Dec. 20 to insure Christmas delivery.

BRASS BEDS FROM OUT OF ANOTHER ERA

Many an American has memories of an old brass bed; sometimes fitted with a feather mattress, that used to grace the guest room of grandpa and grandma. And many yearn for just such a bed in their own home. To meet that demand, Jay Ring of San Rafael has been handcrafting brass beds that are exacting replicas of the antique originals. How he got into the craft and why he finds it so satisfying are part of a speical feature in this week's Independent-Journal Marin Magazine.

BEFORE '1776' OPENING

Women To Serve Tasty Appetizers

Members of the Marin Association for Mental Health Auxiliary will serve hors d'oeuvres in the lobby of the Northgate Theater prior to next Wednesday night's opening of the film "1776."

In keeping with Revolutionary War era, the women will serve some appetizers of the time.

Plum pudding from a recipe developed by Dr. J. Fred Walker Jr. of Corte Madera, whose wife, Joanne, is an auxiliary member, will be served, as will Mrs. Lawrence Guadagni's brandy cream cheese balls.

DR. FRED'S PLUM PUDDING

3 cups suet, minced
1 cup seedless Malaga raisins
1 cup seedless sultana raisins
1¼ cup currants
4 oz. candied citron
4 oz. candied orange peel
1 cup blanched almonds
½ cup pitted prunes
1½ cups brown sugar
1 orange, grated rind and juice
1 lemon, grated rind and juice
2 cups peeled and grated cooking apples
5½ cups fresh breadcrumbs
2 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon cinnamon
½ tablespoon mace
1 tablespoon ground cloves and nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup rum
4 eggs, beaten
Beer

Remove all skin and fiber from the suet. Sprinkle it with one-third of the flour and chop finely. Remove pits from prunes and chop. Peel and grate apples. Dice the citron and candied orange peel. Chop blanched almonds. Grate orange and lemon peel., strain juice.

Mix all and stir in a large bowl until smooth, then add rum. Cover bowl with cloth and keep in a cool place. For the next two weeks stir mixture daily, adding a few tablespoons of rum or cognac each time.

On the last day, stir in the eggs until smooth. If mixture is too thick and difficult to stir, soften with a few tablespoons of beer or ale.

Fill three-fourths full, basins greased with butter and sprinkled with flour with heavy muslin cloth tied over the top.

Place bowl on a rock in a kettle of boiling water. Boil for six hours.

HARD SAUCE
Pour over Plum Pudding

½ cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla or Kirsch
2 cups sifted powdered sugar
1 egg, separated

Cream butter and vanilla. Gradually add powdered sugar and continue to cream until fluffy. Beat in egg yolk. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white.

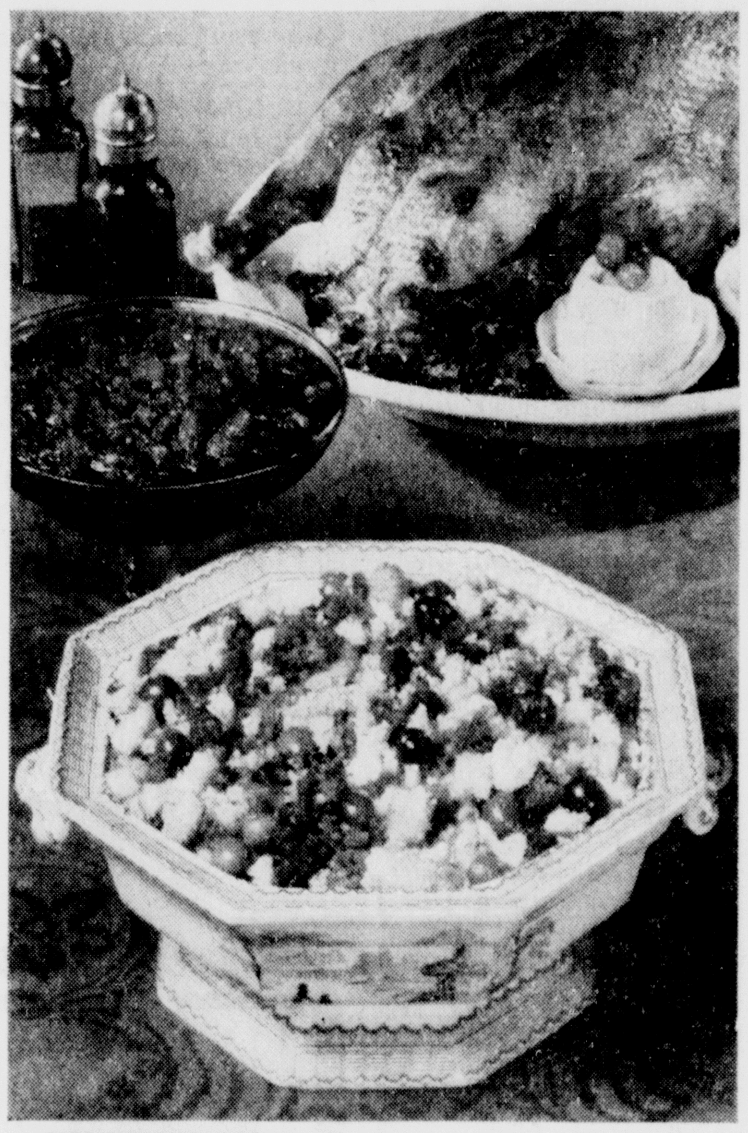
BRANDIED CREAM CHEESE BALLS

3 8-ounce packages cream cheese
1¼ cups brown sugar
¼ cup walnuts
Brandy flavor or extract to taste

Soften cream cheese. Blend in brown sugar. Whip well. Put walnuts in blender, and chop well. Add brandy extract. Whip all ingredients well. Make into balls. Refrigerate until ready to use.

Exotic Yogurt

Exotic yogurt varieties are normal at the University of Chicago's Nonesuch Coffee Shop. Manager Gary Engle notes that strawberry and raspberry flavors outsell such variations as Chinese yogurt with bean curd, salmon-supreme, Italian beef and chicken-fat ripple yogurt.



HOLIDAY SAUSAGE and cranberry stuffing may be the answer to a different stuffing to serve with roast goose or any holiday bird.

Stuff Your Holiday Bird With This Tasty Stuffing

If you are looking for a different and delicious stuffing to serve with roast goose or any holiday bird, try this Cranberry Sausage Stuffing. Made with sausage, corn muffins and cranberries, it is practically a meal in itself. You may want to serve any leftovers with gravy for lunch or supper after the holiday feast.

Fruitcake A Splendid Thing

The American fruitcake is a many splendored thing; variations and methods would astound the British whose taste traditionally is limited to the dark fruitcake.

Though different, each is aromatic with spices and deliciously flavored with sweetened fruit. The type of fruitcake one favors is a personal affair, subject to taste fancy, time needed for preparation, and purpose, be it for gifting, entertaining or family nibbling.

KITCHEN TIPS FOR FRUITCAKES

Grease pan for a large cake, then line with cooking parchment or greased heavy brown paper to keep crust from becoming too dark and heavy. Non-stick pans can also be lined. Pans for smaller or muffin size cakes need greasing only.

Position cake below center of oven and regardless of shape and size, be watchful of oven time.

A shallow pan of hot water on lowest oven shelf keeps cake moist and crust lighter during baking.

Cake is done when center remains firm or springs back while pressed lightly with fingertip. Toothpick test is not always accurate for fruits stick to the toothpick even though batter is cooked.

Trim with additional candied fruit and California walnut halves dipped in corn syrup for hold and shine. Seal in foil or plastic wrap, shaping to keep out air and moisture.

Aging fruitcake makes for neater cut slices, melds all the delicate flavors and gives the fruits time to impart their moisture into the batter. Storage depends on type: a rich-in-fruit cake should be aged for a month or more whereas a quick fruitcake is better after 48 hours.

SPICY WALNUT FRUITCAKE

1 cup walnuts
1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup pitted dates
⅔ cup currants
½ cup sliced dried apricots
½ cup halved candied cherries
¼ cup chopped candied orange peel
¼ cup chopped candied lemon peel
⅓ cup butter or margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon mace
¼ teaspoon ginger
2 large eggs, beaten
⅛ teaspoon soda
¼ cup golden molasses
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour

Coarsely chop walnuts, raisins and dates; rinse and drain currants. Combine well with remaining fruits and peels. Cream butter, sugar, salt and spices until fluffy. Beat in eggs. Add soda, molasses and flour; mix to moderately stiff batter. Combine with walnut-fruit mixture. Pack batter into six-cup mold or pan. Bake at 275 degree F. about two and one half hours until cake tests done. Cool, then remove from pan; wrap in foil and store in a cool place. Makes one cake. Batter measures about five and one half cups and weighs about two pounds, 10 ounces.

(Cake can be baked in any pan or mold (fill three-fourths full); may be eaten after 48 hours storing.)

WHITE FRUITCAKE

3 cups walnuts
2 cups golden raisins
1½ cups candied cherries, halved
1½ cups sliced candied pineapple
1 cup coarsely chopped citron
1 cup coarsely chopped candied orange peel
¼ cup brandy or orange juice
¼ cup sherry or pineapple juice
1½ cups butter or margarine
2 cups granulated sugar
1½ teaspoons vanilla
6 eggs
4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cup milk

Coarsely chop walnuts; set aside. Chop raisins; combine with remaining fruits and peels. Add brandy and sherry; mix well. Let stand covered three to four hours or overnight. Cream butter. Gradually beat in sugar until fluffy. Add vanilla. Beat in eggs, one at a time, until well blended. Resift flour with salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Combine batter with fruit mixture and walnuts. Pack batter in tube or loaf pans (filling two-thirds full) greased and lined with parchment or heavy brown paper. Bake at 275 degree F. about two and one half hours, until cake tests done. Cool, then remove from pan; brush with brandy or sherry, wrap in foil and store. Makes two loaves. Batter measures about 12 cups and weighs about three pounds, 10 ounces.

RICH FRUITCAKE

3 cups walnuts
2 cups coarsely chopped mixed candied fruits and peels
3 cups seedless raisins
1 cup candied cherries
1 cup currants
½ cups bourbon or orange juice
1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar, packed
6 eggs
½ ounce unsweetened chocolate, melted
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon soda
¾ teaspoon salt

Chop walnuts coarsely; set aside. Chop mixed fruits, peels and raisins; halve cherries. Rinse and drain currants. Combine fruits well with bourbon. Let stand covered three or four hours or overnight. Cream butter. Beat in sugar until fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time, until well blended. Stir in melted chocolate. (Batter may appear curdled, but this is normal.) Combine with fruits and wlanuts. Resift flour with spices, soda and salt. Stir into fruit mixture until well blended. Pack batter into greased and paper lined two and three-fourths-quart tube pan. Bake about 300 degrees F. about two hours 20 minutes, until cake tests done. Cool, then remove from pan; wrap in foil and store in a cool place. Makes one large cake. Batter measures about 10 cups and weighs about three pounds.

Alternative To Turkey Is Burnt Sugar Duck

During this era of nostalgia, many of us will be celebrating the holidays with turn-of-the-century dinners. Fortunately, modern technology has made it so much easier for us.

A brace of ducks is available from the nearest supermarket; fresh roses from the florist; and the glow of candlelight is an inviting mood-setter rather than a lighting necessity.

Burnt sugar duck is the scene-setter for this traditional holiday meal. It's a delicious alternative to the usual turkey and takes less time to prepare.

The birds are stuffed with a fragrant mixture of apples and fresh California table grapes. The festive colors of the grapes now available make this fruity stuffing a bright mosaic of color when served next to steaming slices of duck.

GRAPE CLUSTERS also garnish the finished ducks. . . but with an extra-special touch. Caramelized sugar is poured over the grapes and birds just before serving.

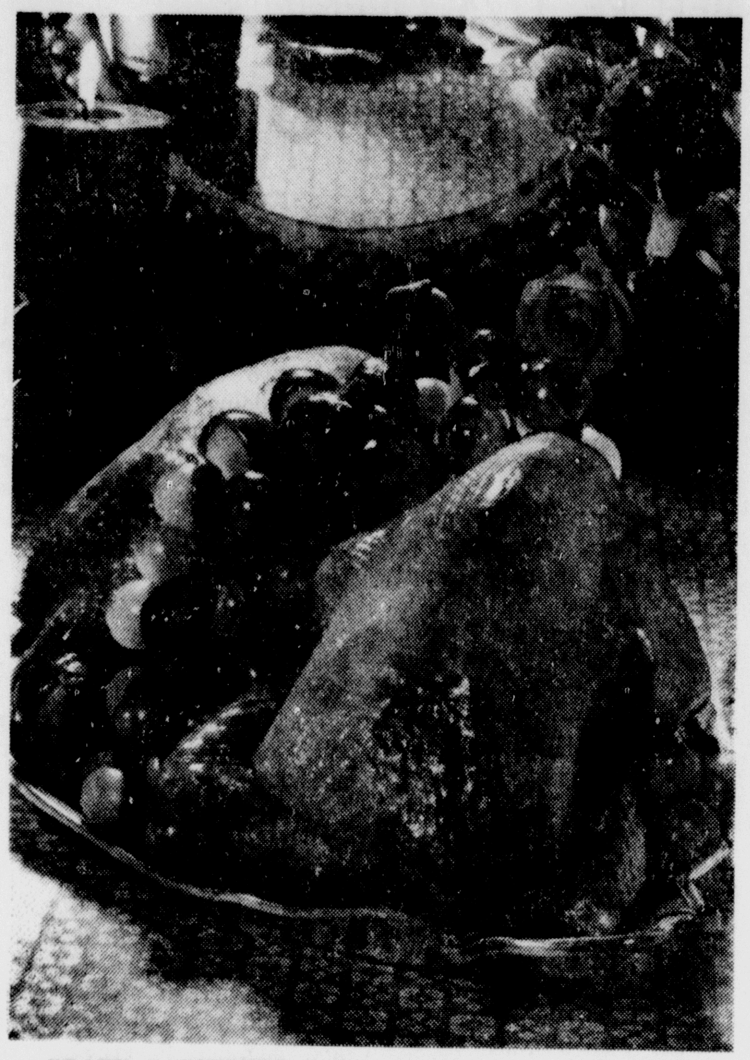
To caramelize sugar, melt sugar in a heavy skillet over medium heat. Cook, stirring constantly, until sugar forms an amber syrup. Remove from heat and pour over grapes and ducks.

Remember too, to set out bowls of grapes and other winter fruits and nuts for snacking. They're decorative and inviting and spread your holiday welcome throughout the house. After all, the best part of the holiday season is the joyous coming-together of friends.

BURNT SUGAR DUCK

2 small ducks or roasting chickens
1 medium sized apple, cut into cubes
2 cups halved and seeded California grapes
Salt and pepper
⅛ cup sugar
1 tablespoon salt
1 large cluster California grapes for garnish
1 cup sugar, caramelized

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Dry ducks with paper towels, inside and out. Combine apples and grapes; sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Stuff cavities and skewer or sew with thread. Rub sugar and salt into skin. Prick fattest parts of duck to allow excess fat to drain. Roast at 425 degrees for the first 20 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees. Allow 25 minutes per pound roasting time. Garnish with grapes. Pour caramelized sugar over duck and grapes just before serving.



GRAPE GARNISHED ducks glisten under a caramelized sugar coating for festive holiday entree.

Salt and pepper
1 pound (4 cups) Ocean Spray fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
1 cup water
1½ cups sugar
1 pound bulk sausage
3 packages (7 ounces each) corn muffins (about 9 cups crumbled)
1 cup diced celery
1 small onion, chopped
½ cup diced green pepper
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 small red apple, cored and chopped

Remove giblets from goose and turn back wings. Sprinkle inside and out with salt and pepper. Cook cranberries, water and sugar in saucepan until tender, about 10 minutes. Drain. Cook sausage meat until brown and crumbly. Break muffins into large pieces; add sausage meat, fat in pan and remaining ingredients. Stir in cooked cranberries. Pack mixture loosely into goose and sew or skewer opening. Put remaining stuffing into a casserole, cover and bake for 1 hour. Roast goose at 325° F. until meat thermometer inserted in thigh registers 190° F. Prick skin with fork to allow fat to escape. Allow goose to stand for 20 minutes before serving to make carving easier.

Notches Make A Great Snack

Cut two ounces natural cheddar cheese into 24 pieces, three-fourths of an inch square and one-eighth of an inch thick. Dice one mild chili pepper. Arrange 24 taco-flavored tortilla chips on baking sheet. Place one teaspoon refried beans or canned bean dip in center of each chip. Top beans with pieces of cheese and chili pepper.

Broil four inches from heat till cheese begins to melt, one to three minutes. Makes 24.

Persimmon Cookies

The following recipe was given this morning on the KTIM radio show, Kitchen Time in Marin.

PERSIMMON COOKIES

1 cup persimmon puree
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup (½ lb.) softened butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg room temperature
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 tablespoons brandy, or
or ange juice
3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ginger
¾ cup currants
½ cup finely chopped nuts

Note: If you have an electric mixer with "dough-hooks" they are excellent for beating and mixing cookie batter.

Mix persimmon puree and the soda together, set aside. (This combination will gel, and is characteristic.)

Cream butter and sugar together until light and fluffy. Beat in the egg, vanilla, brandy (or orange juice). Then beat in the persimmon mixture and blend thoroughly. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and spices. Gradually work into the creamed mixture. Fold in the currants and the chopped nuts. Drop dough by teaspoon two inches apart onto greased baking sheets. Bake in preheated 375 oven, 10-12 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Makes four to five dozen.

Refrigerate

Semi-dry sausages are cooked and partially dried in the smokehouse. Because they are softer than dry sausages and have a higher moisture content, they should be refrigerated, suggest food scientists.

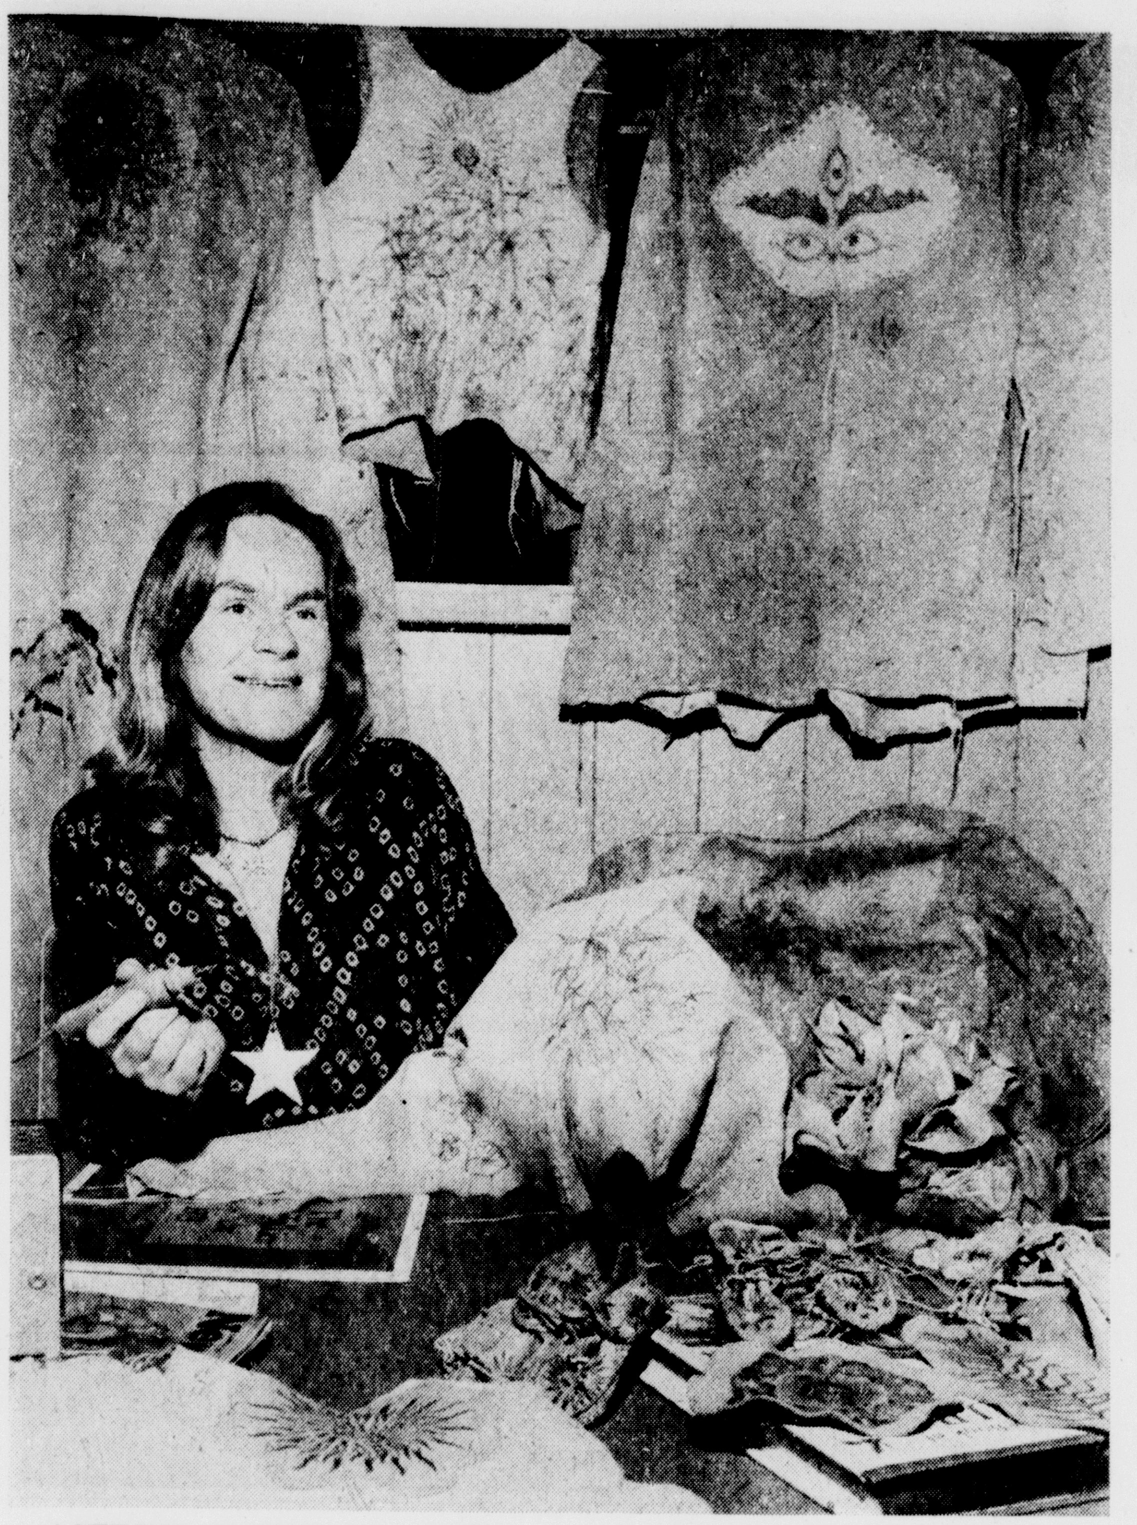
LIBERATED LIFE

Marin Visitor Bases Life On 'Lump Sum'



ACTRESS KATIE Drew-Wilkinson, who appeared in "Oh, Calcutta," finances her lifestyle of world travel by creating leather clothes. Visiting friends on Belvedere Lagoon, the Englishwoman advises anyone who would be a world traveler to learn to do an artcraft that they can sell en route.

By PAT BALMES

An unfettered life of world travel is Katie Drew-Wilkinson's style.

"I never have had a lump sum in the bank, but I am able to travel alone honestly on a legitimate ticket. I have the confidence to know that I can make money as I go along," said the actress and leather-garment maker.

Miss Drew-Wilkinson is the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mead of Belvedere Lagoon, whom she met in Lindos, Greece.

The Englishwoman first visited the United States in 1967 to act in the Hollywood movie, "The Killing of Sister George."

SHE NEXT performed in the original cast of the stage play, "Oh, Calcutta." That devastated her conservative parents, she said.

"I do not believe in stripping, but it was very much a spoof and against censorship," said the actress, who was chosen to be interviewed on televisin about the play.

Later she appeared in a Brooklyn dramatic production, "Cauldones Commissioner," a story in which a man's job depended upon the Vietnam War continuing. She played his wife, driven mad by the situation.

Her good acting reviews balanced her "Oh, Calcutta" notoriety, she believes.

"They asked me to take the play "Cauldones Commissioner" to Broadway but I could not go on going mad every night. And I had not seen a tree in over a year," she said.

She returned to Los Angeles where she sang at the Whiskey-A-Go-Go and lived at Malibu Beach until the 1971 earthquake "threw me out of bed" and she fled to a house on 200 acres in Sonoma, where she made leather jackets, shirts, vests and skirts.

ONE DAY she was lunching with a childhood friend at a Sausalito restaurant when a stranger stopped to ask about the leather garment she was wearing and bought it.

Her friend had invited Katie Drew-Wilkinson to visit her in Lindos, Greece, where she runs a non-profit weaving business to enable Greek girls to earn dowries. Since she had her "lump sum," she went to Greece.

There she met an American, Scott Deitz, who was on his way to Afghanistan.

"He is still on his way to Afghanistan before it goes too spoiled, but maybe there will be three of us going," said Miss Drew-Wilkinson whose baby, expected at Christmastime, will be named Star.

The couple is seeking a modest country house to rent until their baby is ready to travel to Greece next summer, she said.

"We want to rear the child in Greece where life is gentler, children seem happier and there is more time, away from American television, garbage food and dirty air," she said.

Later they would like to live in a French village, near a fashionable area for selling leather clothes. They want to teach their child three or four languages and train him to use his hands, she said.

"It's very satisfying to work with ones hands," said the artist as she showed how she cuts, laces and burns designs on leather garments.

ONE OF THE reasons she returned to the United States is the availability of the best garment leathers. She uses a Bedouin technique of lacing and burns in nature designs from sketchbook notes she keeps on her travels, she said.

Leather clothes are ideal for travelers because they don't need washing and one outfit suffices, she observed.

Pockets are sewn inside the garments so "a traveler could be rolled around, but they would never find your money."

She has traveled alone away from usual tourist routes.

"How are you going to know the Arab mentality unless you get off the main circuit? she said.

She advised would-be travelers to learn an artcraft so they can barter or sell it during their travels. She sells her leather clothes when people see her wearing them and ask about them.

"I sold a skirt for $500 right off my body in Carthage. My travels go garment-by-garment. Whenever I get a lump sum, I head for the airport," she said.

Her travels began at age 6 when her stepfather, a British army officer, took his family to Germany with the occupying army in 1946.

There her language fluency began. Her family also traveled to France in the summer.

"EVERY WELL brought-up English girl learns French: my mother had the principle of sending me abroad for the holidays," she said.

Whe she was 16 her parents took her to North Africa, where she helped archeologists.

"I have grown fastest where the Romans raged up and down the North African coast," she said.

Between ages 18 and 21 Miss Drew-Wilkinson studied at England's acting school, the Bristol Old Vic School. She received the "award in my bunch," the Sara Siddons Award.

Immediately afterward she left on several months' adventure to Malta and then returned to England on "a plastic catamaran" by asking the owners, "Can I come, too? I can cook." She discovered Italy when they put in at the islands.

Returning to England she worked as secretary to a commercial television station drama manager. Later she worked in the theater in props "to learn the theater from the back" and did odd bits of acting, including pantomime, which in England is heavy with tradition, dialogue and funny actors, she said.

HER SECOND trip to North Africa was with a photographer who took color pictures for the London Times Sunday supplement.

Later she was acting in England but not finding enough jobs when "Cleopatra" was being filmed in Italy. She traveled there to work in it and learn Italian. She stayed to work in low-budget Italian movies.

On a recent trip to North Africa, she traveled with an Arab man and woman who translated for her. There she met a family whose farm was a paradise because a stream ran through it and another who were starving because neighbors had cut off their access to water.

She told of desert Arabs who washed her hands by pouring water over them and onto the sand, in an area where no water seemed available.

She spoke of wild Arab youths who rode horses instead of motorcycles and carried two guns.

North Libyans have become wicked, she said, because of the oil in their land while their neighbors the Tunisians, whose economy is built on tourism, are good people.

Commenting on her life style, Katie Drew-Wilkinson said, "It is important to be able to support oneself to stay free of commitment to any contract so you can go where you want. I am allergic to contracts which takes it through to the fact that Scott and I are not legally married. You stay with a job or with a person because you love them."

BURNING A design from her travel sketchbook on leather with a French electric tool, Miss Drew-Wilkinson covers a vest with graceful ferns infested with ants, frogs, lizards and mushrooms "so whoever gets it will go on finding things." The United States is the best source of garment leather, she said.

ON THE AGENDA

Christmas Bake Sale Set At San Rafael's Presbyterian Church

A "Christmas Kitchen Concoctions and Bake Sale" will be held Friday and Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael as a benefit for the Carden Marin School. The sale will start at 3:30 p.m. the first day and 10 a.m. Saturday.

At 6:30 p.m. Friday a shoppers' supper of cheeses, homemade soup and breads will be served. Students will present a program, "Christmas in Six Eras" at 8 p.m.

SAN FRANCISCO Yacht Club will hold its membership Christmas party on Friday from 6 to 8 p.m. at the yacht club in Belvedere.

The cocktail party is sponsored by SFYC Women's Auxiliary, and husbands of board members will serve champagne.

Chairman Mrs. Alden Van Pelt, Mrs. Leonard James and auxiliary board members will decorate the dining room like a ski lodge.

A Scandinavian tradition will be part of San Francisco Yacht Club's Christmas party for members' small children, also sponsored by the women's auxiliary, on Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m. at the club.

A native of Denmark, chairman Mrs. Leonard James explained that on St. Lucia's Day a daughter wearing a long white gown and a candle crown serves coffee and freshly baked buns to her parents in bed, while the other children sing songs.

At the yacht club "Lucia bride" Meg Eldridge, daughter of the commodore, will lead a procession of white-gowned "Lucia girls" singing a Swedish song.

Also planned are a puppet show and Santa's arrival aboard the red-hulled sloop "Andale" to distribute gifts.

THE NOVATO Hostess Club members will attend the holiday dinner dance Friday at Rancho Nicasio. Mrs. Larry Monestier is chairman.

MEMBERS OF the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Wives Club will hold a Christmas punch party at the officers club tomorrow at 1:30 p.m.

The OWC Skylarks will present a holiday program. Hostesses for the party are wives of officers of Hamilton hospital group and the Western Reserve Region.

THE PACHECO School Parent-Teacher Association meeting will be held tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the school in Novato. A musical "Season's Greetings" program by students of the school will precede the meeting.

BEL MARIN Keys Women's Club will hold its annual cocktail party Saturday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Bel Marin Keys Community Center.

THE SIR Francis Drake Kennel Club will hold its Christmas party at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Marinwood Community Center.

Chairman of the party is Mrs. Eve Jorgensen.

"THE ISLAND of the Blue Dolphin," a children's classic film, will be shown at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Sequoia Theater in Mill Valley, as a benefit for the Beginning School.

The school is located in St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Marin City. Mrs. Henry Bourne of Mill Valley is chairman of the event.

AN INITIATION will be held at 7:30 p.m. tonight by the Mill Valley Bethel 119, International Order of Job's Daughters. The meeting will be held at the Mill Valley Masonic Temple.

Material From Jeans Now Paper

NEW YORK (UPI) — The material from the jeans you wear also may form the paper you write on.

The Cotton Fiber Paper Council says rag content paper is made from cotton scraps left from the manufacturers of a variety of items including U.S. mail bags and blue jeans.

An Ideal Holiday Gift For Hostess

Put a sprig of holly or dried flowers in a wine glass or a brandy snifter or a small pitcher ready to use as a centerpiece and take it to a hostess.

Another centerpiece gift is a lettuce basket or colander filled with fruit or nuts.

Men's Turn To Take The Plunge

Now it's the men's turn to take the plunge. Sporran Sportswear is cutting a deep V front in an all-cotton knit vest.

It's designed for beachwear or as a vest to wear over other garments. The V is sleeveless and ends at the waistband in a close fit, like a cummerbund.

A Practical Gift

You've probably thought of giving your mother or favorite aunt a new hairdo or makeover. But this year you could also consider giving a man who's proud of his hair a session with a stylist.

Quick Snack

Try broiled beans and bologna sandwiches. Toast bread on one side in broiler. Turn over and top with canned baked beans and one slice quartered bologna. Broil until bubbly, three to five minutes.

New Slate Is Picked By Novato Hostess Club

Mrs. Gerald Gardner has been elected president of the Novato Hostess Club for 1973. Elected to serve with her are Mmes. Richard Cline, vice president; James Epp, recording secretary; Luis De Olazarra, corresponding secretary; and Raymond Szostak, treasurer.

Members of the club have voted to donate $300 to the Novato Unified School District for the use of the Sinaloa Junior High School reading clinic.

The money is to be used for the purchase of supplies and equipment, according to Mrs. Robert O. King, outgoing president of the club.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

There's Several Ways For Your 'Husband' To Untangle His Mess

DEAR HELEN:

The man I think of as my husband is married to two other women. It goes like this:

His first marriage was a doomed teen-age thing that lasted six months. But they didn't get a divorce.

Shortly afterward, Sam met Cindy. He used his middle and last name on the license this time. They got into drugs and fought a lot, finally split up. Still no divorce.

Then I came along. Sam got straight, now has a good job and we've been living together as man and wife for almost two years. We have a baby son. Everything's great except I'd like to be legal. I have this nightmare about those two other wives showing up at once and each demanding their half.

It's been almost seven years since he last saw Wife No. 1, and four years since Wife No. 2 left. Isn't there a statute of limitations or something on old marriages? I mean like an automatic divorce? Can Sam be put in jail for bigamy? Both women have left town and we don't know where they are.

How can I get married without causing trouble for my "husband"? — NO NAME

DEAR NO:

There's no such thing as an "automatic divorce," but a lawyer can probably untangle this mess (though it won't be easy). You might even get lucky and discover that one or both women have already attended to legal matters with a Reno or Mexican "quickie." — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our shiftless son-in-law says the difference between his father and my husband (his wife's father) is that his dad had planned to retire, but will work a whole year longer to help "the children" pay their debts, children meaning a 28-year-old son and 26-year-old daughter-in-law who expect their parents to bail them out — constantly. In their five years of marriage, "Sonny" has quit ten jobs (or been fired), and still attends college but will never finish as he quits just before the finals, then starts fresh, on more of the old folks' funds.

He has brainwashed our daughter. She now says it's the parents' duty to satisfy their children's needs. She still feels grateful that he condescended to marry her after making her pregnant, and she's so fearful of losing him — being on her own — that she'll demand money from us whenever he says.

We furnished their house and helped with the down payment. Until recently I sent them a sizable check each month. When we finally called a halt, the comparisons between his parents' generosity and our stinginess started. They "show love," thus they see the grandchildren. We won't see them, so long as we "think only of ourselves." We aren't wealthy. We love our grandchildren, and our daughter, but buying their affection means an end to our retirement dream of leisurely travel.

Are we selfish? Is it really true that a parent's financial responsibility never ends? — MRS. B.G.

DEAR MRS. G.:

Of course you aren't selfish. A parent's financial responsibility ends when the child becomes a legal adult. You've kept your daughter a child far too long — and if you could only persuade her husband's parents likewise, these over-age juveniles might even yet grow up. — H.

Couple Will Reside In Castro Valley

MR. AND MRS. TIMOTHY K. CASSIDY
Married in San Rafael church

(Klepsch photo)

Rebecca Christine Shepherd of Hayward and Timothy Kevin Cassidy of San Rafael were married Dec. 3 at St. Vincent's Church in San Rafael. A reception at the Oakview Club of the Meadows in Terra Linda followed the ceremony.

Mrs. David C. Shepherd Jr. of Petaluma was matron of honor for her sister-in-law, and bridesmaids were Debbie Dunn of Chico and Donna McCusker of San Jose.

The bridegroom's brother Patrick Cassidy of San Jose was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by I. Ron Bresee and Tom Pillacelli, both of San Rafael.

Following a wedding trip to Carmel the couple will live in Castro Valley.

Rebecca and Timothy are both graduates of Terra Linda High School and both attended College of Marin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Shepherd of Hayward. She is the assistant manager of Stretch and Sew Fabrics in Hayward. Stephen C. Shepherd of Hayward is also her brother, and she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Holmquist of Sun City, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Cassidy of San Rafael are the bridegroom's parents, and Denis and Dan Cassidy, both of San Rafael, are also his brothers. He is employed by Western States Bankcard Assoc. in San Francisco. Timothy is the grandson of Mrs. K. J. LeFevre of Texas and Mrs. Emerson Burns of Arizona.

Taste Touchup

Weak gravy? Flavorless soup? Soy sauce may be just the touch needed to enrich them without necesarily making the Oriental flavor dominant.

A Real Gourmet Salad Dressing

Serving an exquisite dinner by candlelight soon? Then you'll want to clip this gourmet salad dressing recipe.

In a bowl blend together one cup dairy sour cream, two tablespoons tarragon vinegar, one and one-half teaspoons dried tarragon leaves, one teaspoon sugar and one-half teaspoon salt. Cover and chill. Yield: Approximately one cup.

New Gelatin Dessert Mix

A manufacturer of a popular gelatin is introducing a new dessert mix that the homemaker will combine with milk, or even cream, besides the usual water.

The quivering, shivering result is a pastel colored gelatin treat with a rich creamy texture, available in three delicious flavors — strawberry cream, banana cream and peach cream.

Good Flavor

Into mixed green salad, toss fancy mixed Chinese vegetables, rinsed and well drained, to enhance flavor and nutrition.

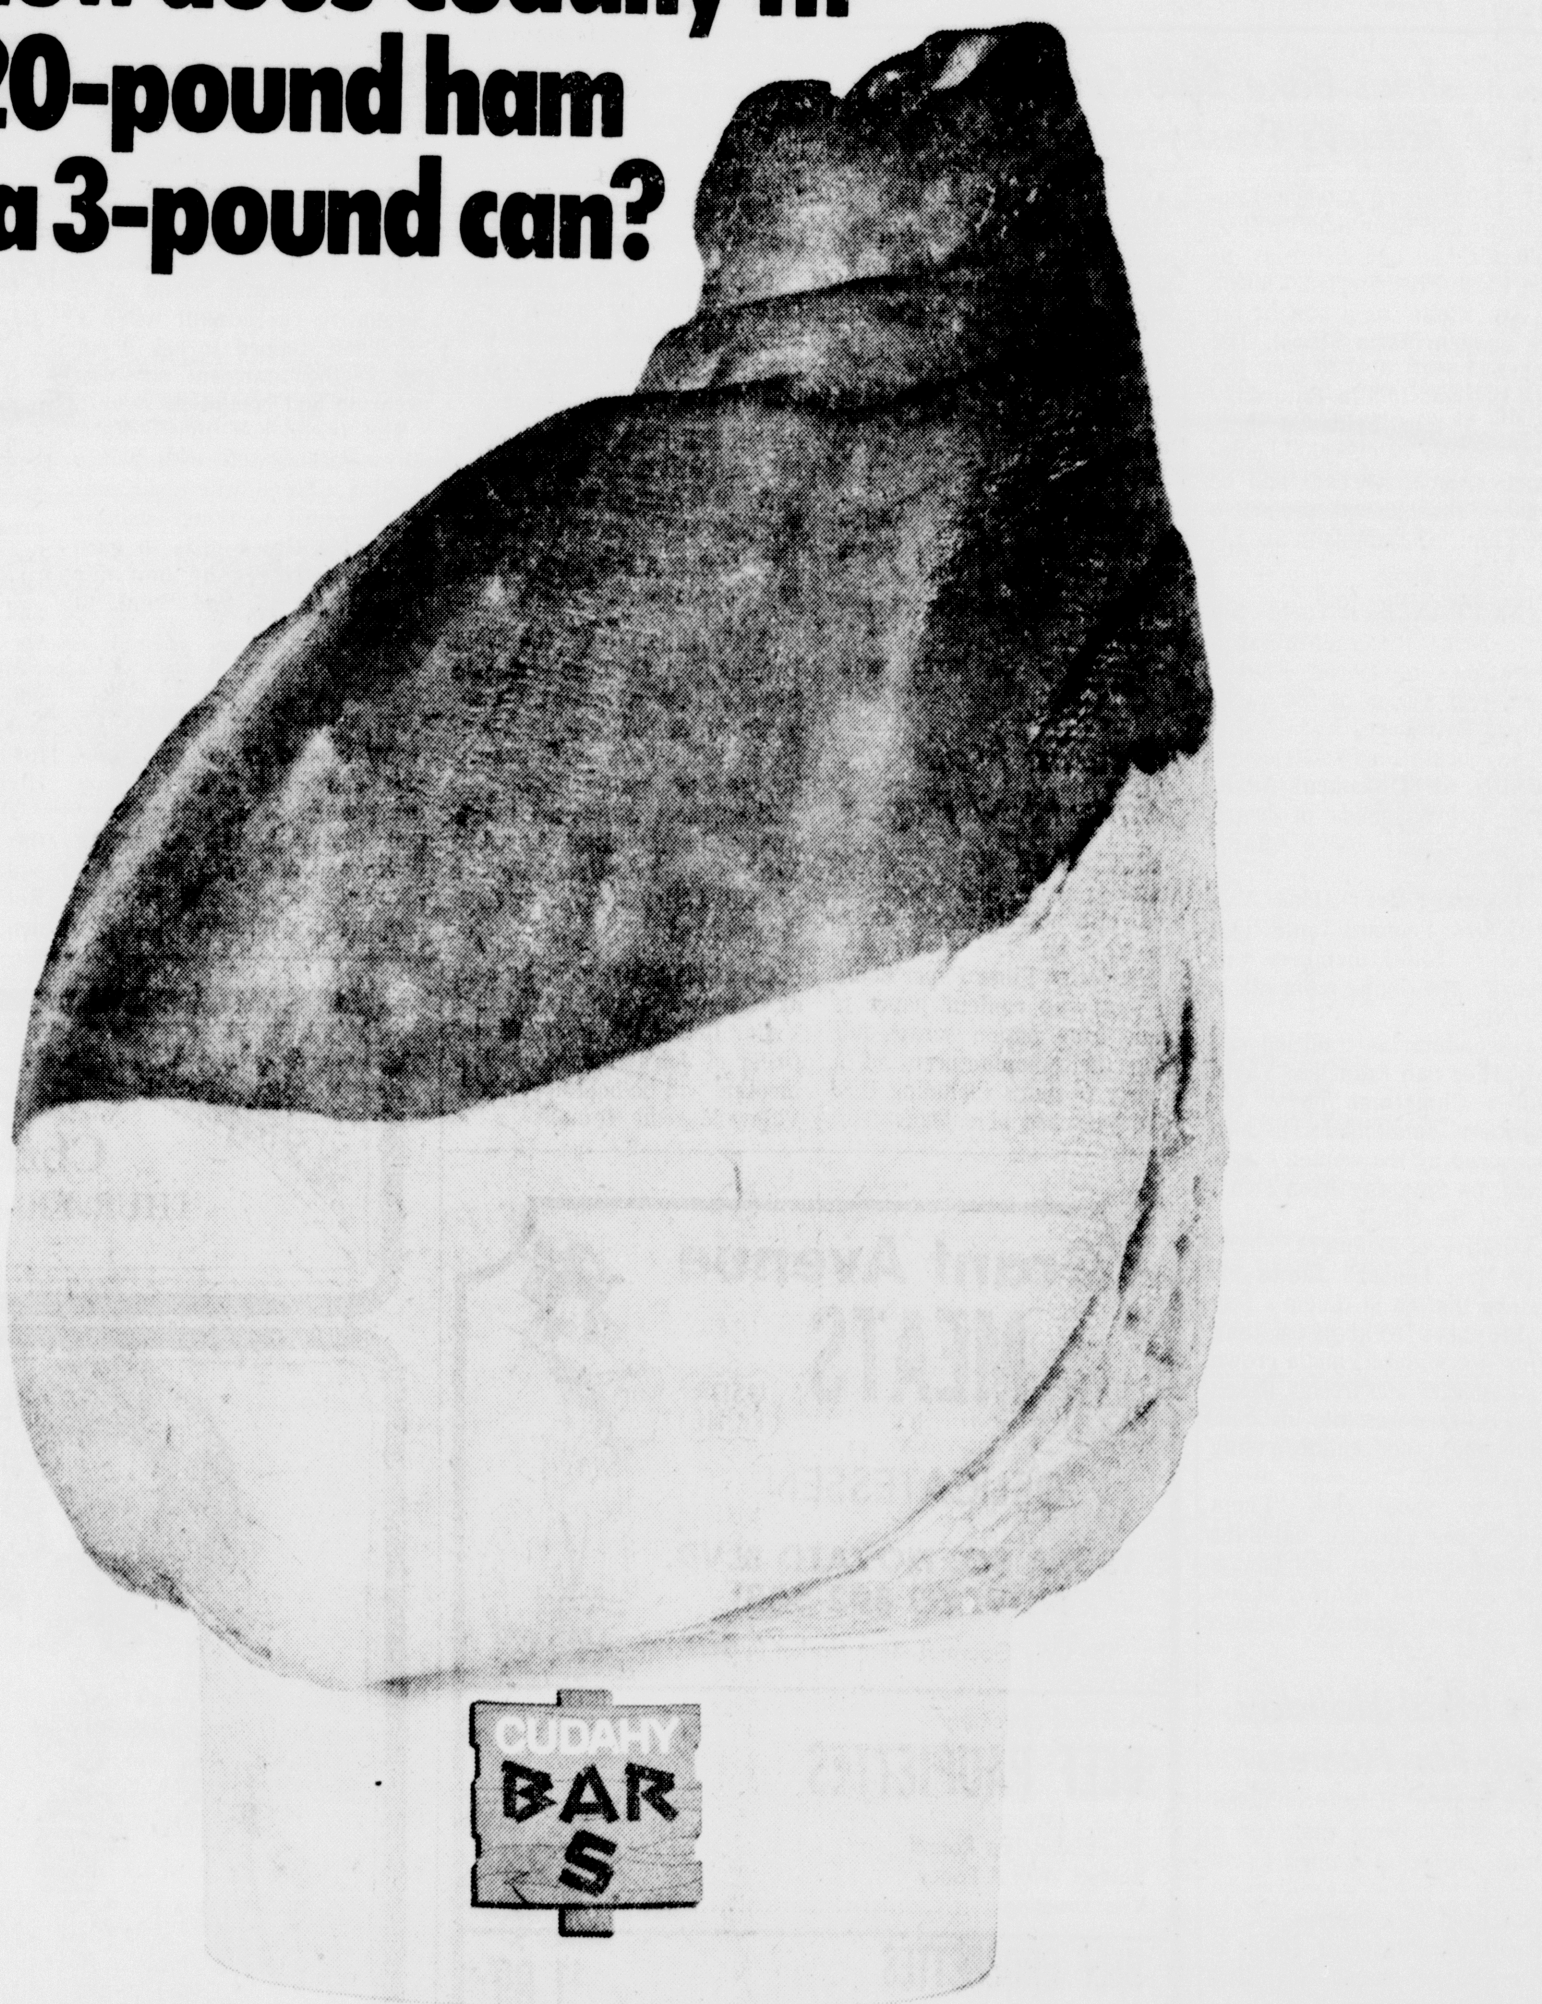
How does Cudahy fit a 20-pound ham in a 3-pound can?



First we get rid of the butt, shank and end pieces.

Then we remove the bone, cut away the gristle and trim the fat, leaving just enough to juice up the flavor.

What's left? The center cut . . . three juicy pounds of lean, pure ham. Ham that's fully-cooked, ready to eat, and easy to carve.

Busy Time For Young Volunteers

Young volunteers from the Marin Red Cross are involved in a variety of Christmas projects ranging from a string concert and caroling by Davidson Junior High School students for residents of the San Rafael Convalescent Hospital to collecting toys for Sonoma State Hospital patients by students at St. Hilary's School in Belvedere.

Cub Scout Pack 55 at San Pedro School is filling Red Cross friendship boxes with health items for distribution to children in disaster areas of foreign countries. Red Cross Youth at Red Hill, San Clemente, Neil Cummins and St. Raphael's schools are collecting canned goods for Tiny Tim's Christmas.

Youth volunteers at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital will plan a party for Sonoma State Hospital patients and St. Anselm School students will decorate a Christmas tree at the Fifth Avenue Convalescent Hospital.

The Red Cross Youth singing group from San Rafael High School is scheduled to appear at several Marin convalescent hospitals before Christmas. The Youth Guitar Group is also scheduled to play at hospitals and has several dates between now and Christmas.

Toys and gifts for patients at Sonoma State and Napa State Hospitals are being collected at the Marin Red Cross headquarters in San Rafael through Monday.

Gift suggestions are educational toys, athletic equipment, current long-playing phonograph records, cosmetics and grooming aids, children's books, comic books, decorative pillows, combs, toothpaste, nail clippers, emery boards, cards and cribbage boards.

Gifts should not be wrapped, but Christmas wrappings should be attached to them with the name and address of the group making the donation.

Christmas Program Will Be Tomorrow

The Sausalito Woman's Club Christmas program will be held tomorrow, not Friday as incorrectly reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

The program, to begin at 2 p.m. at the clubhouse in Sausalito, will feature handbell music, holiday table settings and hors d'oeuvres recipes.

Where To Draw Line On The Toy Demand

Where to draw the line on gift demands by children and how to survive the holidays if you're a woman alone are two topics discussed in this month's issue of Pageant Magazine.

Child psychologist and author Dr. Haim Ginott says children's demands grow beyond reason during the Christmas season — and so do parents' irritations and guilt.

Ginott feels parents can follow certain guidelines in order to avoid exploitation by their children during the holidays.

"First," said Ginott, "do not treat a wish as a need. A wish is neither a command nor a demand. It is a request which we acknowledge but do not necessarily gratify."

He feels the holiday season offers special opportunities to meet the vital needs of children and what they need most, he said, is evidence of the parent's delight in the child's presence.

Women without partners for the holiday season should plan ahead, said author Judi Kesselman. Plan a trip, invite other single or alone friends to dinner or visit those less fortunate than yourself, she suggests.

"For women without partners, holidays, at best, are difficult," said Miss Kesselman.

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, 60 per cent of women live without a total family.

San Anselmo's Council Delays Open Space Bond Issue Action

The San Anselmo City Council, stymied by an absentee member, last night deferred setting of a bond issue to purchase community open space.

Members agreed Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson should be present for a decision to fix the date of the election and the amount of the bond issue.

The matter will be discussed again at the council's Jan. 9 meeting.

City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel noted the next scheduled election in the community is April 17, the date of the San Anselmo School District board vote. But he said he was unsure if the school board would welcome the bond issue on the ballot.

The council thus far has only designated large pieces of the community that might lend themselves to open space. A subgroup of the committee working on the city general plan is studying the areas for recommendation to the council.

A consensus seemed to have been struck last night that it would be unwise for the council to identify before the election specific properties under consideration for purchase, since this could increase land values.

Attilio Segale, a spectator at the meeting, questioned open space needs in view of longstanding hopes for a new firehouse and city hall. Mayor Warren R. Perry observed a "sense of immediacy" for open space, as well as noting contiining city efforts to obtain funds for a firehouse and city hall.

The council instructed representatives of bond counsel and municipal finance consulting firms to be present at the Jan. 9 meeting with bond figures. Figures were offered the council last night indicating an issue of $500,000 would require a tax rate boost of 10.8 cents the first year, based on current assessed valuation and a 5.5 per cent bond interest rate, while one of $1 million would carry an increase of 21.6 cents.

In related open space matters last night, the council granted the appeal of property owner John Deignan to costruct a home at 60 South Oak Avenue, and rejected the general plan committee's protest of planned home construction at 234 Oak Springs Drive.

Amid concern over the value of Deignan's property as access to potential open space areas, the council voted to allow the construction based on the owner's agreement to grant an easement across his property.

Another property owner, Kurt Kissman, was permitted to proceed with construction plans so long as the home doesn't mar views from below and given his promise he will not seek to build on nine other lots he owns in the area within at least six months.

The general plan committee had expressed concern over the effect of Kissman's total development on local traffic and population.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

SLEEPY HOLLOW — Heard Councilman Martin G. Blinder observe that Sleepy Hollow, which has said it wants to negotiate with the city for contracted police service, should annex itself to the city.

PROTEST — Protested to state officials campaign practices, particularly "distorted" advertising, in connection with the 22 state propositions on the November ballot.

TENNIS — Pending San Anselmo School District board ratification, voted to spend $8,000 toward half the cost of building two tennis courts at Red Hill School, although it was noted the cost could run higher.

BOARDS — Nominated Mary Sue Hulpke and Thomas R. Biesheuvel to replace Allen J. Creighton on the city planning commission, appointment pending possibly more nominations at the Jan. 9 meeting; nominated Sarah Nome to serve on the Civil Service Board of Review and Paul Brand to sit on the Marin Mosquito Abatement Board.

PURCHASES — Approved purchase of $915 in equipment for the fire department and of a $740 "silent-type" pavement breaker.

LIGHT — Approved an agreement with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to install lighting equipment at a parking lot at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Center Road for $4,645.

DRAKE — Voted to proceed with design work on intersection improvements at Sunny Hills and Shaw Drive intersections of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, but said the action didn't commit the city to the project. A discussion with area residents is planned.

TRANSIT — Supported Golden Gate Bridge District plans for acquiring abandoned portions of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way, though noting the land might be used for bicycle or foot paths if rapid transit is found unfeasible.

COLLEGE CONCERT GUEST

Violinist Mary Helen Weinstein of Terra Linda will be the soloist in "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra, Opus 82" by A. Glazounov in the College of Marin's Community Orchestra concert at 8 p.m. Sunday evening in the fine arts theater. She is concert mistress of the orchestra.

New Plan For Dollar Development

San Rafael attorney Thomas R. Schaal, faced with a solid wall of opposition to previous proposals to develop the Dollar estate on Mission Avenue, has again filed for permits to develop the historic grounds.

Schaal's latest proposal calls for a 72-unit apartment building set back 150 feet from Mission Avenue coupled with the relocation and restoration of the Dollar mansion elsewhere on the grounds.

An earlier proposal by Schaal — rejected by both the planning commission and the city council — called for a 48-unit apartment building backed by 32 townhouse units. This proposal would have required the razing of the mansion.

Schaal said yesterday his new plan would relocate the mansion to a point near the swimming pool on the estate grounds, for use by apartment tenants. The mansion would be nipped its easterly wing addition and restored in original condition, Schaal said.

Parking for the apartment building would be underground, he said, adding that six acres, rather than the five proposed in his previous proposal for the 11.1-acre parcel, would be left as open space.

Schaal applied Monday for a use permit under the city's building moratorium in order to proceed with his new plan. The San Rafael Planning commission will consider the permit application at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 9.

Schaal said he has a contract to buy the estate from the Dollar heirs for about $360,000.

New Leader For Western Opera Group

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Western Opera Theater yesterday named Allan Lewis, assistant conductor with San Francisco Opera for three seasons, as its music director.

Lewis is former music director and conductor for the American Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Conn., and assistant conductor with Dallas Civic Opera, Santa Fe Opera and Opera Company of Boston.

Company manager Edward Corn also announced the appointment of Calvin Simmons, 22, an assistant conductor last season with San Francisco Opera and Merola Opera Program, as WOT's associate music director.

Sarah Brumback, former executive director of the Western Kansas Community Services Consortium, was named as company administrator for WOT, San Francisco Opera's touring repertory company of young singers who perform in schools and theaters of western communities that already see opera.

Pesticides Not Used At Lagoon

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The state Division of Highways yesterday told Audubon Canyon Ranch directors that the state uses no weed-killing chemicals or pesticides near Bolinas Lagoon that might harm the lagoon's wildlife.

Directors of the ranch wrote Thomas R. Lammers, Division IV chief engineer on Nov. 30, urging that state crews use only mechanical means to get rid of weeds along the Shoreline Highway where it skirts the lagoon. The letter was signed by 260 persons.

Lammers's office stated yesterday that the only spray used near the lagoon is a substance called Simazine, which spokesmen termed "about as toxic as table salt." Road crews use it to keep seeds from sprouting; it is a soil sterilizer like salt rather than a green-plant herbicide, and is used only at the rate of five pounds per acre, after the weeds are chopped away from guardrails and signs, the state office said.

Model Legislature Picks Marin Student

A Marin County student has been elected Assembly Speaker pro-Tem for the 25th annual YMCA Model Legislature which will be held in Sacramento next February.

Lynn Cresalia of San Domenico School in Sleepy Hollow was the winner in a five-way race as teen-agers from YMCA delegations throughout the state held an assembly to elect legislative officers for the annual exercise in government.

Lisa Morrison of Marin Catholic High School is the only female among 10 candidates statewide, who will be vying for the governorship at another meeting Jan. 20-21 in San Luis Obispo.

Seventeen Marin County teenagers have been working for 11 weeks, studying parliamentary procedure and polishing legislation they will present during the actual Model Legislature, according to James K. Looney, director of the Marin YMCA.

They are Michelle Bushong, William Larkin, Lisa Morrison and Chris Morrison of Marin Catholic; Cindy Chapman and Carol Harris of Terra Linda High; Jeanne Coyne, Susy Mettner, Jack Schmitz, Jamie Sheldon, Robert Southmayd and Mary Urquhart of San Rafael High; Miss Cresalia and Elizabeth Yates of San Domenico; Garrett Lawrence of Tamalpais High; Devon Smith of Redwood High and Laurie Guerin of Katharine Branson School.

Stewardesses Striking Back

NEW YORK (UPI) —Angered at "idiots who are making money by slandering us," two organizations representing airline stewardesses launched a drive Tuesday against commercials, books and movies which they feel degrade them.

"We are grabbed, pinched, felt and even slapped," Mrs. Judi Lindsey of Stewardesses for Women's Rights told a news conference.

Mrs. Lindsey said airlines prevent stewardesses from objecting to the insulting treatment because they fear a passenger might become angry and fly another airline next time.

Air Board Chairman Ignores Subpoena

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A defiant chairman of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District yesterday ignored a subpoena to testify before a legislative committee investigating the district.

The committee vowed "appropriate steps to assure his presence" at a hearing next month.

San Mateo County Supervisor Robert B. St. Clair insisted in a statement issued from his county office that it was "absolutely imperative" that he remain there for the regular weekly meeting of his board of supervisors.

He said he was needed to make a quorum of the five-member board because one member was absent, though it takes only three to make a quorum.

St. Clair cited advice from his county's district attorney, Keith C. Sorenson, that the committee's subpoena probably was invalid because it had been sent to sheriff's deputies by teletype instead of being delivered in its original form.

The chairman of the Assembly Environmental Quality Committee, March K. Fong, D-Oakland, told newsmen after the all-day hearing in the Marin Civic Center that she will have St. Clair subpoenaed in person next time. "I may deliver it myself," said the 110-pound, five-foot, three-inch chairman.

St. Clair, a former tackle for the San Francisco 49ers, stands a foot and a half above Mrs. Fong and outweighs her by 155 pounds.

The disparity did not faze Assemblyman Richard D. Hayden, R-Sunnyvale. "If Mr. St. Clair wants to tackle Mrs. Fong," he said, "my bet is on Mrs. Fong."

She added that St. Clair "may have been a defensive tackle, but he's being offensively defensive."

St. Clair's statement criticized the committee for listening Monday to testimony by critics of the district. The same critics have appeared "more than 100 times" before the smog board, and do not represent the public, he said.

Assemblyman Hayden also tackled St. Clair, criticizing the supervisor for asserting last week that the Legislature has "no damn business" investigating the district, which it created in 1955. St. Clair argued that the Legislature itself was so "out of order" that it should tend to its own problems and leave the district alone.

District director William R. Jelavich followed with an attack on the district's top administrator, D. J. Callaghan, for running the staff with "iron-fisted control. You salute and kick your heels, and God help you in that organization if you don't toe the mark."

Jelavich, a Mountain View City councilman, called again for the firing of Callaghan, declaring he also was responsible for "unnecessary friction and distrust" between the district and public.

Callaghan assured the committee that "we've done everything humanly possible" to meet citizens complaints. Like St. Clair, he suggested that the few who complain to the district are not representative of the region's five million citizens.

Noting that the district also takes heat from industry, developers, labor and builders, Callaghan said "if we can be damned with equal impunity by conservationists and developers, we certainly must be doing something right."

He argued that the air in the district was "significantly cleaner as a result of the district's activity."

Defending Callaghan was director Gerald M. Poznanovich, a Santa Rosa city councilman. Noting the board's 14-2 vote last week to clear Callaghan of charges made by Jelavich, he said "there wasn't enough there to tell me that our administrative officer was doing a bad job, and I couldn't vote to remove him. Thirteen others agreed.

Poznanovich insisted that district directors give the job enough time to know what is going on, but could name only two of the 20 members on the board's advisory council. He has been on the board for a year and a half.

The committee also heard charges that Callaghan doctored board minutes so they no longer reflected boarF/actions. The charges were made by the board's secretary, Mabel Harder, a 13-year employee.

Callaghan rebutted that the changes he made were only for accuracy, and it was only "her opinion" that they distorted the board's actions.

Obliged to clear the planning commission chambers to make way for the county's aviation commission, the committee agreed to hold another hearing sometime next month in the district's San Francisco headquarters.

"Many questions remain to be asked and many issues remain to be probed," Mrs. Fong said. "And we still want to hear from Mr. St. Clair."

Arsenic Content High In Chickens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 465 million broiler-fryer chickens, nearly one out of every six grown this year, apparently went to market with illegal residues of organic arsenic in their livers, the Agriculture Department said Tuesday.

Officials said residues also were found in the livers of hogs in a scientific random hog-poultry sampling, but appeared in only 1.7 per cent of the pork samples in contrast to the 15.5 per cent violation rate found in chicken livers.

Spokesmen said the levels of the organic arsenic, which is mixed into hog and chicken feed to stimulate growth, were considered "not particularly dangerous" to human consumers, but nevertheless were illegal because they were above official "safety tolerance" levels of 1 part per million for chickens and 2 parts per million in hogs.

Grand Avenue Philatelic Supply Store To Open Early Next Year

Grand Stamp Center, a new philatelic supply shop, will open in San Rafael on Grand Avenue near Stan's For Sports about Jan. 15.

Proprietor will be Sidney Golditch, of New York, a retired businessman in the trucking field, who has pursued stamp collection as a hobby for 13 years. His son is Dr. Ira Golditch of San Rafael.

The Grand Stamp Center will open at 969 Grand Avenue, three doors from Stan's, where a camping supplies store was formerly located. Golditch plans to encourage stamp collection among youth, setting up school stamp clubs and working with community service groups. He will have used stamps, mint stamps and new issues from all over the world, and a complete line of supplies for all stamp collectors.

ACE LETTER SERVICE at 831 B Street in San Rafael plans to move into new quarters at 123 Alto Street, near the corner of Belvedere and Tiburon Streets in San Rafael next February.

Ace Letter Service, owned by Vernon and Renate Burns, will occupy a portion of a new building under construction behind the Marin Builders Exchange.

The company, established in 1949 by Alicia Jacobsen, was purchased by the Burnses seven years ago. It specializes in small job printing, letterheads, small brochures, and mailing of newsletters nd communications for organizations and individuals. Ace Letter uses high speed duplicators, magnetic tape selective typewriters and other modern equipment for quick and personalized service.

The new building, called the Baron Pacific Building, is owned by Baron Pacific Limited, whose partners are Burns, John Kuntz and Alfred Dalecio. It is the first structure in San Rafael to use the new Rolin-Truss developed by Etienne Rolin of San Anselmo.

TERRY LEHMAN (Mrs. Carl Lehman III) of San Rafael has been promoted to manager of the new Fairfax office of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, San Rafael.

President Harold S. Elberg announced that Mrs. Lehman will begin her new assignment on Jan. 2, the opening date of the new Fairfax office at 1 Bolinas Road.

Mrs. Lehman joined the staff of First Federal four years ago and was in charge of the loan servicing department.

W. E. GEDDES of Daly City opened a new company which manufactures wood products at Hamilton Industrial Park in Ignacio this week.

William Hoey Company arranged the lease of 2,880 square feet for Geddes at 92 Hamilton Drive. Geddes said he plans to make decorative items such as bookcases.

Geddes was engaged in the exhibit business, planning and putting on trade shows, for the past 20 years. He decided to retire from that business, move to Terra Linda, and open his wood products shop.

Hoey Company also arranged the lease of 890 square feet at 102-D Hamilton Drive, Hamilton Industrial Park, for Don Clark's auto and marine upholstery business. Clark operated from his home on Lynwood Drive in Novato until he moved to Hamilton Industrial Park last week.

A FASHION SHOW featuring apparel from the Ross Valley Shop in Larkspur will be held tomorrow from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. at Lark Creek Inn in Larkspur.

Laura Mouer, fashion show specialist from San Anselmo, will arrange the one-hour presentation of dresses, some casual pant suits, and nightgown and robe ensembles, all in Christmas and New Year's motif.

OIL PAINTINGS of Kay Cousineau and the acrylics and weavings of Henri Boussy are on display at the Redwood Bank in San Rafael during the month of December.

Mrs. Cousineau, a resident of Mill Valley, was the first illustrator for "Etc", the general semantics magazine. Boussy is an art teacher at the Tamalpais High School and chairman of its fine arts department.

VAN DER MAELEN Dry Cleaners on the Miracle Mile in San Rafael is an old establishment, but the old brick building is not quite as old as we thought it was.

Last month, we said the building had been there before the 1906 earthquake, but this has been refuted by Eugenie Watson Grady of San Rafael, who should know. Mrs. Grady, born in 1908, lived at 38 Alexander Avenue, the street behind the present Van Der Maelen building. As a child, she played in the fields where the Van Der Maelen building is now located.

"I know there was no building on that site," said Mrs. Grady. "In fact there were no commercial buildings from the San Rafael-San Anselmo town limits on Fourth Street (as it was known then) until Billy Shannon's saloon (where Triple S. Tire is now) at the start of the Miracle Mile . . . Van Der Maelen may have owned the land in 1905, but I know the building was built way after the first World War (1914-1918)."

That whole area was once a swampy lake where Mrs. Grady's father and grandfather used to shoot wild ducks.

Van Der Maelen Cleaners, now owned by Henry Catalaa of San Rafael, will go out of business at the end of this year. The brick building will be converted into a beer and wine store by the owners of Maison Gourmet Delicatessen of Greenbrae.

Chappel Is Head Of U.S. Leasing

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — United States Leasing International, Inc. has announced the election of Edgar H. Chappel as president of U.S. Leasing Realty Advisers Inc., replacing Louis W. Walker, who resigned.

Advisers, a USL subsidiary, is the management company for U.S. Leasing Real Estate Investors, a real estate investment trust.

Walker, who will remain on the REIT's board of Trustees, resigned "to pursue personal interests in real estate investment, development, consulting and brokerage."

Chappell will become a trustee effective Jan. 1.

Chappell, 49, has been associated with the trust since its inception and was a vice president of the management company.

An experienced real estate investment executive, he supervised construction lending activity during the development of San Francisco's Embarcadero Center for Wells Fargo Bank.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

Knowing How To Handle Loss On Investments Is Valuable

If you have investments and you have short-term losses, it would be a good idea to take them in 1972. If you have long-term losses, be careful that you don't take more losses than are necessary to offset capital gains because you can only claim long-term losses to the extent of capital gains plus $2 of long-term loss to offset $1 of ordinary income up to a maximum of $1,000 of ordinary income offset by $2,000 of long-term losses.

Excess losses can be carried over to subsequent years and remain long-term or short-term. Short-term losses are used first, then long-term.

If you have large capital gains, actually compute your tax and see which year will come out best. Don't forget, income averaging applies to capital gains this year and the maximum tax on capital gains over $50,000 is now 35 per cent.

The new tax law has many ways to hit wealthy taxpayers who have formerly escaped paying taxes or have paid very little taxes.

There is a new concept in the tax law called "preference income" and while this preference income is subject to an additional 10 per cent tax, it affects very few people. There are nine types of preference income:

1. Depletion.
2. Accelerated depreciation on real estate and amortization of on-the-job training and child care facilities.
3. Restricted qualified stock options.
4. Net long-term gains.
5. Amortization of certified pollution control facilities.
6. Amortization of railroad rolling stock.
7. Bad debts - financial institutions.
8. Accelerated depreciation on personal property subject to net lease.
9. Some foreign source tax preference income, but only to the extent that it reduces domestic income.

However, tax preference items have to total more than $30,000 before they are subject to tax because you have a $30,000 exclusion and also exclude your regular tax liability.

Your capital gains may be taxed at more than 25 per cent, but to do this you would have to have capital gains in excess of $50,000 and also you would have to have a taxable income in excess of $26,000 for a single person and $38,000 for a head of household and $52,000 for a married couple.

The reason is that only 50 per cent of your capital gains is taxed and unless your rate on all of your income exceeds 50 per cent, then the tax on your capital gain would not exceed 25 per cent of the amount of the gain.

Hence, if you have a large income and capital gains, you would use the alternative tax method to arrive at the tax on your capital gains of 25 per cent of the total amount of the gain, up to the first $50,000 of gain.

After that, the maximum tax would be 35 per cent on the excess.

Homeowners Can Expect Increased Value In '73

Owners of raw land in Marin will continue to take a beating in 1973, but those with used single-family homes can expect a price increase of at least 7 per cent.

These predictions are made in a newsletter to be mailed next week by Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors Inc.

The Real Estate Newsletter says raw acreage in Marin must have lost 15 to 20 per cent of its market value in the past 12 months because of conservation movements such as the open space drives, building moratoriums, and environmental impact studies. "We predict an increase in prices of used single-family homes of at least 7 per cent due to scarcity of supply," says the newsletter.

"Real estate taxes on improved properties are going to soar in 1973 . . . The assessor must acknowledge losses in value from adverse zoning, moratoriums, 60-acre minimums, water supply limitations and open space movements. To balance these decreased values, the assessed value of improved property will increase as demand forces the prices upward on the limited supply.

"For raw land holders in Marin, we see nothing but difficulties ahead in liquidating your properties if it is unzoned acreage."

The demand for office space and substantial amounts of condominium construction are the bright spots in Marin's development potential, says the newsletter. Its conclusion:

"Construction will be severely hampered because of the lack of new land being developed. Prices will soar, taxes will soar, and the less-than-affluent and the faint-of-heart will seek and find housing elsewhere than Marvelous Marin."

Realtor Offers To Play Santa For The Needy

Unneeded toys or clothing from Marin households will brighten Christmas for many Marin County children, with the help of Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors Inc.

The realty firm is volunteering to collect such toys and clothing for distribution to children who have few if any presents to open Christmas morning.

"Bring them to the lobby of our Greenbrae offce at 505 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and we will see that they are delivered to the proper county agencies who will distribute them," said R. Peter Attell, who heads the collection campaign for Allen & Co. "Used and like-new articles alike are welcome. Take a moment today and look to see if you have anything you would like to contribute to a child's merry Christmas."

Attell said contributors who are unable to bring the items to the realty office should call his office. "We will be gald to pick up any contribution you may have, no matter how small."

Acquisition

MONTEREY (BW) — AAR Corp., Elk Grove Village, Ill., has completed its acquisition of Del Monte Aviation Inc. here, according to an announcement by Ira A. Eichner, chairman and president of AAR.

Moderate Profit Taking Slices Range Of Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — Moderate profit taking swept prices lower in a broad range today on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was moderate.

Analysts said the profit taking was normal after the market's steep climb of recent weeks. The stock market also has glued its eyes on the Paris peace talks.

U.S. Freight was the most active issue, off ⅝ at 25 ⅜ on 229,300 shares, including a block trade of 221,000 shares at 25, off 1.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were lower in fairly active trading. Champion Home Builders was the most active Amex issue, off 1 at 13 ⅞ on 67,300 shares.

Automatic Check Plan Being Eyed

Each month, Californians write about 50 million routine checks for fixed payments on cars, mortgages, loans, rents, insurance and other recurring bills.

Why can't these recurring, fixed payments be made automatically by banks to save customer's time and effort and reduce the paperwork that threatens to gum up the banking system?

That is exactly what is being done by California banks, working with the Federal Reserve System. They have launched what is called the Automatic Payments and Deposits, a voluntary service enabling bank customers to authorize deposits to and withdrawals from their accounts automatically without using checks.

Explanation of the new system came from Joseph Barish of Tiburon, an executive with Hill and Knowlton Inc. public relations firm in San Francisco. Barish explained that the concept of automatic payments and deposits is not new. But until now, each of these preauthorized payment services was limited to transactions within a single bank. Under the new program, these paperless transactions are possible among various banks.

To provide central clearing facilities for paperless entries, the Federal Reserve Bank in San Francisco, with its computer equipment, has agreed to operate as an automatied clearing house.

The employer must agree to participate before any employee can join the program. And even if the employer participates, each employee has the option of joining or not. Furthermore, an employee may join and then get out if he does not like the system.

If an employee decides to join, this is how it would work:

Each payday, the employer sends deposit information on the participating employees to the originating (employer's) bank. The information is cleared through the Automated Clearing House, and deposits are made in the proper employee accounts. Participating employees no longer need to stand in line to deposit. Employees will not get their paychecks but will get the usual statement of earnings, indicating gross pay, deductions, and net amount deposited.

Periodic payments like insurance, car and house payments will then be handled automatically.

Employees will continue to write checks as before on nonrecurring payments and will get monthly statements showing both checks and automatic payments charged during the month.

In case of error in payments, provisions are made to cancel the payment, or if the payment is already made, to credit the account for the amount in question and return the entry to the billing firm.

Almost all banks in the state are participating in the statewide system. Since the Automated Clearing Houses serve only the state of California, the program is available only to customers of California banks at present.

Checks Larger For Yule Clubs

A total of $24,041,196 will be distributed to more than 105,596 Christmas Club customers, in California, Wells Fargo Bank announced today.

The average Christmas Club check will be about $228 up from $217 a year ago.

In the North Bay area, the Bank will mail a total of $793,411 to some 3,173 customers. The average amount will be $250.

Last year a total of $23,129,344 in checks was sent to 106,451 California residents.

Record Sales

New York (UPI) — This year will see a record number of automobile tires sold in the United States, reports Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. Americans will spend $4.9 billion to buy 148 million new replacement auto tires.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Sale Suggested Of Stock Shares

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I paid 36½ for Genesco, Inc. (NYSE) in 1964 and it has dropped so much! Now the dividend has been cut. I am a senior citizen and can ill afford the loss. Any advice would be greatly appreciated. — B.H.

A. You are correct in noting that Genesco shares have suffered a drop in price. You have neglected, however, to adjust your per share cost for the three-for-two split paid in August, 1966. This adjustment would reduce your cost to 24½ per share. While you still have a paper loss the figures are not quite as alarming.

In the first quarter of the current fiscal year, margins remainedunder pressure. Earnings dropped 32 per cent to 44 cents a share in the quarter ended Oct. 31 while sales rose 7 per cent. Directors finally reduced the dividend by more than 50 per cent with the October payment. In view of the narrow dividend coverage from 1970 forward, this move was no surprise. A shareholder has filed a suit against the company charging it with overstatement of net worth. Recently installed cost controls may not be immediately apparent, thus recovery is apt to be a long process. Sale is suggested.

Q. About a year ago I purchased 1,000 shares of Lord Abbett bond debenture fund. On this I receive $200 quarterly. I am a widow and would like to know if the money would be better placed in government bonds for greater safety and income? — M.H.

A. Although greater safety could be achieved in government securities, you would certainly sacrifice some income in such an exchange. At current asset value the Lord Abbett bond debenture fund yields 7 per cent versus a maximum of 6.5 per cent on a U.S. Treasury bond. Certainly a good measure of security is achieved through the diversity of the more than 100 different debt issues held in your fund's portfolio. While some of these individual securities are speculative, the risk is diffused in the $100 million plus portfolio. Hold.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
34 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1972 EDITORIAL PAGE

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Schools Should Be 'Freeze-Proof' Too

Marin's unusual freezing spell has shown up some of the shortcomings of our buildings.

Frozen water pipes have suddenly become a commonplace, with fire departments and both water districts in the county deluged with calls about them.

To the many Marinites who have come here from parts of the country where long, hard freezes are expected every winter, the idea of water pipes freezing at temperatures of 20 or 25 degrees seems almost fantastic.

THE REASON, of course, is that no care is taken to protect pipes against cold when buildings are erected here.

Many of Marin's older two-story homes have water pipes on the outside, exposed to the elements. In newer homes, pipes are within the walls, but often a portion between ground and floor is completely unprotected from the weather.

Water pipes leading in from mains often are buried only a few inches, or in some instances not at all. The same applies to sewer pipes leading out from houses.

With this kind of construction, water that stands in a pipe will freeze in a relatively short time at 20 to 25 degree temperatures.

People buy houses in Marin which have exposed water pipes without giving it a thought. Only a really unusual cold spell, such as that which began last week, causes them to realize that such things as burying or insulating water pipes are required methods of construction in places with a normally less salubrious climate.

APPARENTLY no more thought of freezing hazards is taken in planning school buildings. Pipes burst in five schools in the San Anselmo School District last week end, causing extensive damage.

By law, California school buildings must be "earthquake resistant." We are constantly reminded of the hazards of quakes. Of course, when one hits the damage may be tremendous, and any type of construction that will lessen it should be encouraged, especially for school buildings.

The damage from freezing is comparatively small. But the likelihood is greater.

The last quake that did much damage in Marin County was over 66 years ago. The last big freeze to compare with this month's, according to old timers with long memories, was less than 30 years ago.

IT WOULD seem good sense for school construction to include protection of water pipes — which is not costly —along with protection against earthquakes.

For that matter, it might pay home buyers to see whether pipes are protected before signing mortgage contracts. Damage from a broken water pipe, while not comparable to that from a severe earth tremor, can be expensive to repair.

'Tax Reform' Bill Fails To Close Those Loopholes

By RUS WALTON

SB 90, the Moretti-Reagan tax reform bill, has several major failings. One of them is that it did nothing to close some major tax loopholes.

Thus, while the state's tax burden will be increased for middle income families, some individuals and companies will continued to enjoy tax subsidies, and preferential tax treatment.

It is estimated that if all the existing "loopholes" were closed, the additional tax revenue would mount to $300 million a year. Time and time again, efforts have been made to do just that. But the loopholes are still there. And you are paying the bill.

Some of these came as a result of powerful political pressure. Others evolved as an attempt to attract industry and stimulate the economy. All are reminders of what can happen when taxes cease to be neutral and are used for favoritism or social reform.

ONE MAJOR loophole is the "principal office deduction" for insurance companies. The subsidy was originally granted in 1910 to attract insurance companies to California. It was modified in 1942 so that it applies only to the "principal office property."

This law permits an insurance company to deduct from its state taxes those local property taxes paid on its main office building.

An insurance company that has its national headquarters in California may deduct all of that property tax, regardless of how much of the home office building it uses, or how much it rents out.

An insurance company that has its national headquarters in another state (or country) may deduct local property taxes, based on the proportion of its local office building it occupies —plus an extra 25 per cent for growth factor.

ANOTHER TAX subsidy is the "bad debt allowance" provided for banks and savings and loan institutions. These organizations are permitted to deduct from their gross taxable incomes as "bad debt reserve."

Under the present law, a bank can multiply its actual bad debt losses anywhere from three to five times, and average them over a six-year period.

In 1969, for example, banks and savings and loans lost $64.4 million in bad debts. But, they were allowed to deduct $186 million from their gross taxable incomes.

The Franchise Tax Board estimated that in 1971 this loophole cost the citizens some $20 million in lost tax revenue.

ANOTHER LITTLE loophole is available to folks in the 60 per cent and over tax bracket. (The fact that government can confiscate 60 per cent of a man's income creates a strong compulsion to seek loopholes.) This is known as generating tax benefits in excess of investment; it means there is a way to invest your money so that you save more in taxes than you invested in the first place.

Briefly, it can work like this:

You invest $10,000 in a ranch, as a limited partner. The man who manages the ranch borrows $30,000 on the strength of your $10,000 investment. Since it is a limited partnership, you are not directly liable for the $30,000 loan. But your "tax basis" on the deal is now $40,000.

Say the ranch loses $20,000 in the first few months, due to prepayment of certain bills. You can take a tax deduction of $20,000. In the 60 per cent bracket, that is a tax saving of $12,000 — $2,000 more than your investment.

Later you can sell the cattle and your profit will be taxed at 25 per cent —as capital gains.

BUT, IF YOU are a $15,000-a-year wage-earner that is not for you. You pays your taxes and takes your lumps.

There is a crying need to overhaul the state's tax structure. To make it fair, and neutral, and honest.

SB 90 made no attempt to clean up the tax mess. It just added taxes on top of taxes and left the loopholes where they are.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

American Bombing Is America's Responsibility

In today's editorial you rid the United States of America of all responsibility of any destruction caused by American bombs, dropped from American planes, built by American people, and paid for by American people. These bombs were transported to Vietnam for the purpose of continuing a war that was begun by France in trying to recapture a colony which they had (in 1945) recognized as an independent nation.

However, you have not made it clear in what way all of our sacrifices could possibly save "President" (?) Thieu's country (Vietnam) from invasion by the Vietnamese people.

Women's Center Works For Women, Not County

Your coverage of the Mill Valley City Council meeting, and, in particular, of the agenda item pertaining to our mayor, Jean Barnard, was fine.

I would, however, like to correct two errors in the article. First, the representative from the Women's Center was Charlotte Krause — not Krauss, as it appeared in the paper.

Secondly, the Women's Center is formally titled the Marin Women's Center. We are not the women's center for Marin County. We are for Marin County only in the sense that we are for the women of the county. For too many years women have brought together their energies to work for causes other than their own — the Marin Women's Center is a group of Marin women working for women.

San Rafael Receives Third-Rate Bus Service

Is San Rafael a "third rate" community? It appears to be from a commuter's viewpoint. Since the Golden Gate Bridge District took over our transportation almost a year ago, the commuter bus service between San Rafael and San Francisco has continually become less acceptable.

Let us make a comparison:

Bus fare Central Marin-San Francisco went up (remember, S.R.-S.F. $13.55 to $15 for 20 rides). At the same time Novato-San Francisco fares were reduced. Do you realize you can commute from Novato to S.F. for the same fare as Corte Madera to S.F. (there is a real difference on a per-mile basis)?

. . . Commuters from all Northern Marin ride on very nice, comfortable, new air-conditioned buses run on "express" scheduled (from Terra Linda to the county line). San Rafael commuters wait in line (at Fourth and Hetherton I have seen from 50 to 125 people waiting in line for 20 minutes or more), for what? An "old dog" (400 number series), an "East Bay dog" (500 series), or a "school bus" (600 series) if they are lucky. These types come equipped with a green driver who asks the passengers the route, or he knows the route and stops at every bus pad, even if the bus is full and no passengers are waiting.

. . . Mr. White told me the reason for not using the "dogs" in Northern Marin and Sonoma is "economy." His explanation seems reasonable. However, if it is more economical to run the "dogs" on San Rafael schedules, why does the fare remain the same as on the longer runs? . . . All the San Rafael commuters see of the new "express" types are as they speed down the overpass, above our "third rate city," and disappear in the smoggy distance.

'Sudden Conversion' For Council Candidates?

Isn't it interesting that open space, intelligent planning, and citizen participation in government are suddenly such vital issues with the candidates who have declared for the vacant San Rafael City Council seat? The eight announced hopefuls for appointment and/or election to the council have spoken almost as a single voice in assuring us that these issues are uppermost in their minds. And these words of concern about open space and sound planning have come tumbling off some rather unlikely tongues.

Granted, a few of the candidates — John Starkweather, Jack Nixon, Al Boro, perhaps — had demonstrated a sincere concern for conservation and planning long before they announced for the council seat. But if the others had used their votes more wisely as appointed commissioners, or had been more involved in these causes as private citizens, perhaps planning and open space would not be such crisis issues today.

I suppose we can only hope that if a man is politically astute enough to realize he must espouse these issues to have any chance of election, then he'll be responsible and honest enough to honor the will of the people while he's serving on the council.

$1 Gasoline By 1980 Forecast By Authority

Gasoline will cost $1 a gallon by 1980 because of diminishing domestic reserves of petroleum, U.S. Undersecretary of Transportation James Beggs told a transportation symposium in San Francisco recently . . .

An oil man, among a small group who gathered about Mr. Beggs after the symposium, protested that the $1 a gallon figure was scare talk which did not take into account inflation, the production possible from domestic oil shales, or foreign oil imports.

Mr. Beggs replied that oil could be extracted from domestic shales only if formidable environmental problems could be overcome. Foreign nations might well raise their prices on oil exports as our domestic production fell, or their own people's needs increased. His economist advisers, he said, felt the $1 per gallon price by 1980 was a "lead pipe cinch" because of the supply-demand relationship.

Among his other comments: as an engineer, he regarded transit as the most efficient use of an increasingly scarce resource. As for the plight of our cities today, no engineer in his right mind, if asked to design a transportation system for present needs, would ever come up with what we now have.

I hope our state and local governments will heed these revolutionary warnings from a high U.S. official in an administration that can hardly be characterized as revolutionary . . .

For this year alone, Marin residents are spending about $150 million to operate their cars and trucks on the highway system. (125,000 registered vehicles x 12,000 miles per year x 10 cents per mile.) This is a direct measure of consumption of natural resources.

By contrast, Golden Gate Transit is estimated to cost about $7 million to operate in 1972, and much of this figure includes labor costs.

First Amendment Gets All Mixed Up With Christmas

WASHINGTON — 'Tis the season to be jolly, and also contentious.

Here in the midst of rain that should be snow, and elbowing shopping rush and the great Nixon cabinet shell game, the First Amendment to the Constitution is getting a going-over from more directions at once than at any time I can remember.

The Supreme Court tells the bottomless barmaids and orgy actors in California that freedom of their particular form of expression is limited to places where you cannot buy a drink. In Pennsylvania and elsewhere, people are balancing off freedom of "speech" vs. freedom of press on the subject of newspaper ads for X-rated movies.

You may have thought the companion issue of religious freedom, specifically church-state separation as it applies to the public schools, was clearly covered in the First Amendment and reinforced by the failure of the school-prayer amendment in Congress. But religious freedom to one man, or one faith, is religious imprisonment to another. The broad subject will not lie still.

DESPITE RECENT court rulings, the movement continues to provide federal or state aid to parochial schools by doing it one way instead of another. And now, in the spirit of the season, the celebrators in Prince George's County, Md., just outside your national capital, are joined in brotherly dissent over whether or not to sing Christmas carols in their public schools.

The Superintendent, Carl Hassel, says no. At least he seems to, and a lot of parents around his neighborhood seem to think he does. Exactly what he said to provoke the controversy — I am sure he hoped to settle it instead — is open to interpretation. The operative part of his memo to Prince George's principals reads like this:

"Public schools must show no preference for one religion over another, and must refrain from the specific promotion of any religion or all religions. Consequently, no religious celebrations as such may be held as part of any public school program. Discretion should be exercised in the planning of musical programs during the school day which may coincide with any period of specific religious celebration. It should be emphasized that this guideline clearly permits the singing of festive songs, as may be a part of a winter or spring festival."

UNLIKE AID to parochial schools, this is a question that would seem to unite Catholics and Protestants on one side and Jewish parents on the other. If, that is, people chose sides up strictly on the basis of their own religion. Such is only roughly true.

For instance, one recent symposium of letters to the editor published by the Washington Post covered both sides of the Prince George's affair. All the letters used (five of them) happened to be from Jews, and their feelings were stated just as eloquently, even emotionally, on one side as on the other.

One said the ruling "represents a very real attempt to eliminate the unfairness that has heretofore existed in the public school system by imposing the religious music activities of one faith on those of all faiths . . . Chanukah is not our Christmas, nor does it have anything to do with Christmas . . ."

Another: "I doubt that the Christian community has even an elementary awareness of the devastating effect these observances can have on non-Christians, particularly the young."

But another: "To imagine that this land of freedom . . . would suddenly condemn something beautiful because it is based on religion is beyond my comprehension. Since when has religion become a dirty word to be carefully kept away from our young children's ears . . .?"

IF THE SCHOOLS proceed in this direction, she says, they may have to eliminate also the study of Egyptian culture, Michelangelo, Da Vinci and Bach.

Another, perhaps most sensibly, suggests singing Jewish songs (for example, "Rock of Ages") and Mohammedan or Buddhist, too, if available. "There is a definite educational value in making children aware of the nature of the world's great religions . . . These are times to accentuate unifying rather than divisive forces."

Meanwhile, however, Superintendent Hassel is sticking to his memo. And if I interpret it correctly, it means you can go to your church and sing your songs, and you can go to your synagogue and sing yours, and afterwards, both of you come over to my place for eggnog and we'll sing "Jingle Bells."

Soviet Union Seeks To Have World Censor News For It

WASHINGTON — What on earth are the Soviet Union and its allies up to, trying to trap the whole world into banning the free flow of news via satellite television?

An earlier column set out the headway (an initial U.N. vote of 102 to 1) which this hideous enterprise is making.

What are the Russians really after in pressing this planetary black-out-at-will of the satellite TV news?

WE DON'T HAVE to look very far to find the answer.

Before worldwide satellite television news broadcasting gets well established and becomes so appealing to everybody everywhere, the Soviet sponsors of this evil treaty — and others like-minded — want to get the rest of the world to do their censoring for them.

That's it — and nothing else — and when it emerges without its sheep's clothing perhaps some governments will wake up and say no.

The United Nations didn't exist when radio news began to circle the globe and there was no easy forum before which Moscow could plead against the free flow of news.

Thus the Russians had to do their own censoring and erect their own blackout whenever they didn't want their people to hear unapproved news. They had to do their own jamming.

But now, under the treaty which so many governments find so alluring, the Soviet Union and other totalitarians want others to do their censoring for them.

UNDER THE TERMS of the proposed treaty, which is rolling merrily along, all the censorship-prone nations would have to do is raise a hand and say: "Stop the news" — and it would have to be stopped.

At the crook of the censor's finger anywhere around the planet, the news-bearing satellite would have to go silent. It wouldn't take many well-placed nations to keep it silent all the time.

Is that what so many countries which voted to draft this treaty really want?

Have these governments thought through whether they can tear up the U.N. Declaration of Human Rights with one hand and then expect to invoke it successfully with the other?

This U.N. provision affirms that all people have the right to "receive and impart information and ideas by any media regardless of frontiers."

The proposed treaty erases this right.

IN POINTING OUT that his country has ample devices to blockade both radio and satellite TV news, the Soviet spokesman at the U.N. avowed that Moscow is only trying to look out for the welfare of other nations.

The news from East Germany sheds light on why the Russians want to strengthen the censorship in other like-minded regimes even if its own censorship seems stout enough.

Recently the East German government signed a treaty making it easier for West Germans to visit briefly with their relatives in East Germany. But even this slight amount of intercommunication causes trembling. Therefore the East German regime has just issued an edict that leading Communist Party members and other East Germans with official functions (numbering about two million) must not receive visits from their West German relatives.

The New York Times reports that the Communist leaders appeared deeeply worried because too many East Germans were beginning to think too favorably about life in West Germany.

It is natural for Communist governments to resist the free flow of ideas and information, but why should other nations do their censoring for them?

New Property Ownership Rule: You Pay For It, Can't Use It

Today, dear readers, a little cautionary tale.

Once upon a time there was an Air Force sergeant who was stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base and fell in love with Marin County. "Eureka!" he cried, gazing at the Pacific Ocean from the pastoral loveliness of Bolinas.

It was, he decided, just the place for his family's home when he retired from the Air Force. So he made a down payment on an acre of land at Bolinas, and while he was stationed overseas he thought long and lovingly about the house he would some day build there.

For six years he made monthly payments on his little piece of Bolinas until it was all his.

He was mildly surprised when the Marin County assessor's office annually informed him that its value had skyrocketed. The increase in assessed valuation, said the long-distance letters, meant he'd have to pay much higher taxes.

So our sergeant paid more and more taxes on his future homesite in Bolinas; not complaining about supporting the schools in West Marin and the splendor of the Civic Center and the College of Marin and so forth, because that is the American Way . . . Property Begets Responsibility.

He understood that, and was willing to pay for it.

WHEN IT CAME near time to return to America, he learned that he might have to wait awhile to build on his little piece of the country. The water district had slapped a moratorium on all new water hookups in Bolinas, he learned.

He couldn't quite understand this, because water district directors don't have planning authority. He began to wonder if things were changing.

And when he came back to Marin County, clutching the plans for his dream house in his hot, retired hands, he found he certainly couldn't build on the land. No water, hence no building.

So, sighing, he put money down on a house elsewhere in Marin and thought he'd sell his land in Bolinas to augment his puny G.I. Bill money.

And that's when our sergeant learned that Property Still Begets Responsibility — WITH NO BENEFITS.

"You can't give away land in West Marin," warned the realty men, "unless, of course, you're a major land holder — then you can sell it as a nature preserve at a vast profit."

BEFORE HE COULD put their warnings to the test, the people of California passed a coastal initiative, effectively putting his ocean view lot into the icebox.

"The right to own private property is no longer inalienable" pontificated the pundits, secure in their private homes.

"Keep West Marin for the birds and the visitors," said the ecologists, secure in their homes in East Marin.

"We don't want anyone else building houses in our lovely West Marin," cried all the people who'd already built their houses in lovely West Marin. Even some of the people who have houses in West Marin they only inhabit a few weeks a year joined in the keep-'em-out cries.

"Land speculators get what they deserve!" cried the opponents of all development anywhere — crying from their already constructed homes.

"Absentee landlord!" scoffed advocates of keeping Marin in a tight Eastern Urban Corridor.

"Keep paying your taxes," warned the county assessor's office.

ALL OUR BEWILDERED sergeant knows is that he owns a pleasant piece of land overlooking the ocean. It's on a paved road, with houses all around, and he is, by community will, forced to keep it as a kind of Involuntary Open Space.

Unfortunately, he's paid for and is continuing to pay for, his very own Open Space.

To him it seems remarkably like confiscation without compensation. And he has many companions in his plight.

Desalting

Since over 97 per cent of the Earth's water is found either in the ocean or in other salt-water seas or lakes, scientists have been trying to produce freshwater from these saline sources. One desalting process involves the use of nuclear energy. Presently, about 750 desalting plants worldwide produce over 300 million gallons of freshwater daily for municipal and industrial uses. The cost of this water is still high, but technological improvements within the next 5 years are expected to drastically reduce the expense of the desalting process.

Teachers In Woodland Become Own Performance Contractors

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Teachers in a Woodland, Yolo County, elementary school have met the demand for school accountability head-on. They have incorporated themselves to enter into a performance contract with Woodland Unified School District.

The Woodland agreement is one of five three-year performance contracts awarded this month under terms of last year's Assembly Bill 1482 by Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Anaheim, which guaranteed that this approach to school accountability will get a trial in California. All will start with the new year 1973.

Cory's bill provided for annual state subsidy grants for performance contracts in one district in each of five categories, to be chosen by the state superintendent of public instruction.

SELECTED AMONG districts in urban areas with higher than average unemployment was Pittsburg Unified School District in Contra Costa County, which will receive a $46,909 grant; among suburban areas, Ontario-Montclair Elementary School District in San Bernardino County, to receive $48,835; among the 20 largest districts in enrollment, Oakland Unified, to receive $70,000; among districts with fewer than 5,000 pupils, Southern Kern Unified in the Mojave Desert, to receive $40,000.

Woodland was chosen among districts in rural agricultural areas, and has been awarded a $44,000 grant.

But only in Woodland are the school teachers the contractors.

TEACHERS AT Woodland's Whitehead Elementary School have bound themselves to: (1) increase reading levels at least 25 per cent beyond the normal month-by-month gains; (2) show 80 per cent overall scores on tests given all pupils by Stanford University consultants; (3) prove that the pupils involved have at least as good attitudes toward school, themselves, and reading as pupils in other schools of the district.

The contract covers first through sixth grades, for reading instruction only.

According to David E. Reeves, Woodland Superintendent, "The basic purpose. . . .is to demonstrate that professional teachers, given the same kind of resources available to private contractors, will outperform their competitors."

TO PUT the contract into operation, the district — by agreement with the Whitehead teachers — diverted $12,500 from its budget to supplement the $44,000 state grant. More than half the money will be used for additional teaching equipment and materials. The rest will go to pay a contract supervisor from Educational Turnkey Systems of Menlo Park, a director of the program (who is Jess Camacho, one of the Whitehead teachers), Stanford University test consultants, and teacher aides.

A reserve of $9,000 is provided to reward the teaching staff if the goals are met each year. But, under terms of the contract, this money will be plowed back into the district. The teachers won't get additional pay for proving they can do the job.

Reeves, a business administrator who took over the Woodland superintendency this year, claims this is the first time in the United States that the entire teaching staff of a school has collectively guaranteed performance of pupils.

THE OTHER FOUR performance contracts are going to companies already in this type of business.

Pittsburg Unified District has contracted with Behavioral Research Laboratories of Palo Alto to teach reading and mathematics in first through sixth grades of Village Elementary School.

Ontario-Montclair has contracted with Appleton-Century-Croft to teach reading and math in first through sixth grades of Margarita Elementary School.

Oakland will contract out the teaching of reading at Santa Fe Elementary School and mathematics at Horace Mann Elementary School. The contract has not yet been signed.

Southern Kern has contracted with American Learning Corp. to teach all subjects in fifth and sixth grades at Tropico School.

The teachers at Whitehead School in Woodland are out to prove that they can out-perform all the outside contractors, according to Superintendent Reeves.

WHAT HAVE YOU DONE FOR YOUR HOME LATELY?
GIVE YOUR HOME A PRESENT . . .
Paint a Room For Christmas

In these days of "Do It Yourself" home improvements, the easiest and most inexpensive way of achieving a dramatic effect is the painting of interior rooms. New latex base paints are quick drying, odorless, and any cleanup can be done with water. Two hours including preparation and cleanup will be all that is required to paint most rooms.

Some hints on making this task even easier are:

1. Remove door and cabinet hardware, cover plates for electrical switches and outlets, and the base of ceiling fixtures. If this presents any difficulty, the edges can be covered with masking tape.
2. Always start and end in a corner and paint an entire wall or the ceiling at one time. Then, if something important like a football game interrupts this short task, not even the most discerning eye can tell. If more than one gallon is used, bucket the paint in a larger container and mix.
3. Inexpensive plastic tarps cover carpets and furniture. New shields with handles make painting trim easier.
4. Extension handles on rollers allow painting walls and ceiling from the floor. Once an area is covered, do not re-roll it unnecessarily. This is where some problems with former paint jobs occur.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Trouble is the business which brought today's birthday celebrities to fame, whether in drama to be staged or real life problems to be solved by warriors and kings.

1. LEE REMICK, 37 today, is that blue-eyed blonde who got so mixed up with Jack Lemmon in the film, "Days of Wine and Roses." But in real life she is happily married, living in England with husband Kip Gowans, a film director. Lee regularly turns down Hollywood offers because she prefers to stay home taking care of her two children. Right?

2. JIMMY DOOLITTLE, flying hero of World War II, is 76 today. This brave Air Corps colonel led a small force of American bombers launched from an aircraft carrier in a raid on Tokyo, surprising the Japanese who had hit Pearl Harbor in a sneak attack only five months earlier. Was he rescued by the U.S. Navy, the Russians, or the Chinese after his plane crashed?

3. JOHN COWLES, editor and publisher, was born Dec. 14, 1898, in Algona, Iowa. He entered newspaper work in 1920, rising to the board chairmanship of several successful publications, including the Minneapolis "Star-Tribune" and the Des Moines "Register-Tribune." Was he only a private in the Army in World War I? Yes? No?

4. HENRY IV, King of France (1553-1610), spent most of his lifetime taking this side and that in the religious wars which plagued his country. Taught by his mother to follow Protestantism, he became involved in the massacre of St. Bartholomew's day after he married the sister of King Charles and had to espouse Catholicism to save his life. Then he fled to Gascony, where he again joined the Protestants. But in wars that followed he only was able to secure peace and the throne by once again claiming to be Catholic. Is that right?

ANSWERS: 1 - Right; 2 - Chinese; 3 - Yes; 4 - Right.

Painting Display

Oil paintings by artist Fran McKinney of San Rafael will be on display in the first floor of Marin General Hospital for six weeks beginning Friday.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A New Twist: Don't Be Right, But Be Successful

An American statesman once said he would rather be right than be President, but he was not a practical bridge player so we don't have to accept his standard of conduct. Today's hand offered just such a choice to one of the contestants in the Women's Pair Championship in the recent national bridge tournament in Lancaster, Pa. Would you have made her choice?

BIDDING PUSHY

If you consider South's bidding very pushy, I agree with you. Still, more than half of the finalists in the Women's Pairs got to four hearts. Perhaps this proves only that tournament champions tend to overbid.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the queen. South ruffed the second club and led a low heart on which West played the nine. And now declarer had to decide whether to take a finesse with dummy's queen of hearts or whether to put up dummy's ace of hearts as a safety play.

The safety play wins if East has the singleton king of hearts or, if East has K-J or K-10 combined with the ability to give or receive a ruffing trick.

PRACTICAL PLAYER

Gratian Goldstein of Coral Gables, Fla., winner of six national championships, is a practical bridge player, and she wanted to be right. Her knowledge of bridge mathematics told her that the safety play was slightly safer than the finesse. Hence she played dummy's ace of hearts.

ALAS FOR MATH

Alas for mathematics. When Mrs. Goldstein got to her hand with a spade to lead another heart, West took the king of hearts and led his singleton diamond. East won with the ace and led another diamond, whereupon West's ruff defeated the contract. The safety play was actually so unsafe that it cost Mrs. Goldstein the championship.

Ah, well. When the millennium arrives, the "right" play will always work!

A Thief's Treasure Found In Seabed

BARRY, Wales (AP) — Divers taking part in a competition came across an unexpected prize off the Glamorganshire coast — a thief's treasure.

Family heirlooms, antique silver and jewelry worth more than 5,000 pounds were recovered from the seabed. Police later traced the owner who had been robbed three weeks before.

If you've ever seen a newer used car than this one-owner Chev. Caprice 2-Dr. hardtop — then we'll stand on our head at high noon in the middle of 101.

Local couple just traded on a new Buick. There isn't one spot of wear inside or out on this beautiful silver grey Caprice. The matching black interior looks better than the average living room sofa and the car is loaded with extras like factory air conditioning, power steering, power brakes, vinyl top, automatic, radio, heater, V-8 engine and loads of other Caprice extras. 242 ENQ.

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 13, the 348th day of 1972 with 18 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Mars. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius.

Famed American clergyman Phillips Brooks was born Dec. 13, 1835.

On this day in history:

In 1642, New Zealand was discovered and named by Abel Tasman, Dutch navigator.

In 1862, Union troops commanded by Gen. Ambrose Burnside were severely defeated by Confederate forces on Marye's Heights outside Fredericksburg, Va.

In 1927, Yehudi Menuhin, a 10-year-old child violinist later to become famous, made his New York debut in a concert at Carnegie Hall.

In 1971, President Nixon met with French President Georges Pompidou in the Azores for an economic conference.

A thought for the day: American historian Henry Brooks Adams said, "All experience is an arch, to build upon."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, clean air.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, light air pollution.

* Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

ORDINANCE NO. 1080

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL AMENDING TITLE 14, ZONING OF THE SAN RAFAEL MUNICIPAL CODE BY DELETING CERTAIN PARAGRAPHS UNDER SUBSECTIONS 14.30.020(a) AND 14.32.020(b) WHICH PARAGRAPHS WERE RENDERED INCORRECT AND SUPERFLUOUS WHEN CHAPTER 14.11 WAS ADDED TO THE ZONING ORDINANCE

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

DIVISION 1: Title 14 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended by amending subsection 14.30.020(a) to read as follows:

(a) Multiple family dwellings. If the lot or parcel of land is of a size and shape which would permit subdivision in compliance with the Subdivision Ordinance of the City of San Rafael, all the requirements of that ordinance concerning dedication and improvement shall be met.

DIVISION 2: TITLE 14 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended by amending subsection 14.32.020(b) to read as follows:

(b) Multiple family dwellings, apartment houses.

If the lot or parcel of land is of a size and shape which would permit subdivision in compliance with Title 15 of this Code (Subdivisions), all the requirements of that Title concerning dedication and improvements shall be met.

There shall be no more than one main building on each lot or parcel unless the Planning Commission determines that the lot or parcel cannot be subdivided.

DIVISION 3: This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

No. 1797 Dec. 13, 1972

ORDINANCE NO. 1082

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL AMENDING TITLE 14, ZONING, OF THE SAN RAFAEL MUNICIPAL CODE BY ADDING CERTAIN DEFINITIONS TO CHAPTER 14.08 AND AMENDING CHAPTER 14.75 AS THAT CHAPTER RELATES TO CERTAIN USES AND MAKING CERTAIN DELETIONS.

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

DIVISION 1: Chapter 14.08 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended by adding the following definitions to the listed sections:

14.08.130L LOT: Is a specific area of land, the boundaries of which have been established according to the legal requirements in effect at the time the lot was created.

14.08.170P PARCEL: Is a specific area of land or an air space, shown as a separately taxable single unit on the County Assessor's Parcel Map. Such parcels may or may not qualify as lots or sites.

14.08.200S SITE: Is a parcel or parcels used as a unit for the development of a project which may consist of one or more buildings. A site may consist of one or more adjoining lots.

SMALL LOT: Is a lot in a given zone which was created prior to May 3, 1951, or subsequent to that date in conformance with subdivision requirements in effect at the time of its creation and which is smaller in width and/or area than minimum requirements now legally allowable for subdivision in the given zone.

SPATIAL REQUIREMENTS: Are any or all requirements in a particular zoning district relating to lot width, lot area, setbacks, land coverage, or building height.

DIVISION 2: Chapter 14.75 is hereby amended by adding thereto the following sections and subsections.

14.75.070 MERGING OF LOTS. Where a development constructed or established as a unit has been built or established on more than one adjoining lot, the owner or owners of such lots must take the legal steps necessary to merge such lots into a single lot within a reasonable period after the enactment of this ordinance or of ownership of said lots, whichever event occurs last.

14.75.080 (i) Small lots developed in accordance with Section 14.75.090 shall not be considered nonconforming.

14.75.080 (j) Structures erected in accordance with Section 14.75.090 shall not be considered nonconforming uses.

14.75.090 SMALL LOTS AND STRUCTURES ERECTED ON SUCH LOTS NOT CONSIDERED NONCONFORMING:

(a) Purpose of this Section. Within a number of zoning districts created since May 2, 1951, legally subdivided small lots exist which do not meet the spatial requirements set forth in such districts. Furthermore, on certain of such lots, structures have been erected which do not meet the spatial requirements set forth in such district. In order to simplify zoning procedures and to make this ordinance more equitable to land owners and the owners of certain types of structures, the following provisions shall be made effective:

(b) Small lots:

(1) In single family zones: If such lot is undeveloped and no adjacent property is or has been owned by the same owner since January 1, 1972, or if a lot has at some time been used and developed for single family house, or if a use permit is obtained, such lot may be developed with a single family house if it and its development can meet the spatial requirements of any single family district in the City. This shall be considered a conforming use.

(2) In duplex zones: If such lot is undeveloped and no adjacent property is or has been owned by the same owner since January 1, 1972, or if a lot has at some time been used and developed for a duplex house or if a use permit is obtained, it may be developed with a duplex house if its development can meet the spatial requirements of any duplex district in the City. This shall be considered a conforming use.

(3) In multiple family zones: If such lot is undeveloped and no adjacent property is or has been owned by the same owner since January 1, 1972, it may be developed with a single family or duplex structure. Multiple family dwellings and apartments may be permitted only if a use permit is first secured. This shall be considered a conforming use.

(4) In nonresidential zones: If no adjacent property is or has been owned by January 1, 1972, and if a use permit is obtained, it may be developed for the purposes allowed in the zoned districts in which it is located. This shall be considered a conforming use.

(c) Structures on small lots:

(1) A single family house on a small lot shall be considered conforming if it is built in accordance with the spatial requirements of a single family zone in the City, the lot width and area requirements of which are met by such lot. If such lot meets the width and area requirements of more than one such zone, then to be considered conforming such house must meet the spatial requirements of the zone with the largest lot width and area requirements.

(2) A duplex house on a small lot, in a zone which provides for duplex housing, shall be considered conforming if it is built in accordance with the spatial requirements of the duplex zone within the City.

DIVISION 3: Section 14.75.040 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby repealed.

DIVISION 4: Constitutionality. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance. The Council hereby declares that it would have adopted the Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more section, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

DIVISION 5: This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

20-Year-Old Given Option On Jail Time

A 20-year-old San Rafael man, who admitted a burglary count, has been given 90 days in jail with the option to serve his time at the DeLancey Street Foundation in San Francisco instead.

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court told John Gregory Vigno, "I don't know how much good it is going to do you, John, but it is better than anything else we have got."

Vigno promised to enroll in the 18-month program of DeLancey Street and "give their program everything I have got."

Vigno pleaded guilty in a plea bargain for no more than 90 days in jail. He was charged with stealing three rugs valued at $2,100 and television and stereo equipment valued at $900 from a Ross home April 16.

Vigno and his brother, Ricci, 21, were arrested after a policeman found the older brother's wallet in the home on Upper Road. A burglary charge against Ricci Vigno was dismissed in municipal court for lack of evidence.

Long-Haired Law Students Sue Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Five long-haired University of California law students have sued the Clift Hotel for allegedly barring them from its Redwood Room because their hair extended "slightly below" their collars.

The incident, according to the lawsuit, filed in superior court Friday, took place Sept. 24.

It asserted the hotel's "anachronistic view of property" is illegal and each student asked $250 damages in addition to an order that Allied Properties, Inc., owner of the hotel, be prohibited from doing the same thing again.

STEREO TAPE DECK

TEAC's 1230 Stereo Tape Deck is for you if you've always hankered for something less expensive than stacks of "the latest hits" and something more versatile than just playing "the same old tune." First, unlike most moderately priced decks, the 1230 has three motor drive, not one, built-in Mic/Line mixing in stereo and mono, and solenoid operation. So you're ahead of the game already.

And you get . . .
- Special "Edi-Q" Pause Control
- Dual VU meter & tape bias switch

And a lot more for only $349.50. Come in for a demonstration. And if you want all these features plus automatic reverse play, pick up a TEAC 1250 for only $459.50

Mimi's A Fashion Celebrity

Mimi Frierson, Belgian-born owner of Boutique Mimi, has blossomed into a Bay Area fashion celebrity. Mimi has long been known to Town & Country Village shoppers as an expert on fashionable dress.

Three months ago the Swiss-German fashion house Adler-Mode entered the American market with a San Mateo store called the European Experience. After combing the area for just the right person to represent them in the Bay Area, Adler chose Mimi.

Since then she has been heard on all the major Bay Area radio stations, was featured on television, and has a heavy schedule of speaking appearances ahead.

"It's been an exciting experience," says Mimi.

Actually, Mimi still spends several days a week at the Boutique, and in her absence Bonnie Stinski, wife of the Kentfield artist, or Dutch-born Rita Tuchscherer, serve customers in the Mimi manner.

A GIFT FOREVER

Coin Items Make Fine Yule Gifts

Every Christmas perplexed shoppers seek the new and different to bestow upon their special people on Christmas morning.

A classic and traditional gift for men is coin jewelry. The leading coin gift for men is cufflinks, while ladies enjoy special necklaces and charms of coin motifs. While some silver dollar vintages are popular, most coins selected are made of gold in attractive mountings designed to protect the coins and accent their sculptured designs.

The U.S. coin in gold is the most popular — with Mexican gold and British gold sovereigns also receiving wide acceptance.

Fred Velten of the Golden Gate Coin Shop in Town & Country Village, Strawberry, indicates that a new, contemporary item is now becoming very popular as a Crhistmas gift. These are the ingots and medals produced by the Franklin Mint, probably the leading private mint in the world, according to Velten.

Private mints issue medals while only governments mint coins.

The 1972 Christmas ingot is the second of a distinguished series produced by the Franklin Mint. The beautifully detailed "Sleigh Scene" sculptured by Ernest Schroeder was designed by James Farrell. It is now available at most leading coin shops in the Bay Area.

Students Set Fund Drive

Marin County junior high and high school students are joining in a fund drive for the Marin Aid to Retarded Children organization.

"The students will be located at the Safeway store in Strawberry Town & Country Village on Saturday, Dec. 16 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.," says Brian Cross, executive director of MARC.

MARC was organized in August of 1954 by concerned parents, professionals and other interested community members.

Tips On Making Coffee Come From An Expert

Hildy Sarkissian, owner of the Caravansary, the coffee, tea and spice store in Strawberry's Town & Country Village, outlines several considerations in attaining the perfect cup of coffee.

First there is the selection of the right coffee bean. "The best is, of course, the one you enjoy the most," says Hildy.

Brazil is a full bodied coffee with a snappy flavor. Columbian has a full, rich flavor and deep mellow body. Costa Rica is a smooth, rich coffee with a heavy body. Guatemalan has a sharp flavor. Kona is one of the most aromatic coffees, is mild in acidity and is noted for its medium body and flavor.

Jamaica has the best balance of coffee in body, aroma, flavor, and acidity. The Mocha-Java blend is a matrixing of two fine coffees into an even smoother cup. Mocha provides the flavor, while Java provides the body and aroma.

The roasts include the light Viennese roasts; Espresso, the continental style, and French roast, the strong bitter-black roast.

In preparing coffee, use cold water. Grind your beans using the proper setting just before serving. Fill the coffee maker to capacity. Hildy believes the best coffee makers are the filter types. The coffee should filter one time and never be boiled.

Another important consideration, reminds Mrs. Sarkissian, is the method of cleaning the pot. Coffee grounds should be removed after the coffee is made. Do not clean with soap, scouring pad or cleanser. Boil once a month with regular baking soda.
